While many residents called the police to complain about the unusual media circus, Byers said she offered these temporary fixtures a few chairs.

"It was no inconvenience. A man from CNN asked to park in my driveway right across from the Ramsey driveway. They were very considerate," Byers said. "I don't think anyone had any cause to complain."

Doan, who was a patrolman for the City of Charlevoix from 1986 to January 2006 when he was promoted to chief, said this is the most media attention Charlevoix has received in his 20 years in local law enforcement.

He said placing second for media attention would have been the death of JonBenet 10 years ago.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater has also worked since JonBenet's death to keep order for the Ramsey family.

His message to overzealous paparazzi, "This is not acceptable in our county — you can't stalk and harass people."

When the death occurred, the Boulder, Colo. police department contacted Sheriff Lasater and asked that he do a background check on some of the people the Ramseys' hired when they were in Charlevoix.

At that time Lasater said he got to know the background of the family from information the Boulder police department passed on.

While many in Charlevoix have voiced a hope that Karr's confession will lift the cloud of suspicion that has hung over JonBenet's parents for nearly a decade, Lasater said John should not bank on Karr being convicted.

His advice — don't jump to any conclusions at this point.

Karr was taken into custody Wednesday morning, Aug. 16, in Bangkok, Thailand, where he had just started a teaching job.

A U.S. warrant called for his arrest on suspicion of first-degree murder, kidnapping and child sexual assault.

Karr was scheduled to appear in a Los Angeles, Calif. courtroom Tuesday morning, Aug. 21, for an extradition hearing. The results of this hearing were not available by press time.

According to a report by CNN, Karr has been held in an isolation cell in a jail in Los Angeles, Calif. since he was flown to the United States Sunday night, Aug. 20, from Bangkok, Thailand.

Tuesday's hearing will determine how soon Karr will return to Colorado to face murder charges in the 1996 death of JonBenet, Little Miss Charlevoix 1995.

Calling all eagles to St Marys Cement

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Cortney Schmidt

The American bald eagle may soon be seen soaring over some of Charlevoix's beaches.

St Marys Cement Inc., in cooperation with Wolverine Power and a northern Michigan citizen, erected two 55-foot telephone poles, each equipped with a platform designed to hold the weight of an eagle's nest, which can be up to 10-feet deep and 20-feet wide, on their property last week.

"We're always trying to do something good," said St Marys Cement Inc. environmental manager, Cortney Schmidt. "We're putting up two nests with a spatial separation of about a half mile or more between the nests. One will be overlooking the bay in front of Charlevoix, and the other one will be overlooking Fisherman's Island bay."

He added, "A reminder to the public, during the nesting period, if and when the nests are being occupied by eagles, there's a period from March to June where people should not approach the nest."

Schmidt emphasized that people should really never approach the nests.

"Try to stay 300 to 500-feet from the nest (while viewing)," he said.

East Jordan resident and successful eagle nest platform builder, Joel Evans, was happy to help St Marys help the eagles.

"Everybody loves to see eagles," he said. "They're our national bird — a picture of strength and majesty. It's a beautiful thing to watch them in flight or when feeding their young. It's a great attraction."

Evans first began putting the platforms on poles after seeing osprey nests on them in Houghton Lake nearly 20 years ago.

"When I got home to East Jordan, I said, 'I can do that,' and I built two platforms and with the help of the East Jordan barge, we went out and set up two osprey platforms," he said.

According to Evans, the urge to help the bald eagle is spreading.

"I have been to Bay Harbor yesterday (Aug. 15) in fact, I talked to one of the men there and they seemed very positive," he said. "They're going to get back to me. They have a beautiful nature preserve area in Bay Harbor, and I think they are going to be very interested in putting a pole there."

He added, "(Bay Harbor) is a very good spot. This is an exciting time to get the honsing up for the birds."

Bald eagles need the man-made platforms because they are losing their habitat — tall trees strong enough to withstand the hundreds of pounds a nest can typically weigh.

"The big trees are on the decrease and eagles are on the increase," Evans said. "Here in East Jordan, I think there were five nests that they (eagles) built in different trees, and each time when the nest would go down, they would rebuild in a nearby tree."

Evans said he will continue to promote this type of bird-house building because the birds will not flourish without it.

"There are many skeptics in anything you do," he said. "Skeptics said eagles will never nest on manmade platforms, but the eagles proved them wrong."

He added, "I believe this is the fourth year they nested on the platforms and raised two young."

Unlike trees, Evans said, the platforms will stand for many years without weakening.

According to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Web site, bald eagles average 12 pounds, can reach 16 pounds and have lived as long as 50 years in captivity.

In the raptor classification of the bird family, the eagle has a wingspan of approximately six-and-one-half feet and feed on rodents, carrion, other birds and fish.

Trust Fund board debates Big Rock property

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

As Big Rock nuclear power plant officials prepare to celebrate the end of their plant's life cycle, some are fighting to turn an interim nuclear waste dump into a state park.

While Consumers Energy has planned a private party on Aug. 29 for employees, dignitaries and guest speakers to celebrate the safe operation and dismantling of a nuclear power plant, the federal government announced further delays in Nevada's Yucca Mountain atomic waste storage facility.

"We're having a lot of speakers coming in and we're expecting upwards of 600 to 700 people," said 30-year employee and project manager in charge of the decommissioning Bill Trubiloewicz. "There's going to be speeches, a lunch, walking tours and music."

Studies and subsequent searches for a nuclear waste depository began in the mid-1950s. Yucca Mountain, located 100 miles from Nevada, was supposed to be created for the radioactive garbage from the nation's 100-plus plants several times over the last few decades.

The most recent timeline for Yucca to open was 2010. But, President George W. Bush's newest energy plan calls for a Consumers Energy will celebrate the completion of its decommissioning project on Aug. 29. While a grant application has been filed with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund for the state to acquire the land for public use, some Trust Fund board members are opposed to the purchase because some of the property houses spent nuclear fuel.

As employees, supporters and even some critics get ready to celebrate the conclusion of Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant's life cycle, some wonder what will become of the more than 500 acres on which it sits.

"I had a vision that some day this 580 acres will be a park for all children, and the waste will be gone and the people will remember that at one time this site had a nuclear plant that was not efficient and was shutdown," said local environmental activist, Joanne Beemon. "When they (Big Rock officials) asked me to be at the party, I really had to think about it because I'm so adamantly anti-nuclear. But, I also want to be positive. And, we can't undo the past, but we can make the future better."

While attending the Wednesday, Aug. 16 Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund board meeting in Lansing, Beemon got the impression money to turn Big Rock Point into a state park would not be forthcoming.

"The issue before the board was the question of whether or not the board would authorize the expenditure of money from the natural resources trust fund to pay for part of the purchase of the 500-plus acres that surround this little island of nuclear waste," said Michigan Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund board member, Lana Pollack. "The trust fund board spends about $25 million a year on purchasing and developing parkland and open space for Michigan residents throughout the state. Those monies are the monies that come from the royalties of drilling for oil and gas on public land."

Pollack said the Little Traverse Conservancy has applied for $3

Consumers to host green field celebration Aug. 29

Consumers Energy is hosting a celebration on Aug. 29 at the site of the former Big Rock Point nuclear plant to recognize the return of the 475-acre site to a green field condition, free for unrestricted use.

More than 700 former and current plant workers, elected officials, and businesses and nuclear leaders are expected to attend the event and commemorate this significant environmental achievement. Aug. 29 is the 44th anniversary of the plant receiving its operating license from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Big Rock Point was permanently closed on Aug. 29, 1997 after 35 years of generating electricity. Site workers have been decommissioning and restoring the site for the past nine years. All structures that comprised the former nuclear plant that once sat on the Lake Michigan shoreline have been removed and restored to a natural state.

Big Rock Point was named a Nuclear Historic Landmark for its many contributions to the nuclear and medical communities. It was Michigan's first, and the nation's fifth commercial nuclear plant. The plant achieved a number of operation and decommissioning milestones that have helped set industry standards.

Consumers Energy, the principal subsidiary of CMS Energy, provides natural gas and electricity to nearly 6.5 million of Michigan's 10 million residents in all 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

million a year for three years. She said their plan would be to put the $9 million toward the $20 million or so price tag on Big Rock Point.

"There are probably three times the number of applicants as there are dollars to stretch. Every year people get turned down," she said. "A project which has nuclear waste in the middle of it has a flaw. On behalf of the project, it's beautiful land along Lake Michigan shoreline."

But, she added, "This is the nuclear waste site that they say is too dangerous to be buried in the bottom of a mountain in the middle of the desert. You hope it's safe, but that doesn't mean you pretend it's not there."

Pollack said if the radioactive refuse wasn't in the picture, she would support the project.

government to move it (nuclear waste) won't, and it might stay there forever," she said. "I don't personally want to see the Great Lakes become a (permanent) nuclear waste site."

Pollack, who wondered if the land value might be bloated considering its history, said she will consider all the projects before her in the December meeting with an open mind.

Charlevoix is not alone in its yearning for a storage facility. According to the U.S. Department of Energy, nuclear waste is in more than 120 locations in 39 states.

"I think (nuclear energy) absolutely has to be part of our energy source for the future. I was convinced all along that you couldn't run a nuclear plant any safer," Trubilowicz said. "Our standards were higher than in any other industry. So, this is a celebration of the industry. We built a power plant and took it right back to the field where it started. It's impressive. The only thing that's left is the dry fuel storage."

The private celebration of the decommissioning project will take place from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 29 at Big Rock Point located off U.S. 31 in Hayes Township.

County tries to avoid court in jail debacle

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Charlevoix County may be closer to reconciling who will pay for what could amount to several hundred thousand dollars of damage to the jail's heating and cooling system.

"We're having our attorney look into the problems we're having over at the jail," Sixth District Charlevoix County Commissioner, Shirley Roloff said at the Wednesday, Aug. 9 board of commissioners meeting.

The commission's civil counsel, Charlevoix County Prosecutor, John Jarema, has been involved in several meetings with the parties tangled in the air quality issue at the jail.

"There were concerns about the statute of limitations coming (due)," he said. "From what I can tell, we have until December to get something filed, but I've talked with entities and I've talked with their attorneys, and they have agreed to stipulate to pull the statute of limitations as a defense they can raise."

He added, "If you wait too long to raise that, then that can count (against) us for litigation to be thrown out. But, they said they would sign a document holding that statute of limitations for a period of two months, three months, six months or whatever, with the hopes of getting together and fixing the problem short of litigation."

First District commissioner, Connie Saltonstall said this is exactly what the board hoped to accomplish when they discovered a problem existed.

"I think this is the outcome we really wanted, which is to fix the problem and not have it go to court," she said.

Issues first arose when the firm Rhodes Engineering of Traverse City studied the jail and found various elements of the heating, air conditioning and ventilation system needed to be fixed, replaced or removed.

Jarema said he must meet with the parties involved again to, "Hammer out the language."

Following completion of the nearly $4 million addition in 2000, the Charlevoix County Jail now houses up to 89 inmates.

Charlevoix County may be closer to reconciling who will pay for what could amount to several hundred thousand dollars of damage to the jail's heating and cooling system.

An exploration of wizards and warlocks turned into terror and tears for a Charlevoix girl who on Aug. 11 found herself stranded at London's Heathrow Airport in the aftermath of the discovery of a terror plot.

Annaliese Voci, 10, boarded her first airplane on Aug. 1 bound for London's Heathrow Airport and then traveled to Oxford, England to discover the magic behind the popular Harry Potter book series.

The Potter fanatic was traveling with her grandmother, Fran Voci, of Stanwood, a town just south of Big Rapids, on an Elder Hostel inter-generational adventure called "Magical Worlds, Harry Potter and More."

"Our knee-jerk reaction was to say, 'No' (you can't go on the trip). But you can't pass up a once in a lifetime opportunity," her father, Steve Voci, said.

During the eight-hour flight to England, Annaliese soaked in the movies, snacks and freebies.

While there the group, which included six girls and boys all 10 years old and their grand-

Harry Potter adventure tainted by airport chaos

like Warwick Castle, Bodleian Library and Divinity School at Oxford.

But the fun of quidditch, punting along the River Cherwell and romping around the wizard world was brought to a screeching halt on Aug. 11 when the Vocis started their journey back to Michigan.

The day before, Scotland Yard had announced the disruption of a plot to blow up planes in flight from the UK to the United States and commit "mass murder on an unimaginable scale."

According to BBC News, the plan was to detonate explosive devices smuggled in hand luggage on to as many as 10 aircraft.

While this was Annaliese's second trip in an airplane, the first brought her to London, she knew the high security, camera crews and delays at Heathrow Airport were anything but run of the mill.

"We were both really tired, I just wanted to go home," she said. "The airline people looked really, really stressed. The lines were huge and there were two guys with big machine guns. They looked like they were loaded, so I hid behind my grandma."

Both Annaliese and Fran were subjected to full-body pat downs and were still delayed two hours after arriving three hours early for their British Airways flight. They arrived late in Chicago, Ill. and missed their connection to Grand Rapids. With no other flights available, it looked as though the Vocis would be spending one more night away from home.

"I had a breakdown. I didn't want to stay in a hotel. I wanted to go home," Annaliese said. Her parents were waiting in Grand Rapids, trying to avoid news coverage of the chaos in London when they talked to a tearful Annaliese, their only child.

"I was concerned about what she was hearing and what she saw — the guards, the automatic weapons — you don't see that in Charlevoix," her mother, Julie, said.

The group agreed to reunite no matter what it took and Steve and Julie drove from Grand Rapids to Chicago O'Hare in about 3-and-a-half hours.

"Every black car I saw, I was hoping," Annaliese said of waiting for her parents.

The tearful reunion brought the relief the Voci family longed for.

"I think Anna and I held hands for over an hour. I just sat and stared at her," Julie said.

Annaliese said while the terror plot and subsequent travel nightmare scarred her Harry Potter trip to England, she would travel overseas again — but not without mom and dad. Her next destination, Loch Ness in Scotland.

"I want to search for the Loch Ness Monster," she said.

As she prepares to enter the fifth-grade at Charlevoix Middle School, Annaliese has quite a tale to share with classmates.

"Sometimes I'm just sitting in my room and I put my toys down and say, 'Wow, I was lucky,'" she said.

While monster searching sounds like a unique enterprise, Julie said the more realistic next destination for her family is the quest for the American Girl store in Chicago, Ill.

"I don't know if I'd say 'No' (to another overseas trip). But not for a long time. I have to recover from the last panic. Just her flying made me nervous. I thought I had a handle on it then someone wanted to hurt her who doesn't even know her — how do I explain that to a 10-year-old," she said.

County board requests hard numbers

Request for maintenance commitment met with apprehension

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Grant applications for a non-motorized trail proposed to stretch from Charlevoix to Boyne City cannot be submitted until someone takes responsibility for the pathway's maintenance.

The 3-3 vote died in a tie as county commissioners Ronald Reinhardt, Victor Patrick and Shirley Roloff said no to a plan for the county to takeover upkeep of the trail when and if it is completed.

"We're taking a very positive attitude," said Charlevoix County Planner, Larry Sullivan, the man half the commissioners said, "No" to during the Wednesday, Aug. 9 meeting. "I certainly can understand their concerns in what future costs they might be opening themselves up to."

He added, "We'll provide those (projected costs) and see if they want to bring it up at a future board meeting to reconsider their action."

As he was still in the process of gathering the figures at press time, Sullivan could not furnish the costs of maintenance on the existing or proposed non-motorized trail systems.

"We're compiling that information right now," he said.

While some have claimed the new trail would cost locals not even a penny, Sullivan said, "Realistically we're looking at about a 25 percent match."

But, he added, "We're going to be knocking on doors for private donations for the bulk of local matching funds."

Sullivan emphasized the funds which would be used to build the trail come from a fund designated for non-motorized trails only.

"I know there are some concerns that some people believe those dollars should be used for rebuilding the Boyne City-Charlevoix Road," he said. "I think all of us that drive that road are aware of the problems with that road, but those dollars are not capable of being used for road purposes—it's federal legislation."

"More and more people are looking for eco-friendly tourism opportunities. The long-term effect, economically, way outweighs the expense that we're talking about putting into this."

Scott MacKenzie
DIRECTOR
BOYNE AREA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

In addition to identifying the entity for long-term care of the path, a group or individual must also be named as the grant applicant.

"There's no specific timeline, but we would like to get the request before the funding agency and the sooner the better because it gives a better opportunity to get those funds," Sullivan said. "I would encourage the folks interested and who want to see this happen, give their local officials a call and express their views."

During the Aug. 9 meeting, Sullivan told commissioners and a handful in attendance that volunteers could be sought for much of the maintenance.

And, First District Commissioner, Connie Saltonstall, reminded that the funds to be applied for can only be used for non-motorized trails.

"So we are not taking money away from roads," she said. "(And), the maintenance on this trail in terms of upkeep is going to be minimal."

Saltonstall then asked Scott MacKenzie, head of the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce to explain the economic benefit of another bike trail.

"We've had only two major bike events originating out of Boyne City...and they raised thousands and thousands of dollars," he said.

MacKenzie said people spent, on average, from $80 to $190 per night.

"And we had just shy of about 1,000 people in town for those events," he said. You're talking about a huge economic impact that comes into our community."

He added, "More and more people are looking for eco-friendly tourism opportunities. The long-term effect, economically, way outweighs the expense that we're talking about putting into this. It's a win-win for everyone involved."

Roloff thinks it's wonderful people are riding their bikes, but fears increased taxes to maintain an additional trail.

"We just finally got the folks over at Whiting Park to come over and do some of the (maintenance on the existing trail)," she said. "I just hate to tax the people anymore. I think we're overtaxed. We're killing our people. You go through Charlevoix and see the homes that are for sale and people cannot afford to live here."

Roloff said she understands the bikeway grants cannot be used for roads, but finds it ridiculous that a $4 million pathway could be built while the road next to it crumbles.

"This is money that's already banked, and not on roads. If we don't take it then we'll lose it," MacKenzie said.

Reinhardt said he could not vote in favor of anything without at least seeing some projected costs.

Headed to college? Don't forget meningitis vaccine

Public health officials remind college students who will be living in college dorms this fall to schedule an appointment for a meningitis vaccination before they leave home.

"We recommend anyone who will be living for the first time in a college dormitory or military residence get vaccinated against meningitis," said Patricia Fralick, director of family and community health services for the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency, the local health department. "Every fall, as many as 15 young people in the U.S. die unnecessarily because they contract meningococcal disease. Freshmen especially are at risk."

She encourages anyone who is headed for dormitory living this fall contact the local health department or a health care provider to schedule an appointment for the vaccine.

Meningitis is an infection of the tissues and sometimes the fluid that surround the brain and spinal cord. It causes swelling of brain tissue and in some cases spinal tissue. When brain tissue swells, less blood and oxygen reach brain cells. If not treated, this can cause brain damage.

Meningococcal bacteria are transmitted through air droplets and direct contact with persons already infected with the disease. The early symptoms usually associated with meningococcal meningitis include high fever, severe headache, stiff neck, rash, nausea, vomiting and lethargy, and may resemble the flu. Since meningitis usually peaks in late winter and early spring, it can easily be mistaken for the flu. Because the disease progresses rapidly, often in as little as 12 hours, prompt diagnosis and treatment are important to assuring recovery. Students should seek medical care immediately if two or more of these symptoms occur at one time.

If untreated, meningitis can lead to shock and death within hours of the first symptoms.

For additional information or to schedule an appointment for a meningitis vaccine, call the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency at (800) 432-4121.

Ace Hardware pitches in with baseball gear

"Play ball!" For many these summertime words are commonplace at ball diamonds and in backyards, heralding the start of a game of America's favorite pastime. But for children living in communities in need, "striking out" has nothing to do with baseball.

"An astounding number of kids never get to experience the crack of the bat or that 'slap' the ball makes when it hits a glove," said Mark Greyerbiehl, owner of Charlevoix Ace Hardware. "We were so happy to find out there was something we could do to change that."

During the month of August, Ace Hardware has teamed up with "Pitch In For Baseball," an organization that collects new and gently used youth baseball equipment and redistributes it to areas where it's needed most.

Charlevoix Ace Hardware, located at 06675 M-66 North, across from the Post Office, will serve as a drop-off point for equipment. Gloves, helmets, bats and any other items in good working order will be accepted. Charlevoix Ace Hardware will handle packaging up the items and sending them to Pitch In For Baseball, where the gear will be sent where it's needed most.

"A lack of equipment in no way represents an absence of passion when it comes to America's pastime," Greyerbiehl said. "Pitch In For Baseball gives kids an opportunity to play ball despite their lack of equipment. It's a fantastic organization and our store is proud to 'pitch in' and lend a hand."

In 2005 alone, Pitch In For Baseball collected enough equipment to provide for hurricane affected regions in the Gulf Coast, including New Orleans, La. Biloxi, Miss. and Mobile, Ala., and have supported communities around the world in Poland, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic.

Mark Greyerbiehl
OWNER
CHARLEVOIX ACE HARDWARE

"If everyone in Charlevoix brought in just one piece of equipment they weren't using anymore, imagine the number of underprivileged kids who could experience a pop fly or a base hit," said Greyerbiehl. "We're especially in need of gloves, the most basic piece of baseball equipment."

More information on Pitch In For Baseball is available at www.pitchinforbaseball.org. For drop-off information, contact Charlevoix Ace Hardware representatives at (231) 547-6232.

Registration underway for Rotary Porker golf tourney

The Rotary Club of Charlevoix will host its annual "Porker" golf tournament Thursday, Sept. 7 at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course.

Billed as "The Affordable Golf Tournament," the entry fee remains only $40 per person.

"With the amount and value of the prizes awarded to Porker participants, it is almost as if the Rotary Club is paying people to play," said tournament director, Tim Petrosky. "Last year we distributed gifts with a retail value of more than $3,000 to golfers. Everyone went home with a prize."

The event is a four-person scramble. The entry fee includes golf, a dinner buffet at Giuseppe's and the chance to win oodles of prizes. Prizes will be awarded based on skill, luck and random draw, and to teams that finish first, last and right in the middle.

"It is due to the generosity of area businesses and residents, who donate prizes for the event, that makes the tournament so much fun for everyone," said Petrosky.

Registration forms are available at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course pro shop.

The event is limited to the first 20 teams that register. An optional skins game and "mulligans" will also be available to teams. The shotgun start is at 4:30 p.m. Dinner follows at 6:30 p.m.

Rotary uses proceeds from the event to benefit the community with an emphasis on area youth.

China 1 owners forfeit $100,000 and car

takes to complete the deportation process. They will be held at the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement office in Sault Ste. Marie where orders have been issued to send the two back to China. This is the same jail the two have been housed at since being taken into custody on July 12.

In spite of Dong and Chen skirting prison time, Fanara said justice will be served in this case.

"They're being charged with very serious felonies and are forfeiting all the money we collected," she said.

The forfeited cash and possessions include $100,000 and a Toyota Rav4 seized on July 12 during a search by representatives of local and state police agencies of China 1 restaurants in Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Gaylord and Traverse City. During the search, $132,745 total in cash and two vehicles, a 2005 Lexus and the 2003 Toyota Rav4, were seized.

"I think that's a pretty good penalty," Fanara added. "I'm satisfied with the three felonies and being deported. We shouldn't have to house them."

Fanara declined to comment as to whether Dong's health was connected to the decision to run the two through the system quickly.

On July 26, a sputum sample was collected from Dong for analysis by the Michigan Department of Community Health in Lansing to see if he is infected with tuberculosis. While results were expected to be returned the next week, the status of those tests is a subject evaded by the prosecutor's office and the Northwest Michigan Community Health Agency.

Inquiries to both agencies produced the same response — Dong's status as a possible carrier of tuberculosis remains unknown.

No other charges have been authorized against other China 1 owners at this time. Fanara said the plan is to get Dong and Chen through the system first.

However their plea deal includes cooperation from the two.

"They have to cooperate with any information they can give us regarding the other restaurants," Fanara said.

Other people involved in the China 1 operation, many of who are the couple's family members, may face charges. Those listed in the affidavit include Gaylord China 1 president, Zhen X. Chen and his wife, Ai Hua, their son, Xian Chen and his wife, Min Ru Dong and vice-president, Fa Yang; Cheboygan China 1 owners Chuan Ke Wang and Cui Min Chen, Zhen Chen's daughter and former owner of Charlevoix China 1; and Traverse City China 1 owners Wen Bing Wang and Hui Yun Wang.

Local Family Video robbed at gunpoint

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

The early Sunday armed robbery of a female employee of Family Video in Charlevoix remains under investigation.

Scott Hankins

undisclosed amount of money, from the victim then locked her into the trunk of her car.

"I believe she estimated she was in the trunk for about 10 to 15 minutes," said deputy chief of Charlevoix City Police, Scott Hankins. "There were a few phone calls to 911 reporting some suspicious activity. Our officers and officers from the sheriff's department responded and heard her hanging on the trunk lid."

Hankins said the clerk did, "The wise thing by complying with all of the suspect's demands."

A K-9 tracking unit was brought in from the Indian River area to search for the suspect, but had no success.

In Michigan, armed robbery carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

"Try to park in well lit areas and be aware of your surroundings and persons that are in those surroundings," Hankins said. "Unfortunately, these types of events occur in northern Michigan, although not as often as they occur in other places."

He added, "Businesses should always consider having video surveillance, both inside and out (and) they should consider lighting for parking areas."

Hankins said he has worked on seven or eight armed robbery cases in his 16 years working with the Charlevoix Police Department.

At this point, Hankins said, there doesn't seem to be any connection between the robbery and two Aug. 21 home invasions and vandalism to automobiles in the area.

"The investigation is continuing," he said.

Anyone with information pertaining to the crime is asked to contact the city police at (231) 547-3258.

The victim's name has not been released by police.

Family Video store manager declined to comment, and the district manager did not return phone calls by press time.

Arrest made in motorcycle accident that led to leg amputation

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Charlevoix resident Jeffrey "Shag" Russell is living proof that life can take a drastic turn in the blink of an eye.

On Aug. 12, an evening motorcycle ride turned to disaster for Russell who at around 8 p.m. was struck at the intersection of Stover Road and Ferry Avenue by 61-year-old Sharon Lee Snyder, also of Charlevoix, driving a Ford Taurus.

Snyder told police she was moving her car visor before making the turn and never saw Russell.

Russell, 41, was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and then transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City for further treatment. The accident resulted in amputation of his left leg, just below the knee.

Snyder was arrested Aug. 16 and arraigned at 10:30 a.m. yesterday, Aug. 29 in Charlevoix County District Court. She now faces a felony charge of felonious driving for operating her vehicle "carelessly and heedlessly in willful and wanton disregard of the rights or safety of others...resulting in serious impairment of a body function of Jeffrey Russell, but did not cause death." If convicted of this felony, Snyder faces a possible two-year prison sentence and/or a $2,000 fine.

She is also charged with transporting an open intoxicant at the time of the incident. She had an open Natural Light beer in her car. This is a misdemeanor charge punishable by 90 days in jail and/or a $100 fine and commencing.

According to the police report authored by Charlevoix city patrolman Jim Schlappi, Snyder was given a breath test at the scene and blew a .056 percent, which is below the .08 percent legal cut-off.

Snyder will now face a preliminary examination at 2:45 p.m. on Sept. 12 in Charlevoix County District Court.

According to Michelle Howard, office manager at Charlevoix Glass, Russell is a glazer at that business.

"It's going to be a long recovery," she said.

While the injury will make returning to work a challenge, Howard said Charlevoix Glass will welcome Russell back with open arms.

"We'll do whatever we can. He's like family to us. It's important to everybody," she said.

County needs to justify adding administrator

EDITORIAL

Now that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners are looking for someone to fill the newly created county administrator slot, we hope they can justify adding another layer of tax funded bureaucracy to an already convoluted situation.

All summer, the commissioners told us, "Most counties have some sort of administrator," and, "Most counties with an administrator are doing well."

Some implied a county administrator may have prevented some high-dollar human resource bungle.

We say, put the speculation and anecdotal evidence aside. Show us how employing a county administrator will save the county more money than it will cost — and no confusing reports. We want to see those full-color pie charts and bar graphs.

At a recent board meeting, a citizen was told the people would not vote on this issue. A short time later, the most adamant supporter of the county administrator position Randolph Frykberg was ousted at the primary election. Four candidates who have voiced opinions ranging from hesitation to opposition on the matter were chosen.

Perhaps the people don't want an executive toady. Perhaps they want better reasons for spending their money than, "Everybody else is doing it" and "Because we say so."

Show us how taking the Freedom of Information Act request coordination and fiscal officer duties away from the clerk will save us money. Show us why hiring a human resource manager for $30,000 a year won't work. But don't, in your urgency to get your own way, remove duties from competent individuals to justify your decision.

The county administrator's job description, which would make even the most caffeinated overachiever cringe, was once speculated to pay $55,000 to $60,000 to start.

We're not sure how many unemployed corporate supermen there are out there, but we don't see the county finding anyone qualified to do a job of this magnitude and scope for much less than $100,000 after benefits and office supplies.

We're not saying Charlevoix doesn't need an administrator, but when the sheriff has to offer his 2 percent increase so someone can get a raise, when the roads are crumbling, and when the jail is in need of $200,000 in repairs, our representatives need to be careful with every cent of their $11.6 million budget.

Ahhhhh..the smell of fall

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

One morning last week there was the definite scent of fall in the air.

It was not just cold air. Fall does not smell like spring or summer. While we people have collectively added a large number of more or less chemical odors to our atmosphere, here in the mostly clear air of the north, the scents of the natural world are likely to prevail. The organisms that give character to our near environment also provide a lot of aromatic materials if we bother to sniff them out. Our woods acquire dozens of new odors from the organisms that are most active now or that were not present in spring or summer.

By this time of year there is hardly a plant with green leaves that does not have some sort of fungus nourishing itself from the already dying leaves. The summer squash and tomatoes in my vegetable garden which have been beautifully green all summer are finally developing the gray or brown patches that tell me powdery mildews and other fungal hights have arrived. At this point it is hard to consider these new residents of the garden as a problem. We have all the summer squash we will want until next July.

Plants in the wild have many more of those fungal and insect residents than do my garden plants. I like to consider them a perfectly normal part of the seasonal cycle of life. Both my garden and the woods or dunes around us no longer have that smell of greenness. If you sniff carefully you can detect a hint of something musky and dark. That is not death you smell — it's the odor of abundant life. More kinds of things are actively living in our biological world than lived in it at the beginning of summer. Abundance and variety is the hallmark of a healthy environment. Welcome the delicate odors associated with that abundance.

I end with a seasonal reminder. If your maple tree has dozens of dime-sized black spots on its leaves and the leaves are falling early, don't be alarmed. Your tree is a Norway maple and those spots are caused by a fungus that does no permanent harm to the tree except for its appearance this time of year. It is a further sign of the abundant life of autumn. The leaves no longer smell like they did last spring, they now smell like Norway maple leaves and fungus.

LETTERS to the editor

SENIOR CENTER AND ST. MARY COMMENTS

Editor:

I read with interest, Margo Johnson's letter to the editor entitled "Senior center response" (page 5 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Charlevoix Courier). Having been the treasurer of the Charlevoix Senior Center and a retired accounting manager, I know what accountability means. Ms. Johnson says that Mr. Tunison's Aug. 2 letter (entitled "Center seeks COA support") was disingenuous. Actually, her letter was most disingenuous. It's not about accountability, it's about control. The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging wants to control the Charlevoix Senior Center and wants to use your tax dollars to do it. Call your county commissioner and tell them to put your tax dollars to work at the Charlevoix Senior Center. Your money will be spent wisely.

On another subject, before moving recently, I had the privilege of being a member of St. Mary Parish in Charlevoix. When Fr. Jerry Hunko arrived, it was like a fresh spring breeze blowing into the church. His sermons, on Sunday morning, gave me inspiration for the entire week. The friendly smile and the warm, "Good morning," made me feel good about getting up at 6:45 a.m. to get to Mass. The crowds who flock to the exit, where Fr. Jerry stands after Mass, to get a hug, a handshake, or a word of encouragement, attest to the fact that this was a welcome change. Having worked for many people, I would say to you disgruntled few, that everyone has a different management style. We went from a hands off style to a hands on involved style. You have a treasure in Fr. Jerry.

ST. MARY ARTICLE UNBALANCED

Editor:

I felt the article on St. Mary's (page 10 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Courier entitled, "St. Mary Church endures year of turmoil") was not balanced in any way. It was clearly written to support the paper's premise that the year at St. Mary's has been tumultuous. It was very one-sided and written more as an editorial than a news story. Most of the sources were from the dis-

Fr. Hunko has addressed the congregation at several masses indicating that he has spoken to the bishop and will fulfill his next five years of duty at St. Mary's. He prayed for unity within our parish and the country. In other words, he has been forthcoming in acknowledging discontent and is working toward an exciting future. Change can be disturbing to people. I only hope they give this good man the chance and support he deserves.

GREAT WORK JOHN

Editor:

I want to bring attention to the work Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema did on the embezzlement case involving Karla Lockman and Northern Preferred Title Company. This was a very complex case involving the theft of over $859,000. The case was tried in Charlevoix County's 33rd Circuit Court from Aug. 15 through Aug. 22. The defense raised by counsel was "legal insanity" at the time the crimes were committed. Our county prosecutor shined in this trial and was able to obtain a guilty verdict in this case.

John Jarema went up against several forensic psychologists and psychiatrists that were brought in by the defense from all across the country who were giving their expert opinions on the defendant's mental state at the time of the crimes. Our prosecutor spent many days and long nights preparing for the trial and was very impressive during his cross examination of these expert witnesses, and was able to fend off the defense's claim that the defendant was "legally insane" or "mentally ill" at the time she committed the crimes. The experts hired by the defense are considered the best in their fields, but with the preparation Jarema did, he was able to show the jury that the insanity issue was not believable. In fact, Jarema told me that he had to spend more time on this case preparing for trial than the last murder case that he tried.

I have been a police officer for 26 years and have never seen such a thorough, professional and tenacious prosecutor. I have never written a letter about any other prosecutor, but felt the effort by John Jarema needed to be recognized. This embezzlement case adversely affected the lives of dozens of people and their families. We are very fortunate to have a person such as Mr. Jarema as our prosecutor.

TRAIN VOLUNTEERS

Editor:

I would like to share my experience with the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. I went to the chamber to secure information on wedding planning in the community. Because I have a friend who may be considering Charlevoix to host her daughter's wedding, I wanted to gather materials from various facilities, hotels and restaurants, as well as identify services offered by the chamber. I informed the chamber representative that I had information packets from the Weathervane as well as Castle Farms. She indicated the chamber didn't have anything to help with wedding planning. She suggested I consider the Knights of Columbus. That's it.

This is the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce. Sad. This chamber representative took no interest in helping me. I shared with her my disappointment in the lack of information. Upon doing so, I came across various pieces of information that I had requested, right in front of the counter. When I brought this to her attention and indicated she should become familiar with her materials, she said she was "Only a volunteer." I would suggest such volunteers do not work in the city chamber. This person is losing potential business for the city. Here I was, talking about possibly bringing in 150 people for a wedding, and she didn't have any interest in providing information of any kind.

I would suggest the chamber interview volunteers that are outgoing, anxious to share information about Charlevoix and ensure that each person is trained in marketing prior to putting them with the public. If the current volunteers are anything like the one individual I encountered, I would suggest new ones get recruited that are energetic and know what the city can offer.

My last comment is do the math, Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce — with 150 out-of-towners staying in Charlevoix, a lot of restaurants and businesses could be pretty happy about their presence. What accountability do the chamber people have to the restaurants and businesses? Maybe something should be put in place.

CHAMBER PRESIDENT RESPONSE

Editor:

The Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce apologizes to Barb Mansfield for her experience while requesting information. We appreciate her comments regarding suggestions for improvement. At the chamber office and at events sponsored by the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce, the staff and volunteers take pride in providing outstanding service to our members, the public and our community. Despite our best efforts, sometimes there is a miscommunication or we make a mistake, for which we are sorry.

WHERE ARE THE BASKETS?

Editor:

Our hanging baskets in town were so beautiful this year, as always. One question though — one day they were beautifully in bloom and a couple of days later they were brown and crispy, what happened?

Nancy Fowler, Nomic Mol and Judy Willey
Charlevoix

Editor's note: According to City of Charlevoix street superintendent, Pat Elliott, the flowers in the baskets were starting to decline then the pump used to water them went bad. Three days later, the pump was operational again but it was too late. Elliott directed his staff to remove the baskets for the season.

SEE-North offers new September fungi course

Fall fungi are the subject of an upcoming annual community education course offered by SEE-North, northern Michigan's regional center for science and environmental education.

Marilynn Smith, expert mycologist and talented teacher, will conduct three field trips and three evening classes for those interested in learning how to identify mushrooms.

"This is a good opportunity for people to learn about fungi that grow in northern Michigan's habitats," Smith said. "Although morels make the headlines in spring, it's in fall that we find most species of edible fungi. We want people to collect edibles safely, and this class will help in that regard."

Classes are scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays, Sept. 6, 13 and 20. Field trips will take place at 1 p.m. on Sundays, Sept. 10, 17 and 24 at locations that will be announced in class.

The cost for the course is $20 per person for SEE-North members, and $30 per person for non-members. Proceeds from the class will support SEE-North's work in northern

City patrolman parts ways with police department

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Adam
Dzwik

After less than a year with the Charlevoix City Police Department, chief of police Gerard Doan said patrolman Adam Dzwik has left the force.

Doan would not comment on the conditions of the Aug. 18 break between 27-year-old Dzwik and the local department citing it as a personnel issue.

Dzwik, a Traverse City native, started Sept. 2 and filled the vacancy left in the July 2005 retirement of Dale Meredith. He was selected out of a pool of 105 applicants by a committee which included former city police chief Dennis Halverson, deputy police chief Scott Hankins and fire chief Paul Ivan.

Prior to accepting the local position, Dzwik worked for four years for the City of Cadillac Police Department and the Lansing Township Police Department.

The Charlevoix City Police Department is currently accepting applications to fill the vacancy. Doan said he hopes to have the position filled by the end of October.

He said they are looking for someone with the same qualifications used in hiring Sarah Cooper, the first full-time, female patrol officer for the City of Charlevoix, who started in late May. These include a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement Standards certification or the ability to become certified.

While education and certification will get a candidate in the door, Doan said their interest in Charlevoix will seal the deal.

"(I'm looking for) Someone who enjoys community policing — getting involved with the community," he said.

In the meantime, Doan said he'll "pull some (patrol) shifts" himself and juggle the schedule to cover the city's 24-hour patrol and emergency service schedule.

"We'll manage to get through it until the position is filled," he said.

When staffing levels are at capacity, the local department includes five full-time patrolmen, a deputy chief and Doan.

When patrolmen are hired on they are subject to a one-year probationary period at which time they are evaluated and either hired or released.

The deadline to apply is Sept. 2. For more information about the opening or application process, call the Charlevoix city manager's office at (231) 547-3270.

Beemon rejects county's settlement offer

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Former Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner, Joanne Beemon, rejected an offer of $9,600 from the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

In mid-June, a circuit court judge ordered the board of commissioners to compensate Beemon for her term of service, from Jan. 1, 2001 to Dec. 31, 2004, after deciding $1 per year was inadequate.

"It was ridiculous. It doesn't cover a fraction of the work I was mandated to do," Beemon said. "It was so ridiculously low ball, and every single elected official got insurance — I never got anything."

She added, "I wasn't surprised, because (the commissioners) have never been fair and they've never taken the time to research what their obligation is. It's just another example of how incompetent they are."

Though the board's legal counsel, Charlevoix County Prosecutor, John Jarema, couldn't get into specifics, he did say. "The offer was consistent with the salary of the commissioners."

Chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, and District Four County Commissioner, Vic Patrick, said the budget hasn't been finalized for next year and he isn't sure what future drain commissioners will be paid or whether current drain commissioner, Marc Seelye, will be offered more money.

"It was ridiculous. It doesn't cover a fraction of the work I was mandated to do."

"I think she (Beemon) wants $30,000 to $40,000 a year, and it sure as hell ain't going to that," Patrick said.

A letter from Jarema to Beemon's attorney, Jeffrey R. Wingfield of Traverse City states, "On Wednesday, July 26, 2006, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners went into closed session to discuss (Beemon vs. Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners). The purpose of the discussion was to evaluate the documentation provided by Ms. Beemon and to review the transcript of the hearing on Friday, June 16, 2006."

Joanne Beemon
FORMER CHARLEVOIX COUNTY DRAIN COMMISSIONER

The letter further stated, "The board discussed the office hours of Ms. Beemon and her job duties. The board felt that a salary of $2,400 per year for holding office hours one day a week is appropriate. This salary is the same as the board makes. For the four (4) years in which Ms. Beemon was the elected drain commissioner, the board is of

DIVORCE Care

Find help and healing for the hurt of separation and divorce through Community Reformed Church's DivorceCare program

You don't have to go through it alone...

DivorceCare is a friendly, caring group of people who will walk alongside you through one of life's most difficult experiences. Don't go through separation or divorce alone.

Most people will tell you that separation and divorce are the most painful and stressful experiences they've ever faced. It's a confusing time when you feel isolated and have lots of questions about issues you've never faced before. Our DivorceCare group meets weekly to help you face these challenges and move toward rebuilding your life.

A Seminar with Experts

DivorceCare seminars and support groups are led by people who understand what you are going through and want to help. You'll gain access to valuable DivorceCare resources to help you deal with the pain of the past and look forward to rebuilding your life.

During the first 30-40 minutes of the meeting, each DivorceCare group watches a video seminar featuring experts on divorce and recovery subjects. These videos are produced in an interesting to watch television magazine format featuring expert interviews, real-life case studies and on-location video.

A Support Group with Focus

Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix offers DivorceCare recovery support groups that meet on Thursday evenings, beginning September 7th, 2006 at 7:00 p.m. at the "Servants Quarters," 100 Oak Street (located next door to the Community Reformed Church, one mile north of the bridge.)

231-547-9482

After viewing the video, DivorceCare group participants spend time as a support group, discussing what was presented in that week's video seminar and what is going on in the lives of group members.

fering $9,600."

Beemon said the offer doesn't come close to compensating her.

"I was putting in between 20 and 40 hours a week — it's a full-time job," she said.

Beemon contended county commissioners are not the same as the elected officers outlined by state law, and therefore the salary requirements are different.

"Each (drain) commissioner shall receive an annual salary to be paid as other county officers are paid," states the Michigan Drain Code of 1956. "The salary may be increased but shall not be decreased during his or her term of office, and in addition, each commissioner shall be allowed his or her actual necessary expenses."

The code further states, "The amounts paid to the commissioner for salary and expenses shall be in full for all services rendered by the commissioner and all expense incurred in the performance of the duties of the office."

In a previous interview, Beemon speculated a fair salary for a drain commissioner might be close to $30,000 a year.

During Beemon's term, she was required to hold office hours for eight hours per week.

"People don't understand how important a drain commissioner is in water quality and development," she said. "A drain commissioner has a hand in protecting creeks, streams and wetlands."

She added, "This is not about what Joanne Beemon is paid, it's about respecting an office that oversees flooding, pollution, drains."

Jarema said the two parties involved will meet again on Sept. 8 to discuss the matter further.

"We're going to go to mediation and see if we can come up with some sort of solution," he said. "If we can't, then we're going to proceed with trial."

Norwood event to fund $100,000 schoolhouse restoration

The Norwood School was built in 1890 and closed in 1957 at which time ownership of the building was passed to the Norwood Methodist Church for $1. The school served first through eighth grade students.

The event to preserve this piece of living history will include an ice cream social, live music by Acoustic Stew and "Dwain Marinta," live and silent auctions, a self-guided historic home tour in the Village of Norwood and a quilt raffle featuring the hand-sewn art of Norwood Needles members.

The quilt is currently on display at The Clothing Company at the corner of Mason and Bridge streets in downtown Charlevoix where some of the 2,000 tickets being sold are available.

Auction items include donations from local artisans; restaurant gift certificates; a cruise for two aboard the St. Mary Challenger cement carrier; trips to Beaver Island; and a lower tour climb of the Mackinac Bridge.

According to society president, Jack Costolo, the decision to create this one-day mega event stemmed from the time-consuming schoolhouse renovation project which is currently underway.

The society purchased the schoolhouse from the Norwood Methodist Church in November 2004 for $15,000 and moved its headquarters from the Norwood Township Hall to the schoolhouse.

"We're ambitious but we've got a big job. There was little maintenance done to the building over the past 50 years," Gnodtke said.

Since purchasing the building two years ago, the group has embarked on extensive renovations including re-roofing, chimney repairs and repairs to the exterior foundation. The group is currently working to add a $4,000 barrier-free entrance ramp.

These improvements are the first in a five-year, $100,000 renovation schedule which also includes new windows, an overhaul of the kitchen and bathroom areas as well as construction of a small office area for record storage and society administrative work.

Thus far, renovations and the building purchase have cost $35,000.

Costolo said the group's funding sources include royalties from a book outlining Norwood history, entitled, "Norwood: A Legacy of North Woods Living," by Nancy Ritsem, a former society president. Since it was published in February 2001, 900 copies of the book have been sold.

Another revenue source he pointed to is membership dues collected from the society's 84 members and Norwood gear the group sells from a small store inside the school.

Its third source — event revenue from ice cream socials, potlucks and other gatherings is where the group is now making a change with the upcoming combined event.

Some benefits of the renovation according to Costolo are hinging together Norwood artifacts under one roof and creating a safe place for document storage.

The Norwood Area Historical Society was formed in 1995. The group meets at 7:30 p.m. on the third Wednesday of the month at the schoolhouse. For more information, call Jack Costolo at (231) 599-3892.

Friends of Charlevoix Area Junior Golf ... We Thank You!

Our Junior golf program has drawn national attention. Rated by the National Junior Golf Association as one of the top 15 programs in USA, the program has also been featured in the Association's magazine.

HOW DID THIS HAPPEN? Because we receive such tremendous community support!!!

- ☛ The CITY OF CHARLEVOIX closes the Municipal Course to the public when we are scheduled to use it, turning the entire facility over for our use.
- ☛ The CITY OF CHARLEVOIX's Recreation Department aids us by providing help with some of the administrative work necessary to keep the program running.
- ☛ COMMUNITY MEMBERS financially support our fund raisers and 30+ adult mentors volunteer their time to aid in the supervision and management of the program.
- ☛ The LION'S CLUB of Charlevoix aids us financially in our college-bound student book program.
- ☛ Local SCHOOLS help in allowing our pre-program brochures to be distributed to interested students.
- ☛ The BELVEDERE CLUB provides us with their golf facilities for lessons and for our Sunday evening league for our advanced players.
- ☛ The BELVEDERE CLUB teaching professional, Steve Braun, provides the program's main fund raiser, playing 100 holes in a day and gathering pledges for his effort and our program.
- ☛ BELVEDERE CLUB members respond to the fund raiser by contributing many generous cash donations.
- ☛ The BELVEDERE CLUB provides incentives for our adult mentor program, allowing playing passes for those that work the 14 Junior sessions scheduled during the summer.
- ☛ The COUNTRY CLUB provides their golf facilities 4-5 times each summer.
- ☛ The COUNTRY CLUB hosts a free golf outing for our mentors to conclude the season.
- ☛ Nearby courses ANTRIM DELLS AND DUNMAGLAS cooperate by scheduling us once at each of their courses.

WHAT IS SO UNIQUE ABOUT OUR PROGRAM?

1. 5 Courses already mentioned give us use of the facilities right in the middle of their busy season providing a variety of courses for our young golfers.
2. The teaching professionals who donate time to teach Juniors golf fundamentals.
 - Marty Joy and Steve Braun — Belvedere Golf Club
 - Mark Styles and Harold Bertrand — Charlevoix Country Club
 - Joan Waha — Ye Nyne Olde Hollies
 - Scott Blechel — Charlevoix Golf Course
3. Our Scholarship programs:
 - ☛ 6-8 youngsters are financed ($650 each) to attend week long golf camp at Ferris State University
 - ☛ 1-2 advanced players that show skill and competitive passion to complete at high school level are scholarshiped ($750 each) to attend the August Boyne Golf Academy for a week.
 - ☛ A graduating senior and former junior golfer who has been an outstanding role model, is recognized by receiving a $500 freshman book stipend.
 - ☛ Working with school officials 20-25 students are identified who would benefit from the program and are enrolled free of charge.
4. A caring motivated Board of Trustees that oversee the program.
 - Bob Beaumont, Tom Bickersteth, Rosemary Corradi, Sam Supernaw, Bill Supernaw, Joyce Davenport-secretary, Dennis LeCroix-president, Dave Davenport-executive director.

Again, thank you one and all for a wonderful summer for our youngsters to learn life values through golf.

Charlevoix Area Hospital debuts new scan technology

New diagnostic technology that promises to produce faster, clearer, more precise patient images was recently unveiled at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Called the G.E. LightSpeed VCT Select, the system uses computers and low-dose tomography to scan and capture multiple views of a patient's organs, cardiovascular system, skeleton or entire body. The resulting realistic, high-resolution, three-dimensional images enable physicians to quickly and accurately diagnose a problem and begin appropriate treatment.

Commenting on the new equipment, Charlevoix Area Hospital chief executive officer Bill Jackson said, "This LightSpeed ushers in the next generation of CT imaging, giving our physicians the information they need to identify life-threatening illnesses such as stroke or heart attack. We feel very privileged to offer such advanced medical technology."

Charlevoix Area Hospital is the first in this region of Michigan to install the new kind of system. Proceeds from the hospital foundation's fundraising events and generous gifts from local donors helped make the acquisition possible.

Christine Unbehaun, president of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild, gave hospital president, Bill Jackson, a $5,600 donation for a virtual skylight which patients will be able to look at while lying in the new computerized tomography scanner at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Jackson said almost $500,000 of the project's nearly $1.7 million cost came from charitable donations. The VCT Select uses a rotation speed of 0.4 seconds to create cross-sectional anatomical images as thin as a credit card. These images combine to form a 3-D view of the organ under study. According to hospital radiologist Carl Harlan, doctor of osteopathic medicine, the new scanner's speed and precision spell benefits for patients and physicians alike.

"The scanner captures images quickly, so patients don't have to hold their breath long," he explained. "And that's especially helpful for geriatric patients, those who are ventilators, or very young children. Fast scans also mean less patient stress and anxiety. And at the same time, this scanner delivers outstanding, highly detailed images that greatly aid physicians.

The LightSpeed VCT Select has many diagnostic applications in cardiology, neurology and trauma. Typical uses include non-invasive angiography, pulmonary studies, oncology care, cardiac and coronary vessel analysis, stroke work-up, kidney and liver exams, abdominal organ injury and spinal injury.

"The new scanner's enhanced capabilities open the door to so many new procedures," Dr. Harlan said. "This is an amazing medical tool and an important addition to our hospital and our community."

Businesses, schools join forces in 3rd Annual Day of Caring

For several months, the Char-Em United Way, has been working hand in hand with several businesses and local organizations, as well as Charlevoix High School, to plan the 3rd Annual Community Day of Caring.

This Sept. 14 event, aimed at promoting community involvement, will involve several projects. Volunteers will be sent to Camp Daggett, Raven Hill, The Women's Resource Center, Challenge Mountain, and many more locations assisting those groups in a variety of ways. Students from Charlevoix High School will clean roadsides and heaches and help out in other ways.

A new twist this year will be a celebration wrap-up of the Day of Caring and Kick-off to the Char-Em United Way campaign. This new addition will begin at 5 p.m. on Sept. 14 in Charlevoix's East Park. Festivities will include live entertainment by Mojo and the Boogieman, refreshments and an opportunity to meet the United Way Board, and campaign committee members.

Rayders take St. Ignace in season opener

The Charlevoix Rayders answered some questions in their high school football season opener on Friday, Aug. 25.

For the second straight season, the Rayders opened the season with a victory over St. Ignace, this one 40-13 at Kipke Field.

The Rayders, who broke a 10-year losing streak to the Saints in winning last year's opener, made seven interceptions on Friday and cashed in on a pair of big plays en route to the convincing win.

"The kids played really hard, our defense hit pretty hard, and we got things going in the right direction," Charlevoix coach Don Jess said. "We enjoyed the victory, but we know we have a lot of work to do and with our schedule coming up, there's really no time to celebrate."

The Rayders play at Benzie Central in another non-leaguer on Friday, Sept. 1, then face Traverse City St. Francis, East Jordan and Boyne City in the ensuing weeks.

Charlevoix senior Chris Waha was stellar in his quarterback debut, completing 14-of-20 passes for 129 yards and two touchdowns. He also scored a touchdown, kicked an extra point, threw for a two-point conversion, and made two interceptions on defense.

"He played really well, as did a lot of people," Jess said.

Dan Swenor scored two TDs for the Rayders, one on a 41-yard pass play, the other on an 80-yard run. Brad Cyr scored on a 5-yard run, Kyle Jones scored on a 2-yard run, and Cliff Jones caught a two-point conversion pass.

Matt Kanine led Charlevoix's runners with 60 yards on five carries. Swenor finished with three catches for 66 yards, and Darron Munson had four receptions for 26 yards.

Kyle Jones led Charlevoix's defense with eight tackles, while Cliff Jones added seven. Munson had three interceptions and forced a fumble, and Drew Klooster and Swenor had one interception apiece.

"Defensively, we put a lot of pressure on their quarterback and that's what led to a lot of our offense," Jess said.

Red Fox Regatta boats sail this weekend

The Charlevoix Yacht Club will host the Red Fox Regatta this weekend. Pictured above are boats sailing neck-in-neck during the 2005 event.

This Labor Day weekend the tradition continues.

For more than 30 years the Charlevoix Yacht Club has hosted the Red Fox Regatta on Lake Charlevoix. Once again this year the club is expected to be organizing the largest fleet of sailboats to cross the waters of Lake Charlevoix.

With an anticipated 90 boats to be registered, the scene on the lake will be spectacular. The festivities begin Friday, Sept. 1 with the Nucore triangle with boats racing on the north end of Lake Charlevoix.

Then, Saturday, Sept. 2, the fleet will sail to Boyne City with marks near Hemmingway Point, Horton Bay and Young State Park.

The traditional corn roast and barbecue party will be held on Saturday night at Veteran's Memorial Park in Boyne City. The boats will sail back to Charlevoix on Sunday.

An awards party will take place directly following the race at the Charlevoix Yacht Club. For more information visit www.charlevoixyachtclub.org.

Steve Braun plays 100 holes to benefit Junior Golf program

On Aug. 21 Belvedere Golf Club professional, Steve Braun, played 100 holes in a single day to benefit the Charlevoix Area Junior Golf program.

Like clock work, he teed off at 6:30 a.m., shot a 77 on the Belvedere course and then proceeded to card a 74, 78, 77, and 76 and a 47 for his final 10 holes.

Barry Pierce, speaking for fellow volunteer cart drivers Rosemary Corradi, Mary Bradley, Jim Shanahan and Stuart Goldblatt, said, "It always is an amazing feat, watching Steve play such high level golf during the entire day. It's a special treat to be a part of it."

Dean Davenport, who directs the Charlevoix Area Junior Golf program, expressed his gratitude for Braun's efforts.

"His love for golf and for getting youngsters involved in the sport runs deep. He has been an inspiration to our program, and besides volunteering his teaching expertise, raises the extra money that enables our program to be unique and among the top such programs in the nation. Funds raised by Steve go directly into our scholarship program. Each summer we are able to send between six and eight juniors to the week-long golf camp at Ferris State University. And for the second year we send a freshman player to the Boyne Golf Academy in preparation for the high school season. We also recognize a graduating senior who has been an outstanding role model and award them a cash stipend for his freshman year book costs."

"Steve is greatly appreciated by all of us connected with the program," added Dennis LaCroix, Charlevoix Area Junior Golf board president. "His dedication and interest in young golfers is typical of the excellent cooperation we get from everyone, including the five local courses, Antrim Dells, Belvedere, Dunnaglas, Charlevoix Country Club and the municipal course that each provided the opportunity and facilities for our program to flourish."

Kappa Sigma to host Overflow sale

"I think it (the sorority's contribution) revived it — it certainly helped. Without their participation it would have been quite less of an event," said Terry Edger, husband of the late Judy Edger who died of breast cancer in 1999 and who is now memorialized by the walk.

Since the walk's inception, it has taken place on the Saturday before Mother's Day. It has been directed by community members in the Charlevoix Area Memorial Cancer Fund committee.

Funds raised by the event go to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and are distributed locally for support, screening and early detection services and health education and outreach. The event will continue in this fashion under Kappa Sigma's umbrella.

Edger said he sees potential with new leadership.

"I'm getting old," he said. "Our group has gotten older. A lot of people are still in the south during planning. We need younger blood."

A second, long-range Kappa Sigma goal is construction of a community playground near downtown Charlevoix.

"I'm excited with the direction we are taking. There is good support for moving forward on these two things," Hoyt said.

To assist in planning and steering these objectives, the 22-member group has organized its first annual Overflow 2006, a multi-family garage sale.

The event will take place from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 2 at Northwest Academy, located at 115 West Hurlbut St. in downtown Charlevoix.

While the future of Home Tour is no longer locked with Kappa Sigma, Hoyt said the group will work with any other non-profit on the ins and outs of running it.

"As the Charlevoix Home Tour has become an anticipated event for both locals and visitors each summer, we would love to see another organization carry on this tradition," she said. "Kappa Sigma would be more than happy to share our information and experience on how we have planned and operated the tour."

For more information about the tour, call Lisa Hoyt at (231) 547-6110.

For more information about Overflow 2006, call Beth Martin at (231) 547-1768.

The Rotary Club of Charlevoix will host its annual "Porker" golf tournament Thursday, Sept. 7 at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course.

Billed as "The Affordable Golf Tournament," the entry fee remains only $40 per person.

"With the amount and value of the prizes awarded to Porker participants, it is almost as if the Rotary Club is paying people to play," said tournament director, Tim Petrosky. "Last year we distributed gifts with a retail value of more than $3,000 to golfers. Everyone went home with a prize."

The event is a four-person scramble. The entry fee includes golf, a dinner buffet at Giuseppe's and the chance to win oodles of prizes. Prizes will be awarded based on skill, luck and random draw, and to teams that finish first, last and right in the middle.

"It is due to the generosity of area businesses and residents, who donate prizes for the event, that makes the tournament so much fun for everyone," said Petrosky.

Registration forms are available at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course pro shop.

The event is limited to the first 20 teams that register. An optional skins game and "mulligans" will also be available to teams. The shotgun start is at 4:30 p.m. Dinner follows at 6:30 p.m.

9/11: Locals look back and ahead

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Where were you on Sept. 11, 2001?

Time changes many things, but for many, national tragedies are difficult to forget.

"I was in the Remax office with Steve Andrae when the phone rang. One of the members of the firm was in the Villager Puh and saw the plane crash into the first tower and called up at the office there," said local resident, Charlie Butcher. "We hustled down the street... and got there just in time to see the second plane crash into the second tower — the sight was almost unbelievable."

Butcher, who was visiting New York City hack when the crews were digging the foundations for the twin towers, said the nation's mentality after 9/11 was similar to the emotional climate following the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"The nation said, 'We're going to go after the bastards, whoever they were,'" he said.

Lessons to be learned from that day, Butcher said, "The United States was caught with its pants down — again. We seldom do learn anything after a generation or two has forgotten."

"There are people out there who aren't wearing uniforms that want to kill us. Those people are destroyers. They are not builders, and they never will be builders. They are the dregs of society."

Local shop owner, Jim Berlage, was watching the Today Show when a special news report interrupted the program.

"Horror," was Berlage's initial reaction.

So what's changed?

"We now have defenses surrounding the Beaver Island, and the Mackinac Bridge makes the news because of cell phones in Caro, Michigan," he said. "I think, in general, people are more reluctant to fly — if I can drive it in two days, I'll drive, it's not worth the hassle."

A lesson Berlage has learned is, "Always be ready, because today could be your last."

People packed the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church on Saturday, Sept. 2.

Outside sat the mascot of the Charlevoix County Republican Party, a life-size elephant and Charlevoix Township Fire Department trucks — all symhols of strong, established organizations Oscar Stroud had a key role in building.

Inside the church was a memorial service dedicated to Stroud who died Tuesday, Aug. 29 of congestive heart disease at the age of 94. Lining the pews were his friends and family many of who shared stories of Stroud. "The Big 'O'" during a eulogy time.

Leading the discussion was Bob Drebenstedt, a fellow Republican and close friend of Stroud.

"This man impressed me. The man was bigger than life — a legend," he said. "Oscar showed me how to overcome obstacles. He was a mountain climber."

apparent paralysis during the event.

"The commentators weren't jumping down and doing in-depth, close-up reporting that I would expect during any national tragedy," he said. "That's just how I remember that. They (newscasters) were so astonished at what they were watching and then reporting how astonished they were, so there were no estimates of the number of lives lost, for instance."

He added, "I've never seen the media react in such a way to such an event."

Lessons Boal learned from the event?

"It had to be expected that America would be attacked sooner or later because of its policies around the world," he said. "There's been so many events of this kind in different countries that, sooner or later, it would happen here."

He added, "We live, have lived, a charmed life on this side of the ocean, so it (9/11 attacks) woke everyone up."

Charlevoix County Sheriff, George T. Lasater's initial reactions were, "Saddened, shocked, angry."

The biggest changes Lasater has noticed?

"We live, have lived, a charmed life on this side of the ocean, so it (9/11 attacks) woke everyone up."

Ellis Boal
CHARLEVOIX RESIDENT

"I think the lines of communication have opened up. Before, the feds were maybe a little guarded to share (information) with local authority," he said. "But now, not a week goes by that I don't get something from the feds in regards to possible terrorist activity."

He added, "Hardly a week goes by that I don't wonder, 'When is the next shoe going to fall?'"

Joannie Carlson was home suffering with pneumonia when the first plane hit.

"It was just a horror. You just don't expect that kind of thing to happen," she said.

Carlson isn't afraid to fly, but has she noticed any changes in American living?

"Just at the airports. They're more careful," she said. "I've been searched a couple of times, but I don't mind because it means they're doing their job."

Jack Messer, the director of the Office of Emergency Management for Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan Counties, said, "It's a frightening world and my current job is to help people be prepared for something that we hope never happens and that was a day that proved that we are all vulnerable."

Messer said he was never prouder to be an American than watching the nation come together after the tragedy.

"I think we, as average citizens, forget and are not grateful enough to those in emergency response — we owe them a lot," he said.

Writer ponders columns barely fit to print

I always vowed I would never stoop to writing the, "I couldn't think of anything to write about in my column," column, but here we are.

Before you blame me, know our office is a veritable third world operation. My hands cramp due to the Arctic air-conditioning. I get drowsy due to my overstuffed reclining chair, and with view of Round Lake, concentration is out of the question — for just .60 cents a day, you can make sure little Benjamin has that new espresso machine he's always wanted. Won't you please give generously?

I spent this week in the white-collar sweatshop planning to write about Pluto being stripped of its status as a planet. In case you've been hiding in a spider hole in Tikrit, Pluto was quietly designated as a dwarf planet by a group of astronomers in Prague. Then there were eight.

It seems people aren't too interested in the fate of the former planet. And even if they were, what would I write? Yeah, I could always regurgitate some information from a text book. I could tell you Pluto is blah blah feet across, X light years from the sun on the right-hand side and ■ that it was discovered in 19-who-gives-a-rat's-fanny, but I think I will leave the stars to the astrologers, thank-you very much.

THE CRYING TOWEL

Benjamin Gohs

The real problem was I had already submitted the idea to my editor. I was stuck with it. After a few days of nail biting (by which I mean eating doughnuts and crying), I realized I had zilch, or as the Japanese say, "Zirch."

I was in too deep. The Great Pluto Farce, as it would come to be known in my head, would join the list of failures like my, "Misunderstood Dictator," series.

While I was saddened, "Reflections on Saddam: Gentler than Genocide" and "Osama: Joker of Jalalabad," would never see the light of day, they certainly weren't the worst two ideas I'd considered pitching to my editor.

Then again, if I couldn't make a go of a story on an ex-planet, how would I ever get that, "Mating Rituals of the Junco Shrimp," off the ground?

What hope was there for my exposé on corduroy if I couldn't sell, "Sins of the Rutabaga," and "26 Ways to Prepare Tenderloin of Skunk?"

Then there was the tips and tricks set I wanted to roll out. The list included old favorites such as, "10 Things You Should Never Do With Mustard," "25 Smells You'll Never Admit to Liking," and a piece entitled, "It's Not Your Fault: 20 compliments for Parents of Ugly Children."

Although I didn't think, "The Dead Art of the Courtesy Flush," would go over much better than, "The Thinking Man's Guide to Parcheesi," I was hoping my thoughts on cheating at solitaire would be found useful.

Some columnists write about nature, but I didn't think too many people would relish reading, "The Lemming: Nature's Little Moron," much more than, "Hog Calling for Fun and Profit."

"Matriculation and Other Words That Don't Mean What You Think They Mean," may sound dirty, but it had to be more interesting than the four-part investigation into the mechanics of chalk, I was mulling over.

I gave up on "Spelling Four Dummies," because it was far too maudlin, even for me.

I killed, "A Left-wing Guide to Values: The Best Nine Words on Paper," after my membership in the Liberal Media was threatened, and "Mythological Creatures?: Bigfoot and the Compassionate Conservative," would have been an insult to anyone who has ever spotted the hairy, sweaty dillard.

Maybe someday, after I've won that Pulitzer Prize for enraging the general public, I can go to work on some racier topics, but for now, columns like, "The Protestant's Guide to Judaism," and "In Case Of Emergency, Freak Out!: Disaster Protocols for Cowards," will remain shelved.

Then again, maybe I'm being too wimpy. If someone had the courage to create a bumper sticker which reads: "Even Jesus Thinks You're a Jerk," then I could probably get away with my piece, "How To Swear In 14 Different Languages."

After all, I'd rather be labeled offensive than boring. Oh, and you can send your .60 cent checks to 112 Mason St., Charlevoix, Mich. 49720 C/O me.

cial to evade responsibility for lax security and it helps justify prosecutorial enthusiasm.

Eighteen-year-olds are capable of great things, and they are capable of very stupid things. We restrict certain legal rights until they are 21, precisely because we know they aren't mature enough to make consistently good decisions at 18. And yes, they can be great soldiers, but they can also go terribly wrong as soldiers. The difference is often the quality of leadership.

Leaders teach, by example and by instruction. Before we advocate throwing the book at these kids, perhaps we should take a step back and ask what it is we're hoping to accomplish. We want to undo the $700 in harm done to the school and the taxpayers. We want the students to show better judgment in the future. We want them to understand the harm they caused to the community. We want them to become more responsible adults. And we want other students to learn from their example. It's called restorative justice, and it involves community service, restitution and the sincere expression of remorse. It requires those who do harm to be accountable for setting things right.

Most of the students took responsibility for their actions. They have apologized, to school officials, the police and to their families. They've paid restitution (including the cost of re-keying) and they continue to perform community service. Most of the students had never been in trouble before, and were therefore eligible for deferred sentencing, which means that if they stay out of trouble, nothing further will happen. The editor characterizes this as being let off "without serious consequences" (in editorial entitled, "Punishment of vandals doesn't fit the crime," page 4 of the Aug. 16 edition of the Charlevoix Courier). I wonder what she was hoping for.

When community leaders overreact, misrepresent facts, fail to take responsibility for their own mistakes and seem more interested in fixing the blame than in fixing the problem, we have a failure of leadership.

This situation has spun out of control and I hope that our community leaders will step up and set things right.

ST. MARY STORY NOT NEWSWORTHY

Editor:
I am saddened and disappointed that someone thought the article about St. Mary's was newsworthy (page 10 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Courier entitled, "St. Mary Church endures year of turmoil"). It is not news, it is what goes on in a family — differences of opinion, disagreements and gossip.

The church is packed for every service. That speaks for itself. The new pastor is young, intelligent, hardworking, full of ideas and inspired by the Holy Spirit. Just plain wonderful.

LETTERS POLICY

Readers are encouraged to write letters to the editor addressing pertinent topics of community interest. The Courier editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters for length, correct grammar, libel and content.

ELSENHEIMER VOTE IRRESPONSIBLE

Editor:

Irresponsible. That describes (Republican) Kevin Elsenheimer's (State Representative 105th District) vote to eliminate the single business tax in Michigan without provision to replace those revenues. Ten percent of Michigan's state revenues are provided through the single business tax. We are gambling with the future of our children's education. It seems that the Republican mantra, "Leave no child behind," will become "Leave no child a dime." Vote for (Democratic candidate for the State Representative 105th District seat) Tom Hay Bauer, he has an interest in promoting better choices.

CHURCH MATTERS ARE PRIVATE

Editor:

I grew up reading the Charlevoix Courier and was always as proud of it as my parents were and their parents. The highlight of my Wednesdays has always been the Courier. As with any newspaper, I would hear comments in all areas of the Courier that weren't the best but I stuck by you and defended you all the way. That record is now broken.

Even though I am not a Catholic, my initial reaction after reading the article (page 10 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Courier entitled, "St. Mary Church endures year of turmoil") was that of embarrassment. The tourists, the out-of-towners and the fudgies are going to be laughing at us behind our backs were my thoughts. So, this is what Charlevoix the Beautiful's interests are degrading churches and their ministers of God.

What the church family is going through at this time should be kept inside their "home." All families have problems — this is a minor one.

A public apology is in order, I do believe — not just for the St. Mary's parishioners, but to all who read the Courier.

PRANK EXAGGERATED

Editor:

A few months ago, a group of local high school students engaged in a prank that resulted in damage to the school. Estimates of the damage were exaggerated in the press. Approximately $700 in damage was done, most of it unintentionally, by this group of students in this incident.

What about the key problem? A number of students have had keys to the school for some time. The public found out about it because of this incident. The bottom line is that the key problem pre-existed the incident. Holding these students responsible for the cost of re-keying serves only two purposes: It allows school offi-

Political powerhouse leaves local legacy

Oscar Stroud

Stroud climbed mountains in multiple arenas including politics, business and family.

He is a former chairman of the Republican Party and founder of the annual Republican picnic, which he established 67 years ago. While he promoted the party across the county, his allegiance was focused on "the township" — Charlevoix Township.

Stroud started his stint in Charlevoix Township government in 1966 as a trustee. He stayed in the trustee's position for three years before being elected supervisor in 1969. He resigned from the supervisor's seat in December of 2003 due to his declining health.

In an interview following his resignation, Stroud jokingly commented that he stuck with the job for the money. And when asked what really kept him coming to meetings and planning major projects, he got serious and said he cares about Charlevoix, his hometown.

"He had a deep sense of commitment," Charlevoix Township treasurer, Theda Williams, said.

Stroud's roots were set here as a member of one of Charlevoix County's pioneer families. He was born March 21, 1912 in Hayes Township to Eugene and Anna (Loder) Stroud. He and his wife Margaret then raised their girls, Linda Berglund and Beverly Bryan, here.

His allegiance to the area made Stroud strive to make big things happen here. He was the driving force behind several major projects including the township owned water and sewer systems, the township fire department, the Shanahan Field recreation area, the construction of the township hall called Stroud Hall and the township's paved road system.

"He was a great guy. Charlevoix Township really benefited from him," former township trustee, Don Smith, said.

Friends spoke of his infamous daily cruise around Charlevoix Township.

"He put thousands of miles on his vehicle and never left town," Drebenstedt said.

One of the stops on his daily route was Judy's Restaurant.

Patty Sitzema, sister of former Judy's Restaurant owner, said, "If everyone can do one-hundredth of what Oscar did, we can make a big difference."

While many look at Stroud's life as a political whirlwind, his family members remember him as a patriarch.

His granddaughter-in-law Brenda Bryan, who with her husband Greg, Stroud's grandson, operated Stroud's Wayside Cabins and Motel, said his tough political shell hid a soft heart that he shared with his grandchildren.

"He always made me and my family feel very close," she said. "That was the part you never saw of Oscar. He had a really soft side."

Now, the Stroud family looks to a future the patriarch paved without him.

"We all knew this would happen. But Oscar has always been there — how do you say he's not here anymore?" Bryan said.

"It will be rough not seeing Oscar around. But he will be in our hearts for many, many years," Sitzema added.

Gaskin embarks on senior co-housing adventure

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

Charlevoix resident Pat Gaskin's life has come full circle.

Gaskin, 69, will leave this month to rejoin a group of mission sisters at Elder Spirit, the first senior co-housing neighborhood to be built in the United States.

"It just seems like it's time for a new adventure," she said.

While this is a new adventure, it will include eight important faces from her past.

In 1955, when she was 18, Gaskin left her hometown of Cincinnati, Ohio and joined a group of 100 catholic missionaries in an outreach effort in the Appalachian Mountains. In 1968, divisions within the catholic church resulted in the group's fragmentation with about one-third staying with the mission, another third leaving and another branching off to form the Federation of Communities in Service (FOCIS).

Gaskin who left the group at age 30 to attend college said, "It was such a rich life experience for me."

Now, decades later, this same community is calling her back.

The core membership of FOCIS, including Gaskin's former mother general, Catherine Rumschlag, is steering the Elder Spirit project which was built in the historic town of Abingdon, Va.

The co-housing concept comes from Denmark and is based on enhancing community living.

Gaskin said the ecumenical community is based in part on Charlevoix resident Pat Gaskin sits at her home in Charlevoix Estates. She is packing up for a new adventure that will take her far from home but closer to her roots.

the research of Drew Leder who writes about the opportunities elders have to cultivate their spiritual life.

Gaskin and her late husband, John Gaskin had originally explored the co-housing neighborhood. In May, the two traveled to Virginia to give the project a final look. At that time no units were available.

Three weeks ago, just over a month after 91-year-old John passed away following injuries he sustained in a car accident, Gaskin received a phone call informing her that a unit was ready. And she accepted.

The neighborhood she will now call home is oval shaped and includes 29 small units, the largest of which is a 960-square-foot two-bedroom unit. Of those units, 12 homes are for sale and the balance are rentals. The community is situated on a 3.7 acre parcel which butts up to the 34-mile Virginia Creeper Recreation Trail. Gaskin said the thrust is to provide its 40 residents ages 55 and over with low-income housing opportunities. Her two-bedroom unit will cost $485 per month.

Unique elements of the design include a large communal house where residents can participate in shared meals, community gardens, a chapel building and parking on the periphery to encourage walking, intermingling and connectivity.

Gaskin, who moved to Charlevoix in 1981, said leaving friends behind will be the most difficult part of the move.

"There have been wonderful, responsive, supportive people wherever I've turned," she said. "It isn't easy to leave because of all the support here — I know I can't recreate that support system. But it's almost the feeling of a calling. I feel like I have something to give to it (Elder Spirit) so more people can come to know the value of community living and how helpful it is to share your life with others."

A sendoff party for Pat Gaskin took place on Sept. 4 at Ferry Beach in Charlevoix.

Gaskin plans to leave Sept. 16 embarking on a 1,200 mile road trip that will bring her to the doorstep of Elder Spirit. The route will include a stop in Holly to spread John's ashes at the cabin he built there in 1937 which is now part of the Holly Recreation Area.

Volunteers needed for Sept. 16 National Beach Cleanup Day

National Beach Cleanup Day is Sept. 16. The worldwide event is organized by the Alliance for the Great Lakes and is locally orchestrated by Daniel Mann.

Volunteers for the Charlevoix cleanup project will meet at 9 a.m. on Sept. 16 at Lake Michigan Beach. From there, beach assignments and collection bags will be given.

After the cleanup, snacks, drinks and lunch food donated by area business will be provided.

Data from the cleanup is used in the Alliance's continuing pollution prevention education programs.

The 2005 Michigan cleanup resulted in 2,401 volunteers hauling away nearly 12,644 pounds of trash from more than 160 miles of shoreline.

To sign up or for more information, call Daniel Mann at (231) 237-0360.

Charlevoix Public Schools welcome new teachers

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Summer is over, and that means Rayders big and small will soon be polishing apples and hopping on busses.

And with a new year at Charlevoix Public Schools, comes new teachers.

"We're looking forward to it. It's exciting and there are a lot of things happening," said interim superintendent of Charlevoix Public Schools, Jim Cooper. "I'm anxious to get kids and staff back in and get going."

He added, "I would just encourage (parents) to get involved with their children's education and activities and certainly welcome their comments and thoughts on how we can improve."

High school science teacher, Kristine Knoke, got her start teaching in two environmental learning centers in Minnesota and Holmes Middle School in Livonia.

"I'm from the Upper Peninsula originally, and always wanted to move back north," she said.

Kristine Knoke

"I was lucky enough to get the opportunity."

Knoke will teach physical science and integrated math II.

"I am super excited. I get to meet all sorts of new kids and a whole new community that I'm anxious to be a part of," Knoke said.

Knoke, who will be married at the end of the year, received her teaching degree from Eastern Michigan University.

The five-year veteran of the education field hopes to get kids excited about learning science and math.

Seventh grade reading teacher, Gwen Catt, has been in the field for 15 years, working for schools in East Jordan and Gaylord.

"I've always worked in elementary somewhere," she said. "The challenge of older kids is kind of scary to me."

Gwen Catt

She added, "I love to be with kids and I love to teach. I'm just really passionate about reading, and sharing that passion is always something I've wanted to do."

Catt, who received her bachelor's degree from Aquinas College and master's degree from Spring Arbor University, spent every summer for the past seven years in Charlevoix.

"We never wanted to leave when the end of summer would roll around," she said. "So, our family relocated here."

Eighth grade social studies teacher, Doug Drenth, will remain at his post in Charlevoix

Middle School while replacing Jim Kanine as the high school athletic director.

"This is my fourth year in Charlevoix, and my seventeenth year in education," Drenth said. "I taught and coached in

Doug Drenth

Drenth, who recently finished his degree in educational leadership, will work with coaches, budgets, scheduling and the hiring of officials, among other duties.

"Mr. Kanine is a great man, and he has been very helpful to me," Drenth said. "I hope I can do as good a job as he did. I'm looking forward to this new role."

Drenth finished his undergraduate work at Central Michigan University and his post graduate work at Grand Valley State University from where he will soon earn a master's degree.

"I look forward to working with coaches and athletes and trying to continue the traditions Charlevoix has in athletics," he said. "And, I look forward to supporting them in any means that I can."

Drenth has also coached track and basketball for Charlevoix Public Schools.

Former performing arts instructor, Connie Ford, will return this school year as the performing arts coach. Ford did not return phone calls by press time.

Suzanne Klinger, who has two bachelor's degrees from Central Michigan University (CMU), one in education, one in business, is the new Charlevoix

Suzanne Klinger

High School assistant principal and curriculum director. Klinger, who also has master's degrees in educational administration and educational technology from CMU, has been in the field of education since 1992.

"I have been a high (school) business teacher at Houghton Lake and Charlevoix High School as well as a career tech ed and technology coordinator at Char-Em ISD," Klinger wrote in an e-mailed response to questions from the Courier. "I have spent the last seven years as Charlevoix Middle School Media Specialist and have chaired the District Steering Committee, which oversees curriculum and school improvement."

Klinger was inspired to go into the field by her math teacher.

"As a person and educator, he made a huge impact on my life. As I got older, I realized that I, too, wanted to have a chance to impact a child's life for the better. Being a teacher was one way to do that," she stated.

Klinger, who is married and has three children, is originally from Ohio.

"I hope to create a positive working relationship with the high school students and staff and improve communication with parents," she stated. "Since my main role with the students will be discipline and attendance, I will work with the students to reduce their discipline and attendance problems by treating them fairly and instilling the importance of education for lifelong success."

She further stated, "I also look forward to continuing the work we have done in our district with curriculum, instruction and assessment. We have an incredible, dedicated staff that always works toward offering an aligned curriculum with strong instructional strategies. I hope to continue to offer guidance and leadership in curriculum for our staff."

The first day of school is today, Wednesday, Sept. 6.

New administrator, teachers join St. Mary staff

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Today, students at St. Mary School were welcomed to the 2006-2007 school year by new teachers and a new principal.

Keisha Versey was selected to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of former principal Janet Troppman, who accepted the principal's seat at Traverse City St. Francis.

Versey, 30, moved here in May from Onekama where she was a preschool, kindergarten and elementary Spanish teacher for nine years with the Onekama Consolidated School.

She said the transition was based in part on her husband, Jeff, accepting a new job with Industrial Magnetism Inc. in Boyne City.

"But I was ready for a change in grade or move to the administrative level. That is ultimately what I wanted to do," she said. "When this opportunity came up, it seemed like the right fit for the whole family."

The Versey family includes Keisha, her husband, Jeff, and their daughters, Kamryn, 7, who will be in second-grade at St. Mary, and Sydney, 2.

Versey received her bachelor's degree in elementary education from Alma College and went on to earn a master's degree in education from Grand Valley State University and a second master's in educational administration from Central Michigan University.

She said her plans don't include any major changes — with the exception of marketing what she referred to as a wonderful school.

"I'm learning more and more every day how wonderful this school is. The academics are in place. The religious studies are in place. We just need to let the community know how great we are. I want to help the school thrive and be the best it can be," Versey said.

Other new faces include pre-kindergarten teacher, Leslie Hoffman, second-grade teacher, Mary Plude, and third-grade teacher, Jenny Diebold.

For Hoffman, 23, her position at St. Mary is her first teaching job.

She is a 2001 graduate of Charlevoix High School who went on to earn a bachelor's degree in language arts and early childhood development from Aquinas College.

to be. I'm excited for preschool — watching their small success and development," she said.

While Hoffman is a newcomer to the education scene, Diebold is a veteran. The 47-year-old Ellsworth resident has been teaching for 26 years, some of which was spent at St. Mary. Her most recent teaching job was also a third-grade position with Ellsworth Community Schools.

"I'm thrilled to be back," she said.

Diebold is a 1976 graduate of Gaylord High School and earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Northern Michigan University. She is married to Rick and has two children, a son, Rick, and a daughter, Karin.

Plude, 39, of Charlevoix, has been out of the classroom since the 1990s and is excited to return.

"My kids are grown and it's the right time to come back. It (teaching) was the one thing I did not complete. I love teaching in the lower elementary classroom," Plude, a mother of four, said.

St. Mary School currently has about 75 students enrolled in pre-kindergarten through sixth grades. Enrollment is still open for this school year.

Northwest Academy enrollment skyrockets

New NWA programs, teachers

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Northwest Academy begins their eleventh year as a public school academy with new teachers and a new offering.

Co-administrator of the academy, Gary Stutzman, said open enrollment in their new kindergarten through third-grade and existing fourth through twelfth-grade programs continues.

"We are definitely excited about the addition of the (kindergarten), first, second and third grades," Stutzman said. "The math and science department is also going through an exciting change with the addition of Shelly Brya and Susan Metzger."

she has dealing with the math curriculum and actually being one of the people who helped write the questions for the MEAP (Michigan Educational Assessment Program test). It's really exciting having someone with that kind of background on our staff working at this level. It can't do anything but be good for our school, for our student body and our staff."

Stutzman said Northwest Academy's ability to offer an elementary program is indicative of a bright future.

"To have a mix of new teachers and the returning veteran teachers gives us a really great mix," he said. "The future of Northwest Academy is at the elementary level. This is significant, I think, because parents now have the ability to have a choice of where they might want to send their child for their education."

Stutzman said, while enrollment this year has doubled, the academy still boasts a goal of no more than 15 students per class.

"Why I believe there is this explosion in growth is because our team is so dedicated to individualizing education to each child," he said. "We want to work with these children so there is measurable progress every day."

Shelly Brya

Brya, the academy's new science teacher, previously worked in public health for 10 years. "I decided I needed a change, a new outlet for my science, so I got my teacher's certificate," she said. "This is actually my first teaching experience."

Brya completed her student teaching in East Jordan.

"I look forward to some one-on-one mentoring with the students," she said. "I look forward to helping restructure the science department here and getting kids excited about science again."

Brya received her bachelor's degree in environmental health and science and her teaching certificate from Ferris State University.

"My true love was really science. I wanted to get back to the hands-on role in science," she said. "I was working in a regulatory role in science for a public health agency and found that I had a connection with kids and put two and two together and here I am."

Brya, who is married and has a 2-year-old daughter, has lived in northern Michigan for 12 years.

Originally from Grand Haven, Metzger and her husband moved to the area after remodeling a home in Horton Bay.

"I enjoy working with children and I also have a passion for mathematics," she said. "My joy in life is getting kids to see everything in the world involves mathematics — even the tiling of a kitchen floor."

Math isn't something you just learn about in the classroom, Metzger said. "It's something you utilize everyday."

Metzger will work jointly with the science department to create projects which help the students see how different subjects intermix.

Metzger has a master's degree in education from Grand Valley State University and a master's degree in educational leadership from Western Michigan University.

"It's exciting to be up here permanently," said the one-time seasonal guest to Charlevoix. "I consider it an honor and a privilege to work with them (students) this year and I thank them for the opportunity to do so."

Gerry Sciacca, a seven-year veteran of Concord Academy of Petoskey, will be teaching sixth and seventh grades at Northwest Academy.

"I'm very happy to be here because they (NWA) have the same philosophy of individualizing each child's educational plan, teaching each child at their level and taking them as far as they can go and not focusing on age and grade," Sciacca said. "Chronological age does not determine where a child is academically. It's taking a look at where the kids are now, not what their grade level is."

Sciacca, who has taught all grades from kindergarten through eighth, received her bachelor's degree from Western Michigan University, and her continuing education from Michigan State University.

"I bring a fine arts background, so I'm going to be bringing fine arts to my classroom," said the mother of three.

Northwest Academy's new kindergarten and first-grade teacher, Phoebe Gohs, has a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Spring Arbor University.

"I'm excited to be able to differentiate instruction because we have small class sizes and I will be able to teach the kids at the level they are at," she said.

Before coming to work with the youngest section of the population, Gohs worked with the oldest group. "I was working as a nurse's aid for 10 years and, with my kids going through school, I was spending a lot of time at the school," she said. "I decided that was where I'd rather be."

While this is Gohs' first full-time teaching assignment, she spent the last two school years substitute teaching in school districts in Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

"People should feel something special when they walk through the building and see the high level of interaction between the staff and their students," Stutzman said. "I think we have the kind of people in place to make that happen."

The first day of school began at 8:15 a.m., today, Wednesday, Sept. 6. Parent orientation is at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 7.

Bus safety tips for students and motorists

KIDS CORNER

George T. Lasater

The first day of school marks a significant milestone in the life of a child.

It's an exciting time for making new friends, learning new things, and

For some, riding the school bus.

Every day approximately 20 million students use school buses as transportation to and from school. Although school buses represent the safest form of highway transportation, there are a number of safety factors both students and drivers should be aware of.

Hoping to ensure that the school year gets off to a safe and happy start, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office encourages caution whenever school buses are present.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), over the past 11 years, an average of 35 school-age children have died in school bus-related accidents each year. In this average, nine were occupants on the school bus, while 26 were pedestrians. The safety administration also reports that an alarming two-thirds of all accidents occurred outside of the bus.

Children are often eager to get off the school bus because they are excited to tell their parents about all of the fun they had at school that day. It is crucial that parents re-enforce the school bus safety rules children learn at school. I also suggest that parents drive their child's bus route with them and practice the proper safety precautions.

Throughout a child's life, there are a number of situations where parents will be unable to exercise control. However, there are numerous precautions they can take to help ensure their child enjoys a safe ride to and from school. The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office has some safety measures we encourage all parents to discuss with their children.

Students should always arrive at the bus stop early. Prior to boarding, wait until the bus has come to a complete stop, the door opens and the bus driver says that it's OK to board. Always walk on the sidewalk when preparing to cross the street near a bus. Make eye contact with the driver so that you are sure he or she sees you. Never walk behind the bus. If you are walking beside the bus, walk at least three giant steps away. Take extra precaution to make sure that clothing with drawstrings and book bags do not get caught in the hand rail or door. Never stop to pick something up that you have dropped when a bus is stopped. Wait until the bus has driven off to avoid not being seen by the driver.

Motorists, remember that children are unpredictable in their actions. Exercise extreme caution when traveling in a school zone. If there are no sidewalks, drive cautiously. Be more alert to the possibility of children walking in the road. Be more aware of children playing near school bus stops. Slow down and prepare to stop whenever you see yellow school bus lights flashing. Never pass a school bus when there are flashing red lights. This is a sign that children are getting off the bus. Learn and obey the school bus laws in your state.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater can be reached by calling (231) 547-4461. His office is located at 1000 Grant St. in Charlevoix.

Monthly featured event: Day of Caring

For several months, the Char-Em United Way, has been working hand in hand with several businesses and local organizations, as well as Charlevoix High School, to plan the 3rd Annual Community Day of Caring.

This Sept. 14 event, aimed at promoting community involvement, will involve several projects. Volunteers will be sent to Camp Daggett, Raven Hill, The Women's Resource Center, Challenge Mountain, and many more locations assisting those groups in a variety of ways. Students from Charlevoix High School will clean roadsides and beaches and help out in other ways.

A new twist this year will be a celebration wrap-up of the Day of Caring and kick-off to the Char-Em United Way campaign. This new addition will begin at 5 p.m. on Sept. 14 in Charlevoix's East Park. Festivities will include live entertainment by Mojo and the Boogiemans, refreshments and an opportunity to meet the United Way Board, and campaign committee members.

Those with a Day of Caring project proposal or to volunteer, call (231) 237-6242.

'Must reads' from library director Valerie Meyerson

The following is a list of age specific books selected by Charlevoix Public Library director Valerie Meyerson for September reading.

PENNY IVES, "RABBIT PIE." AGES 2-5

Six small rabbits, one hath, six pairs of pajamas, six cups of milk, six carrots, one story, and a sprinkling of kisses. These are the ingredients for rabbit pie. Best served at bedtime, this book is sure to be a favorite read-aloud treat.

DASHKA SLATER, "BABY SHOES." AGES 0-4

Brand new shoes mean faster feet and more chances to get into things. Baby says, "Uh-oh." Mama says, "Oh, no."

Mother and baby giggle and race along splashing and coloring and playing all through the story.

Jack lets his imagination run, exploring on the stairs with his toy, Guy. It's when Jack decides Guy should explore the hole in the stairs that his imagination really kicks in, thinking what may be happening to his toy. His parents are too busy to help him, so Jack needs to find his own way rescue Guy. Great for boys who love trucks and those who like to let their inventive imaginations run wild.

MIKE LUPICA, "HEAT." GRADES 4-7

Michael and Carlos try to keep things together after their father dies. Carlos works two jobs after school to pay the bills and leave his little brother time to practice because Michael has "the arm." As a 12-year-old Little Leaguer, he can hit the "magic 80" — an 80 mph fast ball. Here is a ball-player's tale of love of the game, of family and friends, and the struggle of immigrant boys to honor their father's dream of making it to Williamsport, Pa. and the Little League World Series.

PARENTING expert help

During the school year, the Charlevoix Courier publishes a Parenting page that runs the first Wednesday of the month. Headlining the section is a column written by area health practitioners and other kid experts. Also included are book picks for all ages and a child-focused event detailing low-cost ways to wipe the boredom away. Featured event submissions must include time, date and place, as well as an associated name and contact number. Send events and column ideas to news@charlevoixcourier.com or mail them to Charlevoix Courier, P.O. Box 117 Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Bus safety tips for students and motorists

KIDS CORNER

Sheriff George T. Lasater

The first day of school marks a significant milestone in the life of a child. It's an exciting time for making new friends, learning new things, and for some, riding the school bus. Every day approximately 20 million students use school buses as transportation to and from school. Although school buses represent the safest form of highway transportation, there are a number of safety factors both students and drivers should be aware of.

Hoping to ensure that the school year gets off to a safe and happy start, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office encourages caution whenever school buses are present.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), over the past 11 years, an average of 35 school-age children have died in school bus-related accidents each year. In this average, nine were occupants on the school bus, while 26 were pedestrians. The safety administration also reports that an alarming two-thirds of all accidents occurred outside of the bus.

Children are often eager to get off the school bus because they are excited to tell their parents about all of the fun they had at school that day. It is crucial that parents re-enforce the school bus safety rules children learn at school. I also suggest that parents drive their child's bus route with them and practice the proper safety precautions.

Throughout a child's life, there are a number of situations where parents will be unable to exercise control. However, there are numerous precautions they can take to help ensure their child enjoys a safe ride to and from school. The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office has some safety measures we encourage all parents to discuss with their children.

Students should always arrive at the bus stop early. Prior to boarding, wait until the bus has come to a complete stop, the door opens and the bus driver says that it's OK to board. Always walk on the sidewalk when preparing to cross the street near a bus. Make eye contact with the driver so that you are sure he or she sees you. Never walk behind the bus. If you are walking beside the bus, walk at least three giant steps away. Take extra precaution to make sure that clothing with drawstrings and book bags do not get caught in the hand rail or door. Never stop to pick something up that you have dropped when a bus is stopped. Wait until the bus has driven off to avoid not being seen by the driver.

Motorists, remember that children are unpredictable in their actions. Exercise extreme caution when traveling in a school zone. If there are no sidewalks, drive cautiously. Be more alert to the possibility of children walking in the road. Be more aware of children playing near school bus stops. Slow down and prepare to stop whenever you see yellow school bus lights flashing. Never pass a school bus when there are flashing red lights. This is a sign that children are getting off the bus. Learn and obey the school bus laws in your state.

Monthly featured event: Day of Caring

For several months, the Char-Em United Way, has been working hand in hand with several businesses and local organizations, as well as Charlevoix High School, to plan the 3rd Annual Community Day of Caring.

This Sept. 14 event, aimed at promoting community involvement, will involve several projects. Volunteers will be sent to Camp Daggett, Raven Hill, The Women's Resource Center, Challenge Mountain, and many more locations assisting those groups in a variety of ways. Students from Charlevoix High School will clean roadsides and beaches and help out in other ways.

A new twist this year will be a celebration wrap-up of the Day of Caring and kick-off to the Char-Em United Way campaign. This new addition will begin at 5 p.m. on Sept. 14 in Charlevoix's East Park. Festivities will include live entertainment by Mojo and the Boogieband, refreshments and an opportunity to meet the United Way Board, and campaign committee members.

Those with a Day of Caring project proposal or to volunteer, call (231) 237-6242.

MSU Extension director Rod Cortright retires

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

The Charlevoix County branch of the Michigan State University Extension office, located in Boyne City, bid farewell to someone with a quarter century of experience.

Retired extension director, Rod Cortright, will miss the variety his job offers.

"It's been a wonderful experience, and there's no such thing as a typical day," he said. "You never know what's coming through the door. On my desk right now I have a couple bushes with some insects on them, and the woman who brought them in is wondering how to deal with them chewing on her (plants)."

Cortright comes from a long line of people with agricultural interests.

"Before this, I grew up on a farm in southern Michigan. I'm the eighth generation of family on that farm," he said.

Michigan State University has an extension office in each of Michigan's 83 counties.

According to Cortright, the Michigan State University Extension offices are staffed with people to aid citizens in learning about things like agriculture, families' and economic development.

"We probably reach 7,000 or 8,000 people a year, with everything from consumer sciences — what we used to call home-ec — to the 4-H program for kids, which deals with everything from animal husbandry to master gardening," Cortright said. "Our role is to bring university-based information out into the world and get it beyond the borders of the university campus."

"The areas that I worked in primarily are agriculture, marketing of agricultural products, natural resources management, and I public policy issues."

As far as the general audience, (we serve) everyone in Charlevoix County."

Cortright said helping people includes discussing varieties of crops to grow and best management practices.

"I also work with land owners on forestry issues like how to manage a forest properly (and) how to best market timber," he said. "I've had an opportunity to work with some really great people in the county and throughout the state."

Cortright, who has degrees in crop science and soil science from Michigan State University and has worked with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and in agricultural finance, plans to spend time helping his wife with her business, and traveling.

"I'm still going to be doing some work for the university. I've developed quite an area of expertise in land use issues," he said. "I will be doing some teaching in various classes."

Cortright was replaced by Dean

Solomon on Sept. 1.

Solomon's previous employment includes a stint as program coordinator for the Land and Water Program at the W. K. Kellogg Biological Station for nearly a decade.

"I am exceptionally pleased that an individual of Dean's quality will be assuming leadership for our Charlevoix County MSU Extension program," stated Michigan State University North Regional Director, Patrick Cudney in a press release dated Aug. 10.

According to the release, Solomon will be in charge of overseeing staff members, managing budgets, building relationships with elected officials and educating people on issues concerning natural resources and agriculture.

"Solomon began his career with MSU Extension in 1981 as a natural resources agent in Livingston County. He then served as a natural resources district agent for southwestern Michigan. Solomon has assumed leadership roles for the MSU natural resources coalition and as a water quality and water use policy coordinator. Since 2001, Solomon has helped MSU Extension capture more than $800,000 in grants," the release stated. "Solomon received his bachelor's and master's degrees in forestry from MSU. He is a member of the Society of American Foresters, the Michigan Association of Extension Agents, the Michigan community and Natural Resources Development Association and the Association of Natural Resources Extension Professionals."

New Charlevoix Children's House staff members

The Charlevoix Children's House welcomes new staff members for the 2006-2007 school year.

Assisting the local Montessori school's director, Barb Godwin-Chulick, will be Stacie Harvey.

Harvey replaces former classroom assistant, Stacey Edwards, who is working in a Montessori school in Poland.

Chulick, who has been with the school for 17 years, said she chose Harvey because of her commitment to education and to the Montessori method.

"A Montessori classroom is unique in comparison with other preschool settings. The Montessori environment is peaceful and kids excel in it. I believe in it — it works well with who I am," Harvey said.

Chulick explained that the Montessori philosophy which the school's employees integrate into their interactions with students, emphasizes independence. The classroom work areas are set up to be used from left to right and other activities promote visual discrimination in size and color to prepare students for reading.

Harvey, 26, is a Haslett native who received her certification in early childhood development from Central Michigan University and has worked in a Montessori classroom in Midland for three years.

She is currently enrolled in a year-long Montessori certification program at Adrian Dominican Montessori Teacher Education Institute. Her work at the Children's House will fulfill her internship requirement for that certification.

Chulick and Harvey will be joined in the classroom by assistants Carol Coen and Dorothy Metzger.

Currently, there are 21 students enrolled at the Children's House for the 2006-2007 school year. The preschool and kindergarten classroom is open to students ages 2-and-a-half to 6.

For more information, call the Charlevoix Children's House at (231) 547-5599.

Flying in style with Fresh Air Aviation

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

A plush, relaxed flight experience for passengers is the quest of Fresh Air Aviation, a new charter airline service to Beaver Island and destinations by request.

Former Island Airways manager, Rachel Teague, 32, and her husband, lead pilot, Keith Teague, 42, are heading up the new charter service which took to the skies on Aug. 11. The business boasts first class accommodations, booking facilities and procedures.

"We saw a great opportunity to bring something new to the market with a customer service focus and an expanded flight schedule. New ideas, a fresh approach," said Rachel, general manager for Fresh Air Aviation. "People are enjoying the product and service we are providing."

According to Rachel, Island Airways let both she and Keith go last winter. She had been the company's general manager for six years while Keith had been chief pilot there for 15 years.

While Rachel said the reason for the dismissal is unclear, it did provide the couple the opportunity to pursue their dream of operating a charter airline.

"Keith was the most requested pilot with Island Airways, so many people expressed their comfort with him. They really missed him. He brings such professionalism with him," she said.

They operate under the Federal Aviation Administration certificate of Northwoods Aviation of Cadillac, owned by Derek DeRuiter, which specializes in sea plane operations and unique aircraft service.

In providing service to Beaver Island, they take off and land from Charlevoix Municipal Airport and the Peaine and St. James townships airport.

Rachel said their presence at the island airport should increase opportunities for funding for terminal and ramp developments and general aviation there.

"Our staff will be here seven days a week," she said. "This will be great for the island in the long-run."

She said the airport offers nice runways, approaches, lighting and a quiet atmosphere.

Keith shares his flight time with two other pilots all of who have experience flying to and from Beaver Island. The three-some soar in a pair of top of the line Partenavia six-passenger planes that can fly 20 knots transporting people to Beaver Island from Charlevoix in 12 minutes.

The Charlevoix airport terminal doesn't have space for two operators and the city's fixed base operator Island Airways is already there. So, Fresh Air has located its base of operation across the street at 1520 Bridge St.

According to city attorney, Jim Young, the city terminal's inability to provide for another business doesn't violate the Federal Aviation Administration's monopoly policy.

"You have to provide reasonable access to new businesses. That doesn't not mean that you have to give them space in a terminal build-

Castle opens, dedicates gardens and hedge maze

During the Friday, Aug. 25 unveiling of Castle Gardens, Castle Farms owners Linda and Richard Mueller honored previous Castle owner, John Van Haver.

The Knight's Courtyard Garden was dedicated to and named after Castle Van Haver owner, John Haver who was on hand to accept the honor.

Van Haver purchased the Castle farms in the mid-1960s. The horse barn was converted into a foundry for cast aluminum art objects, allowing his love for art and sculpture to be woven into the Castle grounds.

"We want to honor Mr. Van Haver's vision when he set about to preserve this remarkable property. His vision was to promote the arts and preserve the property. This is a common vision that I have continued to the current day Castle Farms owner. I know Mr. Van Haver will be pleased with the restoration. The Charlevoix community, the Castle Farms team and I would like to honor Mr. Van Haver's place in the history of the Castle," said Castle Farms owner, Linda Mueller.

During the Friday, Aug. 25 unveiling of Castle Gardens, Castle Farms owners Linda and Richard Mueller honored previous Castle owner, John Van Haver.

Visitors to Castle Farms will now be able to wander through meticulously groomed gardens and an evergreen hedge maze.

Flowers that are featured in the gardens are those varieties that grow well in northern Michigan — black beauty single hollyhocks, climbing roses and varieties of lilies.

Capitalizing on local talent in the Charlevoix community, Mueller has partnered with the Charlevoix Garden Club to design the Queen's Butterfly Garden. The butterfly garden will be completed next spring. A reflecting pond stocked with live fish and wild ducks is a new addition to the grounds. Frequent sightings of both an eagle and blue heron indicate a habitat for wildlife is growing near the pond.

In the East Garden, visitors will find a fleur-de-lis fountain surrounded by lavender and lilies.

The garden project has taken five years from research and design to actually planting the first plants three years ago. A new garden will be added each year for the next five years, and Mueller will continue to embellish and refine each of the Castle's existing gardens.

"The combination of soaring towers, stone archways and magnificent courtyards and gardens will assure that guests will always enjoy exploring this landmark of Charlevoix."

Castle Farms," Mueller said. Castle Farms is located at 5052 M-66 North in Charlevoix. For more information, call (231) 237-0884 or visit www.castlefarms.com.

ing when the space doesn't already exist. You have a right to do business out of the airport its just a question of how can we accommodate them without being unreasonable," he explained.

The city is giving them access to the airport but they're operating off-site. In my experience the FAA would not make them be forced into the terminal. But they may provide a grant to help expand the terminal.

When asked whether Fresh Air will pursue terminal space at the municipal airport, Rachel said right now they're happy where they are.

"It's comfortable, its convenient and it's cost-effective and we can pass that along to the customer. But who knows what the future will hold," she said.

In fact the privacy provided by the off-site location is one of Fresh Air's marketing points.

The Fresh Air experience, complete with valet parking and opulent aircraft, costs $80 for a round-trip ticket to Beaver Island when booked seven days in advance.

Summer sports trips to Europe for Charlevoix residents Kate and Becca Madison turned into an ideal That's My Photo picture opportunity. Here, Becca is pictured in the center holding a Courier at the Tower of London Bridge. She is surrounded by her fellow Traverse City Northstar soccer teammates. The team competed well and made it to the final 16 of 81 teams before being eliminated.

Beaver Island resident Andrea Jo Moore took this shot of The Picton Castle arriving at Beaver Island on the evening of Aug. 13. The Picton Castle is registered in the Cook Islands, in the South Pacific, and is owned and operated by the Windward Isles Sailing Ship company, Ltd. Her North American home port is Lunenburg, Nova Scotia. The ship is a completely refitted barque that observes the rigorous standards of Germanischer Lloyd's for steel-hulled Cape Horners. She is 179-feet overall, with a riveted steel hull, clear oiled-pine decks, steel masts, and wooden and steel yards. She carries 12,450-square-feet of canvas sail.

A Gold Mine in Bedroom Drawers

Newsweek: People are selling their old scrap gold that is gathering dust for its cash value because gold prices are so high. With the price of gold at a 25 year high (over $650.00 per ounce), it makes sense. ScrapGold.com, a gold recycler, offers free insured recycle kits so people may cash in their scrap with 24 hour service and guarantee satisfaction. They accept broken and outdated items like chains, charms, rings and more. "Everyone has bits of gold just lying around which can be turned into cash" says Richard Zakroff, VP of marketing. "Even old dental gold has value." ScrapGold.com processes over 10,000 recycle kits per month. People can get a free GoldKit at 1-800-283-4700 or ScrapGold.com.

Seniors lead Rayder football team charge

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

An undeniably strong Rayder senior lineup looks to dominate northern Michigan football fields this fall.

Of the 25 members of the varsity Rayder football team, 15 are seniors.

Head coach Don Jess said the senior leadership provides two key elements of the team's success — depth on the line and experience on the field.

"A lot of kids have stepped up and worked hard in the weight room this summer," Jess said.

In spite of losing Jeff Golovich, Evan Keller, Russell Williams and Chris Aepelbacher, Rayder football standouts who graduated last year, Jess said his team will be competitive.

Their goal is to win the Lake Michigan Conference by securing the best record in the conference and to qualify for the playoffs. Last year was only the third time in the Rayder football program's history that they've qualified for the playoffs.

Other teams in the conference are Boyne City, Traverse City St. Francis, East Jordan, Elk Rapids, Kalkaska, Grayling and Harbor Springs.

Jess said he can't just pick the teams that will pose a challenge to the Rayders.

"The conference is tough from top to bottom. It's too early to tell where Charlevoix will fall," he said.

The first two games of the season have been non-conference matchups.

They defeated St. Ignace on

Aug. 25 tallying seven interceptions and winning by a score of 40-13.

"It was a total team effort. Our defense played well — everyone flew to the football and we hit hard," Jess said. "We played well so we are trying to fine tune everything."

Leading the defensive charge are senior captain, Ray Jones, his brothers juniors, Cliff and Kyle Jones and seniors Matt Kanine, Darron Munson and Drew Klooster.

Key offensive players are seniors, Chris Waha, Dan Swenor, Darron Munson, Matt Kanine and Cliff and Kyle Jones and linemen

They faced a tough Benzie Central team on Sept. 1.

Conference play will kickoff at 1 p.m. on Sept. 9 at Traverse City St. Francis. The next home game is at 7 p.m. on Sept. 15 when the Rayders host the Red Devils.

The coaching staff includes Jess and assistants Josh Skeel, Pat Klooster, Mike Rautio and Keith Carey.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country teams aim to earn state title

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Skilled runners are the key to Charlevoix High School girls' and boys' cross country teams meeting their goal of competing at the state championship.

The boys' team, which ended last season with a Lake Michigan Conference championship and a sixth place finish in the Class C regional meet is led by Jacob Wimmer, Alex Buday, Nick Wimmer and Scott Plude.

While coach Ken Plude described these four as his front runners on the team of 18, he said his challenge is getting runners five and six to front runner status.

One of the difficulties Ken is facing is his team's lack of depth. The team's top runner from last season, Brandon graduated along with six key backups.

Ken said depth isn't an impossible obstacle to overcome. But his team will have to be ready to work to make it to states.

According to Ken, the secret to his team's success is, "A lot of mileage, keep positive and stay healthy."

At the team's first meet of the season, Aug. 26 at Benzie, the Rayder boys' runners placed seventh out of 25 teams competing in the Classes A, B and large C division.

"They ran very well just coming off cross country camp," Ken said.

The strongest runners at the Benzie meet for the 5k, 3.1 mile event were first race Jacob Wimmer with a time of 17:08 minutes and Alex Buday with a time of 17:09 minutes.

The girls' team also had a strong showing at Benzie, finishing eighth overall. Junior, Alina Dhaseleer posted the top time for the Rayder girls' team with 20 minutes flat in the 5k.

Coach Mary Plude said Dhaseleer, a junior who has already qualified for the state meet twice, is one of three top runners on her team.

"She's an all-around good runner. She's probably our top runner going into season. She did her work and she's healthy," Mary said.

Also in the team's top three is senior Lindi Edger, a three time all-state runner.

"She turns on when it comes to racing — she loves that competition," Mary said of Edger.

Rounding out the girls' top three is senior, Brittney Lamb, who has made two trips to the state meet.

She's the most consistent of all my practice runners. When she races, she's very consistent," Mary said.

"I've got three very different leaders. It's a great mix to have," she added.

Last year, Mary's team finished fourth in the Lake Michigan Conference and fourth at the regional finals — 10 points away from qualifying for the state championship.

She said her team this year has the chance to make the state cut.

"You really have to train in the summer, which the girls have done this year. We have the second toughest regional in the state. So, we have to be on that day (regional meet) completely. If anyone is slightly off we'll lose our chance. That's the way it goes," Mary said.

While this tight margin may seem pressure packed for Mary's 19 runners, she said that's not the way they approach cross country.

"They don't see it as pressure they see it as challenges which is a great attitude to have. I've got a great team, top to bottom," she said. "We've got an uphill battle but we're strong up front and we're as solid a team as we were last year."

The next girls' and boy's Rayder cross country meet, the famed Mud Run, will take place this weekend, on Saturday, Sept. 9 at Charlevoix High School.

Rayder golf works to overcome Glads

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

The only thing standing between the Rayder golf team and a Lake Michigan Conference championship is a stellar Traverse City St. Francis team.

Rayder golf coach, Jim Glynn, said one of his team's goals this season is to secure a conference championship. However, Traverse City St. Francis continues to stand in the way. The Gladiators of Traverse City were runners-up for the state championship crown in 2005 and were state champs in 2004.

"They're one of the best teams in the state for sure,"

Jim Glynn

Glynn said, "We have to improve everyone down the line as the season goes and just keeping working toward our goals."

Leading the way toward the Rayder goal of winning the conference and ultimately qualifying to compete in the October Division III state finals at Michigan State University in East Lansing are Glynn, who has coached Rayder golf for 14 years, and fellow coach, Bruce Beaudoin. The two are guiding the play of seven varsity and seven junior varsity players.

"We have real good balance — a lot of parity among the players," Glynn said. "For us to compete in the state would be an accomplishment. I think we have a good chance with the way we are playing and our work ethic."

Thus far, the Rayder team has played eight matches.

"We have almost 50 percent of our season in before school starts because of weather and time constraints," Glynn said.

They played Aug. 30 at the Bulldog Invitational with the

Bruce Beaudoin

Bulldogs of Inland Lakes hosting. Of the 17 teams competing, Charlevoix took third place shooting a 336.

Top four scores for the day came from Kris Bartling, who shot an 82, J.D. Speigl, who shot an 83, Chase Beatty, who shot an 85 and Kyle Smith, who shot an 86.

Bartling and Smith are the team's two seniors.

Thus far, in conference play, the Rayders have trailed Traverse City St. Francis.

The two faced off again on Tuesday, Sept. 4 in a Lake Michigan Conference match at Grandview in Kalkaska where all eight teams in the conference competed.

Results from this match were not available by press time.

The eight teams are Charlevoix, Boyne City, Traverse City St. Francis, Harbor Springs, East Jordan, Kalkaska, Grayling and Elk Rapids.

The Lake Michigan conference championship is scheduled to take place on Sept. 26 at Antrim Dells in Atwood.

Young soccer team wants taste of playoffs

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

A young 21-member Charlevoix High School boys' soccer team is looking to this season as an opportunity to build skills.

"We're young. A lot of these guys, the majority, have two years of varsity soccer experience," said coach, Josh Block.

With four games under their helt and no wins, Block said his team's focus is working on fundamentals and learning to play together.

"Our goal is to be prepared for the playoffs, for districts (Oct. 16-21). We have some good athletes. They're learning to play together. And we're shooting to be ready for the playoffs this season," said Block who is in his eleventh year coaching Rayder boys' soccer.

Replacing Gillespie in goal is sophomore, Colin McDonough who Block is hoping stays healthy as both backup keepers are on the injured list — Ben Castiglione

Last season, the boys' soccer team went .500 on the season. Block said they may match this record again this year.

The 2005 soccer team included graduates Shannon Gillespie, Michael DiMartino, Ben Scheek and Matt Teuscher.

Senior leadership comes from Klooster, Trevor Mays, Peter Londgren and Josh Godfrey.

The team got a taste of nail hitting competition on Aug. 28, against Harbor Springs, a team has a broken leg and Justin Friske is out with a sprained ankle.

The key players in the Rayder offensive attack are sophomores, Weston Bryan and Alex Buday, junior, Matt Mailloux junior and senior, Travis Klooster.

Senior leadership comes from Klooster, Trevor Mays, Peter Londgren and Josh Godfrey.

The team got a taste of nail hitting competition on Aug. 28, against Harbor Springs, a team they look forward to playing each year. The Rams scored in the last 20 seconds to win the game 3-2.

In another Lake Michigan Conference match-up on Aug. 30, the Rayders played Grayling, losing 5-3. Weston Bryan scored twice for Charlevoix and Collin Campbell scored once.

Their next game is at 5 p.m. on Sept. 7 at Kipke Field located on the ground of Charlevoix Middle School.

County $2 million short of requests

BY BENJAMIN GOHS

Department heads around the Charlevoix County building proposed their individual budgets to the county Board of Commissioners at the annual Committee of the Whole budget hearing on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

In addition to salary requests, the heads asked for items ranging from computers and curtains to jet boats and cars in the Jan. 1 to Dec. 30, 2007 budget.

"They (commissioners) will adopt a budget, the 2007 budget at one of their two meetings in October," said Charlevoix County clerk and fiscal officer, Jane Brannon. "They're gathering information and then they have some hard decisions to make."

No decisions were made by the board at Wednesday's meeting.

Ken Doty, supervisor of the county building department, asked for eight vehicles and $10,000 for computer system upgrades, among other things.

"The biggest thing you will see is that we have again put in for vehicles," Doty said.

Charlene Novotny, the Charlevoix County Register of Deeds, asked the commissioners for items such as three new com-

Police chief rescues boy from landslide

BY JULIE WITTHOEF

A restful vacation turned into a hands on rescue refresher for Charlevoix City Police Chief, Gerard Doan.

At around 3:30 p.m. on Sept. 2, chief Doan, his wife, Becky and their daughters joined his brother, Matt Doan and sister-in-law Paula Doan and their two boys at a beach in Saxon Harbor, Wis.

The pristine beach area shouldering Lake Superior includes dramatic high clay dunes.

The Doan parents lounged on the beach, keeping a watchful eye over their children, playing nearby in the dunes.

They watched as four boys, three brothers and their cousin ages six to 13 from Milwaukee, Wis., walked by them holding shovels. The group then passed the Doan children and climbed higher.

They started digging into an existing hand-dug cave about 40-feet from the Doan children when the unthinkable happened — a landslide.

"We knew something was wrong immediately," chief Doan said. "Three of the four kids up there with shovels were buried."

The beach area is secluded and commonly used by a few campers and four-wheeler riders — cell phone towers have not yet cropped up there.

Becky ran to call 9-1-1 at a nearby business.

Chief Doan, his brother Matt,

a detective-sergeant with the Wayland post of the Michigan State Police, and sister-in-law Paula, a Michigan State trooper with the Paw-Paw post, took off running down the beach and up the hill where the boys had been playing.

The first boy was found by a bystander within seconds hurried under less than a foot of the sandy clay.

Police chief rescues boy from landslide

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

A restful vacation turned into a hands-on rescue refresher for Charlevoix City Police Chief, Gerard Doan.

At around 3:30 p.m. on Sept. 2, Chief Doan, his wife, Becky and their daughters joined his brother, Matt Doan and sister-in-law Paula Doan and their two boys at a beach in Saxon Harbor, Wis.

The pristine beach area shouldering Lake Superior includes dramatic high clay dunes.

The Doan parents lounged on the beach, keeping a watchful eye over their children, playing nearby in the dunes.

They watched as four boys, three brothers and their cousin ages six to 13 from Milwaukee, Wis., walked by them holding shovels. The group then passed the Doan children and climbed higher.

They started digging into an existing hand-dug cave about 40 feet from the Doan children when the unthinkable happened — a landslide.

"We knew something was wrong immediately," chief Doan said. "Three of the four kids up there with shovels were buried."

The beach area is secluded and commonly used by a few campers and four-wheeler riders — cell phone towers have not yet cropped up there.

Becky ran to call 9-1-1 at a nearby business.

Chief Doan, his brother Matt,

a detective-sergeant with the Wayland post of the Michigan State Police, and sister-in-law Paula, a Michigan State trooper with the Paw-Paw post, took off running down the beach and up the hill where the boys had been playing.

The first boy was found by a bystander within seconds buried under less than a foot of the sandy clay.

County $2 million short of requests

BY BENJAMIN GOHS

Department heads around the Charlevoix County building proposed their individual budgets to the county Board of Commissioners at the annual Committee of the Whole budget hearing on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

In addition to salary requests, the heads asked for items ranging from computers and curtains to jet boats and cars in the Jan. 1 to Dec. 30, 2007 budget.

"They (commissioners) will adopt a budget, the 2007 budget at one of their two meetings in October," said Charlevoix County clerk and fiscal officer, Jane Brannon. "They're gathering information and then they have some hard decisions to make."

No decisions were made by the board at Wednesday's meeting.

Ken Doty, supervisor of the county building department, asked for eight vehicles and $10,000 for computer system upgrades, among other things.

"The biggest thing you will see is that we have again put in for vehicles," Doty said.

Charlene Novotny, the Charlevoix County Register of Deeds, asked the commissioners for items such as three new com-

Doan family reunion turns into rescue

Chief Doan's brother, Matt, ran to the site where the other two had been playing, hoping to quickly uncover them. As they dug, a second slide let loose.

After about two minutes of digging, the second boy was found. They pulled the 10-year-old out by his feet, his head was packed into the earth.

"He was blue, his skin was gray, he was lifeless — no respiration and he had a contusion on his head," chief Doan said.

His sister-in-law, Paula, opened the boy's airway and did a sweep of his mouth, pulling out a large chunk of wet clay — still the boy wouldn't breathe.

Chief Doan delivered a series of what he called "back blows," stiff hits to the boy's back between his shoulder blades, in an attempt to dislodge anything that could be blocking his airway.

"On the fifth or sixth blow, he let out a gasp for air," chief Doan said.

The third boy was pulled out seconds later. He had been under the landslide debris for about three minutes.

Doan said he was tucked in a ball close to his cousin which created an air pocket and assisted in his breathing.

"He came down the hill on his own power. He had a shiner from where the earth came down on top of him," chief Doan said.

A paramedic arrived about 20 minutes later. The 10-year-old that was initially unconscious had gone into shock. It was later found that he suffered a broken femur and a collapsed lung. He was transported to Ashland Hospital from where he was airlifted to a hospital in Duluth, Minn. His treatment included insertion of seven pins in his femur.

He was released from the hospital on Thursday, Sept. 7.

"He's going to be all right," chief Doan said.

Doan's tale ended on a high note, with all four boys leaving the incident with their lives.

"I don't know what would have happened if we weren't there," he said.

Doan said this was his first rescue and he feels fortunate to have had the training needed to help save the boys.

"The EMT training was very beneficial," he said. "I wouldn't have known to give the kid back blows to get out what was lodged in his throat."

Unfortunately, just weeks earlier, an 11-year-old boy was less fortunate — he was killed in a cave in Grand Marais after being trapped in the sand for 20 minutes before being found.

Doan said the average person can live without air for about five to six minutes before experiencing brain damage or dying.

Carless in Conway: A road trip adventure

Benjamin Gohs

Labor Day weekend is typically known for road trips, hot dogs, camping and bonding with the family, but for some of us, there is a darker side. Driving hasn't been the same since mechanical failure caused me to crash a Ford cargo van into the wall of a cemetery at 40-mph about a decade ago. As you might imagine, we don't travel much.

Saturday was spent fighting a bathtub blockage the size of an Idaho potato with what I believe was the first plunger ever made. In the fracas with clogzilla, I managed to exacerbate an old fracture on my right foot. By Sunday morning, I was ready to get out of town.

10 a.m., the family departed from Charlevoix — wife and children gleeful; dad #1.

10:55 a.m., dad drove past the 1-

75 South interchange after visions of fatality involving a gasoline truck and gallons of blood; dad no longer #1.

11:10 a.m., feeling guilty about ruining the surprise trip down state, dad headed north on I-75. After 12 years together, mom didn't ask why.

11:11 a.m., hyperventilation is accompanied by tingling, nausea, numbness, drowsiness, dizziness and more thoughts of impending doom.

11:20 a.m., between frantic snorts, dad suggested lunch at a park. Mom and kids said, "That's great." Dad said, "I'm going to throw up on my feet."

Noon, after a picnic near Burt Lake, a calmer dad hobbled up the observation tower long enough to get vertigo and see a breathtaking display of RVs and their makeshift clotheslines. The kids used the opportunity to give mom a mild stroke by leaning too far over the top of said tower.

1 p.m., the family stopped at the Deliverance yard sale. While dad tried to understand why a fish tank brimming with motionless gerbils was 12-feet from the nearest shade, he did his best to assure the kids they were only sleeping. He then tried not to make eye contact with the matriarch or the grubby kid with the mohawk as he paid his quarter for a hardcover edition of "Jim Beckwourth, Negro Mountain Man." (I'll let you know how Jim makes out later.)

1:30 p.m., headed into Conway, dad decided to get photos of the kids posing on the red and green cars of the Crooked Lake Express.

1:35 p.m., while unsuccessfully trying to start the car, dad remembered why he never leaves town.

1:38 p.m., dad popped the hood and stared intently. Radiator, battery, various hoses. "Maybe if I wiggle this wire — nope, still won't start."

2:50 p.m., the wife and son walked to town to call dad's editor for help. The first words out of editor's mouth, "How did you get him to Conway?"

2:51-2:53 p.m., the wife and editor had a good laugh at dad's expense, but help was on the way.

3:10 p.m., overcome by boredom, dad broke out his guitar to serenade the Swiss Family Tough-Luck. When an elderly gentleman in a van stopped to ask if dad would play and sing gospel songs at a nearby church, dad fought the urge to run screaming into the forest, and politely declined the invitation.

3:55 p.m., figuring help would soon be there, the wife turned the ignition key forward to roll the windows up and the car started.

3:57 p.m., help arrived and followed us home for good measure.

When we arrived at 4:45 p.m., the car stalled one last time and hasn't started since.

Hope your Labor Day weekend was as eventful as mine. Really. I mean that.

The science behind stem cells and human embryos

GROUND

Roger Knutson

I begin by quoting E.O. Wilson, one of the pre-eminent biologists of the 20th century and one who has no particular political agenda. The quote is from a book now nearly 30 years old, "On Human Nature." I suggest it is all together an important book, but I am only offering one quote.

"The newly fertilized egg, a corpuscle one two-hundredth of an inch in diameter, is not a human being. It is a set of instructions sent floating into the cavity of the womb."

I do not propose to settle the moral arguments regarding stem cells and the nature of human embryos. It is important that everyone know what has been discovered and accomplished by scientists before making absolute moral judgments.

First, what and when is a fertilized egg? In mammals, including humans, the development of a new cell nucleus with the genetic contribution of both parents occurs about 12 hours after a sperm gamete first attaches itself to the egg. Is it a fertilized egg at the beginning of that 12 hours or at some later time? If we are going to attach legal significance to that fertilized egg, we had better be certain exactly when it is fertilized. Science provides no answer. To the scientist, fertilization is a process, not an instantaneous act.

Whether fertilization occurs in a human female (in vivo) or in a laboratory dish (in vitro), early development is exactly the same. The single cell divides three times and produces an eight-celled structure about the same size as the fertilized egg (one two-hundredth of an inch in diameter). At this point the eight celled organism, if produced in vitro, can be frozen and stored at very cold temperatures for weeks, months or even years.

Most remarkably the eight cells are not fastened tightly together. If fertilization occurred in vitro, one of the eight cells can be removed carefully under a microscope with no harm to the remaining seven cells. Most often this is done to check the genetic composition of the developing embryo. That single tiny cell can be analyzed to determine whether the remaining seven cells carry serious genetic disease. In fact the procedure was first developed specifically to do such diagnosis. Genes in the extracted cell that might cause disease later in the life of the embryo can be detected. Such tests are expensive and hardly routine medical care, but they will be more widely used as they become easier to per-

EDITORIAL RESPONSE

Editor:

Please find this in response to your editorial from Aug. 16 regarding the senior prank (page 4 editorial entitled, "Punishment of vandals doesn't fit the crime.")

There is so much that the general public is unaware of, and I feel compelled to enlighten your readers. These kids did not intentionally set out to damage the school, as your paper has repeatedly stated. These kids entered the school that night with school spirit and nothing more than a harmless, funny prank in mind. There was discussion and planning that went into the plan to build a blockade in front of the main entrance. For those people who know the majority of the kids involved, they already know how untrue and hurtful some of the media statements have been. From the initial incident, the media has portrayed these kids as vindictive, calculating deviants. If you would like to know the truth, I would encourage you to speak with some of the teachers at the high school.

These kids have learned some very valuable lessons in life from this experience, not all of which are positive.

The first lesson is there is always going to be someone who screws it up for everyone. Only one or two of the 14 kids caused the damage.

The second lesson is that these same people rarely stand up and admit responsibility for their actions, thereby forcing the others to take their punishment — nice friends.

While I am no expert in education or law enforcement, I do wonder why this "investigation" was carried out in such a manner. Many students were never even questioned. And while I do understand that some were 18 years old, a courtesy call to involved parents should have happened first.

The third lesson is adults will lie and exaggerate the damage amount, threaten felony conviction and feed the media false statements.

The fourth lesson is there will always be someone who will share the story — nice friends.

Regarding those that did commit the crime — shame on you.

The legal, moral and scientific balancing act

form. An embryo positively known to carry a serious fatal genetic disease can be discarded in favor of an embryo which does not.

If you knew that you carried in your genes a serious or fatal genetic disease, you might want to be sure that children you produced did not have that serious or fatal genetic disease. The analysis of that single cell separated from the developing embryo can tell you. Both choices are now available, something earlier generations of humans could only dream of. It is difficult for me to imagine that a parent would choose to bear a child with a fatal genetic disease, if the option of not doing so was available.

Much of the best information about early human development has come from efforts by scientists to assist people in bearing children. Thousands of eight-celled embryos are produced and stored in fertility clinics each year. Each of them is a set of instructions for the production of a human being, and it is now possible to know with certainty whether those instructions are flawed in some way.

Whether we welcome or reject advances in the understanding of early human development is often seen as on the border of legality or morality.

Scientists continue their work devoted mostly to helping prospective parents produce healthy children. Laws which might assist parents in the task of producing healthy children must at least be carefully considered in the light of current knowledge about human development.

Consider this. If our community had a law (which I would support) prohibiting the destruction of any oak tree, would we understand that law to protect each and every acorn?

Roger Knutson is a columnist for the Charlevoix Courier. He can be contacted by calling (231) 547-6558 or by e-mail at news@charlevoixcourier.com.

Not only for doing what you did, but also for not having the courage to admit it, and accept responsibility.

Regarding those of you who stand in judgment of the kids — shame on you too. The kids not responsible for the damage were forthright and honest. They have showed more character through this adverse time than the adults involved. They were rewarded with deceit, public humiliation, formal charges and attorney fees.

The last time I checked, we are supposed to support and teach our kids, not publicly humiliate them.

Regarding the Laddie Scholarship — this scholarship is supposed to recognize how hard these kids have worked during their entire high school career by maintaining above a 3.0 grade-point average. If this reward comes with additional strings, and can so easily be revoked, then by all means you can keep your generosity.

WRIGHT ON

Editor:
Congratulations to Raechel

Wright. Her letter, entitled "Prank exaggerated" which appeared on page 4 of the Sept. 6 edition of the Charlevoix Courier) said exactly what I felt. Those people, with whom I have discussed the prank since it happened, also voiced similar feelings.

Those were kids, yes I read their ages, having some misguided fun. What a price they and their parents have paid. They have been forced through a traumatic criminal legal system for actions that should have been handled by the school officials only. Police records — good grief — what a miscarriage. This overly criticized, overblown, over reported, factually wrong, prank is and should be, an embarrassment to those who pilloried those kids. If there is a lesson to be learned from this, it should be a lesson to be less anxious to find fault and rather to be understanding.

Apologies to those kids for the wrath of some of their elders, who look back on their own lives through rose tinted glasses. Finally someone! Raechel Wright, got it right.

Charlevoix County Republican chair, John Haggard, is enthused and excited about this event and the entire election season.

"Our momentum is significant with outstanding Republican choices in Dick DeVos for Governor, Mike Bouchard for U.S. Senate, and Don Hooper for the U.S. House, as well as many Republican candidates for university and judicial positions.

We look forward to success in November," he said.

Senator Jason Allen, Representative Kevin Elsenheimer and local Republican candidates have been invited and will discuss issues and answer questions on the political outlook. United Way kicks off $200,000 campaign fund-raising goal Char-Em United Way has announced the kickoff of the 2006-2007 campaign.

"I'm excited to announce that our campaign goal this year is $200,000, a significant increase over recent years," said Tim Petrosky, Char-Em United Way president.

"I am also very pleased to announce that Tim Parker, vice-president of Harbor Industries, and John Scholten, superintendent of Petoskey Public Schools, are our campaign co-chairs. With their leadership, we are sure to meet that goal."

If the United Way reaches its goal, the Frey Foundation will award a challenge grant of an additional $20,000, the first of a three-year challenge grant to Char-Em United Way.

"We will kick-off the Campaign on Thursday, Sept. 14, with the 3rd Annual Day of Caring," said Parker. "On that day, volunteer teams will be paired with non-profit agencies throughout the two-county area. They will help meet the immediate needs of those agencies

The theme of the United Way Campaign is "What's Raised Here, Stays Here," emphasizing that nearly all the funds raised support local health and human service agencies. This year, 22 agencies received United Way allocations and another 11 received donor-designated donations.

"I am very excited to be involved in this year's United Way campaign," Scholten said. "Clearly local needs, and especially the needs of our school communities, are being met by the agencies supported by United Way. Three remaining students charged in vandalism case

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

The three remaining defendants charged in connection with an illegal entry and vandalism incident that took place in May at Charlevoix High School plead to lesser charges.

On Tuesday, Aug. 29, Andrew Victor Kantola, Aaron William Hagen and Jarod William Kirby, all 18, reduced the charges they faced to one each in a plea deal.

They faced one count each of illegal entry and malicious destruction to a building, $200-$1,000. Hagen and Kirby also faced a one-year misdemeanor charge stemming from the alleged theft (Kirby) and later concealment (Hagen) of chemistry equipment from the school.

Hagen also faced a charge of Sept. 14 blood drive at Charlevoix Community Reformed Church

An American Red Cross blood drive will take place from noon to 5:45 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 14 at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church on the corner of U.S. 31 and Meech Street.

To make an appointment, call 1-800-GIVE-LIFE (1-800-448-3543) or just drop in.

possession of marijuana that prosecutors say arose out of the search warrant that police used to search for the chemistry items.

At the Aug. 29 final pretrial hearing in Charlevoix County District Court, Kantola and Kirby plead guilty to disturbing the peace and Hagen plead to possession of marijuana.

The disturbing the peace misdemeanor charges carry a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and/or up to a $500 fine. The possession of marijuana charge, also a misdemeanor, carried a possible sentence of up to one-year in jail and/or up to a $2,000 fine.

A pre-sentence investigation by the county probation department is underway. Kirby's investigation is complete and he is scheduled to be sentenced at 9:30 a.m. on Oct. 17. Hagen and Kantola will likely be sentenced in mid-October as well.

The other 11 teens charged in connection with the incident entered guilty pleas in early August and were sentenced in their respective cases.

Those 11 students received deferred sentences that included four to six months probation, five to 10 days of community service work, $200 to $300 in fines and costs and restitution. Initially, authorities estimated that the cost to clean up the damage to the school could go as high as $10,000. However, the actual bill came to about $4,000 to re-key the locks at the school and about $500 for damage clean-up. The restitution amounts to about $300 per defendant.

A deferred sentence means that if the defendants complete all of the terms of their probation and stay out of trouble while on probation, the conviction is expunged from their records.

Authorities said, on May 26, a group of Charlevoix High School seniors entered the school, some of the suspects allegedly plugged the drains in several sinks, then turned on the water, causing the sinks to overflow.

Courier welcomes teen page writer

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Kim Way

Included in this week's edition of the Charlevoix Courier is Teen Scene — a page dedicated to and written by local teenagers.

This page will appear the second Wednesday of each month during the school year in the Courier.

Steering the content will be Kimberly Way, a Charlevoix High School senior. The 17-year-old daughter of Barney and Kris Way is one of five sisters and is a Charlevoix native that has lived on the same piece of property since the day she was born.

"The Courier focuses a lot on adults and what they're doing. I think the teen page is a great chance for adults to see what students are doing throughout the year. It also might add more information to what might only be slightly discussed in another section in the paper," Way said.

"The main goal of the teen page is to get students involved with their local newspaper. I feel like it's a good addition for the Courier because students that aren't really involved with sports have a chance of getting their name or picture in the paper, too, instead of just athletes. I love that the teen page is focusing on getting everyone involved," she added.

Teen Scene submissions will also come from Charlevoix High School senior, Bethany Pearson, and junior, Aubrey Way. Guest writers from Northwest Academy will also be included.

Topics Way and her team will tackle will vary.

"I really want to focus on what students are doing in their spare time, as well as what's going on at school and different pressures teens struggle with. The page could cover anything from what happened this weekend to the percentage of kids at CHS who are on and/or use drugs, what kind, and what they do. There's a very broad range of topics that can be covered," Way said.

This is Way's second year on the Rayder yearbook staff. She is actively involved in taking pictures, creating layouts and doing spreads for the yearbook.

Her interest in photo journalism was peaked last fall when she started taking pictures while cheerleading at varsity Rayder football games. At that time, she also joined the journalism class at the high school.

"I love being able to get my feelings out on paper. Sometimes it takes me a while after starting an article to have something on the page, but when it's finished, I feel like I've contributed not only the news, but a little bit of my personality as well. I'm a very casual writer," she said.

In the spring, Way will have the opportunity to pass the torch to the next Teen Scene content leader as she prepares for the university scene.

She said she plans to apply to Michigan State University, Grand Valley State University, Spring Arbor University and Southeastern University in Florida. While the school she'll attend hasn't been determined, her major has — photo journalism and computer graphic design.

Look for the first installment of Teen Scene on page 13 of this week's edition of the Courier.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER 13

TEEN SCENE inside the halls

Quick summer for busy students

BY KIMBERLY WAY
SPECIAL TO THE COURIER

Everything seems to happen during summer.

In those three short months, everybody does a lot of aging and traveling, as well as making big purchases for the first time and accomplishing things many wouldn't even begin to try. Some work hard, while others don't work at all, and many do a little of both.

When I left Charlevoix High on June 6, I never would have guessed that sophomore Josh Wolletz would be coming back to school in the fall driving a car he bought on his very own. Or that senior Zita Anderson would walk through the doors of Charlevoix High School with the title of Miss Charlevoix.

Of course, I can't forget about the things that I expected would happen. Senior, Bethany Pearson, was still out keeping our local beaches safe on her lifeguard stand. And senior, Bailey Yenglin, wasn't far from the lakes either — filling up local boats at the Landing's gas dock. If you were searching for the perfect toy, junior Murphy Gillespie was busy at Rocking Horse Toy Store and could most definitely help you out.

It almost seems like work is the only thing that keeps us doing the same old thing. But little did I know that Pearson also spent 17 days exploring the Alaskan country side, checking out blue whales on a safari and fishing for halibut. Or that Yenglin could often be found in Boyne City visiting good friends. And if you couldn't find Gillespie at the toy store, she was probably be chilling with her family on Beaver Island.

It's as though life takes a new turn during the summer months. Kids become teens, teens become licensed to drive, and those drivers become adults. During the school year, everything stays pretty much the same. Sure, the odd couple breaks up, or so-and-so has her hair dyed black and what's-his-face becomes homecoming king. But, in a nutshell, everybody stays pretty much how they were the day before.

During the summer, I went months without seeing sophomores Calvin Towsley and Zeke Daman. I spent three days of the week with these boys, and when school ended, I didn't see them until it started again. OK, so Towsley might still laugh at the same jokes as he did three months ago, and Daman still has the same hair style as when I last saw him, but they're not the "little freshmen" they were three months ago. They're sophomores.

With changing faces also come new faces at Charlevoix High School. Senior, Elliot Falls, moved here from Midland and finds the people to be a lot friendlier than in his hometown. Falls made the choice to come to Charlevoix on his own. His parents are still based out of Midland, but are in town most of the time.

Throughout the summer months, many people travel, buy new things, and explore their surrounding areas. Some move to a different school, and others tend to grow up a little. No matter what happens in those three short months, it all comes back to routine when school begins in September.

Kimberly Way is the writer and coordinator of Teen Scene. This page will appear the second Wednesday of the month in the Charlevoix Courier. She can be contacted by e-mail at way_kim@hotmail.com.

CHS awarded Michigan Learn and Serve grant

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Charlevoix students will soon be doing more service oriented projects for the community while learning a valuable lesson.

Gail Cherry, Charlevoix High's school to work coordinator, applied for and received a $6,000 grant from the Michigan Learn and Serve program this summer.

"I knew it was going to be a long shot, but I thought it was worth the effort. We're encouraged that we have some funds students can use for opportunities that might not be available without it," Cherry said. "We think that hands-on learning through a planned curriculum that involves service to the community will benefit the students and the town and the area."

"The goal of the funding is to establish sequential service-learning opportunities so that all students will have at least one service-learning experience at the elementary, middle and high school levels," the michigan.gov Web site stated. "Learn and Serve - Michigan School-Based funds are granted to schools who are engaging their students in service-learning — real hands-on learning — through planned curriculum that involves service to the community."

According to the Learn and Serve guidelines, planning grants range from $6,000 to $8,000 while grants for implementing and institutionalizing (grants given to schools with existing Learn and Serve-Michigan programs) range from $15,000 to $40,000.

"After that, as long as you do things well, you get to go into the next five years where you get $15,000 per year, so that adds up to $81,000," Cherry said. "They (Learn and Serve program) want you to look for matching funds or in-kind matching contributions."

Cherry said the matches can either be cash or the dollar value of services and goods which are donated.

"Funding is granted in three-year cycles with renewal funding based upon successful completion of annual goals," the Web site further stated.

While Cherry realizes the full $81,000 isn't yet guaranteed, she said, "According to the people that gave the talk last January, the state wants to keep supporting you once they've given you money to do major planning."

Cherry said some of the funds from the $6,000 initial grant will be used to help defray transportation costs during the annual Day of Caring scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 14.

Congratulations to the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra

Recently Bill & Karen Schuling hosted at their Charlevoix home The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra for a dinner and a piano recital. Some of the guests that were present were the Conductor Matthew Hazelwood; Peggy Beck, Artistic Director and Founder; Bob Patengale, Orchestra Manager and Founder; Don Hale, Executive Manager; and many orchestra members. The party was given in honor of the pleasure the orchestra has brought to the Charlevoix, Petoskey, and the Harbor Springs area, as well as to memorialize a $100,000 grant from the William and Karen Schuling Trust to the orchestra.

Coast Guard considers local firearm training zone

BY KRISTINA HUGHES
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
STAFF WRITER

Pleasure boaters and ferry operators in Charlevoix may run into Coast Guard members with ammunition soon.

This will be the result of Coast Guard plans to create 34 firearm training zones on the Great Lakes. The zones include the region near the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station, Commander Gustav Wulfschlegel, of the Enforcement Branch, with the Ninth Coast Guard District in Cleveland, Ohio said.

The plan calls for establishing 34 permanent zones over open water 5 miles from the Great Lakes shorelines for shooting exercises. Crew members would fire at floating targets from cutters and small boats using machine guns, rifles and small 9 mm guns, said Chief Petty Officer Robert Lanier, spokesman for the Coast Guard's 9th District in Cleveland to the Associated Press.

A main concern is the zone locations. In Charlevoix, the zone is in direct contact with the Beaver Island Boat Company.

"We are in the middle of their transient area. Our intention is to work with the ferry so we do not impact commerce," Wulfschlegel said.

Wulfschlegel said the intention is to not interfere with commerce. If the ferry runs at 6 p.m., the Coast Guard would fire after the ferry safely leaves the zone.

Margo Marks, the general manager with the Beaver Island Boat Company hopes to work with the Coast Guard.

"Our concern is the zone is in our course between Beaver Island and Charlevoix," Marks said. "Our preference is for the Coast Guard to move the zone out of our operating area or to carry the exercises during the off season."

The Coast Guard has safety measures in place. Before a drill will begin, the Coast Guard will issue alerts on recreational marine band radio and the news media.

During the exercise a second boat will be used to insure boat traffic doesn't come into the zone.

"We are all going through the growing pains now," Wulfschlegel said. "We're working to pass the legislation."

The qualification training will be conducted biannually for a couple days. The intention is to schedule training in April and October, Wulfschlegel said, but the ammunition will be on board throughout the year.

"The one thing we want people to know is we are not shutting down the lake. These zones are at least 5 miles off the coast or 5 miles off the international border," Lanier told the Associated Press.

The Coast Guard has already conducted approximately 23 trainings on the Great Lakes.

"Nobody's been hurt. If boaters come into an area we have (stopped) the training. There were no issues with boaters," Wulfschlegel said.

Rep. Pete Hoekstra, R-Mich. requested the Coast Guard extend a public comment period.

The deadline for public comment is the end of October.

Send comments to The Ninth Coast Guard District, 1240 East Ninth Street, room 2069, Cleveland, OH 44199. Or fax statements to (216) 902-6055.

Friends of Charlevoix Area Junior Golf ... We Thank You!

Our Junior golf program has drawn national attention. Rated by the National Junior Golf Association as one of the top 15 programs in USA, the program has also been featured in the Association's magazine.

HOW DID THIS HAPPEN? Because we receive such tremendous community support!!!

- The CITY OF CHARLEVOIX closes the Municipal Course to the public when we are scheduled to use it, turning the entire facility over for our use.
- The CITY OF CHARLEVOIX'S Recreation Department aids us by providing help with some of the administrative work necessary to keep the program running.
- COMMUNITY MEMBERS financially support our fund raisers and 30+ adult mentors volunteer their time to aid in the supervision and management of the program.
- The LION'S CLUB of Charlevoix aids us financially in our college-bound student book program.
- Local SCHOOLS help in allowing our pre-program brochures to be distributed to interested students.
- The BELVEDERE CLUB provides us with their golf facilities for lessons and for our Sunday evening league for our advanced players.
- The BELVEDERE CLUB teaching professional, Steve Braun, provides the program's main fund raiser, playing 100 holes in a day and gathering pledges for his effort and our program.
- BELVEDERE CLUB members respond to the fund raiser by contributing many generous cash donations.
- The BELVEDERE CLUB provides incentives for our adult mentor program, allowing playing passes for those that work the 14 Junior sessions scheduled during the summer.
- The COUNTRY CLUB provides their golf facilities 4-5 times each summer.
- The COUNTRY CLUB hosts a free golf outing for our mentors to conclude the season.
- Nearby courses ANTRIM DELLS AND DUNMAGLAS cooperate by scheduling us once at each of their courses.

WHAT IS SO UNIQUE ABOUT OUR PROGRAM?

1. 5 Courses already mentioned give us use of the facilities right in the middle of their busy season providing a variety of courses for our young golfers.
2. The teaching professionals who donate time to teach Juniors golf fundamentals.
 - Marty Joy and Steve Braun - Belvedere Golf Club
 - Mark Styles and Harold Bertrand - Charlevoix Country Club
 - Joan Waha - Ye Nyne Olde Hollies
 - Scott Blechel - Charlevoix Golf Course
3. Our Scholarship programs:
 - 6-8 youngsters are financed ($650 each) to attend week long golf camp at Ferris State University
 - 1-2 advanced players that show skill and competitive passion to complete at high school level are scholarshiped ($750 each) to attend the August Boyne Golf Academy for a week.
 - A graduating senior and former junior golfer who has been an outstanding role model, is recognized by receiving a $500 freshman book stipend.
 - Working with school officials 20-25 students are identified who would benefit from the program and are enrolled free of charge.
4. A caring motivated Board of Trustees that oversee the program.
 - Bob Beaumont, Tom Bickelsteth, Rosemary Corradi, Sam Supernaw, Bill Supernaw, Dick Stangis, Joyce Davenport-secretary, Dennis LeCroix-president, Dean Davenport-executive director.

Again, thank you one and all for a wonderful summer for our youngsters to learn life values through golf.

Scouts set sail

Charlevoix Cub Scouts, Pack 11, competed in the First Annual Raingutter Regatta on Aug. 14 at Depot Beach in Charlevoix. At the inaugural event, 26 Cub Scouts and three adults competed. Four members of the United States Coast Guard Station Charlevoix officiated the event. Participants were required to assemble and decorate a pinewood sailboat. Using straws, participants blew against the sail, propelling the sailboats from one end of the raingutter to the other end. (Above) Tiger Cubs Ethan Siegwart and Kyle Balch race against each other along the raingutter.

Rayder golf takes close second to St. Francis

Close, oh so close.

Charlevoix came as close as a team can get to topping No. 1-ranked Traverse City St. Francis in a nine-hole Lake Michigan Conference golf tournament Tuesday, Sept. 5 at Grandview Golf Club in Kalkaska.

Both teams finished with a 164 team score, but the Gladiators won the tournament based on the fifth-player tie-breaker score.

Tony Casciano shot 36 to earn medalist honors and lead St. Francis, while Charlevoix's Kris Bartling shot 38, Nic Williams shot 39, Woody Nitchman shot 43, and Chase Speigl shot 44.

For St. Francis, Tom Brick shot 42, while Blane Casciano, Mike Dendinos and Cam McCardel each shot 43. One of St. Francis' 43 scores became the tie-breaker, which edged Kyle Smith of Charlevoix, who shot 47. The Rayders' J.D. Speigl shot 49, while Andrew Walukonis, one of the St. Francis' top players, was disqualified.

Elk Rapids, 169, placed third, followed by Harbor Springs, 174; Grayling, 176; Kalkaska, 178; Boyne City, 188; and East Jordan, 203.

Harbor Health to host Kickoff For Fitness

Harbor Health and Fitness will host a week-long Kickoff For Fitness event starting this Friday to celebrate their new facility and the benefits of exercise.

The event which will take place Sept. 15-21 is the official grand opening of their new building, located at 110 Clinton St. in downtown Charlevoix, which opened on Nov. 4, 2005.

"This is an opportunity to welcome people inside our doors, to check us out," said Candy Smith, manager of Harbor Health and Fitness. "To get people to think about the things they can do to improve their lives. Exercise really can be the answer if done properly, safely and at the appropriate level. It can provide so many outlets and improvements for so many aspects of life."

The event will include daily introductory classes, membership, training and massage giveaways, as well as gift certificate door prizes donated by area businesses and free presentations by renowned life coach, Debby Werthmann.

Werthmann will speak at 5:30 and 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 15.

Owners Bob and Debbie Jess of Charlevoix built the new gym to help reduce their costs and increase what they can offer members.

"Rent continued to increase and we needed more control over that cost," Debbie said. "This was truly a labor of love — everyone here is just like family."

The former site from which they operated from March 1997 up until their recent move, was located at 104 Mason St. in the Beacon Center.

The new facility is larger and includes a cardio theater area where cardio machines are grouped in a temperature controlled climate. The lower-level aerobic room has more space and a special padded floor to reduce impact.

Smith said what sets Harbor Health apart from their competition is the inclusion of a strong class schedule including over 20 a week in their membership fee. Classes offered include step, yoga, pilates, strength, HI-LO (dance aerobics), Booty Blast and personal training.

"We cater to a wide variety of ages and sizes. We aren't looking for people already in perfect condition — it's a family atmosphere," Smith said.

"We try and make everyone feel comfortable," Debbie added.

The Kickoff For Fitness event opens the center's doors to members and non-members looking for the Harbor Health experience.

"Most people who start want to look and feel better. There's a sense of stress release and an opportunity to have fun — a chance to help their physical well-being as well as a time to share with other people," Smith said.

As they look to the future Harbor Health and Fitness wants to be the premier local fitness experience by continuing to expand service with new equipment, staff training initiatives and possibly the addition of a second story.

Harbor Health and Fitness employs nine instructors and support staff members as well as an on-site massage therapist. The floor staff are all trained to use the available machines and assist customers in achieving their fitness goals.

For information about the Kickoff For Fitness class scheduled and the gym's hours of operation, see the associated sidebar.

A Gold Mine in Bedroom Drawers

Newsweek: People are selling their old scrap gold that is gathering dust for its cash value because gold prices are so high. With the price of gold at a 25 year high (over $650.00 per ounce), it makes sense. ScrapGold.com, a gold recycler, offers free insured recycle kits so people may cash in their scrap with 24 hour service and guarantee satisfaction. They accept broken and outdated items like chains, charms, rings and more. "Everyone has bits of gold just lying around which can be turned into cash" says Richard Zakroff, VP of marketing. "Even old dental gold has value." ScrapGold.com processes over 10,000 recycle kits per month. People can get a free GoldKit at 1-800-283-4700 or ScrapGold.com.

Dry Harbour Marine earns Marine Industry certification

Dry Harbour Marine, located off U.S. 31 South in Charlevoix recently received Marine Industry Dealer certification.

Dry Harbour is now one of three Marine Industry certified dealerships in Michigan. The other two are Walstrom Marine-Harbor Springs and Spicer's in Houghton Lake.

Marine Industry Dealer certification is a new industry standards program developed in a cooperative effort by boat manufacturers, dealers and engine builders. It's part of an industry-wide effort to develop programs focused on delivering an excellent boating experience.

The criteria and business practices address quality of dealer sales, service, parts, follow-up, facilities, as well as employee and customer satisfaction. Criteria compliance must be verified by an independent program consultant and dealers are reevaluated every year.

Certification also includes a commitment to adhere to a "Consumer Bill of Rights." This document posted at Dry Harbour Marine lets customers know what to expect and outlines how they will be treated.

Dry Harbour Marine of Charlevoix sells and services boats by Chris Craft, Formula, Scout as well as Arctic Cat ATV's, MerCruiser and Volvo I.O.'s.

For more information about Dry Harbour Marine, call (231) 547-0040.

North Seas Gallery hosts European artists exhibit

North Seas Gallery of Charlevoix will host an exhibition of paintings by two renowned European artists, Pierre Colson and John Mackie.

Colson, a 76-year-old Belgian artist, is known for his representational landscaped and village scenes of the Ardennes region. This will be his second major U.S. showing.

Mackie, a graduate of the Glasgow Academy of Art, has put together a small collection of colorful impressionist scenes of Provence and Venice including a large pastel scene entitled,

"Lights of Paris." His works can be found in major collections both in the U.S. and abroad. The exhibit shows daily from Sept. 17 through Oct. 26. A reception will take place from 6 to 8 p.m. on Sept. 22. The North Seas Gallery is located at 237 Bridge St. in Charlevoix.

For more information, call (231) 547-0422.

Treasurer targeted in Eveline recall

BY JULIE WITTHOEF
EDITOR

Eveline Township supervisor John Vrondran isn't the only one pushing township treasurer Debra Jason to vacate her post.

Township resident, Nancy Ferguson, submitted recall petition language to the Charlevoix County Clerk's office on Monday, Sept. 18 — the first step in the process to remove Jason from office. Jason currently has two years remaining in her term.

"I can't allow it (recall initiation) to scare me. If I lose my job over it, the only people that have lost are Eveline Township residents. I'm professional, I do a good job and it's their loss. I would feel bad but there's not a lot I can do. It's out of my hands," Jason said.

While Ferguson declined to comment on the recall language submission or who is backing the petition, the petition states that Jason was fiscally irresponsible and has not fulfilled the duties of her post.

The recall train was set in motion in reaction to Jason's Sept. 14 decision to withdraw her offer of resignation made early last week.

Jason made her initial resignation offer on Sept. 12 after Vrondran read a resolution listing a catalogue of complaints and township attorney Jim Young pleaded with her to heed the sentiments of the board and the citizens who attended the meeting.

The township board then voted 4-1 to recall Jason.

Beemon settles with county for $35,000

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Charlevoix County's former drain commissioner, Joanne Beemon, has accepted an offer of $35,000 from the county board of commissioners.

In August, Beemon rejected an offer of $9,600 from the board of commissioners calling it ridiculous.

"Well, it (offer) was probably fair and equitable," said Chairman sued the commissioners and received a declarative judgment from Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge, Richard Pajtas, that $1 a year for her term from Jan. 1, 2001 to Dec. 31, 2004 was insufficient.

Joanne Beemon

Patrick said the Beemon case will likely set a precedent.

The fight over unpaid salary started when Beemon

ceived a declarative judgment from Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge, Richard Pajtas, that $1 a year for her term from Jan. 1, 2001 to Dec. 31, 2004 was insufficient.

While the $35,000 fell well short of the nearly $120,000 Beemon hoped for, she said, "The thing that tickled me the most is that they said, the county board of commissioners agrees to revisit the job description."

She added, "I think they should have paid me three times what they paid me, but I'm a happy camper. I've got other things to do and I don't want to fight this the rest of my life."

In light of a $2.3 million discrepancy between funds available in the county's 2007 budget and the amount requested, Patrick said this $35,000 will be an extra consideration.

Writer ponders freedom in post 9/11 society

Benjamin Gohs

Two Monday's ago was the five-year anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks on America. While the local remembrance was a political, some Americans used the occasion to support a war, rally for peace or decry the beginning of the end for civil liberties — the latter made me nauseous.

Pundits cursed the war in Iraq and bellyache about FISA courts. They bemoan removing their shoes at the airport and fret over habeas corpus. All the while they are prevented from same-sex marriage, smoking in private businesses, recreational drugs, assisted suicide and sex trades in 49 states.

No doubt we traded some liberty for false security since 9/11, but to say things were peachy beforehand is both pathetic and ignorant.

So why speak of one and not the other? Well, it is easier to attack a president for his policies than get off our butts and work for our freedoms. Besides, equal protection for coke heads, polygamists and hookers isn't exactly polite and proper dinner conversation.

The Republicans and Democrats have a political gold mine in 9/11, but that isn't nearly as scary as knowing millions of Americans are buying into the hype. It's more trendy to fight for the rights of the Guantanamo guests than for the rights of Americans. How selectively we apply, "Liberty and justice for all."

While I agree the pursuit of happiness is only guaranteed for those whose lifestyles fit an archaic and subjective moral mold, blaming the government and citizen tyrants, while convenient, is to ignore the role of our own obstinance, laziness and complacency.

A major problem with freedom is we cannot agree on what it is. Some among us think only the freedoms they subscribe to should be allowed. That would explain why some of the same people marching for a woman's right to murder an unborn child protest even the most just war. Citizens revel in the Second Amendment and freedom to celebrate their holidays, yet delight when people of other faiths are prohibited from practicing plural marriage.

Six billion or so judges and juries of morality, good and evil constantly and subjectively do what they think is right while being forced to live in the aforementioned mold created by whichever majority ruled at the time the law was enacted.

So, what to do, what to do? We could get out and vote, but 51 percent of the voting population can always oppress the other 49 percent — what John Locke called the tyranny of the majority. Besides, the concept of voting your way to freedom is as flawed as trying to spend your way out of debt or drink yourself sober — though some of us have repeatedly tried all three.

I have no illusions these prohibited freedoms will ever be restored to the American public. I blame our differing agendas. The government's priority is to convince you freedom is bad for your health. After all, smoking a joint after visiting a hooker isn't as healthy as salad and exercise.

The anti gun crowd must support the Second Amendment, the nonsmoker must defend small business owners, and the prude must tolerate the prostitute, for if we cannot self-govern our bodies and property in times of peace, how can we expect to be free of government intrusion during times of war?

I wouldn't dream of preventing the pseudo patriots and the faux-flag-wavers from debating whether the country is free enough or less free after 9/11, but that won't decrease the disgust I feel when a tragedy is used for capital.

If you want more freedom, fight for it, but don't think for a second that one administration, one event or one person has whisked them away.

Exploring the risks of small business owners

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

Going into business for yourself is more of a challenge than I had ever imagined.

Soon after retirement I joined the growing numbers of individuals wanting to try their hand at other ventures they've only thought about. It would have been much easier to take on a part-time job to meet my desire of meeting new people and add to the family income, but I was one of the adventurous entrepreneurs who said "Why not" when others said, "Why would you?"

My hands-on experience with starting a lucrative venture came with little business knowledge and mistakes made along the way but in all, an excellent learning experience.

I have a new-found respect for those chosen few who start a business that had not been created by mom or dad and can remain a free enterprise that is not part of an established chain.

I recently met an unbelievable woman who started her own business with the money and know-how she acquired while working in the investment realm. She is from Sri Lanka and upon graduating from a university in her homeland, she flew to New York to delve into the financial district. Her business savvy landed her a job as a Wall Street investment banker.

After the tsunami catastrophe, she returned home to help her family and friends. Viewing the aftermath from this horrendous act of nature she quickly realized she needed to change her lifestyle and do something she felt satisfaction in. Returning to New York, she quit her job, packed her bags and her dozens of fashionable big city shoes and moved to Grand Haven, where her brother had been living. She loves to cook and though she never had any restaurant experience, this brave woman emptied her life savings purchasing a small, dilapidated building and created the town's first bistro offering Sri Lankan food.

Having tinkered in my own cooking business, I was highly impressed with this upscale, New York façade bistro offering food that was foreign to the palate and ever so flavorful. I exclaimed how wonder-

LETTERS to the editor

APPROACH TO CHANGE

Editor:
I have read over the last three weeks, comments that people have made regarding St. Mary Church.

All of the comments have been positive in nature about Fr. Jerry Hunko, and negative about that group of people that feel some of the changes that were made, could have been done in a more Christian way.

We live in a country that allows us to disagree with our leaders, both political and spiritual, and not be punished for our ideals. We (this group that won't go away), feel that St. Mary's priest, whoever he is, has a right to make changes that he feels will benefit his parish. The changes that involved removing parishioners from duties within the church, without notifying them, was inappropriate, and goes against the teaching of the church. I don't disagree with all the changes Fr. Jerry made, but I disagree with the way he made those changes. I hold no malice toward Fr. Jerry, but I do hold him accountable to his parishioners for what he does.

KUDOS OFFICERS

Editor:

Last night, Wednesday Sept. 13, there was a high speed chase through our quiet neighborhood. The suspect then fled through the woods behind our home.

This incident made me realize how we take for granted that our police officers, firefighters, etc. jeopardize their lives daily to serve and protect our community. These men and women do not get the proper recognition for what they do. They are truly special people.

Thank you to (City of Charlevoix Police Department) patrolman Pete Shrift and (Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office) sergeant Pat Avery as well as Michigan State Police and Charlevoix Fire Department for an efficient arrest.

Thank you again for a job well done and for keeping our town safe.

CHANGE IS BUSINESS DECISION

Editor:

As new owners of the Charlevoix Courier, and the Petoskey News-Review, I guess I expected a higher standard of reporting than had previously existed in these two papers.

Needless to say I am thoroughly disappointed in your paper, and staff writer, Mr. Gohs (reference page 10 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Courier entitled, "St. Mary Church endures year of turmoil"). As a businessman, for some years now we have been urged by our customers, and our industry to develop standards of excellence in order to insure our survival in an increasingly competitive world. In order to achieve those goals we began holding ourselves, and our employees to higher standards of accountability, and responsibility in order to meet the new "Zero Defect" environment.

Your reporter Mr. Gohs, needs to attend "Business Law 101" to understand that in this litigious society today, no responsible organization can explain the reasons for terminating an employee, to another prospective employer, at the risk of being sued. The standard response is, "We had a change of direction, and we agreed the fit does not exist anymore." The individual terminated could be a sexual deviate, incompetent, unfit for the position, or simply not the person to meet the new standard of excellence, and I couldn't tell you a thing at risk of legal action. Disruptive people exist today in all environments, and guiding them out of a meeting can be a daunting task for any manager, let alone a priest. The idea that your reporter chose to treat this in a most negative way, without practicing responsible journalism, is an affront to the community, the church, and your paper. I am new to the community in the last four years, and after realizing the previous pastor because of his age, delegated substantial duties to parishioners, because of decreased energy, thereby creating an inner power base. I needed substance when I leave church on a Sunday, not a nap. Driving us to go to St. Francis in Petoskey, until Father Jerry arrived in Charlevoix.

If Mr. Gohs were an investigative reporter and visited St. Marys on a Sunday to find a full church, a dynamic and loving priest, and a accomplished and devoted leader, he would have been more skeptical of accusations made. I have never attended a church in my life, or served on boards where there wasn't strife and resistance to change, and improvements by those who wanted it to remain the same. The living example exists among us in witnessing our automotive industry finally dealing with issues that the buying public expects quality, style, price competitive purchases on a standard with products produced worldwide. Change is a given, our adaptation to it is not, so deal with it. To single out Fr. Jerry as a divisive individual causing problems within a church, that has greatly improved with his presence, is the most far-fetched piece of reporting I have seen. Certainly Mr. Gohs isn't going to be nominated for an award of excellence on his piece, nor will your newspaper. I would love to see impartial, accurate, factual reporting done by a newspaper, that advertisers would be proud to be associated with. Unfortunately, I don't believe your newspaper meets that standard.

As a Christian we go through life looking for the puzzle pieces that give us understanding, and the opportunity to serve our larger society in whatever capacity our God given talents enable us. One serving in a capacity where ego is forsaken in the interest of serving the common good, needs to be encouraged to stay the course, at the risk of upsetting the wing-nuts of the world. I conclude with St. Mary's is a dynamic church. Fr. Jerry is a dynamic leader, and we have a dynamic congregation, and I feel sorry for those too blind to see.

ful everything tasted and the very kind waitress returned with a tall, slender woman whose dark eyes touched my soul. In her animated, delightful conversation she shared how she came to Grand Haven and why. During our talk she explained that her own story was picked up by the Food Network to be aired this month.

Most of us have not had a life-changing experience, but if we did, would we change what we are doing? Would we quit our jobs and create that career we've only thought about? Would we spend more time with family and less on work?

I am happy for this young entrepreneur and wish her well in her business. Opened in May 2006, it appears to be flourishing — bringing in customers from area cities by word-of-mouth alone. I feel certain her family in Sri Lanka is proud of her accomplishment, and what she has added in cultural diversity to a small, conservative community. It opened my eyes to see there are many wonderful people no matter where you travel. It truly is a small world and gets smaller all the time.

Locally, I spoke with my former neighbor and friend Ray Bier, who owns and operates his art gallery and studio south of town. Our discussion turned to the small business owner. Again, I appreciated all that he shared as it is difficult to own your own business, pay health insurance, raise a family and rely totally on the income selling or providing a service to the community. Kudos to all the entrepreneurs out there making their living on something they love to do. You are true optimists as you turn obstacles into opportunities on a daily basis.

Canine cops hunt down two in high-speed chases

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

Dogs were the heroes in two high-speed police chases in Charlevoix last week.

Canine units tracked down two men who engaged police officers in dangerous cat and mouse chases through the streets of Charlevoix.

The first incident took place at around 3:30 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 10. It started at the Next Door Food Store in Petoskey when a clerk alerted police to a drive off on a $40 gas bill.

The driver, 43-year-old William McFall of Alanson, was spotted driving on Charlevoix Avenue in a bluish-green Ford Taurus by City of Petoskey Department of Public Safety officer, Lawrence Donovan. Donovan pulled McFall over — but he refused to shut off the vehicle and shortly thereafter sped off.

This resulted in a police chase that traveled south on U.S. 31 in which speeds in excess of 90 mph were clocked.

McFall entered the City of Charlevoix and eventually Charlevoix Township, near Charlevoix Area Hospital. At one point he hit a parked car but was only temporarily deterred and went on to hit a rock abutment that immobilized his vehicle.

He abandoned the car and fled on foot. After a short foot pursuit, officers lost sight of McFall and set up a perimeter. Trooper Steve Norman of the Michigan State Police responded from the Gaylord post with his K-9 unit. They tracked McFall to a thick brush area by the beach behind the hospital.

Three days later, just as the pup stopped panting and local law enforcement had caught their breath, another high-speed pursuit touched down in the heart of downtown Charlevoix.

At around 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 13 a 9-1-1 complaint was called in claiming a driver traveling north on M-66 was speeding and driving erratically.

Sergeant Patrick Avery with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office located the vehicle driven by 24-year-old Marshall Ira Bell Jr. of Charlevoix, near Shaw Road in Marion Township going 104 mph.

Bell refused to stop and rammed the sheriff's office patrol car on multiple occasions after the pursuit entered the City of Charlevoix.

Bell fled on numerous streets near Charlevoix Middle School including May Street, Meadow Lane, Garfield Avenue, Leonard Street and Eaton Street. His travels took him through lawns and eventually ended when he abandoned his vehicle and ran into the Belvedere Club grounds near Eaton Court.

Like McFall, Bell was also tracked using a canine unit, this one from the Antrim County Sheriff's Office. He was found hiding on a boat in the alley between East Upright and East Hurlbut streets.

Bell was given a preliminary breath test and blew a .10 which exceeds the allowable .08.

Bell was arraigned on Sept. 19 in Charlevoix County District Court. He faces five charges that include operating while intoxicated which is a misdemeanor, punishable by up to 93 days in jail; third-degree fleeing and eluding a police officer which is a felony, punishable by up to five years in prison and/or a $1,000 fine; felonious assault with a motor vehicle, a felony punishable by up to four years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine; malicious destruction of police property for the $3,000 in damage to a 2005 Ford police cruiser, a felony punishable by up to four years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine; and driving without insurance, a misdemeanor punishable by up to one-year in prison.

McFall was arraigned on Sept. 11 in Emmet County District Court on a seven-count complaint. The charges he faces include fleeing and eluding a police officer — a felony punishable by up to five-years in prison; resisting and obstructing a police officer — a felony punishable by up to two-years in prison; a second misdemeanor offense of driving while license suspended; operating while intoxicated; two counts of failure to stop after a collision; and a third-degree retail fraud charge.

He faces a pretrial hearing at 2:30 p.m. on Sept. 25 in Emmet County District Court.

Staff changes at the Intermediate School District

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District began the 2006-2007 school year with staffing shifts and changes.

Some of the changes were due to retirements and others were related to budget cuts in education across the state.

"These changes were made primarily due to staff retirements. In addition, local districts within the ISD have continued to lose revenue and the restructuring will provide them much-needed additional assistance," stated Mark Eckhardt, superintendent of the local Intermediate School District, in an Aug. 2 press release. "I'm excited about these changes and know it will make us an even stronger organization — better able to serve our students, families and local schools."

In addition to a few employees taking work outside of the Intermediate School District, director of transportation and pupil accounting, Bill Coaster, has retired. "As with any changes, we have taken a step back, looked at how we are doing things and how we can perform even better," Eckhardt stated. "As a result, the following staffing changes have been made: In addition to his safe schools and AmeriCorps responsibilities, Dennis Halverson has assumed oversight of the transportation department. The ISD transports students with special needs and works with local school district transportation on training and other needs."

Naomi Singer

the early education department.

Gus Bishop, the superintendent of Central Lake Public Schools, is the new director of instructional services.

Bishop will oversee staff and initiatives involving curriculum, assessment, professional development and other duties.

Jim Marquait, the former principal at the Intermediate School District alternative education Orion program, will work on training and special education intervention efforts in Char-Em's alternative education programs and local schools.

Former Petoskey High School

assistant principal, Jim Rummer, will take over Marquait's previous duties with the Orion program.

Jim Marquait

Em, Rick Diebold. "Marquait is going to be focusing more on intervention efforts for kids with emotional and behavioral issues because that is one of the things school districts have asked for."

He added, "With the rising cost of special education, the schools need some help with intervention. So, his role will be principal of that program, and he will also oversee our alternative education program."

Marquait, who will work approximately an extra month a year will get a jump in salary from $78,000 to $85,000 per year.

He added, "We're not necessarily replacing staff person for person, but we're not getting rid of any of those responsibilities. It's kind of hard to put a firm dollar figure on it, but we're certainly going to save money on this."

One of 57 intermediate school district's in the state, Char-Em, located at 08568 Mercer Boulevard, Charlevoix serves nearly 12,000 children, more than 1,000 handicapped and 2,500 voc-ed students in 20 different public and private schools.

"Char-Em ISD combines resources to provide regional services efficiently and cost effectively operates specialized schools and programs for students," it states on the ISD website. "(The ISD) provides technical assistance in many ways to local school districts is the link between school districts and the Michigan Department of Education."

Top 10 salaries of the ISD's 237 employees:

- Mark Eckhardt, superintendent: $122,424
- Richard Diebold, deputy superintendent: $104,521

Changes for water, sewer and electric rates are being raised in Charlevoix. The water rate increase is 10 percent, the sewer rate is 15 percent, and the electric rate is 5 percent. The increases are effective October 1st. The Charlevoix City Manager, David Smith, said the increases are necessary to cover the cost of the new water treatment plant and the sewer main project. The electric rate increase is due to a rate of return set by the Michigan Public Service Commission. However, Charlevoix City Manager Smith said he will be looking for a rate of return of 5 percent, which is what the rate was in 2005.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY FARMLAND AND OPEN SPACE PRESERVATION ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE NUMBER 8

Adopted September 13, 2006

Effective _____, 2006 (60 days after publication)

ARTICLE I

INTENT, FINDINGS, PURPOSE AND LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

Section 1.01 - Intent

The intent of this ordinance is to create the Charlevoix County Farmland and Open Space Preservation Program that will:

Protect eligible farmland through the purchase of development rights voluntarily offered for purchase by landowners,

Authorize acceptance of voluntary donations or purchase of the development rights of eligible farmland, and the placement of a conservation easement on these properties that restricts future development,

Establish a farmland and open space preservation element as part of the Charlevoix County Future Land Use Plan to be prepared in collaboration with local units of government within Charlevoix County that describes geographic areas within the County where eligible property should be protected and preserved,

Provide procedures and guidelines for selecting the farmland parcels to be protected, for determining the value to be paid for the development rights, and for the repurchase of the development rights for properties that no longer comply with the protection and preservation policies of the program and goals of the Charlevoix County Future Land Use Plan.

Section 1.02 - Findings

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners finds that:

A. Charlevoix County is a desirable place to live, work and visit in large part because of the availability of farmland, open space and scenic views that include wetlands, woods, agricultural fields and wildlife habitat areas which are recognized as invaluable natural and aesthetic resources that should be protected,

B. The climate, variety of soils and terrain make Charlevoix County well suited to the production of a great diversity of row crops, specialty crops and livestock, including many foods available for direct human consumption,

C. There are significant areas within Charlevoix County with important farmlands that are currently in active agricultural production,

D. Open space lands including woodlands, wetlands and other environmentally significant areas are usually a significant feature of these farmlands,

E. These lands provide unique, aesthetic and economic benefits to the citizens of Charlevoix County and are an important part of Charlevoix County's natural and agricultural heritage,

F. Charlevoix County is experiencing substantial residential development and due to the presence of increasingly urbanized areas, attractive landscapes and excellent public schools, Charlevoix County will continue to be an attractive place for residential and other development in the future,

The agricultural industry in Charlevoix County provides the opportunity to harvest locally grown foods to sell at roadside stands, farmers' markets, local retail food stores and other local outlets in the area,

Commercial agriculture is a significant contributor to the economy in Charlevoix County. This includes employment opportunities for residents offered by agricultural producers, agricultural product processors, agricultural equipment suppliers, farm service suppliers, and retail sellers of products manufactured within Charlevoix County,

I. Agriculture in Charlevoix County significantly contributes to the local economy through the tourism industry and in direct sales of agricultural products at the farm,

J. Land suitable for farming is an irreplaceable natural resource. Soil and topographic characteristics have been enhanced by generations of agricultural use and when such land is converted to residential or other uses, a critical resource is permanently lost to the current and future citizens of Charlevoix County and the State of Michigan,

K. Efforts of local units of government through local comprehensive planning, zoning, subdivision and land division regulations have not been totally effective in providing long-term protection of farmland and open space under the pressure of increasing development,

L. Generally, farmland and open space lands that are close to urban centers have a greater market value for future development than for farming or open space, and such land often has features that are considered valuable components for residential and other development, encouraging the speculative purchase of these lands at high prices for future development regardless of the current zoning of such lands,

M. There exists in Charlevoix County, farmland having a market value greater than its agricultural value; land which currently does not attract sustained agricultural investment and that eventually could be sold and removed from agricultural use,

N. The acquisition by Charlevoix County, the State of Michigan, the federal government, or qualified conservancy organizations or voluntarily offered interest in farmland and open space lands within Charlevoix County by purchase of the development rights, with the intention of being permanent, as provided for in this ordinance and as authorized by the Constitution and Statutes of the State of Michigan, will permit these lands to remain in farmland and open space and provide long-term protection for the public interests served by farmland and open space lands,

O. The Governor and the Michigan Legislature enacted Public Act 262 of 2000, which created an agricultural preservation fund within the State Treasury to provide grants to local units of government to assist in the acquisition of farmland conservation easements, provided that the local unit of government has adopted an ordinance for the purchase of development rights, and the local unit of government has an updated comprehensive/master/land use plan that includes a plan for farmland preservation,

P. The establishment of a farmland and open space preservation program will provide specific public benefits to Charlevoix County, including:

1. Lessening congestion on certain streets, roads and highways,
2. Promoting the concentration of population in appropriate areas,
3. Lessening scattered urban sprawl development, which will lead to increased efficiencies in the provision of governmental services,

4. Retention of the historic rural character of Charlevoix County necessary for the continuation of the local tourism industry,

5. Increasing opportunities and incentives for young farmers to carry on the agricultural legacy of Charlevoix County,

6. Supporting existing efforts to cooperatively plan communities,

7. Maintaining quality hunting, fishing, and other recreational activities,

8. Retention of large blocks of farmland suitable for economic agricultural production purposes,

9. Retention of large blocks of open space, including woodlands, wetlands, and wildlife habitat, to protect the natural environment of Charlevoix County, including the lakes, rivers, streams and underground aquifers, and

10. To encourage the most appropriate use of land throughout Charlevoix County.

Q. The establishment of a farmland and open space preservation program, including any costs incidental to such acquisition, and the monitoring and enforcement of development rights conservation easements, or participation with the state, qualified land conservancies or any other party for such purposes will promote the public health, safety and general welfare of the people of Charlevoix County.

Section 1.03 - Purpose and Legislative Authority

The purpose of this ordinance is to establish the legal authority and manner in which Charlevoix County is to acquire development rights in farmland and other eligible land as provided for in this ordinance, pursuant to the Michigan Zoning Enabling Act, P.A. 110 of 2006, M.C.L. 125.3101 through 125.3702, and Subpart 11 of Part 21 of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Act, P.A. 451 of 1994, as amended, MCLA 324.2140 through MCLA 324.2144.

Pursuant to the Michigan Zoning Enabling Act, P.A. 110 of 2006, M.C.L. 125.3101 through 125.3702, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners is authorized to acquire the development rights from farmland throughout Charlevoix County by purchase, gift, grant, bequest, devise, covenant, or contract.

Section 3.02 - Limitation on Purchases

Charlevoix County shall only purchase the development rights for farmland that:

A. Meet the definition of eligible farmland or other eligible land as set forth in this ordinance,

B. Is located within the jurisdiction of a participating local unit of government,

C. Is voluntarily offered for sale by an owner of the farmland or other eligible land,

D. Has been determined to be consistent with the farmland and open space preservation elements of the comprehensive/master/land use plan of the participating local unit of government and the Charlevoix County Future Land Use Plan.

Section 3.03 - Means of Purchase and Payment

Charlevoix County is authorized to enter into cash purchase and/or installment purchase contracts, options, and agreements or the receipt of tax-deductible (and other) donations of easements consistent with applicable law. When installment purchases are made, Charlevoix County is authorized to pay interest on the declining unpaid principal balance at a legal rate of interest consistent with prevailing market conditions at the time of execution of the installment contract for the tax-exempt status of such interest.

Section 3.04 - Use of Qualified Land Conservancy Assistance

Charlevoix County may contract with a qualified land conservancy, other legally established land trust or other experienced and qualified nonprofit groups to assist Charlevoix County in conducting the purchase of land development rights, establishing baseline studies, procedures for monitoring, and actual monitoring of any development rights easements acquired under this ordinance, including holding joint interest in Charlevoix County conservation easements.

Section 3.05 - Repurchase or Exchange of Property Interest in Development Rights Easements

Charlevoix County owned interests in farmland and other eligible land may be exchanged for property interests in farmland or other eligible land on an equivalent appraised value basis upon affirmative findings that:

A. The property subject to the easement is no longer consistent with the farmland and open space preservation elements of the comprehensive/master/land use plan of the participating local unit of government and the Charlevoix County Future Land Use Plan due to any one of the following:

1. The quality of the farmland is such that agricultural production is not economically viable with generally accepted agricultural and management practices.

2. Surrounding conditions now exist that impose physical obstacles to the agricultural operations or prohibit essential agricultural practices.

3. A significant natural physical change in the farmland has occurred, resulting in a generally irreversible and permanent limitation on the productivity of the farmland.

4. A court order restricts the use of the farmland so that agricultural production is not economically viable.

5. A court ordered public purpose condemnation is being imposed on all or a portion of the property resulting in the remainder of the farmland for which the development rights have been purchased no longer being economically viable for agricultural production.

B. The planning commissions of participating local units of government and Charlevoix County have taken such action to amend the farmland and open space elements of their comprehensive/master/land use plans, removing the subject land from the protection/preservation area designation.

The property owner has requested to repurchase the development rights.

The property owner and the LPB have reached a tentative agreement defining compensation due Charlevoix County for the repurchase of the development rights based on the appreciated development rights value or an amount of like kind replacement farmland or other eligible land of equal value to replace the amount of land for which the development rights are being repurchased. If the property interest exchanged is not exactly equal in appraised value, cash payments may be made to provide net equivalent value for the repurchase or exchange. Such cash payments are to be used to purchase other eligible farmland through the program.

ARTICLE VII

METHOD OF DETERMINING VALUE AND PAYMENTSection 7.01 - Appraisal Method of Valuation

Upon approval of an application under the terms of this ordinance, the LPB shall initiate an appraisal of the applicant's property. For the purchase of development rights, the determination of value shall be based on a "before and after" appraisal. Under the "before and after" scenario, one appraisal will determine the value of the full ownership of the land before the development or conservation easement rights are severed, and one will determine the fair market value of the parcel with the development or conservation easement rights severed. The amount to be offered would be the difference between the before appraisal and the after appraisal. The development or conservation easement rights value will be determined based on the legally permissible intensity of development as set forth by the zoning ordinance of the local unit of government in effect at the time the development or conservation easement rights are to be purchased.

Currently licensed Michigan State Certified Appraisers selected by the LPB on a bid basis will make all appraisals. The selected appraiser shall not have a property, personal, or financial interest in any of the parcels being appraised.

St. Mary School celebrates 100 years of service

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

It was an early autumn day when St. Mary School opened its doors to 65 children in six different grades back in 1906.

And now, a full century later, the spiritual and educational building blocks necessary to shape the morality and cognizance of young people continues.

"We've got our big Northern Lights Dinner Dance Auction coming up, and we're tying in our theme of the last 100 years," said St. Mary School principal, Keisha Veryser. "We've got a lot going on right now."

The 11th Annual Northern Lights Celebration Dinner Dance Auction is dedicated this year to St. Mary School's one-hundredth year in operation. "Celebrating 100 years! Past, Present and Future."

Beginning at 6 p.m., the event will last until midnight on Saturday, Sept. 30 in the parish center, 1005 Bridge St.

"First Sister Superior of St. Mary's School was Sister Mary Clare of the Dominican order. She came to Charlevoix from Grand Rapids with two other Dominicans who were to serve as the school's first teaching staff, Sisters Mary Carola and Mary Innocence," Veryser stated in an e-mailed response to questions about the school's history.

"Within a short time, enrollment grew enough to justify the addition of high school classes. St. Mary's had high school graduation classes from 1912 to 1918. After 1918, the high school level was closed and the school was operated as an elementary school with eight grades. In 1924 it was completely renovated and redecorated."

According to Veryser, in 1953, Father E. Francis Denary arrived as pastor of St. Mary's and immediately initiated a campaign to raise the $75,000 he thought would be needed to build a new school.

"June 5, 1955 was the last day classes were held in the old school. Everything movable was stored and the old building was razed to make way for new construction. Ground was broken that year for the new school with Sister Athenasius, O.P. presiding as principal. The school could not be finished in time for classes in the fall, so when classes began in September 1955, the first-graders went to the public school and the 82 other students reported for classes at the old Lincoln School, now the Leslie T. Shapton American Legion Post," she stated. "On August 16, 1956 the new facility was dedicated. The new St. Mary's School is a symbol of a well-built personality," said Bishop Babcock in his dedication address. "You should think of it as a stepping stone to better things and as an example of building well and solidly for life and for eternity."

Veryser stated the new school opened on Sept. 11, 1956 with 112 students in eight grades under principal, Sister Mary Eileen.

"Peak enrollment at St. Mary's was reached in 1963 when there were 180 students in grades (one through eight). In 1965, Sister Martin Porres became principal and guided the school through the changes introduced in the post-Vatican II years," Veryser stated. "A school board was formed with its first meeting in 1965. When diocesan guidelines recommended not more than 15 students per classroom, the decision was made in 1967 to transfer the seventh and eighth grades to the Charlevoix Middle School."

She added, "In 1987, the sixth grade was transferred to the middle school, and a kindergarten class was added."

Veryser said a new dress code was begun this year, which consists of blue polo shirts and khaki bottoms.

"The students look sharp and very unified as they file in for morning prayer, lunch, and recess times," she stated. "I have learned that the school has served as a constant source of community and parish involvement. I plan to keep it that way."

Ann Hazelwood reopens counseling practice

Ann Hazelwood

Charlevoix.

"My daughter is in second-grade now and it is time to get back to doing what God seemingly put me on earth to do, to help other people get through difficult times," Hazelwood said. "This will be my twenty-third year of listening, coaching and guiding."

Hazelwood is a licensed professional counselor who first came to Charlevoix in 1984 and began working with the former CHIP Counseling. Armed with a new master's degree in counseling from George Mason University and eight years experience as a special education teacher working with difficult teenagers, she helped clients with "whatever problems came through the door," ranging from substance abuse to marital discord. Hazelwood left the area in 1988 and counseled and taught in Maryland and Arizona, including a stint as educational director in a psychiatric hospital. She returned to Charlevoix in 1992 and entered private practice, but closed the doors in 2000 when her daughter, Jenna, arrived from China.

Hazelwood described her approach to counseling as "solution focused," with an emphasis on getting to the heart of the problem quickly and finding a path forward.

"I was trained in the traditional psycho-therapeutic approaches," she said. "But meaningful results using those techniques often take several years of expensive therapy."

Developed partly in response to the demands of employers and insurance companies for shorter treatment programs, Hazelwood's results-oriented approach identifies the problem and looks for meaningful actions that will stabilize a difficult situation. Then the emphasis shifts to making the changes needed for the long-term.

"Nothing changes if nothing changes," she said. "And an important part of being an effective counselor is understanding what needs to change and helping the person successfully make the transition."

Hazelwood's renewed practice will continue to offer traditional counseling services, placing a particular emphasis on women's issues and couples. In addition, she will begin offering Christian counseling to people of faith.

"There is a spiritual dimension to every problem that confronts us in life, and there is a spiritual dimension to the solution, as well," she said. "Not everyone wants to consider the spiritual aspects of their particular problem, and for these clients traditional counseling approaches are often successful. But for those who do there is great healing and restorative power in bringing one's faith to bear in difficult times."

Hazelwood has met with local pastors and is encouraged by their support.

"Counseling is specialized like any other profession," she said. "And it is a lot to ask of a pastor to lead a church and be a counselor. Hopefully, I can help them better serve their own congregations."

Hazelwood regards her renewed practice as both a profession and a ministry. Recognizing the financial challenges faced by many northern Michigan families she has developed a fee schedule designed to make counseling affordable.

Hazelwood is a member of the Michigan Counseling Association and the American Association of Christian Counselors. She can be reached at (231) 675-2804.

Charlevoix County Friend of the Court will be conducting a Bench Warrant Resolution Day, on September 27, 2006 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., at the following locations: Boyne City City Hall, East Jordan City Hall and Charlevoix County Friend of the Court office. Charlevoix native publishes acclaimed book of poetry

Thomas Heise, born in Charlevoix in 1971, has just published his first book, Horror Vacui: Poems, with the prestigious literary press Sarabande Books.

Based in Louisville, KY, Sarabande has also published the work of several Pulitzer Prize winners, including James Tate, Charles Wright and the recent Poet Laureate Louise Glück.

Heise's book, whose title translates from Latin to mean "a fear of empty spaces," was written largely as a response to his father's (Ed Heise) death in 2001. In a recent interview with Sarabande, Heise remarked "The death of my father led to a lot of new writing for me, which in turn drew upon themes that had long been present in my work and gave them added resonance and more urgency...I wrote the collection's title poem, as well as some other poems in the book, as a way of knowing him."

Heise's book has begun to earn critical acclaim. Publishers Weekly has called it "a harrowing series of poems" and Ray McDaniel of The Constant Critic has labeled the poems "so striking" "an extraordinary mood piece."

The title poem from the book won the coveted Gulf Coast prize for Poetry. In addition to Horror Vacui, Heise's work has been collected in the anthology Legitimate Dangers: American Poets of the New Century and in a number of journals, such as Verse, Slope, Ploughshares, Conduit and others.

Heise, whose family still resides in northern Michigan, received a master's degree in creative writing from the University of California at Davis and a Ph.D. in English Literature from New York University. Currently he lives in Montreal,

Rayders rebound to trounce Red Devils

In spite of the Rayder football team's loss to the Gladiators, they were able to get their game back on track against the Red Devils.

In the Sept. 9 match-up against Traverse City St. Francis, the Gladiators scored early, then made it hold up.

Traverse City St. Francis scored on three of its first four possessions then played strong defense the rest of the way in handing Charlevoix a 21-6 Lake Michigan Conference football loss at Thirby Field.

"We knew they were a good team and offensively we were able to move the ball, we just couldn't put points up on the board," Charlevoix coach Don Jess said. "We had our chances."

Charlevoix cut its deficit to 21-6 with about five minutes to go in the half on Kyle Jones' 24-yard TD run.

Jones finished with 69 yards on 14 carries. St. Francis out-rushed the Rayders, 251-65.

Then on Friday, Sept. 15 the Rayders bounced back.

By half-time Friday, Charlevoix had purged any memories of the loss to Traverse City St. Francis.

this Friday, Sept. 22. East Jordan dropped to 0-4, 0-2.

again," East Jordan coach Tony Krepps said. "We did step it up and were able to move the ball in the second half."

Munson added a 13-yard TD reception in the third quarter and finished with 69 yards on three catches. Waha was 5-of-13 for 81 yards, two touchdowns and an interception. Jones ran for 117 yards on 11 carries.

On the other side, Charlevoix kept East Jordan off the board until the second half.

"Our defense is playing really well," Jess said. "We have 11 guys flying to the football and hitting hard. This is the first time I've had that many guys hitting hard."

Waha led Charlevoix with 12 tackles. Jones had nine and Matt Kanine eight. Munson and Waha made interceptions.

Scott Hansen scored East Jordan's touchdown, a 1-yard run in the third quarter. He ran for 77 yards on eight carries. Dave Marr had 92 yards on 13 carries.

Carter McFall led East Jordan's defense with 11 tackles. David Marr, Matt Pater and Travis Nachazel had seven solo stops apiece.

Local athletes compete in island Celtic games

Scottish and Irish strongmen from across Michigan competed against each other in seven traditional strength competitions Sept. 16 at the Beaver Island Celtic Games.

Eleven competitors, three of whom are from Charlevoix, tossed the stone, threw 28 and 56-pound weights for distance and height, threw the hammer, tossed the sheaf and flipped the famed caber (a 20-foot long, 120-pound pole that competitors must flip end over end).

The athletes, ages 18 to 58, hail from all areas of Michigan and represent various skill levels in the Celtic strength athletics. Adhering to the rules of Scottish strength athletics, they wore their family kilts during competition.

Joining them on the island were Celtic dancers Celtic Fire and White Thistle and bagpipers with Grand Traverse Pipes and Drums.

This was the second year for this event, now hosted by the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce at (231) 448-2505.

Ken Crum of Tonton took first place overall. Damon Barth of Fort Wayne, Ind. took second. Dal Gehman of Gaylord took third. Bill Gordon of Deerton took fourth. Jeremy McBain of Charlevoix took fifth. Dave Carl of Nashville took sixth. Patrick Cameron of Grand Rapids took seventh. Tim Wearm of Beaver Island took eighth. Brothers, Reagan Drebenstedt and Troy Drebenstedt of Charlevoix took ninth and tenth places respectively. And Jerry Bowersox of Hudsonville took eleventh.

The Celtic strength competitions date back to at least the 1300s, when Scottish kings and chiefs would hold contests within the kingdom and individual clans to determine who their strongest men were.

During the times of English occupation of Scotland, the games also served as a way for Scottish soldiers to train for combat, without alerting the English.

For more information, call the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce at (231) 448-2505.

Reagan Drebenstedt of Charlevoix competes in the fourth event of seven that killed strongmen participated in at the 2nd Annual Beaver Island Celtic Games on Sept. 16 — the 16-pound hammer toss. He placed tenth overall in this event with a distance of 69 feet, 2 inches. He placed ninth overall out of the 11 athletes that participated. His brother, Troy, placed tenth.

'Evidence difficulties' lessen charges against Snyder

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

Sharon
Snyder

A felony charge a Charlevoix woman faced in connection with a car accident she was involved in was dropped.

On Sept. 12, Sharon Snyder, who was initially charged with felonious driving pleaded to careless driving and possession of an open intoxicant—a civil infraction and misdemeanor charge respectively.

Charlevoix County assistant prosecutor, Shaynee Fanara said the charges were reduced due to "evidence difficulties." She declined to comment further.

Snyder, 61, of Charlevoix was involved in a Aug. 12 car accident that resulted in the loss of fellow Charlevoix resident Jeffrey "Shag" Russell's left leg.

That evening Russell, who was driving his motorcycle was struck at the intersection of Stover Road and Ferry Avenue by Snyder, driving a Ford Taurus.

Snyder told police she was moving her car visor before making the turn and never saw Russell.

Russell, 41, was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and then transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City for further treatment. The accident resulted in amputation of his left leg, just below the knee.

Snyder was arrested Aug.

16 and arraigned Aug. 29 in Charlevoix County District Court. She faced a felony charge of felonious driving for operating her vehicle "carelessly and heedlessly in willful and wanton disregard of the rights or safety of others...resulting in serious impairment of a body function of Jeffrey Russell, but did not cause death." If convicted of this felony, Snyder would have faced a possible two-year prison sentence and/or a $2,000 fine.

The misdemeanor open intoxicant charge carries a possible penalty of up to 90 days in jail, community service and up to $100 in fines. She had an open Natural Light beer in her car.

According to the police report authored by Charlevoix city patrolman Jim Schlappi, Snyder was given a breath test at the scene and blew a .056 percent, which is below the .08 percent legal cutoff.

The careless driving infraction results in further fines.

The case is currently in the pre-sentence investigation process through the Charlevoix County Probation Department. A sentencing date has not been set.

Ousted commissioners may try again in November

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Six weeks have passed since the August primary election and talk of ousted county commissioners planning to run in November as write-in candidates is beginning to surface.

Incumbents, Fifth District Charlevoix County Commissioner, Dennis Jason, second district commissioner, Randolph Frykberg and fourth district commissioner and chairman of the board, Vic Patrick all lost the Republican reelection bid, as did former interim county commissioner, Josh Barnes.

"I'm not (planning to run in November). That's definite. The people spoke," said Frykberg, who was defeated by Chris Christensen 203 to 152.

Barnes, who lost to fellow Republican, Shirlene Tripp, 326 to 252, said another bid this year would be doubtful.

"I don't see any need to. I don't know my opponent that well, but I certainly don't have any problem with the incumbent (first district commissioner, Connie Saltonstall)."

When asked if he would run for office on a write-in ticket, Patrick said, "No comment."

Patrick was beat 194 to 175 by Joel Evans.

Dennis Jason, who was defeated 189 to 127 by Boh Drechenstedt, said he hasn't yet made up his mind.

Dennis
Jason

"I'm not planning on it right now, but it's something to think about, and I've been giving it more thought lately," Jason said. "I think the turnout was pretty pitiful in the primary election, and about six or seven or even eight percent of the registered voters could well possibly determine what the election results are."

He added, "It takes quite a while to learn the system, and I've been there long enough now where I think I understand it, so I think I can be a benefit to the residents of the district."

CROP walkers to hit the streets Sept. 30

File photo

Jill Washburn of Charlevoix gives an excited wave during the 22nd Annual CROP Walk. This year's event will take place on Sept. 30. Walkers will meet at Charlevoix Middle School and will travel to the Ironton Congregational Church. The walk is one of Church World Service's main fund-raisers and is aimed at fighting hunger worldwide.

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Some people have no problem walking all over Charlevoix — for the twenty-third year in a row.

Crop Walk officials hope to beat the $13,351 they raised last year by the 119 walkers who attended the annual event.

"Saturday, Sept. 30, we will meet at Charlevoix Middle School at 8:45 a.m. and leave about 9 a.m.," said John Young, Charlevoix area Crop-Walk coordinator. "We'll be walking to the Ironton Congregational Church. We'll have a light lunch there, it ends up being about a six mile walk one-way."

The CROP Walk is one of Church World Service's main fundraising efforts.

"(Church World Service) is an ecumenical Christian relief organization that helps in times of emergencies both nationally and internationally," Young said. "They also provide the long-term development assistance in areas of need and refugee care."

Young said 25 percent of funds raised are returned for use in local charities such as food pantries.

CROP Walkers from Boyne City and East Jordan will meet with those from Charlevoix.

Young said this walk is for County commission agrees to maintain new trail

BY FRED GRAY
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
STAFF WRITER

The Charlevoix Board of Commissioners reversed itself Wednesday, Sept. 13 and voted 5-1 to accept county ownership and maintenance responsibilities for a 14-mile non-motorized trail between Boyne City and U.S. 31.

The vote means that another government entity, such as the city of Boyne City, can apply for a grant to fund the project, which county planner Larry Sullivan estimated would cost about $3 million, most of it from federal "enhancement funds."

Sullivan said that to apply for the funds, the applicant, which could not be the county, must designate a governmental entity, such as the county or a city, to assume ownership and maintenance responsibilities.

In August, despite favorable recommendations by the county parks committee and planning commission, the board refused to adopt a resolution to take ownership, with commissioners Shirley Roloff, Ron Reinhardt and Vic Patrick voting against it and Connie Saltonstall, Randy Frykberg and Denny Jason in support.

But on Wednesday, Reinhardt asked that the resolution he returned to the table based on new information that Sullivan had provided after the August vote. Reinhardt said he was now convinced that costs of maintaining such a trail would not be excessive, and thus he could support a motion for the county to take responsibility for such a trail.

Patrick said today that he had changed his vote for the same reason.

Sullivan provided the board with detailed annual costs of maintaining the county's only non-motorized trail, which runs east from the city of Charlevoix along U.S. 31, at about $2,150.

He said costs for a future Boyne City-U.S. 31 trail would be about $3,440, which he said could be reduced substantially if volunteers could be found to mow the sides of the trails and pick up litter periodically.

"I believe we also must consider the fact that it takes a substantial amount of time to build each trail," Sullivan wrote. "I envision that it could be five or six years before the Boyne City to U.S. 31 trail is completely constructed due to the need to obtain grants, raise local match, complete detailed engineering plans and construct the trail.

"I would not envision efforts to develop another trail would occur until the Boyne City-U.S. 31 trail was completed."

Roloff then asked that the vote be tabled until the next meeting to give her time for review, but the board denied her motion and voted 5-1 to accept responsibility for the trail.

At the August board meeting Sullivan and Scott MacKenzie, director of the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce, said private groups had been working with local units of government to develop the non-motorized trail.

They said the trail would be separated from the roadway and would improve traffic safety, provide a recreational facility and promote additional economic activity within the county.

Sullivan said the county would be the obvious candidate to ensure oversight and maintenance of the trail because most of the trail would be outside the boundaries of incorporated cities.

He said that in his view, city tax dollars should not be used to provide services outside the city limits.

"If you're going to build a trail system, you've got to start somewhere, and not every place in the county can be first," MacKenzie said, emphasizing the economic benefits to the entire county of drawing tourists to recreational facilities such as non-motorized trails.

He said the highest use of the trails takes place in the spring and fall "shoulder seasons."

"It's a quality of life thing for all of us. And one of the desirable factors when businesses are looking to set up shop in our communities and in our county is our quality of life and the infrastructure."

- Sullivan estimated the cost of maintaining the proposed new Boyne City to U.S. 31 trail at $3,440 a year.

I can do that!

Northwestern Bank customer Shelly Sutton had lots of errands to run one morning, including a trip to our office. But she was in for a rather significant run of bad luck. The first flat tire didn't stop her. Neither did breaking a heel. But the second flat tire of the day did. Needless to say, Shelly was having a bad day.

Not knowing who to call, she turned to Northwestern Bank. A true "I can do that!" moment was in the making. Cory VanBrocklin and Lynn Peoples were at her side within ten minutes. They changed the flat right in the parking lot and got Shelly on her way within half an hour.

We could never plan for a situation like this, but with employees like Cory and Lynn, maybe we don't need to. This was "I can do that!" in action.

The great salmon show

Dan Shearer of Battle Creek grins ear to ear while hauling in a fresh catch during a salmon fishing trip Sept. 18. The famed Medusa Creek salmon run has brought anglers from across the state to town for a piece of the action. For more information on the run, see the story on page 16.

Embezzlement case ends with stiff sentence

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Karla Lockman

"Thievery of epic proportions," is how Charlevoix County 33rd Circuit Court Judge, Richard Pajtas, described Karla Sue Lockman's embezzlement of $859,278.25, before he sentenced her, Friday, Sept. 22.

Lockman's attorney, Fred L. Gibson asked that his client have the weekend to get her affairs in order to which someone in the back of the courtroom shouted, "No" just before Pajtas said, "No, the sentence is immediate."

Lockman will spend between five and 10 years in prison for two counts of embezzlement of an agent or trustee of $20,000 or more from Northern Preferred Title Company from Jan. 31 to May 17, 2005.

"I think he (Pajtas) exceeded the guidelines because they don't take into account the amount of money embezzled (and) the guidelines don't take into account the number of victims," said Charlevoix County Prosecutor, John Jarema. "I think it (sentence) acts as a deterrent to the public that they will be held accountable and punished for their actions and that it's not tolerated one bit."

Guidelines called for a sentence of 0 to 17 months, but in this case, Pajtas said, there were substantial and compelling reasons for the guidelines to be exceeded.

Pharmacies weigh in on Plan B

BY BENJAMIN GOHS

Local pharmacies will carry Plan B emergency contraception. Unofficial sources said it could be available over the counter as early as November.

Plan B, the emergency contraceptive which was recently approved for over the counter status may be controversial to some, but it certainly is nothing new.

As one pharmacist explained it, taking Plan B is similar to taking a large dose of regularly prescribed birth control pills, a practice of some doctors for decades.

All but one local pharmacist refused to speak with the Charlevoix Courier about this matter on the record, however, they said the prescription version of the medication runs from $19.70 to $41.99 in Charlevoix. They also said the prescription price could have no bearing on the over the counter price.

"Sometimes the cost increases when a medication becomes over the counter, and sometimes it decreases," said Charlevoix Central Drugs owner and pharmacist of nearly 40 years, John Ochs.

Ochs said he has carried the prescription version for many years because he doesn't feel it is his place to decide whether a woman uses it or not.

"When it (over the counter version) comes available, we'll have it here," he said.

The Kmart Pharmacy and Rite Aid of Charlevoix also carry the prescription form of Plan B, but phar-

DISTRICT COURT

The following cases were recently decided in Charlevoix County's 90th District Court:

Nathaniel James George, 35, Mount Pleasant. Driving while license suspended-first offense. Serve 30 days in jail; $1,500 in fines and costs.

Judge Pajtas sentences Lockman to prison

Lockman will spend the first leg of her new journey at the intake center in Jackson. She was ordered to receive mental health treatment while behind bars.

Lockman may appeal because she was found guilty, and because the sentencing guidelines were exceeded.

Her attorney, Fred Gihson, who had asked for a term of probation with mental health counseling for his client, refused to give any comments in the minutes following the judge's decision. Before the decision, he reminded Pajtas more than one expert in psychology said Lockman was mentally ill, and said how rare it was for a state forensic examiner to find someone legally insane.

"I don't know how in four short hours they (the jury) were able to ignore all that evidence," Gihson said. "To punish Karla Lockman or place her in incarceration would be out and out punishment. It could be argued that it would be cruel and unusual punishment."

Gihson said in the dark ages, people with mental illness were put in the basement, chained to the wall and fed bread and water.

"We don't do that anymore, but we do put them in prison," he said.

Before learning her fate, Lockman sobbed uncontrollably while reading the first half of her nearly 20-minute statement wherein she apologized to everyone harmed by her actions, and said of her alleged bipolar disorder, "I feel like a person who has cancer."

Lockman gave a short list of people she helped during her lifetime and said, "Recently, a friend told me I was too nice to a fault."

"I know it is very difficult for people to accept mental illness," she said, before reading her version of the events which transpired during the time leading up to and during the embezzlement of funds and spoke of shopping in places far from where she lived to avoid the embarrassment of seeing people she knows.

John Taylor, part owner of Northern Preferred, was with his family at the Indy 500 when he initially heard of the embezzlement.

Doing his best to fight back tears, Taylor said for all intents and purposes he had been, "Blackballed."

"She had done such a good job creating a financial nightmare, a certified public accountant couldn't reconcile them," he said.

While he once was active and enthusiastic about being involved with the community, Taylor said he is now withdrawn and has lost the comfortable lifestyle he worked for decades to acquire.

"Karla's actions have crushed my aspirations," he said.

While the majority of the criminal aspect of this case is over, the financial crater and aftershocks of Lockman's actions remain fresh.

Jarema said currently there is approximately $280,000 in Lockman's assets which can be divided among the victims.

"I would hope to get $320,000 after the vehicles, horses and household items are sold," he said.

Pajtas has recommended that a receiver be appointed to identify all the victims involved and account for all property and assets purchased with embezzled funds so some sort of scale can be determined by which to reimburse, if only partially, the victims.

"It's a sad case for everyone, but I think justice was served," Jarema said.

Local pharmacies prepare for Plan B move to over the counter status

macists from both would not speculate whether their corporate officials would OK the over the counter version when it comes available.

While some speculated the new FDA approved packaging for the over the counter version could be available as early as November, it could take until the first of the year before it is ready.

When the new packaging is ready, Plan B will be kept behind the counter. It will be available to women 18 and older without a prescription, and to 17-year-old girls with a prescription and identification.

Ochs said he isn't sure if men will be able to buy the product for their wives or girlfriends.

Plan B consists of two pills of levonorgestrel, the synthetic hormone found in birth control pills for nearly four decades and progestin, in a dose of .75 milligrams per pill. It should not, Duramed Pharmaceuticals Inc. emphasized, be confused with the abortion pill, RU-486, a mix of Mifeprex and Misoprostol that can end a pregnancy nearly 50 days after the menstrual cycle begins. Plan B is incapable, Duramed claims, of terminating established pregnancies.

"Plan B acts primarily by stopping the release of an egg from the ovary (ovulation)," stated FDA officials on the government Web site. "It may prevent the union of sperm and egg (fertilization). If fertilization does occur, Plan B may prevent a fertilized egg from attaching to the womb (implantation). If a fertilized egg is implanted prior to taking Plan B, Plan B will not work."

Plan B works best if the first pill is taken within 72 hours after unprotected sex. A second pill must be taken 12 hours later.

The Duramed Web site stated, "Plan B can, when used correctly, reduce the risk of pregnancy by 89 percent after a single act of unprotected sex."

Neither spokesmen from Plan B's parent company Duramed, a subsidiary of Barr Pharmaceuticals or Planned Parenthood of northern Michigan returned calls before press time.

A bill introduced into the Michigan House of Representatives on Oct. 18, 2005 HB 5311 called for all emergency contraception to be available only by prescription. The bill is currently in Health Policy Committee.

Contact Duramed Pharmaceuticals at (800) 330-1271 or www.go2planb.com. Get more information from the FDA by calling (888) 463-6332.

Charlevoix's highs and lows exposed

EDITORIAL

Charlevoix residents continue to leave us smiling one minute and forcing back bloodcurdling screams the next.

Here comes the Courier's second installment of "Thanks and spanks"—a collection of praises for those that have made life in town more livable. And busts on those that have us shaking our heads.

We'll start with the good and move on to the bad and the ugly.

Topping the list of shining stars is the new Charlevoix Public Library which opened Monday in the renovated, historic former Charlevoix Middle School. This project has progressed as promised—on time and on budget. Not only did the library group deliver exactly as they pledged, the community now has a breathtaking building that is truly an investment in Charlevoix's future and a preservation of its past. Don't miss the facility's grand opening celebration at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 7.

The United Way board of directors and its Day of Caring organizers are also due a high five. During the Sept. 14 3rd Annual Day of Caring, hundreds of volunteers tackled dozens of community service projects. This is a great opportunity for students to interface with local business people in a community-wide outreach effort.

The final thanks goes to Beaver Islanders who were gracious hosts during the 2nd Annual Celtic Games on Sept. 16. Residents were more than willing to offer a helping hand or sit down and chat about the controversial issue of island law enforcement. Michigan's Emerald Isle is a unique destination that everyone should experience first-hand.

Our first slap goes to the Charlevoix County Commissioners for not handing over budget reports at the Sept. 6 Committee of the Whole budget hearing. When asked for the thick but public document your excuse, "It's still a mess." The clerk's excuse, "You'll have to FOIA." One of the commissioners or the clerk could have handed it over at the meeting, a few photo copies later the problem would have been solved. Instead we were forced to go through the Freedom of Information Act request process. It's unnecessary paperwork for us and stalls the process of delivering public information to readers.

Next in line—the United States Coast Guard. We approach this one carefully as the proposal is for Coasties to be able to use the local station as one of 34 firearm training zones on the Great Lakes. Beaver Island Boat Company reps have expressed concern as the zone lies in the ferry course between Beaver Island and Charlevoix. This deserves more debate. Send comments to The Ninth Coast Guard District, 1240 East Ninth Street, room 2069, Cleveland, OH 44199. Or fax them to (216) 902-6055.

Closing out the spanks is a shot at myself for cutting off the name of Charlevoix resident Phil Pachulski at the end of what looks to be the final letter from readers angered by the St. Mary story (reference page 10 of the Aug. 9 edition of the Courier entitled, "St. Mary Church endures year of turmoil"). Pachulski is not affiliated with the newspaper. I apologize for any misunderstanding the error may have caused.

Get in the water for the best fishing of the year

EAR TO THE GROUND
Roger Knutson

With the passing of the fall equinox, the salmon season is pretty much over. You remember the equinox.

That's when all over the world everyone has almost exactly 12 hours between sunrise and sunset. It is also the time when a sunrise and sunset the new or fading light streams directly down east-west running streets like Antrim, Clinton or Mason. But back to the salmon.

This has been a fine and even memorable salmon season. In August I was able to take my adult daughter out onto Lake Michigan and help her find a 21-pound salmon. She had never fished before and was thrilled with the whole experience. There was that moment when the fish jumped and she saw for the first time how large it was. She called her emotion at that time fear. She was briefly afraid of the fish—a worthwhile part of the experience of nature. We should probably be afraid more often. This is not a fish story, we have pictures.

For just a few selected days around the equinox, fish that were released some years ago in the small creek near St. Marys Cement, swim up into near-shore water only two or three feet deep. During those few days it is possible to wade out a few yards from shore, cast a lure and get hooked up with fish that might weigh more than 20 pounds. It is my favorite way to catch salmon.

Somehow it almost seems unfair to go out after salmon with a large boat, thousands of dollars worth of downriggers and rods, several companions, fish finders, temperature gauges and gigantic landing nets. Fishing for salmon in the shallow water for those few fall days gives the salmon considerable advantage. The lone fisherman has only a rod, reel and 12-pound test line with a lure and a hook on the end of it. Waders are nice but not absolutely necessary. The angler has rocks to stumble over, cold water to contend with and most often, no landing net. The fish has vigor, strength and almost all of Lake Michigan to frolic in after being hooked. I am not sure whether fish feel what could be called pain when hooked, but I must confess I don't think much about that when one of them is on the end of the line.

Not many people fish for salmon in that shallow water. Most seem to think salmon prefer to hang out in deeper water. Some salmon do that. I like to believe that the more adventurous ones swim in close to shore. I'd rather catch an adventurous fish any time.

Hooking and landing a 20-pound salmon under those circumstances is a world away from the usual trolling experience. It's so much fun it probably ought to be illegal. A good-sized hooked salmon will commonly run out into Lake Michigan for 100 or 150 yards and leap out of the water a dozen times before beginning to tire. And when both fish and angler are tired, the fish must be led through the rocks to the shore to be unhooked—it's fate either to be returned to the lake or become filets on the grill.

I do not fear that touting the extreme pleasures of our local shallow water salmon fishing will result in hundreds of people standing shoulder to shoulder in Lake Michigan. Apparently not many people want to do that. But the fun per amount of necessary equipment is greater than any fishing experience I have ever had. Remember, it happens at about the equinox, a potential world holiday.

"THANKS" BAND SUPPORTERS

Editor:

The music stands at Charlevoix Middle School and high school are lined up neatly in their new carts donated and designed by Harbor Industries. The carts are very well built and actually hold more stands than ones you can buy in catalogs. The idea came from senior band member Kyle Smith and his father Robert Smith who works for Harbor Industries. The carts are perfect in helping to move stands when setting up for concerts as well as keeping our band rooms neatly organized.

Another special thank you goes to Judy and Ron Willey for donation of band director podiums and jazz band risers. Judy designed and built riser boxes for jazz band trumpet players the beautiful podium at the high school. The unique hexagon shape and carpet covering makes it attractive and sturdy.

Other much needed donations to the band department have included instruments from John Werner, Diane Penfold, Kay Wasilewski, Leah Kelly, Janet Freidinger, Betty Henne, Karen and Jeff Bakker, Judith and Bill Ivan, Ann Gomey, Jim Early of Grand Rapids and others. Other financial donations for uniforms have been received from the Newcomb family, the Wanek family, the Schuiling family and many others.

If you have an instrument that you would like to donate to the band department, please contact at (231) 547-3234. Thank you to a wonderful and supportive community.

DAY OF CARING BOOSTS VFW

Editor:

We would like to thank Gail Cherry and the Charlevoix High School administration for participating in the "Day of Caring" program. This program sent 20 Charlevoix High School students to the VFW Post 1153 on Sept. 14, who worked like beavers to help our post.

They washed windows, mopped floors, swept the drive and parking lot, picked up stones left by the construction, mowed and raked the lawn.

They did everything asked of them in one hour and did it right.

As many of you know, the post is still in the process of recovering from recent tragedies. This physical assistance, provided by these young people, was outstanding and deserves our members' heartfelt thanks.

PULL PETUNIAS

Editor:

I am sad to say the petunias in Charlevoix look terrible and have all summer. Time to get rid of them.

Also, time to fix the parking problem. Put in a parking garage on the side street. The old library site or in place of the parking lot across the street. People and visitors are used to paying for parking. Take parking off Bridge Street. Make four lanes of traffic like the rest of U.S. 31 both north and south of the business district.

BOUCHARD'S CHARLEVOIX TOUR

Editor:

Mike Bouchard recently brought his "Results With Mike" tour to northern Michigan to talk about his plan to renew Michigan's economy. I had the chance to meet him at our Charlevoix County Republican headquarters.

He said he was making stops all throughout the fingertips in Alpena, Roger City, Cheboygan County, Petoskey and Charlevoix—talking about his plan to get results and create jobs. He said that he'd also be in Traverse City and Cadillac.

At our headquarters he spoke with about 40 volunteers who were making voter advocacy calls to support Republican candidates. He said that Michigan's economy was in the tank and that we had to turn this ship around.

To do so, he showed us his eight-point plan which can be downloaded from his Web site, www.MikeforMichigan.com.

He said his plan focuses on embracing policies that would allow Michigan's job creators to compete and expand, including reducing the high cost of health care. He said that health care should be affordable, accessible, and patient-centered and that we need to empower small business owners with the creation of association health plans.

He also spoke about the importance of preserving the Great Lakes and of encouraging our tourism industry.

I agree with Mike Bouchard and I'm going to support him because it's time for Michigan to start getting results. After all, I want my grandchildren to enjoy the same life that I have.

SINGLE BUSINESS TAX FACTS

Editor:

Lou Ann McKinney, a prominent local Democrat whose husband lost an election almost 2 to 1 against Rep. Kevin Elsenheimer in 2004, wrote a letter to the editor complaining that Kevin's vote to end the Single Business Tax (SBT) was "gambling with...our children's education." (Reference letter to the editor entitled "Elsenheimer vote irresponsible" printed on page 4 of the Sept. 6 edition of the Charlevoix Courier.) She needs to get her facts straight.

First, the SBT was scheduled to end in 2009. The tax is not 10 percent of the state budget, as McKinney states, but rather $1.8 billion out of a nearly $43 billion annual budget. Every government official, including the governor, wanted to end the tax. The legislature with the support of over 300,000 Michigan voters, who signed a petition, moved the end date to 2007.

More importantly, the SBT has nothing to do with the state money that educates our children. School money comes from our sales taxes. Rep. Elsenheimer has led efforts to increase equity payments to our lower-funded northern Michigan schools over the last two years, and the Michigan House has budgeted more money than the governor for K-12 education than the governor each year Elsenheimer has been in office. That's not gambling, that's being effective.

It's the political season, and we should all expect Democrat (and Republican) leaders to write letters in support of their party's candidates. But we should also expect that they get their facts right before doing so.

KEEP CARNIVAL DOWNTOWN

Editor:

I am writing in regards to the current discussion of relocating Charlevoix's Venetian Festival from the downtown area to the Castle or other areas outside of town.

The festival brings many tourist and surrounding area people to our town. Most of the people return year after year to help us celebrate.

The festival causes congestion of our streets and inconveniences our local citizens for a week. Even a few headaches for the business owners, due to hiring, training new employees and long hours. But the benefit of this festival is far more prospering than the line at the bridge or taking the back way through town.

Businesses in and around the downtown area depend on summer tourism and Venetian to survive their winters. For some businesses, Venetian week, is their highest week of the year and others the income means the entire year. To move Venetian would be devastating to downtown's economy.

The carnival can cause some parking hassles, but just look at the people it draws downtown. Yes, there are food vendors and games to play but the majority of the tourist's money is spent in downtown businesses.

The music and fireworks in the park can sometimes be a little louder than we'd like, again look at the people these events draw downtown. Let's not forget the onlookers of the boat parade or the casual "Let's see what's going on" foot traffic.

If the festival is moved outside of town or to the Castle how much money would be lost to our businesses? Do you really think a tourist would want to return downtown through out the day to grab something other than carnival food to eat? Would they come back to town to buy a sweatshirt or jacket because the weather turned a little chilly? Probably not.

We fought to keep Wal-Mart out of our town because of the effect it would have on our local businesses. The same thought process needs to be given to this issue.

Let's keep Venetian where it belongs—downtown.

Bite of Beaver Island offers food, games and entertainment

The 5th Annual Bite of Beaver Island Food Festival brings a weekend packed with fine cuisine and fun-filled activities to a unique destination.

Beaver Island, the largest inhabited island in Lake Michigan, will host the Bite of Beaver Island event on Oct. 7.

Festivities will kick off at 10 a.m. on Saturday with the Island Boodle, a 5K run/walk along the beautiful harbor of Paradise Bay. Medals for first through third place for assorted age categories will be given out at the Shamrock at the conclusion of the Boodle, along with t-shirts for all participants. Advance registration forms may be downloaded from the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce Web site at www.beaverisland.org.

From 1 to 5 p.m., Holy Cross Church Hall will be the site of the Bite of Beaver Island Food Festival, where professional and amateur chefs sell small portions of their favorite fare. Last year's sellouts included rack of lamb, grilled shrimp, escargot, and a wide variety of scrumptious desserts. Beer, wine and soft drinks are also available at the festival where live entertainment will perform.

The island's Youth Consortium will oversee autumn crafts for children along with demonstrations on how to use an old-fashioned cider press. There will also be an apple pie contest, with prizes for the top two bakers and an auction of their pies, with proceeds to benefit their favorite island charity.

Later in the evening, head to the Shamrock for live music.

Beaver Island, located 33 miles from the mainland. To get there select either the ferry service (a 2 hour 15 minute cruise) or charter air service (a 15 minute flight). The Beaver Island Boat Company, Island Airways and Fresh Air Aviation are located in Charlevoix.

Horton Creek property donated to Little Traverse Conservancy

Thanks to the generous donations of the J.A. Woollam Foundation, Michael and Rhea Dow, and the Dula Foundation, the Little Traverse Conservancy has protected an additional quarter mile of Horton Creek.

The meandering creek bisects this 40-acre property which is comprised of both upland and wetland forested habitats in Horton Bay. Horton Creek is a direct tributary to Lake Charlevoix and the protection of the property will further ensure that the water quality of the lake remains high.

"As we walked the narrow path to the river on a peaceful summer afternoon, one couldn't help but think the land must be much like it was in Hemingway's time when he loved to fish for trout on this creek," said Conservancy field representative, MaryKay O'Donnell.

Hemingway mentions Horton Creek in "The End of Something," "On Writing," "The Indians Moved Away" and other writings. Horton Creek is likely the model for creeks mentioned in many of his other works.

The Conservancy is also grateful to Dan and Martha Mishler for offering the opportunity to purchase the land at a discounted price.

"Our original purchase of the land was an investment for our retirement and we had planned to develop the property," Dan explained. "But as time went on, the beauty of the land got the best of us. We are very pleased that by selling to the Conservancy, we were able to help preserve this beautiful parcel in its natural state for future generations to enjoy."

Public Notice?

Without it in your newspaper, you're left guessing what the government's doing in your community.

Public notice is the people's right to know the issues that affect them directly, and people know the place to find public and legal notices is in the newspaper. What you're holding right now is a historical document, printed and published with a date on every page. Public notices have been posted here since the days of colonial America. In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. After all, it shouldn't be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, or when to look, let alone to know what you're looking for to be informed. Why guess? That is why you have, and read, your newspaper... where your right to know is already being served.

OBITUARIES

Roger Sievertson: Feb. 17, 1947 - Sept. 18, 2006

Roger B. Sievertson passed away from this life on Sept. 18 after courageously battling cancer of the pancreas for one-and-a-half years.

Roger was born on Feb. 17, 1947 in Sault Ste. Marie and later moved with his family to Roseville, and later to Union Lake, where he began his lifelong love of sailing. He held positions at Children's Hospital in Detroit and Straith Memorial Hospital in Southfield before accepting a position as vice-president of support services at Charlevoix Area Hospital 23 years ago. He loved his work and over the years was the project manager of several successful facility expansion projects, including Boyne Area Medical Center, Boyne Rehab, Jordan Valley Rehab, and the various phases of expansion and development on the main campus of Charlevoix Area Hospital. He continued to work between treatment and surgeries until a week before his passing.

Roger served for four years as a member of the board of trustees of the Hospital Purchasing Service, was a member of the Charlevoix Masonic Lodge, as well as a past member of the Scottish Rite Masons Grand Rapids Chapter, and was a member of the Ironton Congregational Church and the Charlevoix Lions Club.

Roger faced every challenge with determination, honesty, and a positive outlook, and his smile and sense of humor with he especially missed by all. He is survived by his wife of 24 years, Maureen, and his two sons Joseph Sievertson at home, and Paul (Christina)

Sievertson of Southfield; grandchildren, Andrew and Alex of Southfield; his mother, Sarah Sievertson of Charlevoix; brother, Ron (Sue) Sievertson of Luzerne; cousins, Cheryl Farmer, M.D. of Ypsilanti and Kathy Becker of Empire, Don and Dottie Farmer of Hawaii; parents-in-law Karen and Larry Hitchcock of Florida; as well as many good friends and acquaintances.

Roger wished to be cremated and a memorial service celebrating Roger's life took place on Sept. 23 at the Ironton Congregational Church.

Roger has requested that in lieu of flowers, people wishing to remember him may direct contributions to the Charlevoix Area Hospital CT Fund or to the Ironton Congregational Church operating fund.

The great Beaver Island debate

Law enforcement: By the book or tailored for the island?

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Beaver Island law enforcement has become a contentious issue for islanders and visitors.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater said he has received complaints of over aggressive island policing. While some claim the local police presence is just right others say the cops have gone overboard and are driving away business.

"This is one of those divisive issues, like politics," Steve West, director of the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, said. "There are some people on Beaver Island that wish everything would be like it was in the old days — that's not going to happen. We need to preserve what's best about the old days. But driving while intoxicated isn't high on the preservation list."

Some of the concerns voiced by residents include alcohol related arrests, but many say that the crackdown more closely resembles harassment than community policing.

"It's been harassment more than law enforcement — pulling the same person over multiple times. It's been pretty tough on all the businesses," said Dana Hodgson, a Beaver Island native and owner of the Shamrock Bar and Restaurant. "Drunk driving shouldn't be tolerated and no one is insinuating that. But I have people who have one drink with dinner and are afraid of being pulled over."

The following is a period comparison from the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office revealing the number of incidents and arrests on Beaver Island:

May 1, 2005 through Aug. 31, 2005 Peaine Township 32 incidents, one arrest for obstructing police
Number one: Traffic stops — seven
May 1, 2006 through Aug. 31, 2006 Peaine Township 56 incidents, no arrests
Number one: Traffic stops — 30
May 1, 2005 through Aug. 31, 2005 St. James Township 87 incidents, one arrest for burglary
Number one: Traffic stops — 23
May 1, 2006 through Aug. 31, 2006 St. James Township 125 incidents, one arrest for operating while intoxicated
Number one: Traffic stops — 66

She said her customers are leaving early out of fear.

Information provided by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office shows the number one item reported by island deputies during the period from May through August isn't drunk driving arrests, it's traffic stops. This held true in 2005 as well (see the associated sidebar). However, the number of stops more than doubled in 2006.

Bill McDonough, owner of McDonough's Market and a fifth generation Beaver Island native, said, "It has come to the point where people are being pulled over for minor things. The solution — discretion. There are enough things over here that deserve attention. The deputy doesn't need to go looking for stuff."

Island deputy John Heise, with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office, said he's not out to harass.

"Everyone thinks I go out looking for people — harassing people. I really don't. Enforcement has stepped up for island standards. But it hasn't been stepped up specifically for the island. I'm not going to change the process or do the head turning. If it comes out that I don't make any friends, OK," he said.

Island resident, Phyllis Moore, whose father Phil Gregg was a former island deputy, said this spring marked the first time islanders were consistently pulled over for not wearing seatbelts or cruising with expired plates.

"I'm glad to see there is some law enforcement being done. The majority think this is Beaver Island, we don't need rules. But we have more and more people coming — if we don't have rules, what's going to happen?" Moore said.

Joanne Cashman, who has lived on Beaver Island for 34 years supports a stronger arm of the law as well.

"He's being fair with people," she said. "If they keep the drunks from driving, good."

One time of particular concern is Homecoming Weekend, the second weekend in August. This year it took place Aug. 12 and 13. This event features a softball tournament at the Bud McDonough field. It tends to bring hundreds of visitors and cash to island businesses.

It also brings two Michigan State troopers from the Petoskey post. According to John Ferguson, a trooper who has policed the Homecoming event over the past three years, some years are crazier than others and this year was

Sheriff to decide new island deputy this week

When the application period opened, Heise threw his hat in the ring. He said he has since withdrawn his application.

Heise said his personal life was part of his decision and the community response to his presence has made his job difficult.

"It's a tough place to be a police officer. I just wanted to come here and do the same job I did on the mainland," he said. "I can tell people aren't happy with me. Everyone here waves and once in a while someone won't wave. I can tell they aren't a fan. I would hope people know it's a business thing. Not a personal thing."

This is where the great divide exists — many say Beaver Island isn't the mainland and should be policed in a unique manner while others say Beaver Island is subject to the same laws as the rest of the State of Michigan and those laws should be applied.

Sheriff Lasater feels the law is the law, but Beaver Island is certainly unique.

"It's one of the more challenging law enforcement positions in the State of Michigan," he said.

Because the deputy is stationed on an island, there is no backup close at hand and there is no jail — serious arrests require a plane trip while less serious offenders are handcuffed to a couch at the substation.

"It's a great opportunity for someone that doesn't need a lot of supervision," Sheriff Lasater said.

Heise's advice for an incoming full-time deputy — "Go with your own instincts and make your own decisions. It's overwhelming, the feeling you'll get, when you have to make a decision that will cause strife in the community."

While the job's down side appears pretty stacked, sheriff

Lasater said there are perks including paid lodging and well appointed police equipment including a vehicle and boat.

The selected candidate will get a taste of island life before being hired during a brief stay there to test the waters. Sheriff Lasater said his prior experience has proven not everyone is a great fit for Beaver Island.

Sheriff Lasater experienced one summer when he went through four deputies before finding one that would stay. And in another situation a deputy was hired and resigned after 24 hours.

When a loved one is involved in one of the nearly 100,000 car crashes that occur in Michigan each year, many thoughts go through people's minds.

For Heather Wise, the mother of Charlevoix High School freshman, Hannah Wise, it was thoughts of utter disbelief.

"This is something you read in the paper or see on TV. After that, you close the paper or turn off the TV and your life continues on. Our lives have for the most part stopped," Heather stated in an e-mail response to questions from the Charlevoix Courier.

Hannah and two other passengers were riding in a 1990 Subaru sedan driven at excessive speeds by 19-year-old Matthew Alan Guldbrandsen of Ellsworth, according to the Antrim County Sheriff's accident report of Tuesday, Aug. 22.

"Driver appears to have been driving too fast, loses control of the vehicle and goes off (North Dennis Road). The car turns around and begins sliding sideways through the ditch. The front left tire/wheel breaks free and initiates the car rolling. Then the car flops into a tree," the report stated.

Hannah suffered a traumatic right side brain injury, broken right femur and left ankle. She spent 10 days in a coma before her first awakening for a total of 17 days in intensive care at DeVos Children's Hospital and was transferred on Sept. 7 to Mary Free Bed Rehabilitation Hospital.

"(Tuesday, Sept. 26) we'll be here five weeks. It feels like a lifetime," Heather said. "It's amazing. Everyday she's able to do a little bit more, but she's still struggling with her right leg and broken femur. Everything is out of whack."

Hannah can already support herself with a walker, and her father, James Wise, said Hannah's wish is to be well enough to attend the final Raydars football game of the season.

"Not to participate, but she wants to wear her cheerleader uniform. We're just trying to get Hannah home," he said. "It looks like the second week of October we'll be bringing Hannah home."

Hannah's doctors have speculated it will take a year for her to heal from the brain injury.

"Her lifestyle will be different. I have not had the heart to tell her this yet," Heather stated. "We hope to bring her home walking and she is also working for that same goal. Since the brain injury was on the right side of her brain, it affects the left side of her body."

She added, "She reminds me of someone who has suffered from a stroke. Her short-term memory is also affected. We don't know the complete extent of her brain injury as she is unable to have an MRI done as she has a steel pin in her right leg."

Hannah also believes she will be able to return to school as soon as she gets home, but there may be some complications.

"In order for her to go home, she has to have a team like the one here (consisting of) brain injury specialists, occupational therapists, physical therapists, and a psychologist," Heather stated. "We will also have to possibly modify our home so that she is safe and able to get around. We try to plan, but it is difficult to make any type of plans until we know how Hannah will be."

She added, "The miracle is, she has life. If you have never experienced anything like this, you wouldn't believe it. 'Thank-you' isn't enough to everyone who has prayed for Hannah and provided support and encouragement for all of us. For now it is all I have — thank-you."

Hannah's friend, 16-year-old Stephanie Milazzo, has known Hannah since seventh-grade.

"I was actually shocked because I was supposed to go and pick her up the next day for (cheerleading) practice, and the person that called me was freaking out and was trying to get a hold of me really bad — I thought it was a joke," she said. "My sister called my cell phone telling me to get home right away, so I went home and she gave me a number to call."

Knowing how difficult high school is in the first place, Milazzo said this year for Hannah will be even more challenging.

"I think it's going to be difficult for her to start," she said. "It's usually hard for anyone to start after summer, but after being involved in a car accident, it's going to be hard to get into the swing of things."

Milazzo, who hasn't seen her friend since the accident, said, "I'm just looking forward to visiting her as much as possible when she's out."

If she takes one thing away from this incident, Milazzo said, it is that teenagers need to avoid reckless behavior.

"They're (teenagers) not invincible, and just because they have their ear, they shouldn't speed to impress their friends," she said.

The Hannah Wise Benefit Fund has been established to aid Hannah's recovery. Anyone interested may donate to: Charlevoix State Bank, 111 State St., Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Change a flat?

I can
that!

Northwestern Bank customer Shelly Sutton had lots of errands to run one morning, including a trip to our office. But she was in for a rather significant run of bad luck. The first flat tire didn't stop her. Neither did breaking a heel. But the second flat tire of the day did. Needless to say, Shelly was having a bad day.

Not knowing who to call, she turned to Northwestern Bank. A true "I can do that!" moment was in the making. Cory VanBrocklin and Lynn Peoples were at her side within ten minutes. They changed the flat right in the parking lot and got Shelly on her way within half an hour.

We could never plan for a situation like this, but with employees like Cory and Lynn, maybe we don't need to. This was "I can do that!" in action.

The finish line for Chinook salmon

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

Chinook salmon swim furiously upstream to reach their final resting place — but the Medusa Creek weir, the place they call home isn't last call.

For the past five years, the Charlevoix Department of Natural Resources Great Lakes Fisheries Research Station has partnered with a West Coast company called American Canadian to harvest the salmon meat and eggs.

According to Jeff Stevens, a trades helper with the Department of Natural Resources Great Lakes Fisheries Research Station in Charlevoix, some of the meat is used for animal consumption, while fish in good condition are filleted and sold to grocery stores.

No eggs from the Medusa Creek harvest are used for hatcheries, they are sold for bait. Charlevoix gets its eggs for spring planting from the Little Manistee River in Manistee, the Boardman River in Traverse City or Swan River in Rogers City.

In 2005, American Canadian harvested 9,936 fish weighing a total of 80,934 pounds from the Medusa Creek Weir. In 2004, they brought almost 15,000 salmon out. The contract they have with the Department of Natural Resources has them paying one cent per pound, per fish.

"They (American Canadian) are responsible for labor and equipment. We couldn't do it by ourselves. It would be a phenomenal amount of money and manpower we don't have," Stevens said.

This year's harvest started Sept. 15 and will end around Nov. 1. Harvest numbers are high this year. During a Sept. 25 harvest, 2,500 salmon were removed from the weir for processing at a plant in Bear Lake.

"We've taken as many as 2,800 at one time. We have to get them out before we lose fish," Stevens said.

The harvest schedule tapers off to once a week in October. Stevens said anglers have also enjoyed a healthy "salmon run." There have been times during the run that Medusa Creek, located off Lake Shore Drive, has turned black with fish.

"This year, starting July 1, the salmon fishing has been fantastic. There have been 120 boats every morning and every evening fishing. And bringing money into town," Stevens said.

Dan Shearer of Battle Creek was in town Sept. 18 to fish the famed salmon run. He said he has made the trip to Charlevoix for four years. The fishing he said is fantastic.

"There were 10 a minute coming through this morning," he said smiling as he dragged in his quota of three fish for the day.

With the state only bringing in about $1,000 on the complicated fish deal, some may wonder why isn't the Department of Natural Resources allowing the salmon to spawn naturally?

The fish swim up the man-made Medusa Creek, which runs along the east side of the St. Mary Cement property, into Lake Michigan. The creek is made entirely from water pumped from the cement company's quarry. They then make their way into a man-made weir, their eggs and meat are harvested by humans and then new fingerlings from hatcheries are planted in the spring.

About 300,000 are planted in the weir in early May, where they stay for about three to four weeks before they are released into Lake Michigan. Stevens said this time is critical as the water is imprinted in the fish so they know where they will return at the end of their life cycle to reproduce.

Of those fish that are planted, about 200,000 of them are tagged in their nose so once they return, about three to five years after being planted, they can be examined. About 15 percent of the tagged fish are returned during the harvest and the local fisheries station spends the winter studying them.

"Last four to five years this creek has had the best return of any plant site in Michigan," Stevens said.

Stevens said the reasons man has intervened in a natural process are simple — the carnage of the dead fish on the shores of creeks would be disgusting and there would be a huge cost to the state to tackle the cleanup.

"It helps us out because these are fish leftover sportsmen don't catch. If we don't have this harvest 10,000 dead fish would be lying on banks of area creeks," Stevens said on Monday before removing all the fish from the weir for the second time this month.

"I don't think it's wrong, you would have a tremendous mess out there. And the money goes back into the salmon system (tagging program)."

To see the salmon run first hand, travel down Lake Shore Drive, along the shores of Lake Michigan bordering Charlevoix Area Hospital, until it comes to a turnaround. Park and enjoy the fascinating show the fish are performing.

LexaLite parent company enters sale agreement

BY JULIE WITTHOEF
EDITOR

Spectrus-LexaLite and its parent company, Summa Industries, are in the process of being sold to Habasit Holding AG, a privately held Swiss company, for $15 per share in cash.

"It will eliminate expense and work that's required by being public," said James Swartwout, chairman of the board and chief executive officer for Summa Industries. "Habasit will be a good parent corporation for Summa Industries. With financial strength, global reach, world-class manufacturing systems, and a culture of innovation and outstanding customer service, Habasit will support continuing growth and operating improvement at Summa."

According to Swartwout, Habasit and Summa entered into the merger agreement on Aug. 31. Summa stock holders are now being asked to tender their shares individually. If over 50 percent of them agree by Oct. 6, the end of the tender period, Habasit will take over the company.

As of Aug. 31, there were 3,907,127 Summa shares issued and outstanding.

Summa directors and executive officers hold 18.6 percent of those shares. Swartwout is the primary Summa executive shareholder with 402,882 shares. Summa Industries is based in Torrance, Calif.

In a press release, Swartwout states that under the terms of the agreement, Habasit acquired all of the outstanding common stock of Summa at a price of $15 per share. The buyout represents a 76 percent premium over the Aug. 31 closing price of $8.51 per share of Summa common stock on the Nasdaq Global Market, and a 62 percent premium to the average of the high and low prices of Summa common stock for the three month period ended Aug. 31.

In connection with the transaction, Habasit assumed approximately $21 million in existing indebtedness of Summa.

Currently, Summa Industries employs 650 people in six states — California, Michigan, Tennessee, Mississippi, Pennsylvania and Florida.

Summa purchased LexaLite, the Charlevoix-based plastic injection molding manufacturer, in 1996. Shortly thereafter, Summa purchased Plastics Specialties Inc. (PSI) and Genesta, two companies also involved in the plastics lighting industry. In 2001, the three merged into Spectrus Inc.

"Spectrus is the leading designer and manufacturer of lenses and diffusers for the commercial and industrial lighting industry," Swartwout explained.

When asked what the benefits and opportunities of the buyout might be for Charlevoix, Swartwout said, "I think it's neutral." He added that the ownership change, "Should have no effect on where Spectrus is operating."

The local Spectrus operation was recently expanded when the company's Taylor Road manufacturing facility was reopened.

This facility will house manufacturing operations of Genesta Inc., the Canadian arm of Spectrus. The move brought 20 new jobs to Charlevoix and resulted in the loss of 30 jobs at the Genesta plant in Guelph, Ontario, Canada.

Swartwout said the Genesta shift is unrelated to the Habasit purchase.

"Certain operations of Genesta are in process of moving to Charlevoix to gain efficiencies and better serve customers. It's totally unrelated to Habasit," he said.

Rayders defeat Ramblers 34-14 Bartling takes medalist honors

BY STEVE FOLEY
SPORTS WRITER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW

The only real disappointment for the Charlevoix Rayders and their fans may not have been what happened on the football field Friday, Sept. 22.

Well, maybe it wasn't a huge disappointment, but the dance following the game was canceled because of technical difficulties.

There weren't too many technical difficulties for the Rayders at Kipke Field however as they racked up 242 rushing yards and took advantage of some good early field position in defeating Boyne City, 34-14, in a Lake Michigan Conference football game.

The victory leaves the Rayders 4-1 overall and 2-1 in the league, one game behind co-leaders Traverse City St. Francis and Grayling. The Rayders play at much-improved Elk Rapids on Friday, Sept. 29.

After nine straight losing seasons, Elk Rapids is 4-1, 2-1 after a 25-0 victory over East Jordan on Friday. The Rayders have won nine straight over the Elks.

The win over Boyne City, 3-2, 1-2, kept the Rayders in the hunt for the league title, and it was another step toward the required six wins for a playoff berth. It also came against a team that has long been among the league's best teams, along with St. Francis and Grayling.

"It's a huge win for us," Charlevoix coach Don Jess said. "Boyne City is a great team and they're very well coached, but I thought our kids really came to play and it was a total team effort like it's been all season."

"I was really happy with the way everybody did their job on every play."

Senior quarterback Chris Waha finished 12-of-19 passing for 162 yards and three touchdowns to lead the Rayders by Boyne. Waha also kicked four extra points and field goals of 30 and 35 yards.

"He played really well," Boyne coach Dave Hills said of Waha. "Our inability to get quick pressure on him allowed him to find open receivers. We tried a couple of different things, but we just weren't able to get to him and make him move around.

"They have fast receivers as well and if you can get them the ball in space, they can make things happen."

"It's a great feeling, it's a big run," the 6-foot-3, 200-pound Waha said. "Our entire team played an awesome game and our offensive line was able to push and keep them off."

"Tonight, everything clicked. Our timing was there and we did what we wanted and kept moving the ball and kept scoring."

Waha's 35-yard field goal broke a 7-7 tie with 2 minutes, 17 seconds left in the first half and gave the Rayders the lead he kicked a 30-yard field goal to close the scoring with 2:28 left.

"In the second half, their size started to take an affect on us and we started grabbing for some things that maybe weren't there," Hills said. "They're a good football team, they're very well balanced and they can hurt you in a variety of ways once they get going."

"They had some momentum going into half-time and we just weren't able to get back on track and establish some momentum on our side."

Drew Klooster made 13 tackles to lead Charlevoix's defense, while Kyle Jones and Svenor added eight each, and Brad Cyr and Ray Jones had six apiece.

"It's so nice to have a defense like ours," Jess said. "Our linebackers and our secondary are fast and you mix that in with some tenacity, it's a great combination."

Boyne got its first TD on a 35-yard run by Robbie Jensen, which capped the game's opening drive, a 12-play, 65-yarder. Jensen finished with 108 yards on 19 carries.

Waha tied the game with a 22-yard TD run on fourth-down and 12.

Munson led the Rayder receivers with five catches for 70 yards, while Matt Kanine added

Bartling takes medalist honors

Charlevoix senior Kris Bartling shot 37 to capture medalist honors in a nine-hole Lake Michigan Conference boys' golf tournament at The Mallard on Sept. 20.

Elk Rapids, behind Andy Paulosky's 38, shot 156 to win the tournament, edging Traverse City St. Francis, which finished with 157. The Gladiators are ranked No. 1 in Division IV by the Michigan Interscholastic Golf Coaches Association.

Charlevoix finished third with 159, followed by Harbor Springs, 162; Kalkaska, 171; Grayling, 174; East Jordan, 186; and Boyne City, 192.

Charlevoix is ranked 12th in Division III.

Other Charlevoix scores: Chase Beatty, 39; Woody Nitchman, 41; Kyle Smith, 42; J.D. Speigl, 46; Tyler Munroe, 48.

Charlevoix played in the Lake Michigan Conference championship at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 26. Results from this match were not available by press time.

Lady Rayder basketball posts back-to-back wins

BY ALLEN TELGENHOF
SPORTS WRITER

The Charlevoix Rayders posted two road victories in girls' basketball last week, defeating St. Ignace, 64-38 and Harbor Springs, 52-30.

The Rayders have now won three straight after opening the season with a 1-2 record.

St. Ignace led Charlevoix 24-21 at the half before a furious rally put the game away for the Lady Rayders.

"We didn't play well at all in the first half," coach Keith Haske explained. "I was very disappointed at half-time."

Charlevoix outscored the Saints 20-6 in the third quarter and 23-8 in the final period.

"I have to blame that start on the Mackinac Bridge," Haske joked. "It seems like every time we take a team up there, we have problems. I've taken some great teams up there (to the Upper Peninsula) and we always have problems."

There must be a troll or something underneath that bridge."

Lori Zimmerman led the Rayders in scoring with 14 points and added four steals. Sasha Spenceley contributed 10 points and six steals, including a perfect 8 for 8 night from the free throw line. Robin Petzak had 10 points and three steals.

Against Harbor, the Rayders shook off another slow start, trailing 9-4 after one quarter. A 22-6 second quarter advantage for Charlevoix led to a 26-15 lead.

After leading 35-24 after three quarters, a 17-6 margin for the Rayders in the final quarter pushed the game out of reach.

Zimmerman again led the Rayder scorers with 10. Becca Madison scored nine and Petzak chipped in with eight. Bethany Pearson pulled down 10 rebounds.

Charlevoix (4-2 overall, 2-0 Lake Michigan Conference) hosted Ellsworth on Sept. 26. Results were unavailable at press time. The Rayders host Grayling in league action on Thursday, Sept. 28.

Run like the wind

Charlevoix's Alina Dhaseleer (above) won the girls' 11-12 grade race and the Rayders' Alex Buday was first in the boys' 9-10 race Saturday Sept. 23 at the Petoskey Cross Country Invitational at Camp Pet-O-Se-Ga. Dhaseleer's winning time was 20 minutes, 8 seconds. Buday's was 17:40. Led by Dhaseleer, Charlevoix took first in the 11-12 grade girls race with 37 points. Charlevoix was first overall in the girls' meet. The Rayders were fourth in the boys' meet.

Celebrating

Registration open for Life Space Crisis Intervention five-day workshop

Anyone who works with youth — administrators, counselors, general and special education teachers, law enforcement, court workers, transporters, and support staff — would benefit from an upcoming extensive workshop.

Life Space Crisis Intervention (LSCI) is a pragmatic approach to dealing with aggressive and problematic behaviors within the school and community setting. Based on the latest research, this training is designed to reach professionals skills for de-escalating problematic or dangerous behavior in school and the community.

The five-day workshop, offered by Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, will be held Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 26, 27. The sessions are held from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Char-Em ISD offices in Charlevoix.

LSCI offers adults who work with youth an array of tools to respond to a child/student's chronic pattern of self-defeating behavior.

According to LSCI co-trainer James Marquait, the foundation of LSCI is based on developing a caring relationship with the student/youth.

"It all stems from the belief that a student in crisis — regardless of how angry, depressed, fearful, or anxious — wants to tell his or her story and be understood and respected. Once this occurs, the opportunity for personal insights, new skills, and responsibility can follow," said Marquait, former principal of Char-Em ISD's Onon School, a center-based program for students with severe behavioral issues.

More than 250 people have been trained in LSCI throughout the ISD, said Nancy Koehler, a co-trainer for the workshop. Koehler has been an educator for more than 20 years with 11 years experience teaching severely emotionally impaired youth. She is currently a behavior specialist to local school districts through Char-Em ISD.

"Having a focus outside the superficial behaviors of troubled youth has given both staff and children a feeling of hope and severely limited the unending cycles of conflict that seem to surround many of these children," Marquait said.

To register for the workshop, call Julie Hersha at (231) 547-9947.

In memory of Bernie Holtzman

April 11, 1952 - September 27, 2002

We thought of you with love today, but that is nothing new. We thought about you yesterday and days before that too. We think of you in silence, we often speak your name. It broke our hearts to lose you. But you did not go alone for part of us went with you the day God called you home. Now all we have is memories and your picture in a frame. Your memory is our keepsake with which we'll never part. God has you in his keeping. We always have you in our hearts. Rest in peace, Bernie, rest in peace. God bless Bernie's soul.

Love and Hugs,
Brother, Bob Holtzman &
Mother Stella Holtzman Pearl

Petitioners seek signatures to oust township treasurer

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Petitioners looking to recall Eveline Township treasurer, Debra Jason, will hit the streets the week of Oct. 14 asking residents to support her removal.

"This township needs to get things straightened out and move forward," said Susan Parks, an Eveline Township resident and petition circulator. "We need a qualified person who is going to do the job correctly and efficiently."

At a Sept. 27 clarity hearing, the Charlevoix County Election Commission certified the recall petition wording submitted by Nancy Ferguson on Sept. 18 to the Charlevoix County Clerk's Office.

A group of at least 10 circulators now need 164 signatures supporting Jason's removal to get the request on the Feb. 27, 2007 election ballot.

"I feel pretty confident we can do that. It's important for our township that we do it," Ferguson said.

Two of the three election commission members were present at the clarity hearing — Charlevoix County Prosecutor, John Jarema, and 7th Probate Judge, Frederick Mulhauser, County clerk.

Debra Jason

Jane Brammon, was absent.

The wording makes several allegations concerning Jason including her failure to pay $276,000 from the township tax account to Charlevoix Public Schools in 2004, her decision to close a post office box in spite of an auditor's recommendation to keep it open, her failure to deposit checks totaling not less than $70,000 from the township tax account to the township general fund in 2006 and several others regarding the township's finances.

While the petition wording is packed with allegations, Jarema

The community will celebrate the completion of the Charlevoix Public Library at a grand opening celebration Oct. 7. The library is located at 220 West Clinton St.

Library hosts grand opening

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

"Pretty darn good," is how Valerie Meyerson, director of the Charlevoix Public Library, feels about the library's new 34,000 square-foot location.

The library is currently open to the public, with the grand opening ceremony occurring, 12:30 p.m., Oct. 7 at the new facility at 220 West Clinton St.

"Two years ago, it was hard to really see this point, but we've been working pretty (hard) toward this, so it's nice that we're here," Meyerson said. "We (library staff) were looking at a DVD, that we're looping during the grand opening of the whole construction project, and looking back at where the building was a year ago. I can't believe it ever looked like that."

She added, "It's remarkable." Staffing numbers and the operating budget have doubled since the move from the old library.

"Which is pretty good considering we've quadrupled our size," Meyerson said.

Election commission certifies Eveline recall petition wording said the election commission's only duty is to make sure it is clear to those who read it — determining its accuracy is not part of their responsibilities.

Kelly Chesney, spokesperson for the Michigan Department of State, said according to Article 2, Section 8 of the state constitution, "The board's role does not extend to the accuracy of statements. The clarity hearing makes everything a public record as to why the recall is underway."

Jason, who currently has two years remaining in his term, did not return calls by press time regarding the accuracy of the recall wording.

Parks said the reason for the recall is simple.

"We need a qualified person who is going to do the job correctly and efficiently," she said. "I wish she hadn't withdrawn her resignation. It would have saved everyone a lot of time, effort and money. And would have saved the township the unpleasantness of the recall. No one is anxious to do a recall."

Jason withdrew her resignation on Sept. 14, two days after agreeing to step down in the face of pressure from the township board and some residents.

Earlier, at that same Sept. 12 meeting, township clerk Don Hayden offered his resignation in writing, which the board accepted. On Monday, the board selected Michelle Johnson, one of seven candidates, to replace Hayden.

But Jason's verbal resignation wasn't enough to seal the deal. And she said in the days following she received "a great deal of support" to stay in office from many township residents.

This is the second recall initiative in Eyeline Township in just over three years. The last one culminated with a vote in May 2003. At that time, voters supported keeping former township supervisor Dan Skreczkoski and Hayden on board. Petitioners who worked to bring the issue to a vote claimed they wanted to unseat Skreczkoski and Hayden because they weren't "responsive to the people."

"I would hate to see this fail after all the effort. I feel this one is necessary and has more support," said Parks, who was also a petition circulator during the Skreczkoski/Hayden recall.

Oct. 7 grand opening at Charlevoix Public Library

Meyerson urged the entire community to attend the grand opening, where there will be live music, a ribbon cutting ceremony, local veterans will present a flag, an elder from a local Indian tribe will bless the building and there will even be a treasure hunt for the kids.

"Once we open (approximately 1 p.m.), we'll be doing different demonstrations of the different technology," she said. "We have extended programming, more technology training, meeting and conference room space, quiet reading space, brand new music collections, and we have expanded all of our other collections. We have a fire place in our periodical room, a special area for teens, we have vending machines and in the kids area, we have a specialty puppet stage and a story phone."

Up to eight people can simultaneously call 237-READ (7323) from anywhere or pick up a story phone and listen in at the library to be treated to a different children's story each week.

Other new programs include short classes on starting an e-mail account, using the library's catalog and using eBay.

"Then we'll have the college (North Central Michigan College) coming in and doing more in-depth classes on word processing and basic computing classes," Meyerson said.

Visitors to the new library will be welcomed by the children's garden which features a large kaleidoscope and a pondless waterfall.

A cart for donations of books to the library is in the Mason St. lobby of the new building. The library's collection includes 8,000 new books.

Meyerson, who has been with the library for five years, said she already feels at home in Charlevoix's Goliath warehouse of information.

"I hope everybody comes and finds something they want," she said. "If they think we're not meeting their needs and we don't have something they want, they just need to ask."

The Charlevoix Public Library Board recently went into closed session to discuss the sale of the 109 Clinton St. property. To date, two entities have bid on the property.

"That's going along pretty well," Meyerson said of the potential sale of the building. "We're awaiting a callback from the school."

Meyerson said, if all goes right, the property could be sold by the end of this year.

Maturing with the library building

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

The fire is lit in the fireplace and the gentle gurgle of bubbles can be heard in the pond. A fair-haired child is lifted from the pond as he is trying to acquire his catch of the day — a fish the color of sunset escapes from his eager little fingers. Class is about to start and the teacher has picked one of his favorite books. All is quiet and the pitter patter of little feet are now carefully tucked under their bottoms and they sit patiently waiting to hear a story from the person they regard so highly — their kindergarten teacher.

The story is over and now it's outside to play and take in the sun, the northern Michigan sky, and look for little creatures scurrying among the rocks and trees. A game of marbles begins and the fair-haired lad grabs his bag of colored glass and joins his friends on the far corner of the building. Intent in his game he looks up occasionally so as not to miss the signal that recess is over and class is about to begin.

A whistle cuts into the air and while gathering his things he takes a quick glance upwards giving in one last view of the homes seated along the street that faces the security of his corner. He wondered about the people who inhabit them and what it would be like to live in a stately home such as those that quietly grace this shaded neighborhood.

Thirty years pass and the young man, Lyle Gennett, is living in one of the homes he admired as a small child playing marbles with his friends on that very corner of the building. He's married now and with two daughters. Time quickly passes and it's time to watch the girls wave good-bye and wish them luck as they venture forth into the realm of middle school.

Fall turns to winter and the schools track area is flooded with water by men who look older than their years with ice forming on their hats and eyelashes. Skating season has begun under the stars in an area lit by a lone telephone pole that seems to heckon the area residents to take part in the activity below. The snow flakes drift around the girls as they swing their heads back to catch them on their tongues while they twirl.

Spring would arrive and the baseballs flew at great heights. If this white orb made it over the fence the sounds of children cheering could be heard echoing off the brick walls encouraging another home run. Spring faded into summer and practice would begin for another season of recreational softball. Parents would come and go, checking in on the plays and visiting with other parents whose children had joined the team. Fall returned and soon structures resembling farm equipment encased with tissue paper would line the streets for another homecoming parade.

Then, one day the building would close its doors and all would be quiet. The bustling street became dark and silent. An occasional skateboarder would peek in the windows and wonder what was inside this large ominous building. It sat quiet for what seemed a very long time.

On a cool and sunlit morning the neighborhood was awakened by equipment bright and yellow making loud noises and letting dust plumes fly high in the air. This stately building was left naked for the world to see its many notes and murals painted in the caverns and corners making up its very existence. The crews were busy washing and preening her for a special day. The fair-haired lad, who played marbles outside in the corner, now 50 years later, would look in astonishment at this wonderful building. It had taken on a new life, looking much as he remembered it in his youth.

The structure stands tall and proud and better than ever. It is no longer a school but still a place providing education for the entire community — a library.

Come and celebrate the opening of this beautiful historic building as she opens her doors and welcomes you. This is truly a place where your imagination takes flight. The official grand opening is at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 7 at 220 West Clinton St.

Public libraries are family friendly

BEHIND THE NEWS

Edith Gilbert

Oh, the times. Oh, the mores. I couldn't believe my ears, but this conversation really took place on Bridge Street. A friend told me about a complaint from a couple of visitors to our beautiful new Charlevoix library. It seems they objected to a sign stating "Adult Reading Room" because they thought this meant visitors could check out pornographic literature.

Since when has the word "adult" taken on this veiled new meaning? Yes, I know there are Adult Book Stores, but there are also Adult Day Care Centers.

Looking up the word "adult" in the dictionary, I learned it means, "Having arrived at maturity or attained full size or strength, an adult age." Why then should adult literature be confused with erotic literature? And what labels do these people suggest be given instead to the children's reading room, the young adult reading room, and the adult reading room?

Labeling reading rooms in libraries today seems just as difficult as labeling television programs. For example CBS feels it has the right to tell parents they should be responsible for the raunchy language that is broadcast into their living rooms. The network's participation in a $300 million industry ad campaign to teach parents about "parental controls" is even more proof of how out of touch CBS is with American families, according to the Parents Television Council. In a lawsuit, CBS currently thinks it has the "right" to air the F and

S words on the public airwaves and flaunt any decency laws. No wonder standards have become blurred. Is what is acceptable on the air, acceptable in the library? In your home? Do all families have the same standards?

If the cable industry really wants to give parents "complete control" over their televisions, they should endorse the one solution that will give parents that control — cable choice. The cable industry is scrambling now to clean up its act by spending hundreds of millions of dollars on this advertising campaign. But they aren't cleaning up anything. They want parents to do all the work it's the same old song and dance, just repackaged in commercial form.

For all those whose minds seem to be in the gutter, let me re-iterate that all public libraries are family friendly, do not stock pornographic literature and do their best to control what is available on the Internet. The fight to control smut on the Internet is being fought now in Congress and these hills deserve our support.

NO-KILL SHELTER?

Editor:
The question is simple and we are asked it nearly every day. "Are you (Charlevoix County Humane Society) a no-kill shelter?" The answer is not so simple, there's no easy "yes" or "no."

We do not have a set time limit for any animal in our care. As long as their health, behavior and temperament remain stable they have a place with us. The responsibility we have to the animals in our care and to the public can be enormous. The question we ask is, "If the temperament, behavior or health (mental or physical) make this animal an unlikely pet to be adopted should they be made to suffer in a cage?"

Animals require more than just food, water and shelter. Their need for affection and companionship is as real as our own. Even the best efforts of staff and volunteers can not change the reality that some animals can not be kennelled. To have them become depressed or aggressive because of a life sentence of confinement seems less than humane.

Who is responsible for the more than 13 million animals that are euthanized in shelters nationwide? Certainly not the shelter staff, all of whom have a love of animals or they wouldn't be doing such stressful work. The problem stems from the public perception of pets as disposable and the inability of people to make a lifetime commitment to animals they bring into their homes. Un-spayed and un-neutered animals add to the animal population. Untrained animals become victims of their own bad behavior. Lastly, there are the puppy mills and backyard breeders whose main aim is to make a few extra dollars and take no other interest in the lives they have helped create once the money has changed hands.

Please do not criticize caring shelter staff for doing what they must. Remember that the public brings these "disposable animals" to the shelter's doorsteps because they will not, or can not, accept the responsibility for the care of their companion animals.

COA CHANGES

Editor:
The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging has lots of exciting new changes coming your way in October. We have been exploring ways to better improve meal delivery, quality and temperatures.

We are excited to announce that we have reached a working agreement with Charlevoix Senior Center and its staff so that they will begin providing meals both at their center and delivered in your home if you live in the Charlevoix area. Presently, both the Commission on Aging and the Charlevoix Senior Center are delivering meals in the Charlevoix area. Starting this month, participants will receive meals delivered by the Charlevoix Senior Center and at the same time benefit from the services provided by the Commission on Aging.

Charlevoix Senior Center meal participants will be asked to complete what is called a NAPIS reporting form, (East Jordan and Boyne Area centers are already doing this), this is a one-time form that the employees at the center will help you fill out and it collects confidential, statistical information about your age, sex, etc. For those receiving home delivered meals under this program, a nurse will come and help you fill out the information and also help explain other services that you might be eligible for. These requirements are part of the Area Agency on Aging of Northwest Michigan and our compliance is necessary to receive not only state reimbursement but also Federal USDA or now called NSIP funding for every meal that is served. This doesn't pay for the cost of the entire meal, but helps subsidize the taxpayer millage monies along with your continued contributions for the nutrition programs that we provide throughout the county. If you complete the paperwork and qualify for eligible meals you will not be charged for your meals but asked to contribute a donation of $2 for home delivered meals and $2 (under 60 is $4) for senior center meals at East Jordan and Boyne Area. Charlevoix Senior Center is asking for a $3 contribution for 60 and over and $4.50 if under 60 at their center because they serve soup and salad daily. If you can't afford to make a donation you will still receive a meal.

Secondly, our new kitchen at the Boyne Area Senior Center will be fully functional and ready to operate this month and we will be preparing meals for the Boyne Area seniors at the center and also delivering them from there to the Boyne Area Meals on Wheels participants. Boyne Area seniors are very excited to welcome an additional cook to their center. Andy Colyer, who has been working at the Charlevoix Senior Center, will be moving to the new Boyne Area Senior Center and will receive help from our Kitchen staff to provide hot, fresh, home-cooked meals. We are going to continue to cook meals from the East Jordan Senior Center and deliver to East Jordan area in home meal participants from the East Jordan Center.

We appreciate everyone's hard work and efforts in helping us see our changes become successes and are optimistic that this plan will work. Thank you all for your support and cooperation, we hope you enjoy the meals and appreciate your participation with the Commission on Aging and help from all of the senior centers in the county.

Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra presents Mozart performances

The Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra opens its 2006-2007 concert season with "Celebrating Mozart," all-Mozart performances in recognition of the 250th anniversary of Mozart's birth.

New library promotes literacy from tots to teens

KIDS CORNER

Julie Witthoef

One thing parents have in common is the desire for their children to succeed.

At the heart of a child's success is literacy. For many, this word translates to one's ability to read. But there's a lot more to it.

Literacy is the basis of learning and includes a child's use of language as well as reading and writing skills.

These abilities are taught in school but parents are truly a child's best teacher. Most parents probably stopped reading there — how can I work instructor into my already full-time duties?

The answer is you may already be doing this. From counting apples at the grocery store, to curling up with a book at night, you are encouraging your child to explore the wonders of reading, writing and mathematics.

But, as we all know, there are plenty of things vying for your child's learning time and keeping learning interesting and exciting can be our greatest challenge.

Well, on Sept. 25, that mountain became a mole hill when the new Charlevoix Public Library opened its doors at 220 West Clinton St. with oodles of resources for parents and children.

The following is an age specific list of tools available at the library to assist parents in navigating the exciting new facility.

OBITUARY

Clement Olach:

Feb. 4, 1920 - Sept. 30, 2006

Clement Frank Olach, 86, a Charlevoix native, went to be with the Lord on Saturday, Sept. 30.

Born on Feb. 4, 1920, he was the son of Edward and Marie (Prekale) Olach. The Rite of Christian Burial took place on Tuesday, Oct. 3 at St. Mary Church.

A veteran of the Army Air Force during World War II, Clem's activities included involvement in the VFW, Knights of Columbus, Boy Scouts, Charlevoix City Council and the Planning and Zoning Committee, Telephone Pioneers, Charlevoix Senior Center, Special Olympics, Meals on Wheels and St. Mary Parish.

Clem married Patricia C. Chambers on Nov. 27, 1946 in St. Mary Church, Charlevoix. He married Betty June Ryan on Dec. 28, 1993 at St. Mary Church.

Clem was preceded in death by his first wife of 44 years, Patricia, sons Edward P. Olach and Frank G. Olach, and granddaughter Julie M. Brewster. He is survived by his wife Betty June (Ryan); daughters Jeanie M. Olach and Sheila

E. Olach of Grand Rapids, and Theresa C. Trevorow of Owosso; seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren; sister Edith (Olach) Close of Charlevoix; brother and sister-in-law Vincent and Jan Olach of Ellsworth; many nieces and nephews; stepchildren James Ryan, Cathleen (Greg) Schmitz, Michelle Ryan Betty Jean (David) Ring, and Michael (Amelia) Ryan.

Clem leaves a legacy of a great sense of humor and a powerful faith expressed in his own words. "I hope that before I die, I will have the chance in some way to pay back for all the time I have spent on this earth. For I know I shall pass through this world just once. Any good that I can do, or any kindness that I can show another human being, let me do it now, and not defer it. For I may never have another chance. For I shall not pass this way again. The good Lord put me here for a reason. The times I feel the best is when I am helping someone else."

Those desiring an expression of sympathy may consider St. Mary School.

Car accident claims life of Petoskey man

At approximately 9:57 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 2, 20-year-old Robert Kuebler of Petoskey crossed the center line of U.S. 31 a quarter mile east of Burgess Road and slammed his Chevy truck head-on into a semi driven by 62-year-old John Roy of Brimley.

The semi's fuel tank exploded, engulfing the big rig in flames. The pickup rolled, forcing the Charlevoix City Fire Department to remove Kuebler using the Jaws of Life. He was pronounced dead at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey.

After being briefly trapped, Roy freed himself from his semi, was transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital and treated for an injured ankle before release.

The Charlevoix City Police, Michigan State Police and Motor Carrier Division, Charlevoix County Road Commission and Charlevoix Township Fire Department assisted the Sheriff's office at the scene.

The crash remains under investigation by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office.

Change a flat?

I can do that!

Northwestern Bank customer Shelly Sutton had lots of errands to run one morning, including a trip to our office. But she was in for a rather significant run of bad luck. The first flat tire didn't stop her. Neither did breaking a heel. But the second flat tire of the day did. Needless to say, Shelly was having a bad day.

Not knowing who to call, she turned to Northwestern Bank. A true "I can do that!" moment was in the making. Cory VanBrocklin and Lynn Peoples were at her side within ten minutes. They changed the flat right in the parking lot and got Shelly on her way within half an hour.

We could never plan for a situation like this, but with employees like Cory and Lynn, maybe we don't need to. This was "I can do that!" in action.

The Petoskey News-Review and Charlevoix Courier's advertising departments are thrilled with the awards. Petoskey News-Review advertising director, Christy Bur, believes the advertising department's future may be even more promising.

"Beginning today (Monday, Oct. 2), we are combining our sales staff and graphic design department into sales teams," Bur said. "Now each of our customers will have an entire team working for them. This process will offer the designers the opportunity to work closer with the clients to create even more award-winning ads next year."

Meagan is the daughter of Tracy and Christine Sell. She is on the tennis team as a player and secretary and is secretary and treasurer for the National Honor Society and for the senior class as well as participating with the Ragamuffin Theater group and 11th Hour Outreach Ministries.

Local man makes living from artistic flair

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

A mild-mannered local man is crafting artistic creations using fire and steel on the southside of Charlevoix.

Ed Fralick's motto, "I can fix anything but a broken heart and build anything I desire," may seem like a boastful sound bite until you discover that he has spent a lifetime building cars, motorcycles, tools and one of a kind sculptures.

"I've done welding all my life, and my father was a tool and die maker, so we made all our own tools. I played around with my dad's machine shop. I can remember getting an old wooden pop crate, a Pepsi crate in fact and he had a lathe and I would stand on that Pepsi crate to run that lathe because I wasn't tall enough," he said. "I built hotrods since I was 14 years old."

He added, "My grandkids are doing that now. My one grandkid comes in here and he just loves to build."

As he spoke, Fralick pointed to a solid steel spider the size of a football which his granddaughter created.

"She made it for a school project when she was 6. She did all the welding," he said. "They like to come in here and do that type of thing and I encourage it."

The soft-spoken grandfatherly type excused himself for several moments during the interview to talk with a man and a woman from out of town who admired Fralick's sculpture of a man on a motorcycle that can be seen from U.S. 31.

Pretty soon the tattooed customer, who identified himself as a Harley-Davidson owner, his wife and Fralick were talking motorcycle festivals and museums.

When the couple left, Fralick said many people stop in to view and buy his merchandise after they see some of his sculptures from the road.

"I'm booked into next year," he said.

While he never spent any time working in clay, pastels, oils or charcoal, Fralick has always created.

"I really consider most everything I built, go-carts, hot rods or a hat rack or whatever, a piece of art. I just don't know, but for some reason I have the ability to make things flow together and look proper," he said. "If I can make everything that's in my head, I'll live to be 200-300 years old — I'm building constantly. My brother and I built a boat when we were very young and we used to put it on our bicycles and wheel it down to wherever and put it in the lake and go fishing."

Fralick then wheeled a solid steel scooter from what appeared to be the 18th Century out from under a workbench.

"My granddaughter came up one time and she had one of those scooters. I wanted to go downtown with her and so I got up early in the morning and I made this scooter and I made it in one day," he said. "We went downtown and a bunch of people tried to buy it from me, they said, 'Where'd you get that?'"

Fralick then pointed to a low-lying sculpture the size of a car tire.

"My turtle's got a whale's tooth for a tail that I got in Alaska 30 years ago — I finally found a place for it," he said. "I just like to build things that nobody else built before."

original gate outward and then I did a small gate up near the building," he said. "This year they're having me do more fencing on the northside of the depot and it's a continuation of one side."

Fralick hopes to have the 400-pound sections totaling 102-feet of Depot fencing done by the end of September.

"I've got so many other projects, I've got to get her done," he said.

Of all the things he's built, Fralick is most proud of a fence he constructed which sported two life-size, three-dimensional bucks.

"I put two of these bucks into the gate along with thistle, cattails, and then I did a story about their family. It was quite the masterpiece, it was also quite the long winter project," he said. "The deer were facing each other, and when you closed the gate, I designed it where the horns locked together so it was like they were fighting."

While he has no plans to retire, the artist does plan to move his shop eventually.

"If I want to go fishing, I'll go fishing and if I want to work on a sculpture, I'll do that," he said. "I'm getting up there in age and I've had a couple heart attacks and you don't know how long your life is. You don't know when it's going to end, so I'm planning for the future."

But, he added, "I'll never stop building."

Courier Crisp Delivery program benefits both readers and advertisers

It's that time of year, honey crisp apples are ripening and there's a new cool bite to the air — the Charlevoix Courier is following suit with a Crisp Delivery Program.

The Charlevoix Courier staff is working to bring local subscribers the latest copy of the paper, on its Wednesday publication date.

In response to reader concerns that the paper is arriving on Thursdays to their home in Charlevoix, we have changed our press time from Wednesday mornings to Tuesdays.

This means that as of Oct. 11, news submissions and advertisements have to be entered with the Courier staff by noon on Friday for the following Wednesday paper.

While some adjustments will need to be made, the new press time brings numerous benefits to advertisers and readers.

The paper will be delivered late Tuesday afternoon which means advertisers will now be able to reach the in-town, core market earlier. And subscribers, who may have in the past missed Wednesday events or important obituary information, will soon find satisfaction in the paper's delivery date matching its date-line.

For more information about the Charlevoix Courier's new Crisp Delivery Program, contact advertising manager, Kim Taylor or editor, Julie Witthoef at (231) 547-6558 or by e-mail at news@charlevoixcourier.com.

U.S. 31 road construction will continue through Monday, Oct. 9

Rise Rasch, manager of the Michigan Department of Transportation's Traverse City service center, said road crews will be sealing cracks along portions of U.S. 31 outside Charlevoix to Townline Road until Monday, Oct. 9.

Lanes have been reduced to one for travelers, causing some delays.

Crews can only work during daylight hours and must have the repairs completed within six working days from the Oct. 2 commencement.

After catching three perch Johnston said, "It just doesn't get any better than this."

Charlevoix blues band to compete in Memphis

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

A new face on the northern Michigan blues scene has claimed a chance to compete for the coveted International Blues Challenge crown.

Charlie's Root Fusion, a Charlevoix-based high energy blues band which was formed in June, took first place Sept. 17 in the 2006 Blues Challenge presented by the Mid-North Michigan Blues Society and the Farm House Music Organization at Streeters in Traverse City.

The win qualifies them for the world-renowned International Blues Challenge which will take place Feb. 1-3, 2007 at 13 clubs on Beale Street in Memphis, Tenn.

The challenge format included each of the six bands playing 20-minute sets. Bands included Charlie's Root Fusion and Mojo and the Boogieband from Charlevoix, as well as Code Blues of Traverse City, Bacon and Eggs of Interlochen, Matt Bessie Blues Band of Saginaw, and Blues Abusers of Oscoda.

Five judges using scoring criteria established by The Blues Foundation, coordinators of the International Blues Challenge, picked Charlie's Root Fusion.

"Charlie and his band had all the right moves. The performance was electrifying — that set them apart. They stepped up for the occasion," said Steven Soviak, emcee for the Mid-North Michigan Blues Society challenge and a society founder and former chairman.

This extra effort and unique fusion among the band members is what Charlie Witthoft, the band's front man and harmonica player, said will bring his band success at the upcoming International Blues Challenge and on local stages.

Last year, 96 bands competed at the international event. According to information posted on the International Blues Challenge Web site, www.blues.org, a similar turnout is expected this year.

Soviak said Charlie's Root Fusion has a good chance of making it to the finals.

"I think it's the performance given at that time that impresses or doesn't impress them (the judges). They're looking for something new, something that knocks their socks off. And he literally did knock his socks off, or at least his shoes," Soviak said laughing as he remembered Witthoft literally losing a shoe during an animated harmonica solo.

The first place winner at the international challenge will take home $1,500 in cash, promotional materials and a host of high profile gigs including a performance schedule aboard the Legendary Blues Cruise.

Another possible win is the Albert King Award which is given to the most promising guitarist among the acts competing in band division finals Saturday night, Feb. 3 at the famed Orpheum Theater in Memphis. The award winner will take home a Flying V Gibson Guitar.

"That guitar player absolutely has a chance (of winning the win Albert King Award). The kid's a real dynamo," Soviak said.

The "dynamo" is 28-year-old Jeremy Biggerstaff of Charlevoix.

"I would be honored immensely by something like that. But I wouldn't think about it much (before performing)," Biggerstaff said.

Biggerstaff said the Root Fusion edge is wrapped up in the friendships and mutual respect among the band's members — himself, Witthoft, drummer Fritz VonValtier and bass player Jamie Balousek.

"We all love the music. It's really easy for us all to be on the same page. Have them like brothers," he said of his band mates. "If they are looking for something fresh, we have our own style and sound."

While this is Charlie's Root Fusion's first appearance at the International Blues Challenge in Memphis, Tenn., Witthoft, has been down this road before.

In 2003, he traveled there with his former band members in Mojo and the Boogieband. At that time, the six-piece blues band placed in the top eight of the best unsigned blues bands in the world.

Witthoft said he was pleased with the band's success and feels his new sound has an even greater chance of taking first place.

Root Fusion will pave the road to Memphis with upcoming fundraisers.

The band will perform this Friday and Saturday at Northern Lights Recreation, located at 8865 M-119 in Harbor Springs.

DME downsizes: 35 employees let go

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Employees of Charlevoix's D-M-E were told Monday, Sept. 25, that 35 of them would likely be fired by the end of the year.

The 51-year-old facility located at 6342 Ferry Avenue is a subsidiary of Milacron Inc. of Cincinnati, Ohio. One of six operations in Michigan, D-M-E employs 45 people who produce tooling components for the plastic injection molding industry.

"I personally notified them... I think that it was probably a surprise to most of them. But, nobody will receive less than 60 days notice," said David Lawrence, president of Global Mold Technologies of Madison Heights, which encompasses several companies including D-M-E. "It was not an overnight decision."

The longest serving employee to be fired had 30 years with the company. Workers will receive a severance package and career transition assistance.

"We're going to focus the remainder of employees at that plant on specialty products — we're primarily focusing our manufacturing efforts globally," Lawrence said.

In a Sept. 25 press release, Lawrence said the reduction in employees was a difficult decision for everyone involved.

"But to ensure D-M-E remains a market leader, we have to be strategic about which products we manufacture ourselves and which we source from other providers," he stated. "A number of the standard products manufactured in Charlevoix have reached commodity status. When products can be made elsewhere with the same reliability at less cost, it makes strategic sense for us to focus our manufacturing resources on higher-value products."

Charlevoix mayor, Norman L. Carlson, was surprised at the news.

"Wow. I guess it's good a thing that LexaLite's here and opening a new division so hopefully it can help pick up some of those workers," he said. "We'll continue to work on getting more industry in Charlevoix — I hope that it all works out for the best."

According to Lawrence, D-M-E will focus on manufacturing specialty products in 2007 as well as being a warehouse and distribution center.

"The repurposing of Charlevoix reflects parent company Milacron's and D-M-E's shift to a more strategic approach to manufacturing and distribution," he stated. "It is one of many similar moves in a broader restructuring that includes D-M-E and Milacron plastics businesses in both North America and Europe."

Lawrence said, though Milacron's consolidated operations are not profiting, "We've had double-digit growth outside the U.S., primarily in Asia. D-

M-E is still the most recognized name in plastics in the world."

An Aug. 25 press release on Milacron's Web site stated, "(Milacron) has been notified by the New York Stock Exchange that it has fallen below the NYSE's continued listing standard relating to minimum share price. This standard requires that a company's common stock trade at a minimum average closing share price of $1 during any consecutive 30-day trading period."

The company has six months from the time of notification to comply or face removal from the NYSE list, though Milacron's stock could still be traded.

"(Milacron) intends to remedy this non-compliance and is pursuing various solutions to satisfy the $1 per-share minimum price condition, including the completion of restructuring initiatives in 2006, which are expected to generate $15 million in annualized benefits and help Milacron achieve its objective of returning to profitability in 2007," the release stated.

Lawrence emphasized the restructuring at Charlevoix D-M-

E and Milacron's scramble to meet NYSE guidelines are two separate actions.

"This action is primarily a part of a restructuring plan we're putting into place," he said.

As of 10:06 a.m., Sept. 29, Milacron's stock (MZ) was worth 87 cents a share.

While none of Milacron's other companies are experiencing such drastic restructuring, Lawrence said, "We periodically review capacity."

D-M-E's policy is to offer job openings at other plants to qualified, displaced employees.

"We're not sure how many, if any, job openings will be available," he said. "But, we will communicate those openings, if there are any, to those impacted by this decision."

Rayder golf wins Lake Michigan Conference title

Potential is one thing. Carrying it out, that's another.

Jim Glynn

J. D. Speigl shot 79 Tuesday to lead Charlevoix to first place in the Lake Michigan Conference boys' golf tournament at Antm Dells. The Rayders finished the 18-hole event with a 328 team score, one shot better than runner-up Traverse City St. Francis.

St. Francis, which is ranked No. 1 in the Division IV state coaches poll, won the overall league championship, while Charlevoix was second, Harbor Springs third, and Elk Rapids, fourth. The overall league standings are based on Tuesday's results, and results from season-long tournaments.

"I'm tickled," Charlevoix coach Jim Glynn said. "The kids played super."

Elk Rapids, playing on its home course, shot 330 to place third in the tournament, followed by Harbor Springs, 336; Kalkaska, 355; Grayling, 368; Boyne City, 392; and East Jordan, 399.

Speigl's 79 was his best 18-hole round of the season, while teammate Kris Bartling shot 80, Tyler Munroe shot 84, Woody Nitchman shot 85, Chase Beatty shot 91, and Kyle Smith shot 93.

"J.D. Speigl... played outstanding," Glynn said. "Kris Bartling had an outstanding match. Tyler Munroe, who's been my sixth man, came in and kind of won it for us with that 84."

"I'm really proud of the team. Really good effort moving on to districts and regionals. We end on a positive note, upbeat and with a lot of confidence."

The Rayders will partake in the Division III regional on Thursday, Oct. 5, at Manistee National. The top six teams advance to the state finals in East Lansing.

Rayder girls' basketball win two on home court

BY ALLEN TELGENHOF
SPORTS WRITER

The Charlevoix Rayders rolled to two more victories last week, defeating Grayling, 66-18 and Ellsworth, 59-26. Charlevoix is now 6-2 overall and a perfect 3-0 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

The Rayders are tied for first in the league with Boyne City.

"It was a really good week for us," coach Keith Haske said. "We took a big step forward heading into the meat of our conference schedule. I was very encouraged."

A 27-0 first quarter put the game away early against conference foe Grayling. Haske emptied the bench with all 15 players seeing action in the first period.

"We passed the ball real well," Haske noted. "We got some very good looks at the basket."

Tammy Potter led a balanced Rayder effort with 12 points.

Kandis Way scored 11.

Another fast start was the story against non-conference opponent Ellsworth. Charlevoix led 15-4 after one quarter of play and 26-6 at the half en route to the easy win.

"Our defense played well," Haske commented. "They (Ellsworth) are a pretty good team but we held their star scoreless in the first half. Defense was really the key to the game."

Bethany Pearson was the game's leading scorer with 12 points. She also contributed four rebounds and three steals. Desi Faust had 11 points.

The Rayders play two conference road games this week, at Traverse City St. Francis and Kalkaska.

Charlevoix will look to avenge a loss last season at Kalkaska. The Blazers are 4-1 in the league and return all but one starter from last season.

Rayder football improves to 5-1

Charlevoix coach Don Jess issued two challenges to his offense.

Both were met with affirmative answers, and the Rayders took another step toward clinching their second straight playoff berth Friday, Sept. 29 with a 21-8 Lake Michigan Conference football win over improved Elk Rapids.

Charlevoix scored on its first drive, then responded when the Elks climbed back within a score in the third quarter to improve to 5-1 overall, 3-1 in the league. Elk Rapids is 4-2, 2-2.

"We hadn't scored on our opening drive all season and that was kind of our goal heading in," Jess said. "It was a pretty hostile environment and the kids really pulled through and did what they had to do."

Quarterback Chris Waha tossed a 7-yard touchdown pass to Daron Munson and a 4-yarder to Nate Golovich to give Charlevoix a 13-0 half-time lead.

Elk Rapids sliced its deficit to 13-8 when Charlie Smith capped the opening drive of the second half with a 1-yard TD run and Levi Martin ran for the two-point conversion.

Then, the Rayders responded. They marched 69 yards and seized command as Matt Kanine scored on a 4-yard run and Dan Swenor ran for the conversion to extend the lead to 21-8.

"After Elk Rapids scored, we challenged our offensive line to take care of the game and they just stepped up," Jess said, mentioning the group by name: center Zach Rankl, guards Pat Russell, Trevor Cole and Danny Waldron, and tackles Drew Klooster and Ray Jones, who paved the way to 251 yards rushing on the night.

"The offensive line did a great job," Jess said. "We controlled the ball pretty much most of the game."

Kyle Jones was Charlevoix's top runner with 65 yards on 15 carries. Waha threw for 104 yards on 7-of-15 passing, and Munson finished with 100 yards on six receptions.

Klooster led Charlevoix's defense with 17 tackles, while Waha had 11, Kanine added eight, and Chris Jones had an interception.

Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee awards $25,000 in grants

An arts festival, substance abuse prevention, instrumental music, a reading-readiness initiative, and environmental education are just a few of the area programs that will benefit from grants recently announced by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee (YAC).

Members of the Youth Advisory Committee, who represent high schools throughout the county, awarded nine grants totaling nearly $25,000 after reviewing funding requests earlier this year.

Organizations chosen to receive YAC grants and the amount of the awards include:

- BASES, Teen Center, $6,200 to continue a successful Recovery High program to combat substance abuse.

- Challenge Mountain of Walloon Lake, $2,600 for cameras and framing equipment for a summer wildlife photography program.

- Crooked Tree Arts Center, $2,000 to support the 2006 VSA Spring Arts Festival; $3,000 in scholarships to help Charlevoix County students participate in the stringed instrument program.

- MSU Extension, $3,200 to provide scholarships for at-risk youth to attend a variety of youth programs.

- Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency, $425 to support the Reading is Fundamental preschool reading-readiness program.

- Planned Parenthood of Northern Michigan, $1,000 for Charlevoix County teen focus group activities.

- SEE-North, $3,000 to support the Quest outdoor environmental education program.

- Wagbo Peace Center, $2,000 to support an ongoing farm, art and nature experience for East Jordan teens.

With these recent grants, the Youth Advisory Committee's grant making total exceeds $528,000 since it began distributing grants to benefit young people in 1994. Money for grant making comes from a special endowment called the Charlevoix County Youth Fund held by the community foundation. The fund was spearheaded with financial support from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and now has assets of more than $1 million.

Members of the Community Foundation Youth Advisory Committee are Brittany Crandall, Maeve Green and Brenna Green from Beaver Island; Cory Mills, Zachera Wollenberg and Tyler Urman from Boyne City; Terra Wasylewski, Darryl Kowalski and Hunter Brisson from Boyne Falls; Zita Anderson, Dustin Dibble and Matt Teuscher from Charlevoix; Paul Schneider, Sierra Roberts and Courtney Jackson from East Jordan.

Police have arrested a Charlevoix County man who is a registered sex offender on new charges of sexual assault involving a young girl.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater said deputies from his office arrested Randall Scott Hamilton, 54, of Hayes Township after family members brought him to the sheriff's office late Sept. 19 to turn himself in to police.

Police said Hamilton admitted that he had sexually touched the girl on several occasions since May of this year.

Charlevoix County Chief Assistant Prosecutor Shaynee

Fanara authorized three counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct (person under 13). The charge is punishable by up to life in prison. Hamilton also faces a habitual offender, second offense sentencing enhancement. Usually the enhancement increases the maximum penalty by one-and-a-half times. In this case, if Hamilton is convicted, it would increase the maximum sentence he could face under the state's sentencing guidelines.

Fanara said the girl first came to her parents with the allegations, who then confronted Hamilton. She said police interviewed the girl who confirmed the statements allegedly made by Hamilton.

On Tuesday, Sept. 26, Hamilton waived his preliminary examination in the case and it was bound over to circuit court for further action.

In 1986 Hamilton was sentenced to a term of eight to 15 years in prison on a first degree criminal sexual conduct charge, also out of Charlevoix County. Fanara said that case did not involve a child. He also pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery in Branch County in 1994 in a case that was originally charged as a sexual assault, Fanara said.

Hamilton remains lodged in the Charlevoix County Jail in lieu of a $100,000 bond.

Apple lovers converge on Charlevoix

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Pie, sauce, jellies and jams — it's the 27th Annual Apple Festival down in East Park.

From 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 13 and 14 and Sunday, Oct. 15, apple lovers will be delighted by more than 30 varieties including Spartan, Empire, Gala, Spy, Honeycrisp, Macintosh, Red and Golden delicious, Jonagold, Crispin and Jonamac.

"It's a very, very popular event," said Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce president, Jacqueline Merta. "It is enjoyed by both people who live here, and all of our visitors and the people who make Charlevoix their second home who make it a point to return on Apple Festival."

Thousands of folks from far and near enjoyed the 2005 Apple Festival, Merta said.

"As of right now we have 10 orchards or growers and eight (non-profit organizations) with things like pumpkins, Indian corn, gourds, maple syrup, cider, caramel apples, jams, jellies, maple sugar, maple cream, maple barbecue sauce, maple breakfast baskets, cherry juice concentrate, honey and baked goods," she said.

Aside from the many treats on display, the petting farm, face painting and pony rides for the little ones will return this year. There will also be 100 craftsmen showing their wares.

Absentee voters beware

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

A regional absentee ballot mailing is causing big problems for government clerks.

The ballot request, printed on a plain, white postcard includes space for standard absentee ballot information like the applicant's name and signature. At first glance it seems like a simple way to get an absentee ballot — all you have to do is sign and mail it.

But it's missing one key element — address information for applicants who would like their ballot sent somewhere other than the address listed along with their voter's registration. The requests have Charlevoix addresses pre-printed on the postcard, and that's where the ballots will be mailed.

While this may not be a problem for everyone, Charlevoix City Clerk, Carol Ochs, said it's an election nightmare for Charlevoix's seasonal residents.

"We will honor the requests but the problem is we send the ballot to their registered address," she said. "We have a lot of snow birds leaving at the end of October and beginning of November. My concern is I'm going to mail these to registered addresses and some of these people aren't going to be there."

"This is huge. I have at least 30 of these. I have some winter addresses but there are a few I'm uncertain about."

A second snag in this absentee ballot mess is misprinted return addresses. Ochs said in some cases, the St. Ignace city clerk has received Charlevoix ballot requests and has had to forward them on to Ochs.

directed ballots to seasonal homes along with other forward mail.

Ochs said by law, the post office cannot forward election ballots — they are classified as non-forwardable mail.

"It's a felony to be in possession of an unopened ballot that's not yours unless you are an election official," Ochs said.

According to Ken Silfven, spokesman for the Michigan Department of State, absentee voter ballot mailings are common during the election season.

"Many organizations including the major political parties format their forms," he said.

Because this problem form includes no information as to who or what party distributed them, Silfven said the mailing may be in violation of Section 47 of Michigan Campaign Finance Act which requires political groups to identify themselves on printed materials.

At this time there is no official investigation into the source of the mailing.

While some may question a political group's motivation in distributing an incomplete, unidentified absentee ballot application, Silfven said it looks like this was a simple mistake.

"It sounds like it was just an unfortunate flaw in the way it was designed," he said. "They should have included space for an alternate address. It's caused more work for voters and local election workers."

Seasonal residents who filled out one of these forms (pictured at left on page 1) are asked to contact Ochs at (231) 547-3250 to verify the address to which their ballot should be sent.

Those who have not yet filled out a ballot request and would like to receive an absentee ballot are asked to contact Ochs or visit www.michigan.gov/sos.

Absentee ballot requests are due by 2 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 4. City voter ballots should be mailed to Charlevoix City Hall at 210 State St. Charlevoix, MI 49720. Ballot requests from township residents should be mailed to the township clerk where the voter is registered. For township clerk address information, call (231) 547-7200.

The ballot will be sent to the address requested and must be returned to the clerk by 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Annual Apple Festival brings bushels of fun to Charlevoix

"It's definitely a community event. People are going to see their friends and neighbors downtown," Merta said. "This event is excellent for the community and excellent for bringing additional business to the Charlevoix community at an off-season time."

Merta's favorite apple is the Honeycrisp and according to Judy Friske-Kehr, director of retail for Friske's Orchard, this has been a good year for apple growers who should have plenty of Honeycrisp on hand.

"Things are ripening early and everything's just coming along," she said. "The weather pretty much cooperated and we're happy."

In operation since 1962, Friske's generally sells approximately 500 bushels of apples during Apple Festival.

Friske said whether you plan to make pies or sauce, beginning with a mixture of apples is always a good idea.

"Some people like their apples to stay solid, some like them to cook up," she said.

If you were to use only one type of apple, Friske-Kehr recommended the Northern Spy for pie, and during this time of year, a mixture of Mac, Golden Delicious and Empire when making apple sauce.

"The flavor changes," she said. "After Christmas, Ida Reds would be good in there (apple sauce) — right now they're tart and solid."

Some of the best apples to use in the winter are Ida Red, Crispin and Jonagold, she said.

While Honeycrisp are the "New rage," Friske-Kehr said, her favorite apples are Jonagold, Gala and Empire.

Some local folks feel this summer was slower than years past, but Friske-Kehr is a little more optimistic concerning Apple Festival.

"Personally, I think it's going to be the biggest one yet," she said. "If the end of September and early days of October are an indicator, then this should be a record breaking season."

She added, "Gas prices are down and people who maybe didn't get up here as much as they wanted to this summer can do so now, so we're excited about it."

Writer explores the drive for dinner

THE CRYING TOWEL

Benjamin Gohs

"I'm not a lunatic or anything," I said to the small crowd as I popped the hood on the old blue car.

"I'm a local writer working on a travelogue of sorts," I said. A few of them smiled politely and went back to fueling their motorcycles and stretching their legs.

Smells of fish, herbs and almonds wafted across the gas station parking lot. I flashed my press card in a futile attempt to confirm my sanity.

"Watcha doin'?" one of them queried.

"Makin' dinner," I responded.

What drives a man to cook dinner on the engine of his '88 Cadillac? Maybe it was hunger, perhaps it was boredom, but either way, it doesn't take a criminal mastermind to know auto engines get hot enough to cook. And, this was something I have always wanted to try before I die.

While I wasn't new to cooking, I was unfamiliar to this method, and since I couldn't afford the $68 how-to book, "Manifold Destiny,"

I had to wing it.

A pound and a half of Atlantic salmon sprinkled with lemon, basil, rosemary, black pepper and salt was triple wrapped in foil. I was sure to spray the inner foil of the meat and veggie packs with a generous amount of cooking spray.

Two large handfuls of fresh green beans covered in two tablespoons of virgin olive oil, salt, pepper and sliced almonds was also triple wrapped in foil.

The brownies, which came from a mix, I poured into a nine-inch cake pan and also covered with foil.

I used 100-pound strength all-purpose wire found at auto part stores. It's perfect for cinching sagging exhaust pipes or keeping lunch off the highway.

I wedged the salmon between the exhaust manifold and a parallel exhaust pipe. The green beans, which were shaped in a flat rectangle (ensure meat and vegetables are one layer deep, preferably an inch or less thick), I laid on the valve cover. One piece of wire secured both fish and veggies.

I secured the brownies with a piece of wire so they rested atop both the radiator and valve cover before setting out on our 60-mile journey.

By Mancelona, salmon scent wafted through the heater vents. The green beans were hot, but the brownies were room temperature goo. I moved the beans to the alternator and put the brownies on the valve cover before heading home.

Back in Charlevoix, I parked at the Mobil station, untwisted wires, laid out forks and napkins.

John Garfield, Vincent Wilson and Amy Schindler, the three hikers up from Jackson on a color tour, said the salmon was delicious but the green beans were still crunchy.

We snacked from the engine bay and made small talk while the wife sunk in her chair, covered her face and prayed to God no one saw us.

So what did I learn?

Contrary to popular belief, an alternator does not get hot enough to cook green beans.

I learned my children have yet to reach the age where everything I do is an earth shattering embarrassment. In fact, I think combining my son's fantasies involving high speeds, fine food and combustion may have jump-started him into puberty.

I also learned some vehicles simply have too many gadgets under the hood. There just wasn't enough bare engine block upon which I could bake those brownies.

The next time I do some over-the-road cooking, I'll take my '67 Buick Riviera with the 430 cubic inch big block — it has enough open space to roast a tenderloin, a five-pound bag of potatoes, buttermilk biscuits and a devil's food cake.

LETTERS to the editor

BEEMON SETTLEMENT

Editor:
I have read with interest the articles regarding the former drain commissioner's (JoAnne Beemon) dispute with the county over wage issues and the recent settlement which was agreed upon.

Over the years, Ms. Beemon has made a name for herself as a vocal advocate of environmental issues. Based on these recent events, I think her true priority is a little closer to home.

Ms. Beemon, enjoy the money. Perhaps you could help the county figure out how to come up with it.

'THANKS' DONORS

Editor:
I am very grateful to the loyal blood donors in Charlevoix who turned out for the American Red Cross blood drive on Sept. 14 at the Community Reformed Church.

Thank you to all who contributed to the publicity, those who provided treats and all of the volunteers.

Much time and work go into each and every blood drive. The American Red Cross could not save lives without the efforts of their volunteers. It is so gratifying to witness the dedication of everyone involved in collecting blood. The Red Cross gathered 92 pints on that day. Thank you all for saying "yes" to helping others.

The next community blood drive will take place from noon until 5:45 p.m. on Nov. 16 at the Community Reformed Church. Please mark your calendars and take the opportunity to make a difference for the sick and injured.

PRESERVATION ORDINANCE SHOWS FORESIGHT

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for recently approving the proposed Charlevoix County Farmland and Open Space Preservation Ordinance, and hopefully clear up some misconceptions regarding the ordinance.

The retention of farmland is essential for survival of agriculture in Michigan. Providing many benefits to the farming and non-farming communities alike, the economic benefits of retaining farmland and open space include strengthening the agricultural economy, lowering infrastructure costs to taxpayers and supporting tourism related to vegetated landscapes, wildlife and farming. Environmental benefits include protecting groundwater recharge areas and providing wildlife habitat. The commissioners should be commended for recognizing the significance of these benefits.

A Purchase of Development Rights program (PDR) can permanently preserve farmland, and other natural and aesthetic resources. The Agricultural Preservation Fund administered through the Michigan Department of Agriculture, provides grants to eligible local units of government for the purchase of development rights. Eligibility requires the approval and adoption of a "Farmland and Open Space Preservation Ordinance." There is no requirement that local units of government have to provide funds for a PDR program.

Completely voluntary on the landowner's part, the landowner still owns the land and retains all of the other rights associated with it, except the development rights would be removed and the landowner compensated for the lost development potential. Again, funded by the Agricultural Preservation Fund, not at a cost to Charlevoix County taxpayers.

Charlevoix County landowners are fortunate their Board of Commissioners took this step towards preserving our irreplaceable landscape. Let's hope the new slate of commissioners will have as much foresight.

HOLD STUDENTS' ACCOUNTABLE

Editor:

I am writing in response or perhaps gag reflex to the articles on the (Charlevoix) high school vandalism. Back when I was in high school if you did something like this you were not given a scholarship, or told "Kids will be kids, have a great summer." You were made to pay restitution and perform community service.

I applaud the revocation of scholarships for those involved. Scholarships should be given to people who show potential to improve the community not destroy it. I applaud the official investigation of this incident. It was done as it should have been. Not, "Oh he or she is so and so's kid, let's not get them upset." That school was built with the help of my tax dollars. Those same dollars would be squandered on cleanup and repair if restitution was not made. Or am I all wrong? Perhaps our taxes should be raised so we can give each graduate a brick to put through a school window or some paint for graffiti to mark their passing into adulthood.

One lesson to be learned is behavior like that is totally unacceptable and holds substantial consequences. Another lesson is that perhaps high school "pranks" should be stopped the way hazing was in school. Perhaps the next school "prank" could be to organize a food drive, cleanup or renovate a park, volunteer at a senior center...would that not be a better way of being remembered? What wonderful things could come out of trying to out do the classes before you?

Hold those responsible accountable. Teach them to become useful future contributors to society, not Charlevoix's future dissolute.

BEAVER ISLAND LAW ENFORCEMENT

Editor:

Thanks for your recent coverage of our Celtic Games, Island Boogie and the Bite of Beaver Island. More and more Beaver Island is being discovered as a beautiful and fun autumn destination. Most islanders would not have suggested an in-depth story about our unique law enforcement environment. However, you provided a balanced view of the issue.

With respect to crime in general on Beaver Island and the statistics in the sidebar may I offer some additional perspective? During the busy 120-day period you reported on (May through August 2005 and 2006) several thousand year-round residents, seasonal residents and visitors are on the island most of the time. The number of "incidents" reported in your sidebar works out to 1.5 per day with more than one half being "traffic stops." The data also show that the level of serious crime where people are harmed or property damaged is near zero. We can always find our car keys because we leave them in the car. However, a lot of house keys are permanently lost. I would suggest that Beaver Island, Michigan is one of the safest places to live or visit in the United States.

I have a story idea. Where is the best and fastest responding emergency medical care in Michigan? I'll bet folks would be surprised to learn that Beaver Island has world class paramedics and emergency medical technicians as well as a new well-equipped Rural Health Center. Best wishes from a very safe Emerald Isle.

VOTE FOR SALTONSTALL

Editor:

When will our representatives listen to the people rather than special interests and Jason Allen's stand against a ban on smoking in public places is just one instance of an arrogant public official representing a select few. Fortunately, our county has a ban led by newly elected Charlevoix County Commissioner, Connie Saltonstall, in her first term and who deserves a second term this November. Now if that same commissioner (four of which are leaving) would cut their excessive pay, undeserved pensions and free medical insurance we could get back on track in the county.

Helen Open benefits Hospice

On Aug. 20, 90 golfers gathered at the Charlevoix Golf Club for the 6th Annual Helen Open, a golf and auction event dedicated to the late Helen Weislik of Charlevoix which benefits Hospice of Northwest Michigan. Hospice and golf event coordinators are pictured above at the bar Helen owned, the Town House, exchanging a check for $12,000 that was raised at the 2006 event. This brought the event's total earnings in its six years to $64,000. Charlevoix Area Hospital to host low-cost mammogram screening event

Charlevoix Area Hospital will host "It's My Turn," a low-cost mammogram screening program from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 21 at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The hospital staff's goal is to eliminate as many of the factors that keep women from getting mammograms as possible.

Insurance issues are often a main area of stress for mammogram clients. Some insurance doesn't cover screening mammograms, or apply a large deductible making the screening unaffordable for many women.

Another common reason women avoid mammograms is discomfort. "It's My Turn" program participants will be pampered with a mini-massage, mini-manicure, treats and healthy snacks.

Sue Morris, organizer of the annual Pink Ribbon Ride in Boyne City, will be on hand. The ride raises money for programs that are helping local cancer patients and families.

A grant through the Charlevoix Community Foundation as well as funds from the Pink Ribbon Ride and Charlevoix's Tri 4 Fun

Triathlon are being directed to the "It's My Turn" program.

Sheriff's office offers free identification kits this weekend

BY KIMBERLY AGNELLO
SPECIAL TO THE COURIER

With a recent grant from Northwestern Bank, the Charlevoix Sheriff's Department plans to hand out 2,400 ID Complete Child Identification and DNA Kits to area families.

The identification kits keep useful information like photos, a DNA sample and fingerprints of a child handy in case of an emergency.

"We want to provide this service in case, God forbid, something happened to your child that we'd have the tools to help locate or positively identify them," said Undersheriff Don Schneider.

Schneider has been working alongside Chief Assistant Prosecutor Shaynee Finari to plea to local service clubs and businesses for funding for the project.

Northwestern Bank wrote a check for $2,100 to pay for the kits and they will be available as early as two weeks from now.

"They (Northwestern Bank) have stepped up to the plate and said they want to do this for the community," Schneider said.

The Sheriff's Department has plans to set up a tent this weekend at the 2006 Apple Fest to begin handing out the identification kits.

The free kit includes DNA identification kit, samples from which can be stored at room temperature for years and remain stable for analysis, child identification fingerprinting kit, space

Fingerprinting is one piece of the new, free ID Complete Child Identification and DNA Kits being offered this weekend in East Park by the sheriff's department to attach a recent photograph, dental chart, medical, physical, and personal information and detailed instructions for parents on how to use the identification kit at home.

They will also be available by calling the Sheriff's Department at (231)547-4461 to set up an individual appointment with Schneider.

"We want to assist parents and children with the kits," Schneider said. "We want to make sure they do it correctly and not be under the false impression they have a DNA sample when they really don't."

Schneider advises parents to keep the kits in a cool place like a safety deposit box so the records can last for decades. He also recommends the kits be updated with a recent photo, like a school picture, every year.

"The bottom line is that we hope we never, ever have to use these kits, but they are sort of like an insurance policy," he said.

Charlevoix Public Schools report declining enrollment

Northwest Academy has 25 percent increase

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Local public schools win some, lose some during the autumn count, Wednesday, Oct. 4.

With factors such as the local economy, school choice, job offers from out of state and the quality of instruction, determining the yearly budget without knowing how many students will actually attend your school is a guessing game at best.

"We're up about 25 percent with 81 students this year," said Northwest Academy co-administrator, Gary Stutzman. "We set our budget at 70 (students) but it's about a wash because of the new teachers that we needed to hire to handle the new students that enrolled — it pretty much keeps things the same as far as the budget."

He added, "Money is always a big issue. Money is really tight, so you have to be very conscientious about how you're spending and keep track of it on a regular basis."

Northwest Academy's winter count was 69.

"So, we probably ended (last) year with probably 65 or so students," Stutzman said. "It's not uncommon at all to see kids come and go during the year. People move into the area, they move out and some kids transfer schools."

Stutzman was the first to admit that all schools, regardless of size, are facing tough financial times.

"The bigger schools have bigger budgets and bigger expenses, so I think it all comes out in the end. Hopefully you try to run your school so you have some fund equity at the end of the year, to carry over."

Stutzman attributed the increase to the addition of new grade levels at Northwest Academy.

Charlevoix Public Schools appeared to see an overall reduction of 17 students during this year's count, but according to Charlevoix Public Schools business manager, Shawn Biddle, a number of students from St. Mary School are served by the public schools in areas such as physical education, art, technological training and music classes.

The addition of St. Mary students brings the gap to a mere four-student decrease, Biddle said.

With the new per-pupil award at $8,272, Charlevoix schools lost nearly $33,000 during this first of three counts throughout the year.

The kindergarten through fourth-grade increased from 421 pupils in 2005 to 443. The middle school's count dropped from 393 to 380. The high school's count dropped from 455 to 433. Beaver Island's student count decreased from 30 to 26.

"We budgeted for 1,295 students," Biddle said. "Obviously, anytime we don't get what we budgeted for it has impact, but we do anticipate getting some additional funding from the state because our enrollment has been declining for the last several years, so those numbers will probably come close to balancing one another out."

Charlevoix Public Schools lost 70 students last year.

"Some of that loss was through natural attrition since some classes that graduated were larger than the classes that came in," Biddle said. "And, part of it was people moving out of the state or moving out of northern Michigan because of a lack of employment and a lack of affordable housing up here."

The new state budget calls for some limited relief for school districts which have experienced declining enrollment for the last few years.

"I think we'll get through this year. We've made some staffing changes over the summer, so that will help us out," Biddle said. "I think we'll be in a better position than we were projecting a year ago."

PUBLIC NOTICE

If it's not in the newspaper, how will the public notice?

Zoning changes. Tax increases. Legislative proposals. These are just a few topics where government actions can affect your life and community. Imagine if government no longer had the legal obligation to publish this information in your newspaper. How would public notices get noticed? In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. It should not be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, when to look or even to know what you're looking for to be informed. It is government's responsibility to publish and deliver public notice information as it becomes available. So take notice. Your right to know is being served... right here in your newspaper.

Truffles brings mouth-watering delights downtown

Scone connoisseurs are flocking to Truffles Patisserie, a new Charlevoix bakery, for a fix of flaky goodness from the kitchen of local pastry chef, Jim Simonsen.

This summer, Simonsen sold about seven dozen scones a day from his bakery at 208 Bridge St. His personal favorite is Traverse City cherry, but customers' taste buds crave variety and it's variety he delivers. From multiple flavors of scones to pies, cookies, tarts, cakes, biscotti, muffins, fresh baked breads and his signature Belgian dark chocolate truffles all made on-site, Simonsen has built a business that has come to be known by many as a sweet retreat.

The doors opened at Truffles on Feb. 14, 2006. And since then, many have fallen in love with his French baguette sandwiches served on a homemade golden loaf.

"It's all about the crunch of our French baguettes. The unique taste is like none other. Our bread is truly unparalleled," he said.

The bakery serves lunch six days a week, Tuesday through Sunday. The menu offers a variety of sandwiches ranging in price from $6.50 to $7.50 each. Also available is a Lighter Side option of chicken salad with a side of apples or five takes on pizza including the mouthwatering Chicago style made with Italian focaccia dough.

While Simonsen has his staples, he also features special treats and will have October Fest specials this month that celebrate the fall harvest. October treats include apple cinnamon rolls made from homemade brioche bread, caramel-apple-pecan scones, hot apple strudel, hot caramel apple cider, an apple tart and grandma's pies.

The pies are made by his mother, Elaine, also of Charlevoix, and include apple, cherry and pumpkin varieties and feature her secret crust.

Simonsen, 55, is a Charlevoix resident who got his first crack at cooking when he was 17 working in the kitchen at The Sugar Bowl, a former Bridge Street restaurant.

His work experience since then has included 20 years cooking in finer restaurants and private clubs in Naples, Fla.

During this time he also built two log homes in Charlevoix and three log camping quarters in Marquette with his company, Northern Michigan Log homes.

In 2002, his love of cooking brought him out of the woods and into Le Cordon Bleu kitchen in Paris, France. Le Cordon Bleu is an internationally renowned school for the culinary arts. In 2003, he earned four certificates from there including basic pastry, internediate pastry, superior pastry and boulangerie (bread making).

"I had a passion for log homes and the back country as I do now for pastries and cooking — I'm not the average person," Simonsen said.

Simonsen plans to keep Truffles open until Christmas. His hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. For more information, visit Simonsen at the bakery, located at 208 Bridge St. in downtown Charlevoix.

City Council considers CCMS check settlement

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Charlevoix City Council is grappling with whether they should fight for the cash or settle and put an end to the over two-year CCMS check debacle.

On Monday night, Oct. 2 city council met in closed session to discuss the pros and cons of a settlement offer their insurance carrier, Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool, has put on the table. City attorney, Jim Young, said council's decision comes down to whether they feel they need to discuss a resolution or let the court of appeals decide.

"The real issue is truly unique. Nobody, the insurance company or us, has been able to find any case in the country that has dealt with this issue," Young said. "We can't predict what a court will do."

The appellate court could overturn the June 2 decision of Charlevoix County Circuit Judge Richard Pajtas. That day he ruled in the city's favor, requiring Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool, to cover not only the $222,978.36 cost of a check mix-up, but also $8,566.94 in interest that money would have earned had it sat in the city's coffers. Pajtas also awarded the city $4,616.80 for attorney fees incurred while defending a related lawsuit filed by United Fire and Casualty.

"The real issue is truly unique. Nobody, the insurance company or us, has been able to find any case in the country that has dealt with this issue. We can't predict what a court will do."

Jim Young
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ATTORNEY

If they choose to pursue the appeal, Young said the city's legal fees won't increase. Under the city's agreement with their attorney, Boh DeJong, with Miller, Camfield, Paddock and Stone, PLC of Grand Rapids, he is paid a maximum fee and a percentage of what the city is able to reclaim.

"It won't cost the city more to process the appeal," Young said. The fresh tracks of this legal battle were laid in October 2005, when the city served Michigan Municipal League Liability and Property Pool, with a lawsuit.

The suit claims the city's insurer should have compensated it for losses and defended it in a lawsuit filed by United Fire and Casualty.

The lawsuit the city feels should have been covered, stemmed from a check that was written on April 2, 2004 to CCMS and Associates.

a contractor out of Sault Ste. Marie hired by the city in 2001 to work on roads and sidewalks.

However, the check was supposed to be written to CCMS insurer, United Fire and Casualty. United was then to pay subcontractors hired by CCMS for those projects.

"The insurance company said when the city issued the check that check stemmed from a contract for improvements and insurance isn't intended to cover a breach of contract," Young explained in a previous interview. "The city's position was it was an honest mistake in issuance of the check made payable to CCMS only."

Charlevoix City Treasurer, Rick Brandi, claims he was not aware United Fire was supposed to be paid instead of CCMS. United Fire claims they sent a letter to Brandi with check writing instructions, but Brandi says he never received it.

Brandi's stamped signature as well as that of deputy city clerk Stephanie Brown, appeared on the check. At that time, Brown was sitting in for former clerk Liz Gooch, who had resigned.

When Brandi realized the check was issued in error, he called the city's bank and tried to stop payment but it was too late. CCMS owner William Montgomery had cashed the check.

"CCMS never turned over any portion of that money to the bond company (United Fire and Casualty)," Young said.

This mistake resulted in United Fire and Casualty suing the city in June 2004. In December 2004 the city agreed to end the suit by paying United Fire the over $220,000 it already paid CCMS.

The incident has not resulted in criminal charges against Montgomery.

Deb Mathis of Northwestern Bank fielded a call from a grandfather who wanted to open personal savings accounts for his grandkids as Christmas presents. Opening a savings account means providing some specific personal information about the account holder. Grandpa wanted to keep the accounts a secret and couldn't ask a lot of questions without raising eyebrows. So Deb offered to create a custom gift card for the kids, complete with graphics, so grandpa would have something nice to put under the tree on Christmas morning.

Now this isn't the sort of thing a bank normally plans for, but our Deb Mathis rose to the occasion.

It was "I can do that!" in action.

Chamber offers free color tour maps

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

While foliage in some areas of Michigan has peaked, there is still plenty of vibrant color to view.

According to the Oct. 6 www.michiganring.com foliage update, "Cooler conditions continue to accelerate color change in the upper lower peninsula. Reports of 70 to 80 percent color in many areas now. Peak viewing should be next week inland and run to mid-October along the shore routes."

Whether you hike, drive, canoe or hike, Charlevoix County has some of the most beautiful color tour offerings around.

"The color is absolutely spectacular because there is such a variety of different trees," said Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce President, Jacqueline Merta. "The ash, maple, white birch intermixed with the evergreens, I think, makes a nice backdrop."

She added, "The other nice thing that offsets our area for color is the fact that, if you view the color along the water, it makes it an even more interesting backdrop with all the waterfront with Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan."

Merta suggests visiting Mt. McSamba to hike the trails, stop by Castle Farms for a tour, head across the Ironton Ferry or visit one of the many nature preserves in the area.

"I would highly recommend driving around Lake Charlevoix for the color tour," she said. "Rent a boat from Ward Brothers Charter Boats and go along the lake to see the colors from the water instead of the road."

She added, "You could also get your bike out or rent a bike and get on the bike trail to Petoskey."

Color tour maps are available at no charge from the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce located at 408 Bridge St. or call (231) 547-2101 for more information on tours, as well as the availability of bed and breakfasts, hotels, motels and rental units.

While much of the area's foliage is already vibrant, there is still time for a color tour across northern Michigan. Thanks to warmth from Lake Michigan, coastal areas are some of the last spots to peak in color.

ELECTION NOTICE City of Charlevoix PROPOSALS TO AMEND THE CHARLEVOIX CITY CHARTER

By action of the Charlevoix City Council, with the approval of the Honorable Jennifer M. Granholm, Governor of the State of Michigan, will present to the electorate of the City of Charlevoix on the November 7, 2006 General Election ballots, the following 12 proposals to amend the Charlevoix City Charter. Sections marked Current Charter Wording or State Law Wording will not be included on the ballot and are for informational purposes only.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 1

"Shall the 60-day scheduling requirement for a Special Election for the filling of three (3) or more vacancies on the Council be changed in Article II, Section 2.6 COUNCIL - FILLING OF VACANCIES of the Charlevoix City Charter to a requirement that this election be scheduled as authorized by law?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

State election law specifies when elections can be held and might not allow this 60-day scheduling requirement to be met. The proposed amendment would make the Charter wording consistent with State law and would provide proper guidance to the Clerk.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

Current Charter Wording:

Section 2.6 COUNCIL FILLING OF VACANCIES

When a vacancy occurs on the Council, the Council shall appoint another person from the ward in which the vacancy occurs to serve for the remainder of the vacant term. This appointment is to be completed within thirty (30) days of the time at which the vacancy occurs.

In the event that three (3) or more vacancies exist simultaneously on the Council, the Clerk shall call a Special Election to be held within sixty (60) days, and all vacancies shall be filled for the remaining portions of the vacant terms.

State Law Wording:

MCL Chapter 168, MICHIGAN ELECTION LAW, Act 116 of 1954, Chapter XXVIII: HOLDING OF ELECTIONS
168.641 Regular election date; special election; report; direction and supervision of election consolidation; short title of section.

Sec. 641.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section and sections 642 and 642a, beginning January 1, 2005, an election held under this act shall be held on 1 of the following regular election dates:

- (a) The February regular election date, which is the fourth Tuesday in February.
- (b) The May regular election date, which is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May.
- (c) The August regular election date, which is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August.
- (d) The November regular election date, which is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

(2) If an elective office is listed by name in section 643, requiring the election for that office to be held at the general election, and if candidates for the office are nominated at a primary election, the primary election shall be held on the August regular election date.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 2

"Shall Article II, Section 2.15a COUNCIL - MEETINGS - MINUTES AND NOTICES THEREOF of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to provide that the City Council's organizational meeting be held at the first meeting of the Council after the November General Election, the meeting begin at 7:00 p.m. and the Council's consideration of matters in addition to organizational matters?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter sets the organizational meeting for the first Monday in January at 8:00 p.m. The election of Council members is in November. The amendment provides for an earlier organizational meeting, the consideration of non-organizational agenda items and an earlier starting time.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

NO 0

Current Charter Wording:

Section 2.15 COUNCIL MEETINGS MINUTES AND NOTICES THEREOF

a. The first (1st) meeting of the Council shall be held for the purpose of organization at the usual place for holding meetings of the legislative body of the City, at eight (8:00) o'clock in the evening of the first (1st) Monday in January of each year, or the first (1st) day thereafter that is not a legal holiday, except as provided in Article XIV.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 3

"Shall Article II, Section 2.10 MAYOR - DEPUTY MAYOR - DUTIES of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to allow the Deputy Mayor to vote as a member of the Council while the Deputy is acting as the City's Mayor during the temporary absence or disability of the Mayor?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The proposed amendment states that the Deputy Mayor may vote when the Mayor is temporarily absent or disabled. The current Charter provision regarding the Deputy Mayor is silent on this issue.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

NO 0

Current Charter Wording:

Section 2.10 MAYOR DEPUTY MAYOR DUTIES

The Mayor shall be the chief executive officer of the City. He shall be President of the Council for all purposes, including those purposes required by civil or military law, and shall have such other duties as prescribed by this Charter. The Mayor shall preside at all meetings of the Council but have no vote therein, except in the case of a tie vote of the Council, in which event the Mayor shall cast the deciding vote. The Mayor shall have no veto power. The Mayor shall authenticate by signature such instruments as the Council, this Charter, or the laws of the State or of the United States, may require. The Deputy Mayor shall act as Mayor during the absence or disability of the Mayor, or, if a vacancy occurs, shall become Mayor for the balance of the term.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 4

"Shall the requirement in Article III, Section 3.3 CITY MANAGER - APPOINTMENT of the Charlevoix City Charter that the City Manager become a City resident within 60 days of being hired be deleted?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

This Charter provision currently requires the City Manager to become a resident of the City within 60 days of being hired and to remain a City resident while employed. State law allows a City employee to reside within 20 miles of the City, subject to certain exceptions. The proposed amendment eliminates a Charter requirement that is unenforceable under State law.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

NO 0

Current Charter Wording:

Section 3.3 CITY MANAGER APPOINTMENT

The City Manager shall be appointed by a majority vote of the entire Council for an indefinite term. The appointment shall be solely on the basis of executive and administrative qualifications. The Council shall fix his compensation. The City Manager, once appointed, if not already a resident of the City, shall become one within sixty (60) days and remain so throughout his appointment.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 5

"Shall Article III, Section 3.3 CITY MANAGER - APPOINTMENT of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to provide for the appointment of the City Manager for a term of up to three (3) years and delete the current provision for an appointment for an indefinite term?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter requires the appointment of the City Manager for an indefinite term. The amendment would provide for the appointment of the City Manager for a term of up to three (3) years and would apply to the appointment of future City Managers.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

Current Charter Wording:

Section 3.3 CITY MANAGER APPOINTMENT

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 6

"Shall Section 3.14 Severance Payments be added to Article III ADMINISTRATION of the Charlevoix City Charter to prohibit a severance payment to an employee exceeding three (3) times the employee's average salary or wages for the three (3) months prior to termination which, by its terms, does not apply to the City's existing contract with the current City Manager?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, there is no provision in the City Charter that limits severance payments to a City employee. The current City Manager is exempted since he already has an employment contract with a severance payment that exceeds the proposed limitation.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

"Shall Article IV, Section 4.1b ELECTORS of the Charlevoix City Charter be deleted; thereby eliminating the requirement that the Clerk keep the names and address of electors in a poll book, with section 4.1c being renumbered as Section 4.1b?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, Section 4.1b of the Charter requires the Clerk keep the names and addresses of electors in a poll book. However, poll books are no longer used. The Secretary of State maintains a data base of elector information and any changes must be submitted through Charlevoix County.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

YES 0

Current Charter Wording:

he City Clerk shall register qualified residents during regular business hours at the City Hall. The City Clerk may also register electors at places outside the Clerk's office from time to time to facilitate the registration of all qualified electors of the City.

b. The City Clerk shall process as rapidly as possible all information received relative to changes of address of electors in order to have the poll book complete and accurate at the times of the Primary and General elections.

c. Except as otherwise provided by this Charter, the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan shall apply to the conduct of elections held under this Charter, and to the registration of electors in the City.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 8

On or before February 15 of each year the City Manager shall submit to the Council a proposed Capital Budget for the next five (5) fiscal years?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The Charter currently requires in Section 7.2 that the City Manager annually submit a proposed Capital Budget by September 1 and in Section 7.6 a proposed Operating Budget by February 15. The proposed amendment imposes the same deadline for the submission of the proposed Capital Budget and the proposed Operating Budget.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 9

"Shall the last sentence of Article VII, Section 8.5d Board of Review of the Charlevoix City Charter be deleted; thereby eliminating the requirement that the City Assessor attend all meetings of the Board of Review?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter requires the City Assessor attend at all meetings of the Board of Review. The Charlevoix County Equalization Department provides an assessor to the City pursuant to a contract and this assessor attends Board of Review meetings when requested by the Board of Review.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 10

"Shall Article VIII, Section 8.9 Board of Review - Meetings of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to eliminate the requirement that the first Board of Review meeting each year shall continue in session for not less than three (3) days?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter requires the Board of Review to initially meet for not less than three (3) days. This has resulted in the Board of Review continuing in session even when its work at the first meeting has been completed. The amendment would allow the Board of Review meeting to end when its work has been completed.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

YES 0

Current Charter Wording:

SECTION 8.9 BOARD OF REVIEW MEETINGS

The Board of Review shall hold at least two (2) meetings each year at such places as shall be designated by the Council. The first meeting shall commence on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in March of each year and shall continue as long as may be necessary to consider and correct the assessment roll, and shall be for the purpose of hearing the complaints of all persons considering themselves aggrieved by the assessments. The first meeting of the Board of Review shall continue in session not fewer than three (3) days, and may continue longer if necessary. Sessions of the Board of Review shall convene from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. During the second meeting of the Board of Review at least one (1) evening session shall be held from 7:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. and longer if necessary.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 11

"Shall Article II, Section 2.9 DEPUTY MAYOR - ELECTION of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to provide for the Deputy Mayor's election at Council's organizational meeting and that a vacancy in this position be filled at Council's meeting after the vacancy occurs?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter requires Council's election of the Deputy Mayor at the first meeting in January annually and is silent regarding a vacancy in this position. The amendment provides for the Deputy Mayor's election at the Council's annual organizational meeting and for the filling of a vacancy in this position.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

YES 0

Current Charter Wording:

Section 2.9 DEPUTY MAYOR ELECTION OF

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX PROPOSAL 12

"Shall Article VIII, Section 8.9 Board of Review - Meetings of the Charlevoix City Charter be amended to allow the City Clerk to set Board of Review meetings that exceed State law minimum requirements if necessary?"

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Currently, the Charter specifies Board of Review meeting times regardless of work load. State law sets minimum meeting times. The proposed amendment allows the City Clerk to set meeting times pursuant to State law and for longer times if work load makes it necessary.

A "Yes" vote will be a vote in favor of the proposed amendment.
A "No" vote will be a vote against the proposed amendment.

Author events at Charlevoix Public Library

Charlevoix Public Library will host two upcoming programs including a writer's group and a local author.

From 6 to 8 p.m. on Oct. 16, an organizational meeting for area writers will be held at the library's new location, 220 Clinton St. in the second floor conference room. Its purpose is to bring together persons interested in forming a group that supports and facilitates various forms of creative writing.

Traditionally, writers meet monthly to share and critique their work. Whether the focus is a poem, child's book, novel, short story or news release, the richness of the experience comes from the diversity of the group.

Those unable to attend the meeting may e-mail workshop topics and guest author suggestions to Beth@charlevoixlibrary.org

Following the budding authors' gathering will be a presentation by published local author, Charlevoix County Sheriff, George Lasater.

Lasater will introduce his book, "Charlevoix County's Contribution to World War II" at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 17 in the library's community meeting room. He will talk about how he found and compiled information on local veterans of World War II, share statistics on those veterans and share veteran's stories found in the book.

Lasater interviewed hundreds of veterans, listened to their stories and captured their experiences.

For more information about these programs, call (231) 547-2651.

Pine River Lane development delayed again

BY KRISTINA HUGHES
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
STAFF WRITER

Charlevoix City Council tabled the Charlevoix Pointe Inn project review for a second time after neighbors to the proposed hotel resort filed an appeal.

At the Oct. 2 city council meeting, city attorney, Jim Young, recommended that council adjourn the public hearing to a later date, but also questioned the validity of the appeal requesting more time to present legal findings.

The Zoning Board of Appeals met to interpret the appeal at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 10. The results of this meeting were not available by press time.

City council has tentatively set a development plan review to take place at 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 16. The Charlevoix Pointe Inn resort plan consists of a three-story hotel with 30 hotel units and 34 parking spaces on Pine River Lane.

Robert Grezch, of the law firm Running, Wise and Ford, filed the appeal. Grezch represents Alberta Beyers, Larry White, Jerry VanderVeen, Steven and Anne Hansen, Kristin Jones, Phil Jones and Roger Jones. The applicants' request that the Zoning Board of Appeals reverse the determination and decisions of the planning commission, the city planner or the city council on the grounds that the development plan as proposed does not conform with the requirements of the zoning ordinance.

Young is taking time to review the appeal and prepare the city on its next move.

"It's important we establish and follow good precedent," Young said. "There is likely to be courtroom review, no matter which way we decide."

Since both parties involved have hired legal representation, council member Gabe Campbell is concerned about the potential for a lawsuit.

"It looks like if we say 'yes' we're going to be sued and if we say 'no' we will be sued," Campbell said. "We're damned if we do, we're damned if we don't. We need to take our time to make a decision."

The project consists of rooms designed with 800 to 1,300 square feet of living space equipped with kitchenettes and different bedroom configurations. The hotel features a lobby and registration area on the first floor. The parking is underground.

Pine River Lane is currently zoned commercial.

"It isn't a residential street anymore. I can't go back, it is what it is," said Julia Ann Bandfield, an owner of the property. "It would be a nice little hotel and people would shop downtown. We need the business downtown."

The property is owned by Bandfield, Randy Carey and Peter Carey and is part of the commercial service district. The developers, Travis Catt, of Catt Acquisitions of Gaylord and his partner Drew Spanding, did not request any variances. Doug Mansfield, of Wells Mansfield Inc. of Traverse City designed the project.

The Charlevoix Planning Commission approved the plan. The city council made the decision to send the plan for a ZBA review at its Aug. 21 meeting.

The appeal centers on those decisions, including the recommendation by the planning commission, the suggested finding of facts by the planners and the city council decisions at the Aug. 21 and Sept. 5 meetings.

According to Grezch, the appeal is based on the proposed development's failure to conform with the city zoning ordinance and state law. The appeal alleges that the plan does not fit the definition of a hotel. The appeal questions the developers' alleged intention to market the development as a residential development.

The appeal also states that exceeds the maximum size limitation of 750 square feet of enclosed living area and gross kitchen area of 40 square feet.

At the center of the appeal is the belief that the development is not in accordance with the ordinance's purpose to promote and protect "the public health, safety, peace, comfort, convenience and general welfare of the inhabitants of the City of Charlevoix by protecting and conserving the character and social and economic stability of the residential, commercial, industrial and other uses areas, by securing the most appropriate use of land" and "preventing overcrowding of the land and undue congestion of population ..."

The latest development is part of a long string of meetings.

Last year, the same development team presented the first proposal for the property — Rivulet Pointe — a three-story, 12-unit condominium resort.

The neighbors opposed the Rivulet development. After a series of meetings the plans went back to the drawing board to provide the Charlevoix Pointe plan.

Bandfield who is concerned about the delays, would not comment on the specifics of the legal issue.

"It's kind of a waiting game," she said.

A look at CHS Homecoming 2006 events

BY KIMBERLY WAY
SPECIAL TO THE COURIER

Six days, five couples, four grades, three places, two nights, one word — homecoming.

Oct. 2 marked the beginning of Spirit Week at CHS including Hat Day, Flash-Back Day, Inside-out Day, Pajama-and-Sunglasses Day, and the traditional Maroon-and-White Day.

On Tuesday, senior Janay Drost dressed 80s style with a huggy t-shirt and leggings.

"There were a lot of people who chose the same type of outfit as I did and it made the day a lot more interesting than it would originally have been because of everybody's funny outfits," she said.

On Oct. 3, the homecoming king and queen were voted for during seminar. The options included six senior males and females: Lindi Edger, Christina Bourassa, Meagan Sell, Emily Heffling, Robyn Petzak, Billy Roloff and Robyn Petzak were crowned the 2006 Charlevoix High School Homecoming king and queen during half-time festivities of the Charlevoix-Kalkaska football game Oct. 6 at Kipke Field.

Zita Anderson, Matt Kanine, Brad Cyr, Dustin Arp, Billy Roloff, Derek Friske and Jacob Wimmer.

Lip sync practices were held throughout the week for each grade and were presented Friday during the homecoming assembly. Each grade was given a movie theme for their lip synchs, and the theme was incorporated in the five minute show as well as at least one person lip synching to a song. The freshman were given Tim Burton movies, the sophomores, Will Ferrell movies, juniors, Disney movies and the seniors, James Bond movies.

"We didn't have a very high turnout for our lip sync," said freshman, Madison Way. "We ended up in fourth this year, but we are planning a big comeback next fall."

The senior class dominated with their glow-in-the-dark show to Madonna's "Die Another Day" and dance to Justin Timberlake's "Sexy Back." The sophomore class came next followed by the juniors and the freshman in fourth.

Friday night started off with a parade flaunting each grade's float that was built on Oct. 1 as well as sports teams and the homecoming court.

At 7 p.m. the football game started with an eventful touchdown by senior Darron Munson after receiving the first kick-off. From that moment on the crowd was excited and the game continued to be a total field goal.

Half-time came and the homecoming court was introduced. As time came for the winners to be announced, a mother was brought to tears when her daughter's name was called, and the slogan "Don't be silly, vote for Billy" dominated the polls. Taking away the crowns were Petzak and Roloff.

A beautiful weekend culminated in a wonderful homecoming dance on Saturday night where high school students danced from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Before the dance, a large group of seniors traveled to Petoskey to go putt-putt golfing.

"We had so much fun," said senior Bailey Yenglin. "The weekend was so beautiful that it was hard to stay indoors, so (we) decided to go golfing outside to top it all off."

Another great success for the homecoming celebration of 2006. Congratulations to the seniors who dominated the competitions throughout the week, Robyn and Billy on winning majority votes, and the varsity football team for taking the night away with another win.

Speigl medalist; Rayders win district golf title

J.D. Speigl

Charlevoix junior J.D. Speigl shot 76 to take medalist honors and lead the Rayders to first place in a Division III district tournament at The Heathlands.

The Rayders take their district championship to the regional on Thursday, Oct. 12, at Katke Golf Club on the campus of Ferris State University in Big Rapids.

A storm that swept through the Manistee area the night before last week's district tournament, bringing down dozens of trees and damaging greens, and rain.

Tournament directors elected to move the event to The Heathlands, a 20-minute drive. The move may have benefited Charlevoix.

This week's Rayder varsity sports schedule

This week's Rayder sports schedule includes exciting football, girls' basketball, boys' soccer and cross country match-ups.

The boys' soccer team will face Kalkaska at 5 p.m. on Oct. 12 at Kalkaska. The district boys' soccer finals are Oct. 16-21.

The varsity girls' basketball team plays Elk Rapids at 6 p.m. on Oct. 12 on their home court at Charlevoix High School. They play East Jordan at 6 p.m. on Oct. 17 on the Red Devils' court.

The girls' and boys' cross country teams will compete at 11 a.m. on Oct. 14 at Ogemaw Heights. Then conference meet is Oct. 17 at East Jordan.

The Rayder golf team will take their district championship to the regional on Thursday,

"I kind of think it was to our advantage," said Charlevoix coach Jim Glynn, who suggested the move had leveled the playing field. "A lot of the closer teams know Manistee National and are more familiar with it."

The Rayders finished with a 324 team score, four shots better than runner-up Manistee, Roscommon, 332, was third, followed by Elk Rapids, 336; Grayling, 341; and Kingsley, 359. Boyne City shot 420 and East Jordan, 430.

After Speigl's medal-winning 76, which was his best round of the season, Kris Bartling shot 79 for the Rayders to place fourth. Also for Charlevoix, Woody Nychman shot 82; Kyle Smith, 87; and Chase Beatty, 94.

"The kids gelled at the right time," Glynn said. "It was nice to see four solid scores. Our team is balanced enough that any one of the five players could score low at any time."

Our team is playing with a lot of confidence right now and this win should enhance that even more."

Members of the Rayder football team rejoice on Friday night, Oct. 6 after beating Kalkaska and qualifying for the playoffs.

Rayders nail down playoff spot with homecoming win

Charlevoix didn't have to wait long to begin celebrating its homecoming, and its second straight playoff berth.

Darron Munson returned the opening kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown and Drew Klooster returned an interception 76 yards for a TD to stake the Rayders to an early lead Friday, Oct. 6 and the Rayders cruised to a 37-13 Lake Michigan Conference victory over Kalkaska.

The victory lifted Charlevoix to 6-1 overall, giving it its second straight playoff berth. The Rayders are 4-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference. They share second place with Grayling, one game behind Traverse City St. Francis.

While Charlevoix is still alive in the race for the league championship, it would have to win its remaining league games — Friday, Oct. 13, at Harbor Springs; and Friday, Oct. 20, at home against Grayling — and hope that Traverse City St. Francis loses one of its two remaining league contests in order to tie the Gladiators for the crown.

St. Francis plays host to much-improved Elk Rapids on Friday, Oct. 13, then closes the regular season on Friday, Oct. 20, at East Jordan.

The Rayders go to Harbor on Friday to face a team that ended a 25-game win streak last weekend with a 26-20 overtime win at East Jordan. Grayling, always a formidable opponent, is 5-2 overall and 4-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference.

"It's nice to know that we're in (the playoffs) and now we can start fine-tuning everything," Charlevoix coach, Don Jess, said.

Charlevoix quarterback Chris Waha completed 14-of-19 passes for 220 yards and two TDs in leading the Rayders. Munson was his top target with six receptions for 135 yards. Waha also kicked an extra point and threw for three two-point conversions, two to Matt Kanine, the other to Dan Swenor.

Waha's TD passes went for 51 yards to Munson and 31 yards to Kanine. Cliff Jones also scored for Charlevoix on a 1-yard run.

The Rayders also got a spark from Ray Jones, a defensive end who saw some action at running back.

"Ray Jones played a real good game at defensive end," Jess said. "He's like 5-10, 275 pounds, and we put him in at running back for a couple of plays in the second quarter and he really gave us a boost of energy with a couple of tough runs."

Klooster led Charlevoix's defense with 11 tackles, while Kanine had seven and Munson added six.

America In Bloom recognizes local floral displays

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

"Charlevoix the Beautiful" was recognized for its floral displays by America In Bloom, a national organization that awards towns for efforts in beautification.

Charlevoix residents Marilyn and Dale "Mr. Petunia" Boss attended the America In Bloom Symposium and Awards Program Sept. 28 in Eureka Springs, Ark. on behalf of the local Operation Petunia organization. Keep Charlevoix Beautiful.

While there, they received a plaque on behalf of Charlevoix recognizing floral displays in the under 5,000 population category. According to Keep Charlevoix Beautiful treasurer, Marcell Staffel, local floral displays include the Bridge Street petunia baskets, the petunias lining five miles of Bridge Street, window boxes at businesses as well as private and community gardens.

"We were disappointed, naturally (not to have taken first place overall). But we were glad we made the trip," Marilyn said.

Eureka Springs, Ark. was the overall winner in the under 5,000 population category.

Marilyn said the town was beautiful and the trip, which included several informative sessions on flowers and landscaping, was well worth their time.

The special recognition was the culmination of a lengthy review of Charlevoix conducted in mid-July by two America In Bloom judges, Dwight Lund and Norm Kleher, both of the Methodist Church to host annual Fish Fry

The Charlevoix United Methodist Church will host an all you can eat Old-fashioned Fish Fry from 4:30 to 7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 20 at the church, located at 104 State St. in downtown Charlevoix.

The dinner will include fish and chips, salad, rolls, beverage and dessert.

The cost is $9 for adults, $8 for seniors, $5 for children ages 6-12 and free for children under 5.

Chicago, Ill. area.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful members, along with members of the Charlevoix Area Garden Club and various citizens, gave the judges a tour, concentrating on the petunias, local gardens, and historic sites like the Harsha House Museum and Earl Young homes.

The judges awarded points in eight categories including floral displays, environmental awareness, landscaped areas, tidiness, urban forestry, heritage preservation, turf and ground cover and community involvement. They then compared Charlevoix's point values to other towns its size across the country.

While Charlevoix didn't take first place for its floral displays, aside from a plaque, the recognition also included an information packet stocked with community enhancement ideas.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful member, Lori DeGrazia, said the group is exploring the possibility of forming a group with involvement from various organizations to implement some of the ideas.

"Like the problem with the weeds (in the street side petunias), they told us about a product we can use next year to solve that," Staffel said. "We'll be working closely with Pat Elliott (superintendent of the city street department) to get the weed problem under control. We have high hopes about things looking better."

To view Charlevoix's Pride Book, which was created in conjunction with the town's America In Bloom entry, visit Charlevoix Camera in the Oleson's Plaza where it is on display.

Roloff returns to commission seat following heart health scare

BY BENJAMIN GOHS

Roloff

Sixth District Charlevoix County Commissioner, Shirley Roloff, will continue serving despite a recent health scare.

Since early this spring, Roloff has contended with high blood pressure and bouts with a slow pulse. Then, on Monday, Oct. 2, Roloff was admitted to Charlevoix Area Hospital then transported to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City for a more severe episode.

"The same thing happened, my blood pressure got high, but I still had a slow pulse and it really dropped," she said. "They (doctors) realized my heart was pumping too slow and I needed a pacemaker."

She added, "I'm really glad I found out what was wrong — I just needed a pacemaker the whole time."

A little over a week since the event and Roloff has improved. "I feel great, just a little bit sluggish yet, but I feel good and everything is just fine," she said.

Roloff said tests looking for blockages and other heart damage revealed her to be A-OK.

"They did the catheterization of the heart and it was clear, so I'm in good shape," she said.

"They've given me a lease on my life for the next 20 years, so I'll probably be better than anybody in this town."

She added, "I can continue my life fuller than I did before."

According to Roloff, the only meeting she missed due to her illness was a Judicial/Building and Grounds/Public Safety meeting which was rescheduled for yesterday, Tuesday, Oct. 10.

Roloff plans to attend today's 3 p.m. meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

"I should be there," she said. "I'm just going to take it a little bit easy, and within another week, I'll probably be back to full speed."

To her constituents, Roloff said, "Tell 'em that I'm doing great and I'm ready to continue serving them for the next two years and maybe longer."

She added, "I want to thank them for their support. I will continue doing the best I can for Charlevoix County."

Sheriff's deputy, VanMeter arrested on assault charge

BY STEVE ZUCKER
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
STAFF WRITER

An alleged incident that led to the arrest of a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Deputy last week appears to have started with an incident at the deputy's home.

On Friday, Oct. 6 state police arrested Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputy Brian VanMeter, 42, of Charlevoix on charges of felonious assault and reckless driving stemming from an alleged incident that took place early Thursday, Oct. 5.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater has since placed VanMeter on unpaid suspension pending the outcome of the criminal case and an internal investigation.

According to a Michigan State Police affidavit filed in the case, the Petoskey-area man who is the alleged victim in the case told troopers that he had been at the VanMeter residence, located several miles south of Charlevoix and left the residence at about 1 a.m. Police said the man reported that shortly after leaving, he received a call from VanMeter's wife indicating that she was receiving several calls registered as "blocked" on the caller ID.

The man told police that he turned around and drove back to the VanMeter home. He told police that as he was about to enter the driveway, he noticed a vehicle parked about 200 feet from the home. He said the driver of the vehicle turned on its lights, "spun a doughnut" and approached the driveway where the alleged victim had stopped.

The man told police that VanMeter got out of his car, approached the Petoskey man's car and asked him to get out. The man said he got out of the car at which time VanMeter told him he knew "what was going on" at the home and then allegedly threatened the man twice, purportedly saying he would "kill him with one hand."

Court records show that a divorce proceeding was filed in 33rd Circuit Court between VanMeter and his wife on Aug. 31.

The man told police that VanMeter told him to get off his (VanMeter's) property and that the man then left in his vehicle.

The man said VanMeter immediately got into his car and began following him as he drove toward Charlevoix.

The man told police that as VanMeter followed him he (VanMeter) was revving his engine and would race up behind his vehicle to within a few feet of his rear bumper and then brake hard, and then back off. The man said VanMeter repeated this process several times as they neared Charlevoix.

The man told police that as the two vehicles neared the U.S. 31/M-66 intersection — at about the driveway to Glen's — VanMeter allegedly passed the victim's car and stopped in front of him in the middle of the road, causing the victim to stop.

The man said that VanMeter got out of his car, came over to the victim's vehicle, grabbed the door handle and opened the car door saying, "Get out of the car."

The man said the door swung open, but closed again because of the seatbelt after which the man said he locked the door.

The man told police that VanMeter then pounded once on the man's driver's-side door window with his right fist and then left the scene, allegedly running a red light at the U.S. 31/M-66 intersection.

No injuries or vehicle damage was reported in the alleged incident.

The affidavit does not indicate what, if any, statements VanMeter made to them about the alleged incident.

VanMeter was arrested on the charges Friday and has since been released from jail after posting a $10,000 surety bond. He is slated to be arraigned on the charges on Oct. 17. The court file did not list an attorney for VanMeter Monday.

Felonious assault (also called assault with a dangerous weapon) is a four-year felony. Reckless driving in a misdemeanor charge.

Charlevoix County officials have asked investigators from the Michigan State Police 7th District headquarters in Williamsburg to handle the investigation to avoid any potential conflicts of interest.

Steve Zucker may be reached at (231) 439-9346 or szucker@petoskeynews.com.

0710 IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING MEMORY
MARGARET JULLERET
(12/17/1938 - 10/14/1991)

I read of a man who spoke at the funeral of a friend. He referred to the dates on her tombstone from the beginning...to the end. He noted that first came the date of her birth and spoke of the following dates with tears, but he said what mattered most of all was the dash between those years. For that dash represents all the time that she spent alive on earth and now only those who loved her know what that little line is worth. For it matters not, how much we own, the cars...the house...the cash... What matters is how we live and love and how we spend our dash. So think about this long and hard; are there things you'd like to change? For you never know how much time is left that can still be rearranged. If we could just slow down enough to consider what's true and real... and always try to understand the way other people feel. And be less quick to anger and show appreciation more and love the people in our lives... like we've never loved before. If we treat each other with respect and more often wear a smile...remembering that this special dash might only last awhile. So, when your eulogy is being read...with your life's actions to rehash...would you be proud of the things they say...about how you spent your dash?

You are deeply loved and missed by your family!

Judge asked to close Norwood limestone quarry

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

A group of Norwood Township citizens are still fighting to prevent a fellow resident from operating a limestone quarry on his property.

On Friday, Oct. 13, one day after an appeal was filed in Charlevoix's 33rd Circuit Court, Norwood resident, Bill Gnotke, chairman of Norwood Township Citizens for Health and Safety, said he hopes the township Zoning Board's decision to allow operation of Wayne Wynkoop's mine will be overturned.

"There's a lot of community support for Norwood Township citizens," Gnotke said. "We don't believe it's (limestone quarry) allowed under the zoning and we're exercising our rights to appeal."

Wynkoop, a codependent in a case against Norwood Township, its board of trustees, zoning board of appeals, zoning administrator, Jonathan Scheel and Wynkoop's wife, Micheline, said he isn't surprised the group is after him again.

"They need to read the zoning act," Wynkoop said. "And, as far as being compatible with the community, obviously I disagree. I think it's (limestone quarry) a benefit to the community."

On April 17, Norwood Township Zoning Administrator, Johnathan Scheel, decided Wynkoop has a legal non-conforming right to carry out operation of the limestone quarry. Approximately 30 days later, the citizens group filed and lost an appeal of Scheel's decision.

Canine cop joins county

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT

(Left) Rex is heading up the K-9 program at the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office. The German shepherd specializes in tracking and sniffing out narcotics. He was introduced to the community on Oct. 12 and is the fourth dog in the sheriff's department's 20 years providing canine law enforcement assistance.

Rex, a new Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office deputy, has tracking and drug sniffing skills beyond those of his fellow uniformed officers.

Rex is the office's new 28-month-old, 80-pound German shepherd and the leader of the newly revived K-9 unit. He is the fourth canine cop at the sheriff's office in the program's 20 years. The other three, Spook, Gypsy and Jake passed away of natural causes. There's been about a three-year lapse during which the office has had no canine capabilities.

Rex was purchased about six months ago and has been in training since then. The total cost to buy and train the dog was about $12,000. Donations came from county residents as well as local grants and civic groups.

His continued training will include weekly work as well as an annual certification review.

"It's exciting for me to offer this to the citizens of Charlevoix County and see their support — I was overwhelmed with what they came forward with," Charlevoix County Sheriff, George Lasater, said.

This new addition is a furry Hungary native who is supervised by his "handler," a sheriff's deputy of 10 years and the school liaison officer, Robert Scholey. Both

Oct. 12 rollover closes M-66 for six hours

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office investigated a tractor/trailer crash on M-66 in Marion Township that resulted in the closure of M-66 between Wickersham to Shaw Roads for approximately six hours on Thursday, Oct. 12.

James E. Marigh, 58 of Alanson was traveling west on M-66 just west of Shaw Road at 9:15 a.m. when he lost control in an area where the road was covered with three to four inches of slushy snow.

Marigh had just driven past a sheriff's office patrol car where a deputy was assisting a motorist who had just run off M-66. Marigh was driving a 1997 Kenworth tractor attached to tandem trailers for Poquette Leasing of Petoskey hauling gypsum stone to the St Marys Cement plant. The tractor/trailer unit left the roadway and rolled onto its side spilling part of the load of stone. Marigh was not injured in the crash.

The Sheriff's Office was assisted at the scene by the Charlevoix County Road Commission. The road was reopened at approximately 3:30 p.m.

Worn steering axle tires on the tractor were a contributing factor to the loss of control and subsequent crash.

Ruth-Ann Sheridan and Frank and Alice Campbell, all of East Jordan and Louise Kline of Mancelona.

Drayten John Evans weighing 9 pounds, 4 ounces was born on Oct. 6 at Charlevoix Area Hospital to Tom and Rohyn Evans of Ellsworth. His siblings are Monica and Quinten Evans. His grandparents are Dave and Kathy Brookins of Ellsworth and Robert and Beverly Evans of Central Lake. His great-grandparents are Gertrude Brookins of Central Lake, Nora Evans of Central Lake and John and Genevieve Shippy of Wyoming.

Peyton Michael Walsh weighing 7 pounds was born on Oct. 6 at Charlevoix Area Hospital to Michael and Erin Walsh of Bellaire. His sister is Aubrey Walsh.

Future of Wynkoop mine in judge's hands

Wynkoop explained the county was able to purchase gravel from him for use in Norwood this summer at a reduced cost from what the township paid for similar material the year previous.

However, plaintiffs named in the appeal are more concerned with alleged impediments to health and enjoyment they claim the mining operation caused.

"As adjacent property owners and neighbors (citizen group members Kirk Wilson, Dana Pajtas and Walter Beck) in very close proximity, these three members are being specially harmed by what they describe as very loud noise from a heavy industrial operation," the appeal states. "They (plaintiffs) complain of a runhling noise like a freight train, constant beeping noise of a backup signal, noise of engines running, noise from loading material into trucks, a clanging or crashing noise that sounds like stone being broken up with a front-end loader or fracturing machines and, the sound of equipment being dragged across the rocks is like fingernails on a chalkboard."

While the plaintiffs claim equipment is run up to seven days a week from as early as 7 a.m. to as late as 10 p.m., Wynkoop said he tried to keep crews working up until 6 p.m. and rarely on weekends or holidays.

"What they're not understanding is the operation is not going on all hours. I still have a residence here and I still have yard work going on here and road work I'm still trying to do when the (mining) operation isn't up and running," he said. "If they hear backup alarms or equipment running after 6 p.m. or on weekends, it was me operating my own equipment, which I'm entitled to do."

He added, "It's funny — I've always had equipment of my own. I live here. I don't want it (mining operation) running 24-hours a day either."

Wynkoop said his neighbors run farm equipment sometimes into the middle of the night.

"I'm doing what I have a right to do and they (neighbors) have a right to do what they have a right to do," he said.

This most recent filing against Wynkoop is another in a long line of attempts to prevent him from reopening a limestone quarry which Scheel stated in his ruling to allow the non-conforming use, goes back several decades at least.

Gnotke said his group won't compromise when it comes to the alleged health and environmental concerns surrounding the limestone quarry.

"We obviously would like to see that the decision be reversed and have the community returned to what it always has been: Rural, agricultural and quiet," he said.

Since Wynkoop began mining earlier this spring he has removed an estimated 5,000 yards of material in an estimated 200 trucks.

Anyone interested in joining Gnotke's cause may write to: Norwood Township Citizens for Health and Safety, P.O. Box 312, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Wynkoop said his lawyer is looking into the matter.

New canine unit expected to handle about 25 calls a year

were trained in Claire at Brian Gregory Northern Michigan K-9 Incorporated.

"He's rarin' to go and I'm excited," Scholey said. Because of his Hungarian roots, all Rex's commands are in Hungarian. Scholey said this is because Rex had his obedience base training in Hungary.

Rex was officially brought on board during an Oct. 12 press conference. When he entered the training room where press agencies awaited his arrival he immediately circled the room, looking for drugs.

Had he found any, Scholey said once Rex got within about three-feet he would get "happy feet" then he would search out the drugs. When he found the drugs he would sit and wait for a rubber ball chew toy — his reward. Scholey said Rex has a regimented high glucosamine diet to keep him healthy and ward off hip dysplasia.

"He lives to do two things. Make me happy and get his ball," Scholey said.

He works with Scholey all day and specializes in the following assignments: drug detection, tracking, handler protection, suspect apprehension, building search and article search.

While his sharp teeth and training may scare some, Scholey said, "He's not going to attack anyone, that's not what he does."

Scholey said Rex reads his body language and voice tone.

After hours, Rex calls Scholey's house his home sweet home. Scholey keeps Rex in a 10-foot by 10-foot outdoor kennel and a 12-foot by 8-foot indoor kennel. The idea is to keep Rex from becoming a house pet.

In fact, Scholey said he's just like another officer.

"The saying goes, when citizens are in trouble, they call the police. Well, when the police are in trouble, they call the dog. They are an awesome asset and awesome tool for law enforcement," Scholey said.

During the last month, the sheriff's office was involved in two high speed chases that ended in foot pursuits. In both cases, when the suspect was lost, canine units were brought in to track the perpetrator and were successful.

"Now we have that ability ourselves and that's fantastic," Charlevoix County Prosecutor, John Jarema, said. "Unfortunately, drugs are on the rise. Now that we have this tool, I know we will use it."

Not only is Rex available in Charlevoix County, Lasater said he will be available to city and state police departments in the county and surrounding area. They anticipate using Rex on about 25 calls a year, including requests from schools.

After about five to eight years of service, Rex will retire and join the Scholey family as a pet.

A second dog may be purchased in the near future to be trained in explosives detection.

Weigh risks and benefits of tax abatements

JUST A THOUGHT

Julie Witthoef
New or expanding firms mean more jobs, additional household income and a better tax base. But does it mean more income from that tax base for entities like the city, schools and library?

Two manufacturers, CPI Products and LexaLite have approached Charlevoix City Council in the last month to request 12-year tax abatements for their properties in the city's north side industrial park.

Under an approved abatement, they are exempt from paying 50 percent of an amount equal to the city's millage rate times the taxable value of the proposed expansion. This same formula is passed on to other taxing entities like the library, schools, county and ISD — all of whom are giving up 50 percent.

CPI is expanding its existing facility and claim they will provide 25 new jobs in the next two years. The total cost of the abatement is an estimated $41,000 per year to all taxing entities. And LexaLite is reopening its site off Taylor Road and will provide 20 new jobs over the next two years. The total cost of the LexaLite abatement is an estimated $25,500 per year to all taxing entities. The city's loss from both properties is $14,300 per year.

This is the same deal given by city council to Harbor Industries, Nu-Core Inc. and DCL.

In both of these new cases Charlevoix City Council approved the abatement with a lone dissenter, third ward council member Shirley Gibson.

She claims at first blush abatements are nothing more than government welfare. She asked how much money the city loses with these abatements and got no answer. Without the information she felt entitled to, the answer was simply, "No."

We applaud Gibson's decision to throw the brakes on when she doesn't feel she's getting the big picture. However, we argue there is value in providing this tax break.

In this seller's market, most companies seek incentives to locate — waste treatment, tax abatements, infrastructure enhancements — and government officials must weigh the costs against the benefits of granting them.

If these companies hadn't done improvements or opened defunct facilities there would be no new taxable value from them. And with competition from other Michigan communities and states, many of which provide no questions asked abatements, these jobs could easily be going somewhere else.

On the flip side, questions Gibson posed will need answers in the future. Because the benefits may not always outweigh the cost. For example, landing a new firm will stimulate the local economy, but with that growth comes more demand for services. What are the costs of new water, sewer and electric lines versus the revenue those new customers will bring to the city?

City council must understand how far our community can go in granting incentive demands before just throwing out a blanket "Say yes to business." Let's leave the cart behind the horse — create a model under which you evaluate revenues and expenses, including the applicant's employment and payroll information, before establishing incentive options.

80 percent have been free from insulin shots for more than a year." The Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation's own newsletter reports "Researchers in Canada have shown that transplanted adult stem cells from bone marrow can cause pancreatic tissue to repair itself, restoring normal insulin production and reversing the symptoms of diabetes."

Researchers at Massachusetts General Hospital have used adult stem cells from the spleen to regenerate insulin-producing cells and cure diabetes in mice. The Boston Globe calls this "a surprising breakthrough that could be tested in local patients and pen a new chapter in diabetes research."

As for Michigan's economy being somehow "restricted" by not being allowed to pursue embryonic stem cell research, one must ask should we, as a society, allow any company or government to ride the backs of millions of innocent 5 to 7-day-old living embryos in the utilitarian quest for economic gain?

We must not choose between science and ethics. That is, we do not need to sell our souls in the hope of healing our bodies. Science is invaluable in our desire to heal but science without ethics destroys the very humanity that we strive to protect. Science does not have to kill in order to heal.

PUBLIC APOLOGY

Editor:
I would like to apologize to the community of Charlevoix for my actions on Sept. 13. Drinking is a disease I am taking responsibility for and I am seeking help for myself. I would also like to say this is not a court ordered apology, but one coming from the bottom of my heart. For all the members, including my family and children, who witnessed my bad judgments, I am sincerely sorry. I apologize to the law enforcement officials on duty that night and to everyone who did not feel safe in their own community.

Please accept this apology and find it in your hearts to forgive me for I am still a good person who made a bad decision. Thank you and again, I am so sorry for my behavior that may have caused you any grief.

DON'T TRADE LIBERTY FOR SAFETY

Editor:
Every day we are inundated, by the mass media, with stories of doom and gloom concerning everything from Social Security insolvency and the illegal alien invasion to renewed threats of terrorism in the U.S. and increased oil prices due to a diminishing supply of oil in the world. We are seldom given the whole story, much less the truth.

Social Security would be just fine if our legislators would stop spending the surplus each year on pork to ensure reelection or to repay the favors that got them elected in the first place. Our government can stop illegal immigration and reduce the danger of terrorism by simply enforcing existing immigration laws and prosecute employers who illegally hire illegal aliens rather than attempting to give amnesty to garner votes. The U.S. has almost unlimited oil reserves that the oil companies have refused to report to the public, or to tap, until gas prices reach $5 to $10 a gallon. The above are all claimed to be a major problem of our culture, but the facts tend to disagree.

I know he would bring to the County Commissioner's job the same work ethic and compassion I have seen him display in his capacity as veterans counselor.

Please vote for Bob Drebenstedt on Nov. 7. You will have a great advocate if he is elected.

GREEDY LEADERSHIP

Editor:
What Republican Congressman from Florida, Mark Foley, did was outrageous. But, the very same Democrats, who are ready to hang Mark Foley out to dry, did nothing when former President Clinton finally admitted having an affair and had secret meetings with his lady love in the Oval Office. The Democrats who want to tar and feather Foley never once spoke out against Bill Clinton and the shame he brought on this nation.

This all goes to show that most of our nation's leaders think that they are above the law and are just plain greedy egoists.

VOTE FOR DREBENSTEDT

Editor:
With election fast approaching on Nov. 7, I would like to urge everyone eligible to vote in Charlevoix County's District 5 to cast their ballot for Bob Drebenstedt for County Commissioner in that district.

I have known Bob for several years, have worked with him, traveled with him, and I know him to be a hard-working, ethical, good man.

Bob and I are members of the Masonic Lodge, together, as well as the American Legion, but I also serve on the Charlevoix County Veterans' Board and have seen Bob's work as the veterans counselor for the past few years. He is a tireless worker for veterans, as I am sure many will tell you.

I know he would bring to the County Commissioner's job the same work ethic and compassion I have seen him display in his capacity as veterans counselor.

Please vote for Bob Drebenstedt on Nov. 7. You will have a great advocate if he is elected.

FIGHT INEQUALITY

Editor:
Today, inequality is still an issue for women.

As we look back in time, we can see that many things have changed, however, many things still need to change. In fact, one in four women will experience domestic abuse during her lifetime (Tjaden and Thoennes, 2000).

In recognition of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan would like you to take a look at the future. Imagine a world where boys and girls are taught fairness, cooperation, and camaraderie at home and school, so that they can learn to negotiate conflicts peacefully. Where parents and coaches agree that athletics are about good sportsmanship and physical health. Where being told, "You throw like a girl" is a compliment, not a cut down. Where Compliments and the phrase "I'm sorry," are more routine than put downs and name calling. Where loving relationships are based on trust and independence and relationship control and oppression are unacceptable. Where "Boys will be boys" isn't used to excuse bad choices. Where diversity is celebrated and our children know that respect is a relationship requirement. Where the damsel rescues herself and gentle boys are praised. Where children are encouraged to listen to his/her own instincts and feel empowered to ask for help.

How do we get to this imaginary world? The key is for men to become part of the solution. Meaningful cultural shifts must be pursued where social norms support equality, limit sexism, and where violence against women is no longer tolerated.

Freedom, social justice, empowerment, opportunity, equality, hope — these words represent the world of the future. It is ours for the making. Each of us can have an impact.

Chris Krajewski.

LIBRARY QUESTIONS
Editor:
When I looked at the new library, and it is spectacular, I did not see any insulation during construction. Can that be true? Also, why doesn't the black fence all match. I've asked several workers, and they said they have been asked that many times and they did not know.

Also, why aren't the bars in the windows in the glass. It'll be a major job to do window cleaning.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVERS NEED HELP

Editor:
I would like to tell you about a program at Charlevoix Middle School called Future Problem Solvers (FPS). The group solves problems set in the future, and competes against other schools around the state.

Last year, my group made it to the state competition, where we placed eighth out of 20 teams. It was really stressful (three of us went through two packs of gum in two hours), but also really cool. It was an awesome experience.

Unfortunately, due to financial cuts, FPS now has to pay for enrollment, competitions, transportation, and lodging during competitions. FPS students already hold four fundraisers during the school year, but still fall short on funds.

Please help. We are asking the community to donate Olsen's slips and Box Tops for Education to the Middle School FPS program. Both fundraisers are great and can bring in a large sum of money. Monetary donations would also be greatly appreciated.

Donations can be dropped off or mailed to Charlevoix Middle School attn: FPS/Amy Pott, at 108 East Garfield, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

I really like FPS and would be sad if we couldn't compete because of money reasons. Thank you again.

'THANKS' FLOAT FRENZY SUPPORTERS

Editor:
Charlevoix High School tried something new this year, a Float Frenzy, where all classes built their homecoming floats by the football field for one afternoon only. It was a grand success, thanks to sunshine, hard-working students and the willingness of community members to share their time and talents.

The student council specifically thanks Roger Cyr, Beau Boss, Steve Kantola and Dean Spencley for providing tools and training to all the students. We are also grateful to the many parents, advisors and judges who pitched in and made the experiment work so well.

METTLER'S COMMUNITY CONTRIBUTIONS

Editor:
When Bob and Vivian Mettler moved to Charlevoix some years back, a funny thing happened. Slowly but surely they insinuated themselves into our lives, at least, Roxy's and mine. They wormed their way into our hearts.

How many fears, tears and worries we shared. How many the road trips, football days, Beaver Island times, holidays or bleak "winter will last forever" days were warmed by spending them together. Bobby's impish delight at pulling someone's leg or a practical joke were balanced by his very private side. He didn't trust easily but once earned, no one could possibly have a more loyal friend.

Bobby's gleeful grin when his team won the Helen Open was something fine to see, as was the grin he wore this August that you couldn't have wiped off his face going around with the boys one more time. How wonderful it was to laugh with him once again.

Bob and Vivian have given so much of themselves, their hearts and their resources to this community. They didn't just make Charlevoix their home, they became locals. They became family, the sort that distance doesn't diminish. We mourn Bobby's death and he will be keenly missed from our lives. Join us please in extending your love and support. Ah Bobby, 'twas good to know ya.

Hospital to host low-cost screening event

Charlevoix Area Hospital will host "It's My Turn," a low-cost mammogram screening program from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 21 at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The hospital staff's goal is to eliminate as many of the factors that keep women from getting mammograms as possible.

Insurance issues are often a main area of stress for mammogram clients. Some insurance doesn't cover screening mammograms, or apply a large deductible making the screening unaffordable for many women.

Another common reason women avoid mammograms is discomfort. "It's My Turn" program participants will be pampered with a mini-massage, mini-manicure, treats and healthy snacks.

Sue Morris, organizer of the annual Pink Ribbon Ride in Boyne City, will be on hand. The ride raises money for programs that are helping local cancer patients and families.

A grant through the Charlevoix Community Foundation as well as funds from the Pink Ribbon Ride and Charlevoix's Tri 4 Fun Triathlon are being directed to the "It's My Turn" program.

For more information, call (231) 547-4024.

Local schools seek volunteer assistance

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

No matter your area of expertise, local schools need community members willing to volunteer their time.

According to Zita Winn, longtime volunteer and mother of a Charlevoix student, there is no minimum amount of time required of volunteers, and no end to the work to be done.

"The media center is probably the highest on the list. They need coverage for lunch hours and reshelving books," Winn said. "I know the elementary school has just one person that's running the media center and I think they are in great need of help."

As a member of the Charlevoix

High School Curriculum Design Team, Winn understands the needs of local schools.

"The curriculum design team develops and implements school improvement goals," Winn said.

Winn emphasized not all volunteers need to put in as much time as it takes to be a member of the design team.

"That really is up to the volunteer," she said. "We don't want anyone to do more than they can."

Local schools need playground monitors, folks willing to read to students and individuals capable of helping with special needs students.

"The volunteer gets so much more out of their time than they put into it with the children,"

Winn said.

She added, "It's amazing what it does for your heart. It just feels good."

Winn said volunteering is for "Absolutely anybody in the community that feels they have an hour or two."

Since school officials don't always know what needs are it pertains to volunteers until such needs arise, Winn hopes to build a bank of volunteers by having people fill out the Rayder Aid forms available at the elementary, middle or high school.

"I think we just need to match the expertise of the people in the community with the needs of our local schools," Winn said. "While volunteering I've met some wonderful people. It's rewarding to help kids that are struggling or need just a little bit of extra attention."

Co-administrator of Northwest Academy, Gary Stutzman, said adding the elementary classes to his school has increased the need for volunteers as well.

"We always need help at the front desk answering phones and doing basic secretarial work," he said. "Anyone that would like to be involved between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. for noon-hour supervision, that would be very helpful."

Northwest Academy will be looking for coaching help next year for the soccer, golf and tennis teams.

"The children really appreciate seeing people in the building giving their time and talents," he said. "I think it builds a spree decor, a camaraderie feeling for the volunteer of belonging and making a positive contribution in the community."

For a group of Pine River Place residents, a destructive act resulted in a lesson about mankind's compassion.

Judith Wedemeier, a resident of Charlevoix's Pine River Place, a low-income senior housing apartment complex off West Garfield Avenue, jumped in her car on a cold, rainy Sunday morning, Sept. 24. At that same time, a fellow resident, was also leaving the Pine River Place parking lot.

Wedemeier said she noticed her stop after backing up. And saw that her front tire was flat. She took a quick look at the pickup truck between them, saw that vehicle too had a flat and checked her own tires only to find one had been slashed.

"The lady next to me said, 'I'm going to call AAA.' I said, 'I'm going to call 911,'" Wedemeier recalled.

A City of Charlevoix patrolman arrived less than five minutes later and surveyed the parking lot to find a total of 10 cars with slashed tires. Of the 62 Pine River Place residents, about 20 have cars.

"About half were slashed. It was wild," said Wedemeier, who moved to Pine River Place in July. "My first feeling was these people don't deserve this. Everyone here is so spunky. They would not wish anyone ill. They think the best of everyone and make the best of situations. What kind of happiness did this person get out of doing this?"

An investigation found four other vehicles in the area had also been vandalized for a total of 14.

Then, early last week, the apartment complex manager, Rona Harrison, met Wedemeier in the hall and urged her to check her mail. She found an unfamiliar letter from a couple she didn't recognize in Prudenville. Inside was a letter stating that the author hoped the enclosed check for $80 would to some degree make up for the loss she had suffered in the tire slashing.

The anonymous donor had done this for all 10 of the victims in the complex.

"We've seen the other side of human nature in their generosity," Wedemeier said.

The investigation into this incident continues. According to Charlevoix Deputy Police Chief, Scott Hankins, the evidence is being processed but at this point, no suspect interviews have been scheduled.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Charlevoix Police Department at (231) 547-3258.

A reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person(s) involved.

Candidates sound off at public forum

ELECTION 2006

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Sunday's forum at the new Charlevoix Public Library featured candidates running for city, county and state government.

Moderated by Charlevoix's own, Roger Knutson, candidates were asked questions on topics ranging from education to the local economy.

IN THE RACE FOR COUNTY COMMISSION

"I believe in being involved in the community," said First District County Commissioner, Connie Saltonstall (unaffiliated). "I have no special interest or agenda."

Saltonstall said, if reelected, she will continue to work toward openness in county government.

"To save the taxpayers nearly $200,000 in repairs to the jail, I pushed the county prosecutor to ensure the contractor would fix (air quality issues)," she said.

"Also, I believe Shirlene (Tripp, Republican District One candidate) wants to reverse the smoking ban and is also against the trail which I support."

While Tripp isn't against supporting a trail system from Charlevoix to Boyne City, she said, "I just feel at this time that the timing is not the best."

Tripp, who did not respond to the accusation involving the smoking ban, said the commissioners must do a better job of listening to the taxpaying public.

• Their thoughts on a county administrator?

Tripp said she favors hiring someone to take over the fiscal officer duties, but said "Is this person going to fill the void of the county commissioners for work they should be doing themselves?"

Saltonstall countered by saying few, if any, operations with budgets as large as Charlevoix County are run by committees.

• Both candidates agreed the agreement between the Commission on Aging and the Charlevoix Senior Center Inc. was a positive step.

IN THE RACE FOR CHARLEVOIX CITY COUNCIL

First Ward Councilman, Bill Haggard, faces challenger, Lyle Gennett.

Gennett's biggest concerns are the nonexistent maintenance on Charlevoix's City Hall and safety concerns during the Venetian Festival.

Haggard said he is proud of the enactment of the citizens committee.

Second Ward Councilman, Gabe Campbell's seat is being contested by Greg Stevens.

Campbell said his biggest concern with the city is zoning.

"When somebody wants to build, they don't know how to go about doing that," he said. "Right now, we're (City of Charlevoix) gonna get sued no matter which way we turn on a development. I think that's tragic and it's bad for the city."

Stevens, who said, "I don't seek this position with an agenda or an axe to grind," said a city council seat seems to be the natural progression for him.

Sitting Third Ward Councilman, Sherm Chamberlain, faces Tonia Wells.

"I'm running for the third ward council seat because I think things need to change," Wells said.

Chamberlain said, "Running is my way of serving the public. I believe my three decades of business experience can help the city."

• When asked why so many local stores sit empty, Wells said, "Locals can't afford to shop there. Most of the shops are aimed at tourists."

Gennett said rent is a factor, but affordable housing is an even bigger issue.

Campbell said the city is considering raising the infrastructure millage. He said high taxes are partly to blame for the exorbitant rental rates.

"I don't think we should raise taxes until we get our pocketbook in order," he said. "We have to tighten our purse strings."

Chamberlain said two-thirds of local revenue is consumer spending generated.

"The simple answer is to bring more shoppers to Charlevoix," he said.

But, he admitted, there is fierce competition for resort dollars in northern Michigan. He said the Chamber of Commerce needs to help find solutions.

Stevens said there should be more handicap parking downtown.

Haggard said there isn't much the city council can do about empty stores.

"I think the chamber kind of dropped the ball themselves," he said. "(Businesses) need to be creative and not all have the same shops downtown."

Haggard said moving the Venetian Festival will only further impair Charlevoix's earning potential.

"That one week brings in three or four months worth of rent," he said.

Gennett said, as an EMS worker, he knows how difficult it is to get to and from the fire station during the festival.

"I can't put $30,000 against a life," he said.

• Council members were asked for their personal evaluation of City Manager, Mike Wiesner.

Haggard and Chamberlain said Wiesner is a capable man.

"He's made some mistakes, but everybody has," Stevens said.

Campbell said he has doubts about Wiesner's performance.

"With a smile on my face, I say change can be good," said Gennett, whose sentiments were echoed by Wells.

IN THE RACE FOR THE 105TH DISTRICT

MICHIGAN HOUSE SEAT:

Democrat, Tom Hay Bauer, hopes to unseat Republican, Kevin Elsenheimer.

IN THE RACE FOR THE 37TH MICHIGAN SENATE SEAT:

Democrat, Sharon Unger, hopes to beat Republican Senator, Jason Allen. Allen did not attend Sunday's forum.

• How would House and Senate candidates respond to the potential loss in revenue from early elimination of the Single Business Tax (SBT)?

Unger said some type of tax on business is needed, but agreed the SBT, "Was hurting businesses."

Elsenheimer said there is, "A hole left in the budget. A portion of that needs to be made up by focusing on a profits-based tax."

Local Scout to attend World Jamboree in England

A Charlevoix Boy Scout will be among 2,400 Scouts and leaders comprising the American contingent who will attend the 21st World Jamboree to be held in England.

G. Paul Stolt

Glen 'Paul' Stolt II of Charlevoix Troop 11, chartered to the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, has been selected as one of the young men and women who will represent the Boy Scouts of America and the Council at the quadrennial event. The Bauer agreed on the idea of a profit-based tax on business.

• How will Michigan maintain quality education while slashing school budgets?

Elsenheimer said Michigan increases school funding at a rate which outpaces inflation, but health care and retirement costs must be reduced.

Bauer said Proposal A was, "A one-size-fits-all solution." He said equality in funding across school districts is important.

Unger said the state must make education a priority.

• Will an increase in firearm legislation end school shootings?

All three candidates support farmland and open space preservation and all three oppose an increase in firearm legislation.

Unger, who favors harsher sentences for those who misuse guns, said, "Lock them up and throw away the key."

Elsenheimer said, "No law can change a human heart. There is no legal action, though sometimes we cry for them."

The election during which these seats will be decided will take place from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 7. For voting information call (231) 547-7200.

Jamboree will be held July 27 - Aug. 8, 2007, at Hylands Park, Chelmsford, England hosted by the Scout Association of the United Kingdom. Gilwell Park, the home of Scouting in the UK, is close to both Hylands Park and London.

Using the theme "One World, One Promise," Scouts will test skills with teenage youth from many lands, take part in competitive events and enjoy the fellowship and pageantry of world Scouting. Jamboree activities will include touring London prior to returning home.

The world gathering includes 40,000 Scouts, Venturers, leaders and staff from 155 countries.

Stolt is one of four Scouts who will attend from the Scenic Trails Council. Stolt, an eighth-grade student at Concord Academy in Petoskey is the son of Glen and Lynda Stolt of Charlevoix. Stolt attended the 2005 National Jamboree at Fort A.P. Hill, Va. and is looking forward to this event with much eagerness and enthusiasm.

"It will be an experience like no other to be able to interact with other Scouts and scouters from 155 different countries," he said.

The last World Jamboree was held in 2003 on a Pacific Ocean beach in Thailand. The first was in England in 1920. Only one, in 1967, has been held in the United States. At that event, 12,000 youth from 105 countries camped at Farragut State Park in northern Idaho.

For more information about this event, call the Scenic Trails Council (800) 466-2102.

Local deer harvest on par with last season

According to wildlife biologists with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, white-tailed deer numbers across the state of Michigan are similar to a year ago.

The biologists have estimated this year's combined archery and firearm deer harvest will be similar to last year's total, about 415,000 animals, with an estimated 60 percent of those deer taken in southern Michigan.

About 725,000 individuals are expected to go deer hunting this year. Deer hunters will contribute more than $500 million to Michigan's economy through the purchase of food, lodging, transportation and equipment.

According to the Department of Natural Resources' annual statewide deer hunting forecast, the deer herd is dynamic and not evenly distributed across the state. The white-tailed deer's reproductive capability and their ability to adapt to the variety of habitats across the state have resulted in a Michigan deer herd estimated to be over 1.6 million animals. This is exciting to citizens who enjoy hunting or observing deer, but is problematic to the habitat and the overall ecosystem.

Deer-vehicle accidents are still high in many areas, damage from deer to agricultural crops remains high, and both growth and vegetative composition in some forest areas has been disrupted by deer.

Deer distribution also varies within every deer management unit (DMU). Most deer are found on private land. According to the Department of Natural Resources, harvesting deer through hunting helps keep the deer herd in balance with the habitat. The group claims regulated hunter-harvest of both sexes is necessary to maintain a healthy and thriving deer population.

Antlerless deer license quotas are established for each deer management unit to achieve a desired harvest of antlerless deer for that unit. Where an increased deer population is desired, no antlerless deer licenses are offered.

"Overall, we are expecting this year's harvest to be approximately an equal number of antlered and antlerless deer," Clute said. "But in southern Michigan, we would like to see the antlerless harvest exceed the antlered harvest."

Deer hunting in the northern Lower Peninsula will be about the same as a year ago. The buck harvest is expected to be similar to last year and the antlerless deer harvest is expected to be down. There are fewer deer management units open to the harvest of antlerless deer on public land than in 2005. Antlerless licenses are not available for Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Lake or Wexford counties. The Department of Natural Resources also will be collecting deer heads from hunters wishing to cooperate in the ongoing statewide surveillance for bovine tuberculosis.

For the more detailed forecast, visit the Department of Natural Resources Web site at www.michigan.gov/dnr.

Matthew Murray, 13, of Charlevoix, shot this six-point buck in Charlevoix County on Sept. 23, the first day of the youth hunt. Michigan Department of Natural Resources officials have said the deer harvest in the northern Lower Peninsula should be similar to last season.

Weekend storage unit break-in spree

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office is investigating a series of breaking and entering events at storage units in Marion Township.

The incidents are believed to have taken place late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, Oct. 15 when several suspects kicked in doors of 20 pole barn storage buildings in the Woodland Storage, Winter Harbor and Boat Works complexes off Loeb Road.

The thieves took a variety of portable items from various buildings, vehicles or boats stored inside.

Citizens who may have had their building entered or damaged and wish to file a report are asked to contact the Sheriff's Office if they have not already been contacted.

Anyone with information about the incidents is asked to contact Sheriff George Lasater or Lieutenant Don Sproul at (231) 547-4461. A $500 reward has been offered for information leading to an arrest.

Security bill calls for more notice in live fire zones

CHARLEVOIX COURIER 17

This year's funding bill for the Department of Homeland Security includes a provision requiring the Coast Guard to provide enhanced public notice beyond just marine band radio when preparing for live fire weapons training on the Great Lakes.

Congressman Dave Obey (D-WI) and Congressman Bart Stupak (D-MI) announced the passage of the provision late last week, saying it would help to keep the public safe.

"Great Lakes mariners deserve to know, before they set out, if the Coast Guard is going to be conducting training exercises that could affect their plans," said

Obey. "No matter how the Coast Guard finally decides to handle its training areas, this provision will ensure that boaters get fair warning of areas to avoid."

"Northern Michigan fishermen and boaters do not always view marine band radio as their primary source of nautical information. Many recreational fishermen do not have the radios, so it is imperative that the Coast Guard provide as much notice as possible," noted Stupak. "This legislation will ensure that, at minimum, the Coast Guard employs other methods of communication to put out the word that they will be conducting a live fire exercise."

Citing concerns that the Coast Guard's recent proposal to establish live-fire zones (including one in Charlevoix) on the Great Lakes was not well-coordinated with the public, the final conference report for the Homeland Security appropriations measure specifically directs the Coast Guard to "notify the public beyond just using marine band radio."

The legislation was signed into law by President Bush on Oct. 4.

The Ninth Coast Guard District, which includes the Great Lakes, is proposing the establishment of 34 zones throughout the Great Lakes that will periodically be used for live gunfire training exercises. The safety zones are expected to occupy a total area of 2.5 percent of the surface area of the Great Lakes or 2,376 square miles.

Obey serves as the top Democrat on the U.S. House Appropriations Committee. Stupak, whose district includes more shoreline than any other Congressional district with the exception of Alaska, has been calling for greater oversight and public input into the Coast Guard's live-fire proposal.

Public meetings for the Coast Guard to gather input will be held throughout the Great Lakes Basin in coming weeks.

The Coast Guard has scheduled public meetings for Nov. 3 in Charlevoix.

The Coast Guard has also extended its public comment period into early November, allowing citizens that are unable to attend the meetings to file comments.

Public comments or concerns can be submitted through three different methods. The public may enter their comments via the Web at <http://dms.dot.gov>, via fax at (202) 493-2251 or via mail at Docket Management Facility U.S. Department of Transportation, Room PL-401, 400 SW, Washington, DC 20590-0001.

Charlevoix residents star on YouTube

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Now anyone can be the star of their own home movie, humorous commercial or horror skit with the 20-month-old free Web service www.YouTube.com.

The new Internet craze has even reached Charlevoix. Simply go to www.YouTube.com, type Charlevoix in the search box and you will find several videos ranging from vacationers enjoying a camping trip, to a home movie of a youngster running around with an ice-cream cone, to a carload of teenage girls joyriding near Lake Michigan Beach.

"It is pretty user-friendly, and to be able to share video and pictures with relatives out of state is wonderful," said Cathy Lord, a Genesee County resident who uploaded the movie of her family's camping trip in Charlevoix to www.YouTube.com. "Plus, some people have pretty funny stuff on there."

Those concerned with strangers seeing their private home movies can determine whether the videos are available to a select few or a few million viewers.

How to post a movie to YouTube

First, you must register with basic information about yourself.

All you need is a digital still or movie camera and access to a computer with either Apple's iMovie or PC-based Windows Movie Maker.

Create an mpeg or avi file using Dvix or Xvid or upload them from certain cell phones, though you can create a mov file using iMovie.

Videos and slide shows must be maximum 10 minutes or 100 Mb or smaller.

Go to www.YouTube.com and click on the "upload" icon on the upper right corner of the screen.

Follow the basic instructions which require you to title and describe your movie, tag it with keywords which will help others find your movie more quickly. For example, if your movie is about camping, one of your tags would be, "Camping."

You must also choose which category best describes your movie or slide show.

Lord said much of her family lives in other states. She said www.YouTube.com allows her to share moments such as her children's birthdays, sporting events and family trips with everyone by simply uploading them to the site.

"My mom always watches everything I post and my cousins are 2,500 miles away. They can only come every three or four years to visit, so it's a way to keep in touch and it's even better because it's video," Lord said. "They have these little invites and you can invite various people to watch your video. The nice thing is it doesn't really download it to your machine, it just lets you watch it."

She added, "It doesn't take all that long to upload it."

While obscene material is prohibited from www.YouTube.com's site, there are many videos of women in revealing outfits striking various poses, adult related humor and violence.

"I think, probably, people should always screen what their children watch. I would," she said. "But, pretty much, people use it in a responsible manner."

But, she added, "You never know."

To see how user-friendly the site actually is, this reporter used a few photos from the cooking dinner on the engine trip I took last week.

After turning the still digital images into a slide show using iMovie, the .mov file was compressed for Internet use and uploaded to YouTube's Web site within five minutes.

There was a processing time of 15 to 20 minutes after the file was uploaded before the movie could be viewed by anyone else. But once the movie is uploaded, you can walk away from the computer.

All in all, I would say www.YouTube.com is as user-friendly as a Web site can be. Those with even basic computer knowledge should be uploading their home movies in minutes.

To see The Drive For Dinner, visit: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JCK7SIQnPg0> or just cruise the site to see thousands and thousands of whacky and entertaining episodes.

If you're a Star Wars fan and you could use a good laugh, check out my personal favorite, the "Chad Vader" series. It follows a guy named Chad AKA Darth Vader, in full Vader regalia, as the frustrated day shift manager of a grocery store.

YouTube business facts

- A deal announced on Oct. 9 that YouTube was to be purchased from co-founders Steve Chen and Chad Hurley by Google in a stock deal worth $1.65 billion.
- Founded in February 2005, the site's full services were not open to the public until November of last year.
- Estimates by sites such as Wikipedia have claimed YouTube has more than 100 million videos viewed and more than 60,000 videos uploaded to the site per day.

Charlevoix Country Club to go private

Charlevoix Country Club, a semi-private facility featuring an award-winning Jerry Matthews designed championship golf course, announced it will become a private country club on Jan. 1, 2007.

"From the beginning, the vision was to become a private club, and we feel now is the right time to become private to best serve our current and future members," said Kip Thomas, an owner of Charlevoix Country Club. "As a semi-private club, we were trying to serve a variety of constituents. As a private club we will be able to totally focus on improving the private club experience for our members."

The transition comes 13 years after the club opened in 1993 as a semi-private recreational facility and residential community. The Charlevoix Country Club offers its members a number of amenities including: Mahogany's, an award-winning full service restaurant, a members' lounge, tennis courts, outdoor heated patio, heated swimming pool with separate men's and women's locker rooms, a snack shop serving hot meals and cool drinks, a fitness center available to membership 24 hours a day, and the golf course and associated golf practice facilities.

The Jerry Matthews designed golf course is known for its impeccable grooming and playing conditions. The course was recognized by Golf Digest in 2004 with a four-star rating. Two Guys Who Golf's Web site writes Michigan Golf Course Reviews and they say, "A course that boasts private club conditioning and service. Beautifully manicured bent grass fairways and the clubhouse is upscale all the way."

Golfing and non-golfing members alike will be delighted by the ambiance and cuisine presented in Mahogany's. The full service restaurant, with potato encrusted walleye and steaks as signature dishes, received the Northern Express Readers

Choice award for Best Steaks in 2005 and the Best Romantic Place for dinner award in 2004.

Mahogany's is located in the 15,000 square foot clubhouse that features a wrap-around dining porch, a 28-foot tall fieldstone fireplace, full service bar, players lounge and complete pro shop.

Club members can take advantage of a number of activities. The golf activities include the annual member/guest tournaments, club championships, Friday night couples golf, family fun days, match play tournaments and men's and women's leagues. The club's full social calendar includes an annual welcome back and new members welcome party, a mid-summer beach party, Oktoberfest, pumpkin carving party, the Holiday Dinner Dance, and the ever popular New Year's Eve party.

"We believe our facilities and the amenities we offer are top-notch and second to none," said Thomas.

Rayder hoops head into league showdown with two big wins

It's on the road for a showdown for the Charlevoix High School girls' basketball team.

The Rayders won a pair of critical games last week, topping Boyne City, 74-72, in overtime on Oct. 10, then had an easier time with Elk Rapids, 77-38, on Thursday, Oct. 12.

Charlevoix takes a 9-3 overall, 6-1 league mark into a game Tuesday, Oct. 17, at East Jordan. The Red Devils and Rayders share the league lead. Both are 6-1.

Against Boyne, a variety of Rayders had their foot on the pedal.

Junior guard, Desi Faust, who finished with 14 points, sunk all four of her 3-point attempts in the first half to help give Charlevoix a 31-29 half-time lead.

Sophomore, Tammy Potter, had a double-double, 14 points and 11 rebounds. At 5-foot-8, she took it to Boyne City's taller front line in the fourth quarter. She scored five points in a 30-second span to bring the Rayders to within two, 57-55, with two minutes left in regulation.

Senior guard, Lori Zimmerman, made two lay-ups in the final 30 seconds of regulation, the first slashing out of the half-court, the second taking it end-to-end, to tie the game, 62-62. She missed the and-one chance on the second hoop with 10 seconds on the clock — Charlevoix was 13-for-31 from the stripe — but Boyne City's Allison Aown couldn't convert a last chance on the other end.

Zimmerman did convert a lay-up and bonus with 2:20 to go in overtime to give Charlevoix its largest lead since the game's opening minutes, 70-64, and the Rayders played out the win. She finished with 15 points.

Robyn Petzak scored the Rayders' first six points, then four in overtime, and finished with 14. Senior center, Ashlie Bradley, had nine rebounds for Charlevoix and senior guard, Sasha Spenceley, had five rebounds and five steals.

"This was the first time this year we showed the drive it takes to win this kind of game," Charlevoix coach Keith Haske said.

Senior forward, Holly Stanek, slowed by foul trouble, led Boyne City with 19 points. Given that she went for 30 a week ago at Kalkaska, the Rayders could live with that. Junior center, Jessica Knysz, added 18 points and 11 rebounds for the Ramblers.

"I thought we played really well defensively against Holly," Haske said. "We worked hard to get position against her and she earned every point she got."

On Thursday against Elk Rapids, Spenceley had 11 points, six rebounds and six steals to lead the Rayders, while Lori Zimmerman and Murphy Gillespie both scored nine, with Zimmerman adding four assists and five steals. The Elks are 4-8, 2-5.

Charlevoix's JV team also won both games. KC McCary had 22 points and 12 rebounds and Meridith Rich added 14 points in a 65-53 win over East Jordan. Ericka Faust scored 15 points, and Bridget Peters had 11 points and 10 rebounds in the Rayders' 66-47 win over Elk Rapids.

Charlevoix played at 5 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 16 against Boyne City at Kipke Field in a district soccer opener. Results from this game were not available by press time.

The Charlevoix golf team played Monday as well in the weather-delayed Division III regional tournament in Big Rapids. Results were not available by press time. If they finish in the top three there, they'll play in the state tournament this weekend, Friday and Saturday.

The Charlevoix football team will end regular season play at 7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 20 when they face Grayling on their home turf, Kipke Field.

The girls' basketball team will follow-up its Oct. 17 showdown for first place against the Red Devils, with a home game at 6 p.m. on Oct. 19 against Harbor Springs.

The cross country teams will compete in their final meet of the season at 9 a.m. on Oct. 21 at the Elk Rapids Invitational.

Results from these sporting events will appear in next week's Courier.

Men's rec basketball meeting is on Oct. 23

There will be an organizational meeting for adult men's basketball at 7 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 23 in the basement of Charlevoix City Hall located at 210 State St.

There will be a discussion about having a 35 and older or 40 and older "No Fast-break Basketball" league. There will also be a discussion about a co-ed basketball league.

Those interested in the programs are asked to attend.

For more information, call the Charlevoix Recreation Department (231) 547-3253.

Football team continues its winning drive toward playoffs

Charlevoix picked up momentum heading into the playoffs as Cliff Jones rushed for 80 yards on six carries Friday, Oct. 13 in leading the Rayders to a 29-0 win over Harbor Springs on an absolutely miserable night at the Rams' Ottawa Stadium.

It was the Rayders' fifth straight win and they improved to 7-1 overall, 5-1 in the Lake Michigan Conference. Harbor is 1-7, 1-5.

Unable to generate much offense through the air, thanks mainly to horrible weather conditions that included gusty winds, and snow mixed with rain, the Rayders turned to the ground game for all four of its touchdowns.

Jones scored on a 21-yard run, Dan Swenor scored on a 15-yard run, Kyle Jones scored on a 3-yard run, and Drew Klooster scored on a 5-yard run.

"With the weather, our passing game was non-existent,"

Charlevoix coach Don Jess said. "It was the worst I've seen, as a player or coach, because there was everything — snow, wind, rain."

Matt Kanine and Cliff Jones each scored a two-point conversion, while Klooster led Charlevoix's defense with 12 tackles, and Chris Waha had 10.

"Harbor Springs has some big, strong kids up front," Jess said. "They're getting better every game."

Girls' cross country finish fifth at Oct. 14 Northern Lower Peninsula Invitational

Charlevoix junior, Alina Dhaseleer, finished in 20 minutes, 17 seconds Saturday, Oct. 14 to win the girls' race in the Northern Lower Peninsula Cross Country Invitational at Ogemaw Heights High School. Charlevoix finished fifth with 108 points in the 10-team girls' event.

An estimated 430,000 rounds of ammunition may be shot into the Great Lakes per year

So what is at the bottom of our lakes...

- 6,900 pounds of Lead
- 2,800 pounds of Copper
- Zinc
- Antimony

Graphic by Jessie Healy

An open house/public hearing on the Coast Guard's live fire exercises runs from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 3 at the Charlevoix Public Library, located at 220 Clinton St. in Charlevoix. A conservative estimate of 430,000 rounds per year may be shot into the Great Lakes if this live fire plan is approved, for a total of, as reported by the Associated Press, 6,900 pounds of lead and 2,800 pounds of copper introduced into the lake every year. The bullets also contain zinc and antimony.

Coast Guard live fire plan raises environmental, safety concerns

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Concerned with machine-gun fire on, and the introduction of toxins into, Lake Michigan? The United States Coast Guard wants to hear what you think.

An open house/public hearing on the Coast Guard's live fire exercises runs from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 3 at the Charlevoix Public Library, located at 220 Clinton St. in Charlevoix.

"For right now, there's a temporary hold on actual live fire exercises until the public comment period is over, Nov. 13," said Petty Officer, Matthew Schofield, spokesman for the Ninth Coast Guard District, Cleveland, Ohio.

Coast Guard cutters and small boats are being equipped with the M-240 bravo machine gun which fires a lead payload, copper jacketed 7.62 NATO round.

"They shoot a specified number of rounds to increase proficiency and practice in real working type scenarios," Schofield said. "It gives us a real world scenario. It's one thing to stand flat on the ground to shoot something, but it's another thing altogether to be out on the lake and have the effects of a moving base and a moving target."

He added, "The Coast Guard has (conducted) an extensive environmental impact study before even thinking about doing this."

According to the 89 page "Preliminary Health Risk Assessment for Proposed U.S. Coast Guard Weapons Training Exercises" report prepared by E2M and CH2M Hill in January 2006, a conservative estimate of 430,000 rounds per year may be shot into the Great Lakes, for a total of, as reported by the Associated Press, 6,900 pounds of lead and 2,800 pounds of copper introduced into the lake every year.

The bullets also contain zinc.

Marina bids come in $800,000 under estimate

BY JULIE WITTHOEFT
EDITOR

Charlevoix's East Park and marina renovation project scored an $800,000 coupon last week.

Bids were opened for the first and second phases of the $11 million project on Oct. 19. These first two phases were estimated to cost about $3.8 million but bids came in around $3 million — an almost $1 million savings to the city.

"This is great for Charlevoix," mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said. "People are hungry (for work) and bids are lower than estimated costs all across the state."

According to John Schlak, an engineer with the firm handling the marina project, United Design Associates of Cheboygan, both the seawall replacement contract and new dock system contract were lower than what was initially estimated. However, the seawall was proportionally lower than the floating piers.

He added that Charlevoix City Council is expected to award the contracts to the lowest qualified bidder. Approval of the dock and seawall contracts will also need to come from the state funding agency, the Waterways Commission, which is funding 75 percent of the marina project. The Downtown Development Authority will pay for the balance.

Of the eight bidders vying for the contract to replace the existing sea wall, Molon Excavating Inc. of Traverse City was the low bidder at $1,616,578.53. The second low bid was from a Charlevoix business, owned by Ben Cunningham called R.B. Lyons Inc. Cunningham's bid was for $1,722,025.

The seawall replacement project is called Phase 1. It will include

Locals prepare to fight Coast Guard live fire plan

LIVE FIRE

healthful in small amounts and antimony, a toxin found in flame-retardant mattresses and car exhaust.

While small amounts of copper and zinc are essential for proper health and antimony is found in some medicine, overdoses of any of these can have negative effects on health.

When asked about possible environmental concerns relating to the live fire exercises, and whether a company such as CH2M Hill, which receives hundreds of millions of dollars in government contracts each year, should be doing environmental reports for the same government, U.S. Congressman Bart Stupak wrote in an e-mailed response, "Every year, 65 million pounds of fish are harvested from the Great Lakes, contributing at least $1 billion to the Great Lakes economy so the ecological effects of the Coast Guard's proposal must be considered."

He added, "I am not entirely confident that the Coast Guard's environmental study contemplates the full impact of more than doubling the amount of lead and other metals that are dumped into the Great Lakes."

While the Traverse City Record Eagle recently reported the Coast Guard would introduce more lead into the lakes than all Michigan industries combined, CH2M Hill's health risk assessment stated, "In summary, sediment, surface water, and fish tissue concentrations of antimony, copper, lead, and zinc did not exceed human health and ecological values."

A statement on the CH2M Hill Web site claims, "Our success coordinating with regulators and addressing community concerns ensures that environmental regulations and public involvement issues do not adversely affect the testing, evaluation, destruction, or cleanup goals at a given site."

The Coast Guard anticipates it will have 34 "Safety Zones," each approximately three miles in expanse.

"To effectively protect the public, we need to be staffed, trained and equipped to defend the homeland and enforce laws," Schofield said. "The Coast Guard strategically chose most zones in areas that are low traffic areas. So there's very minimal risk. Safety is the utmost important thing. It's not something that's taken lightly at all during any training with weapons."

The Preliminary Health Risk report states exercises will not occur near potable water supplies. Schofield said the Coast Guard will adhere to a minimum of five miles from shore when conducting live fire exercises.

Superintendent of the City of Charlevoix waste water treatment plant and water treatment plant, Jim Caldwell, said the longest water intake pipe running into Lake Michigan is 2,000 feet long and will be nowhere near five miles from shore.

But, Caldwell said, the Charlevoix plant does not remove lead, copper, antimony or zinc from the water other than what naturally settles during the waste water treatment process.

Charlevoix resident, Christa-Maria, has concerns with live ammunition being fired, "In the path of ferries and boats."

"How will this affect tourism on Beaver Island?" Christa-Maria asked. "Most of the boats in our harbor do at least one trip a year to Beaver Island, so why do they (Coast Guard) need to do live fire exercises and use ammunition that has lead in it?"

Christa-Maria said all the government needs to do is call the lead levels permissible, "Then they can pretend it's not there. But, when you see all the (safety) zones, you know it's not just a little bit of lead that's going to be going in the lake."

Christa-Maria said she thinks the maneuvers are a good idea, but should be done in areas and at times where there is no boat traffic.

"They can have those maneuvers on the Pacific or Atlantic (oceans) where they have more room and where they don't have fresh water to contaminate," she said. "People should be afraid to take their sailboat to Beaver Island knowing... there will be live fire. I know they (Coast Guard) have warning programs, but there are a lot of open-ended questions I have."

Beaver Island resident, Mary Scholl, believes the Coast Guard should choose one place on Lake Michigan, mark it as a danger zone and practice there.

"I really don't think they need to use lead with copper coating on it, which is deadly. I think they could use plastic bullets or lasers to learn how to fire guns, particularly across ferry routes," she said. "It seems like lunacy...It feels like homeland security is out to kill us all. And to take one-third of the Great Lakes and turn it into a practice range?"

Scholl added, "I love the water and the lakes and the fish and the people. I love the Coast Guard, but it seems to me that this is not a wise policy."

Scholl doesn't understand why the state of Michigan would outlaw the use of lead bird shot, but allow busbel baskets of lead bullets to be shot into the lakes.

"They say they'll warn people. How do you warn somebody that has no phone, no radio? People go fishing on the outer islands. Some of them nde those little water crafts and they don't have radios," she said.

The risk assessment was evaluated for training activity which would last five years.

"Risks associated with training activities that extend beyond this five-year period are not evaluated in this (report)," the report stated. "Chemical concentrations in fish were modeled from predicted concentrations in sediment and surface water. The use of generic, literature-derived exposure models and bio-accumulation factors introduces some uncertainty into the resulting estimates."

According to an Oct. 6 press release from Stupak, he worked to urge the Coast Guard to give people in this area a chance to opine.

"There are 11 live fire zones spread throughout the waters off the shores of my district," Stupak said. "Yet the Coast Guard originally planned not to have any meetings in my district."

Staff votes on five statewide ballot proposals

EDITORIAL

While the Courier will not be endorsing individual candidates this election season, we will reveal how we weigh in on five statewide ballot proposals.

The reason for endorsing proposals and not people is simple — ballot proposals are a plain “yes” or “no” to legislation that has a concrete outcome while candidates are packed with promises they may never deliver.

First up, Proposal 1, a constitutional amendment that would require money held in conservation and recreation funds to be used for their intended purposes. We vote “yes” on Proposal 1. These funds commonly come from hunting licenses and fees and should be directed to sustaining recreation — one of Michigan’s most important resources.

Proposal 2 deals with the sticky subject of affirmative action. If approved, it will ban affirmative action programs that give preferential treatment to groups or individuals based on their race, gender, color, ethnicity or national origin for public employment, education or contracting purposes. This includes state and local government, public colleges and universities and school districts. We support the ban on affirmative action. We vote “yes” on Proposal 2 and argue that different standards should not be applied in hiring or admitting an individual based on the aforementioned factors — the common denominator in both situations should be qualifications.

If approved, Proposal 3 will allow hunting of mourning doves in Michigan with a small game license and a $2 mourning dove stamp. We support dove hunting in Michigan and will vote “yes” on Proposal 3. Studies have shown hunting of the birds will not drain the population and hunters from other states have expressed interest in hunting the birds here, bringing their wallets with them. While the opposition claims there is economic value in the doves which are songbirds, we argue the stamp funds, which will be used to fund state fish and wildlife programs, along with revenue from hunters, will outweigh the cost.

Our fourth “yes” vote is on Proposal 4. If approved, it would become more difficult for the government to take private property by eminent domain for private purposes. We don’t find it funny when the government takes something from one person, gives it to another and then tells us it’s for our own good. We don’t think a drugstore, restaurant or research facility has more right to our land than we do. While this only helps protect us from having our property transferred to another private entity, it’s a step in the right direction as far as protecting the rights of homeowners is concerned.

Our only “no” vote is on Proposal 5, a legislative initiative to establish mandatory school funding levels. It would increase current funding by about $565 million and require the state to provide annual increases equal to the rate of inflation for public schools and universities. Any deficiencies would come out of the state’s general fund. We feel the first step in the education equation is controlling operating and health care costs. A proposal that could compromise the state budget that has no checks and balances for student achievement is throwing money out the window in the hopes that it will somehow produce positive results.

Please research these proposals on your own before casting a ballot on Nov. 7 and continue to follow local candidate election coverage in the Charlevoix Courier in an effort to make informed decisions this election season.

Voting is an unnatural act unique to humans

EAR TO THE GROUND

Roger Knutson

Is voting an unnatural act? We share a lot of characteristics and even anatomy with earth’s creatures. The vast majority of our functional genes are identical to those of most other mammals. And our similarity to other apes and primates is obvious to anyone who has spent time at a zoo.

The physical similarities are often amusing or interesting, but the behavioral characteristics can be troubling. Among our near and distant animal relatives we find behaviors that among humans would be labeled crimes. Enslavement, infanticide, bullying, theft and a host of other unsavory actions are a part of the survival armament of many animals. Even that most necessary behavior, the production of viable offspring, often involves troubling activities on the part of our near and far relatives.

If you in any way doubt our relationship to all the world’s creatures, I would draw your attention not to a textbook of genetics or biology, but to two poems by Pattian Rogers in a collection called “Fire-keeper.” The poems are entitled, “The Family is all There Is” and “On Being Eaten Alive.” Ms. Rogers knows the world we all live in.

Most of those sometimes unsavory behaviors can be labeled “natural” in the sense that they occur as a necessary part of the behavior of creatures in the natural world. And to the extent that we share a genetic history with those creatures they are a “natural” part of our heritage. If you examine human behavior broadly, we sometimes and in some places do all the things we are likely to abhor in the behavior of our animal relatives. We generally like the adjective “natural” until it involves something we don’t like.

By contrast, some behaviors are totally human, and we are about to engage in one of them. Voting for candidates, ideas or proposals and agreeing to live by the outcome of those votes is purely and solely human, and as such might be described as an “unnatural” act. It is certainly not something we can observe in other creatures. We might even distinguish humans as “organisms that vote,” which is a better distinction than tool use or language, which we more or less share with a lot of other animals.

Voting does bring out some of the less desirable “natural” characteristics like unfair competition, deception, cheating and even purchasing votes. But most of such fraud is perpetrated by the seekers of votes rather than by the voters. We could with good reason apply the same principle to voting that we do to criminal justice. Better that a few should vote fraudulently than that even one legal voter is denied that right.

Voting by its nature is going to produce an unsatisfactory outcome for some percentage of the participants, but we all generally believe that if a majority is satisfied, others should at least agree to “wait ‘til next year.”

When the time comes, vote with all the passion you can muster and agree to abide by the outcome. Perform a totally human and completely unnatural act on Nov. 7.

VOTE FOR SALTONSTALL

Editor:
Connie Saltonstall has proven to be an excellent Charlevoix County Commissioner. She is on the ballot for re-election.

Connie seeks input from all levels of the public in order to make fair decisions. Among other things, she worked hard for the senior citizens to assure they received a fair share of the county Senior Center Millage funding. She also worked toward saving $200,000 of our tax money by holding the contractor responsible for fixing the ventilation problems at the Charlevoix County Jail.

As a native of Charlevoix, Connie has demonstrated a keen interest in community service. She has served on boards of the Charlevoix Public Schools, hospice and Northern Community Mediation to mention a few.

As a service, Connie has not taken retirement or health and dental insurance offered by the county for her position. Obviously she sees the role of a county commissioner to be a dedicated representative of the public.

During her time as a county commissioner, Connie Saltonstall has proven to be an effective representative for us. Let’s keep her there.

VOTE ‘NO’ ON PROPOSAL 3

Editor:

Shooting doves is not a Michigan value and has been rightfully banned for 100 years. Some people will argue that “Michigan’s doves are hunted in 40 other states.” I guess that may explain why, 30 years ago, I had 50 mourning doves on the power lines behind my home each morning and now I only have four.

Mourning doves mate for life and raise their young together. Those babies could be orphaned in their nests, as doves are still nesting when the shooting season would begin. They live a surprisingly long time — that’s if they don’t end up as live targets first. After all they are the state’s symbol of peace.

It’s about time the citizens of Michigan are allowed to voice their opinions. On Nov. 7, let’s let Michigan’s “Bird of Peace” live in peace. Vote “no” on Proposal 3.

FOLLOW THE MONEY TRAIL

Editor:

With all of the talk about campaign reform and the public’s general discomfort with the enormous amount of money needed for a candidate to be elected, would it not be a good idea for those politicians running for office to follow the practice of our race car drivers? How about requiring candidates, when campaigning, to wear big patches with the names of their corporate sponsors clearly visible and identifiable so the public can intelligently evaluate just who will have access and the inside track when it comes to a vote?

We should be seriously concerned about our legislators’ votes being controlled by special interests with deep pockets. We need to know whose interests our legislators are or will be serving...the ones whose names are on the big patches, or the constituents back home.

As the saying goes, “Follow the campaign money trail.”

VOTE FOR EVANS

Editor:

As not only lifetime friends of Joel Evans but also attending the same church for many years, we can attest to the fact that he gives 100 percent to every task that he’s given and that he’s very effective in everything that he does. Whether it is in financial decisions, planning committees or other leadership roles, he has always been reliable to see a job completed and to see it done correctly. In a present leadership role in our church, and in the past, as owner of a lumber company for many years, serving as township supervisor and also on the East Jordan school board, he is well qualified for County Commissioner. He will be fiscally responsible for the county’s tax money.

Please cast your vote for Joel Evans on Nov. 7.

VOTE FOR GRANHOLM

Editor:

I generally have voted Republican most of my life, but have followed Gov. Granholm closely, and am glad to say I voted for her. The main reason was my horror at the direction John Engler was taking Michigan as he ruled from his throne. He left Michigan with a huge deficit, had cut everything that wasn’t a pet project, extended early retirement to many departments — leaving Granholm with many huge problems, experienced staff retired and a Republican legislature he had shaped politically.

Last June, the Associated Press reported that in her presentation at the Detroit Chamber’s Regional Mackinac Policy Conference on Mackinac Island, “Granholm’s presentation included a run-down of her accomplishments and spoke of her initiatives in education, job training, streamlining regulation, mentoring and health care and presented a 22-page booklet laying out her economic plan.”

As far as I’m concerned, it’s a miracle she has kept us afloat and stemmed the tide in many areas including an appreciation of tourism’s contribution to our economy. If we can’t give her a Democratic legislature to work with, at least don’t put DeVos in a position to return to crony politics and take us deeper in a hole. It will be a long haul, but I’m comfortable that we’re lucky to have Gov. Granholm working on our behalf.

JOIN CHRISTMAS PROJECT

Editor:

Last year at this time I attended for the first time a meeting of the Charlevoix Community Christmas Project. I was amazed and impressed as to how much this organization accomplished for families during the Christmas holiday.

From providing mittens, to holiday meals with all the trimmings, this organization does it all. We should be thankful we have such a dedicated and well-run group of people in our community. Those who would like to help can contact Bev Boss, chairperson at (231) 547-2078 or Rosemary Horton at (231) 547-2359. Both can answer questions or take donations and contributions.

‘KUDOS’ TO LIBRARY PLANNERS

Editor:

I just visited Charlevoix’s new library for the first time. It is an absolutely beautiful facility, much nicer than one would anticipate a small community possessing. Charlevoix and all the individuals who worked so hard to bring this dream to fruition should be extremely proud of the results.

Judith Schneider

LETTER CORRECTION

My letter to the editor on Oct. 11 implied that Charlevoix County Commissioner, Connie Saltonstall, received retirement, health and dental insurance. That is not the case, in fact she opted not to take those benefits.

MAKE INFORMED VOTE

Editor:
As the political races intensify, heralding the upcoming election, non-stop ads through the media and our mailboxes continue to increase.

The candidates are telling us what they will do for us if elected or re-elected, the political parties are telling us why their party is the best for the nation, and the special interest groups are funding those who will support their agendas, regardless of the will of the people.

When we compare the accomplishments of Congress over the last decade, we find little difference between the parties concerning the candidates campaign promises that have been unfulfilled. Many American citizens simply have given up their right to vote because they feel “it won’t make a difference.” According to the U.S. Census Bureau, as many as 35 percent of eligible Americans are not registered to vote — that’s 45 to 65 million people. Less than half of the voting-age population actually votes in any given election. Americans are blessed to have a “government of the people, by the people, and for the people,” but democracy has one key requirement, our participation.

Looking at one voting group of Americans in 2002, only 43 percent of Christians actually bothered to vote. When people of faith fail to vote, is it any wonder that policies are enacted that are contrary to believers’ core values? Our faith in God should influence our values in life, and that includes the political arena. People of faith, grounded in moral truth, must be prepared to discern those candidates best able to uphold moral values. Our charge is not simply to vote the way our friends or family vote, or the way our political party wants us to vote. Instead, we must vote our values, our beliefs and our convictions. We need to stop being good Republicans or good Democrats and start being good Americans.

An informed vote takes effort. The choice is not always easy, but it is always significant. You can make a difference in the future of our nation, the character of its leadership and the moral health of its people, but only if you cast your informed ballot.

RE-ELECT SALTONSTALL

Editor:

On Tuesday, Nov. 7, you have the opportunity to re-elect Connie Saltonstall as the First District Commissioner for Charlevoix County.

You can be assured that when Connie commits to a project she gives it more than 100 percent.

Working with the Charlevoix Emmet Coalition for End-of-Life, she organized the guide, “Resources for End-Of-Life Issues” that was distributed to the libraries in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties.

Connie holds seats on many boards and committees in the county. Because of her involvement in the community she presents a unique perspective of the issues, and she offers ideas and suggestions that are forward thinking.

Connie has my vote, how about yours?

CHANGE IS IN THE AIR

Editor:

Change is in the air. We now have new representatives on the Charlevoix County Commission, school board and city council. Come Nov. 7 we have the opportunity to change the state legislature and the state senate by electing Tom Bauer to the 105th house district and Sharon Unger to the state senate. We should also reelect Connie Saltonstall to the County Commission for the hard work she put in during her first term in office.

Little Traverse Civic Theatre brings Broadway hit to local stage

The Little Traverse Civic Theatre is preparing their hilariously bawdy revival of Stephen Sondheim's, "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum."

The show will open on Thursday, Nov. 2 with a special preview night as the first of an eight-performance, two-week-end run.

This sultry musical features risqué burlesque comedy that has been leaving audiences rolling in the aisles since its Broadway debut in 1962, and includes such memorable tunes as "Comedy Tonight" and "Everybody Ought To Have A Maid." The Tony-Award winning show is composer/lyricist Sondheim's longest Broadway run to date and was transformed to the big screen in 1966 with a very young Michael Crawford among the starring cast.

Based on the comedies of the ancient Roman playwright Plautus, Forum tells the story of a slave named Pseudolus and his attempts to win his freedom by encouraging a romance between his master's son, Hero, and a young virgin, Philia, who is owned by Marcus Lycus, a dealer in courtesans, and promised to the swaggering, narcissistic general, Miles Gloriosus.

The show includes longtime Little Traverse Civic Theater veterans mixed with talented newcomers and includes Steve Spencer as Pseudolus/Prologus, Eric Grandstaff as Senex, Josh Hill as Hysterium, Chris Anderson as Marcus Lycus, Tracy Thomson as Hero, Frank Nemecek as Miles Gloriosus, Betsy Willis as Domina, and Erin Biehl as Philia.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday from Nov. 2-5 and Nov. 9-12 at the Ross Stokes Theatre of Crooked Tree Arts Center, located at 61 East Mitchell St. in Petoskey.

Tickets are $10 for Preview Night on Nov. 2 as well as Sunday matinees. They are $18 for all other nightly shows, and $10 for children age 12 and under.

Tickets may be reserved by calling (231) 348-1850 or by visiting www.ltcet.org.

More than 30 businesses, vendors and community resources will be on hand to introduce their programs and services for babies and young children. Included in the mix are health and safety tips, childcare and early childhood development options and age-appropriate toys and games. Information and registration for the hospital's prenatal, safety/CPR, and breast feeding classes and the twins group will also be available. Guided tours of the birthing center will be offered.

Parents and youngsters are encouraged to dress in Halloween costumes. Marell Staffel will be providing free professional photos at this event. Many door prizes are anticipated again this year including a Pump-N-Style breast pump valued at $350.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Schroeder: Oct. 2, 1912 - Oct. 17, 2006

Margaret D. Schroeder, 94 of Sun City Center, Fla., died on Tuesday, Oct. 17 at Palm Gardens Nursing Home.

She was born on Oct. 2, 1912, in South Boardman, the daughter of Arthur D. and Jennie (Dick) Tosier. Margaret graduated from Kalkaska High School and County Normal in Mount Pleasant. She then taught at the Dick School, which was located on the Dick Family Farm in South Boardman. She married John Schroeder of Mancelona. The couple lived in Charlevoix, where they owned and operated Schroeder's Drug Store for over 30 years. John and Margaret retired in Sun City Center, Fla.

Margaret is survived by her children Angie (Don) Sergeant of Sun City Center, Fla. and Janet Schroeder of Fennville; two grandchildren Scott (Barb)

Sergeant of Suffolk, Va. and Shaime Sergeant of South Bend, Ind.; three great-grandchildren, Austin, Megan and Tyler Sergeant. She will be greatly missed.

Margaret was preceded in death by her husband, John. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery in Mancelona. Memorials may be given to Holland Hospice at 270 Hoover Blvd., Holland, MI 49423.

Edith LaClair: Feb. 17, 1915 - Oct. 22, 2006

Edith Lillen LaClair, 91 passed away peacefully on Sunday, Oct. 22 at home with her family.

Rite of Christian Burial took place at noon, Tuesday, Oct. 24, at Saint Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Jerry Hunko officiated. Interment took place at Saint Mary's Cemetery.

Edith was born on Feb. 17, 1915, to George and Flossie (Swain) Somerville in Antrim County, and had six siblings, Marg. Alice, Cliff, Art, Maxine and Jean. She married William George LaClair in 1934, and they had three children, Janet, Ronald and Judy.

Edith is survived by her son, Ronald LaClair and his wife, Nancy, of Pottsville; daughter, Judy Miller and her husband, Arthur, of Charlevoix; grandchildren, Stacie Woods, David Miller, William LaClair, Daniel LaClair and Robin Welch; 13 great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandchild; a sister, Maxine Ruis, of Ellsworth. Her husband preceded her in death in 1960, and daughter, Janet, died in infancy.

Edith was employed by Gulf & Western Stamp in East Jordan from 1955, until she retired in 1980. She was secretary of the International Union U.A.W. Local 1503. She was a staunch Democrat all of her life.

Edith cared for herself at her home in Charlevoix until a month before her passing when she was in the care of her daughter and son-in-law.

Edith loved her flower garden and it showed. Her loving care made it the showplace of her neighborhood. She was an avid reader all of her life and had books delivered monthly from the library. The last few years of her life she had learned to use her computer, checking daily for e-mails from her children and grandchildren. She kept her home as neat as a pin and her 1983 Olds Cutless Supreme that she had purchased new was kept in showroom condition.

Thanks go out to all at Charlevoix County Hospice, whose care made her passing easier for her and her family; and to where memorial contributions may be sent. Also a special thanks to Dr. Doskocch.

Voters asked to decide local and state ballot measures

ELECTION 2006

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Nearly 20 ballot proposals will be decided upon at the upcoming Nov. 7 general election.

STATEWIDE PROPOSALS

Charlevoix citizens will help decide the fate of state proposals such as affirmative action, dove hunting, Department of Natural Resources funding, eminent domain and educational funding.

Chair of the Democratic party, Bill Lovett, said the board of directors of the local Democrats only took stances on two proposals, and one of those is no longer on the ballot.

"Our party recognizes the importance of diversity in employment, education and how it can promote equality," Lovett said of Proposal 2, an initiative that would ban programs designed to prefer people based on skin color, sex, and origin in government jobs and educational institutions. "If approved, it would ban all efforts to promote inclusion and equality in housing, education, employment and many other services."

While local Republican chair, John Haggard, would not speak for his party, he said, "I'm voting in favor of that one. I don't believe anybody should have priority in this day and age or preferences in education and employment."

Haggard said things have changed in the last 40 years.

"I think everybody should be judged on their merits and not their race, gender, creed or religion," he said. "It should be whoever is best qualified."

While Charlevoix's Democratic board of directors did not officially opine on any other issues, Lovett was willing to give his take on Proposal 5, a two-part initiative which would cap the amount the schools pay for retirement benefits and guarantee increases in funding at least at the rate of inflation and help reduce the inequity in funding amounts among school districts.

"All expenditures must be taken into account in tight fiscal times such as now," Lovett said. "We elected the legislators and governor to be able to balance those decisions in a year-by-year basis. If there is a real shortfall, then education may need to have a reduction, as we would with public safety, prisons, highways and all other public services."

On principal, Lovett said, he would vote "No" on Proposal 5. Lovett's counterpart on the other side of the political aisle agrees on Proposal 5.

"If you guarantee one unit of government, then what are the rest of the units going to do?" Haggard said. "I'm all for education, but I'm not in favor of guaranteeing anybody anything even if the economy is doing terrific."

Proposal 4 would make it more difficult for private entities to forcibly purchase private land. It also sets a rate of 125 percent of the fair market value of the privately owned land.

"I oppose Prop 4 as well. With my history in working for state government I strongly support the citizens initiative to bring proposals to the ballot for all the voters, but at the same time, because of the serious consequences in putting things in the constitution, I'm reluctant," Lovett said. "There are times when...in light situations the public's best interest is that land be confiscated."

He added, "Just in the last year the Michigan Supreme Court has ruled in favor of private property owners and restricting government use of that power, therefore I rely on the courts to make those decisions."

Haggard favors Proposal 4.

"I don't think it's right that units of government can come in and just condemn property for the benefit of commercial takeover," he said. "If it's close to an industrial park and it can help employment, that's something else."

Lovett believes mourning doves are not game birds and opposes Proposal 3.

"They are too small to be used for food," he said.

Haggard disagreed.

"I'm all in favor of it. I've hunted in Mexico for mourning dove, white wing dove, pigeons," he said. "It's a delicious eating bird."

Haggard worries a ban on dove hunting could lead to bans on the hunting of other animals.

Lovett opposes Proposal 1, preventing the legislature from taking funding from the Department of Natural Resources, on the basis that he fears unintentional consequences of adding to the state constitution in the years to come.

COUNTYWIDE MILLAGE RENEWAL

A .75 mill renewal for the Grandvue Medical Care Facility Operating Millage will be voted upon by county residents. The proposal, which would be levied during 2007-2010 would raise an estimated $1,399,550 in the first year.

City residents will vote at city hall. Township residents vote from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 7 in their respective township halls.

Island community center legal dispute resolved

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

The gray cloud hanging over the Beaver Island Preservation Association Community Center, currently under construction in downtown St. James, has blown over.

On Oct. 12, the association announced that its two-year legal dispute with the architectural firm, Cox Medendorp Olson Architects, has been resolved through arbitration.

The arbitrator, who met with the association and the architects in September, found the Grand Rapids based architectural group, which filed suit against the association in January 2006, had breached its contract with the association. Consequently, the arbitrator denied its claim that the association owed them $150,000 in design fees, plus interest and attorney fees.

"We are relieved and celebrating. This was very good news. We expected it on the one hand, but it was up to one person to decide a complicated set of issues — you just never know," said Judy Lanier-Gallagher, president of the Preservation Association of Beaver Island.

The fees the association allegedly owed were payment for a $3.4 million community center design created by Cox Medendorp Olson Architects. However, the design exceeded the amount contracted for by about $2 million.

Members of the preservation group claim the architects then refused to redesign the building within their $1.5 million budget.

"They designed a building we couldn't build," Lanier-Gallagher said.

The arbitrator ordered the preservation group to pay an acoustical consulting fee of $26,600 plus interest — which they had previously agreed to. The association group has this money in hand.

"The results are binding. We can't go to court and the lien will be taken off the building," Lanier-Gallagher said.

The 14-member association board of directors hired Slocum and Associates of Kalamazoo in March 2005 to design and oversee construction of the center which has been underway since fall 2005.

The new 9,300 square-foot community center is being built on the property where Dockside Market used to stand, across from the Beaver Island Boat Company dock off Main Street. The market, built in 1887 was the first building on Beaver Island to have electricity. The association bought the property in 1995. "It will again be a welcome center for visitors. People are so happy to get their building back," Lanier-Gallagher said.

The market's original stamped steel facade was restored this summer and is the new face of the center.

Upon completion, it will include three main areas. The first is a welcoming center that will include the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce, and a lobby area. The second is a youth and senior center. The third is an event center. Its functions will be many including an events area for celebrations and weddings, a cinema and theater, as well as a senior and youth center.

"It's going to make a big difference for the community. It will help keep our visitors and residents together. With development growing, it will be important to have a central place to share," Lanier-Gallagher said.

The total cost of the project is $2 million. So far, the group has raised $1.5 million, most of it from Beaver Island residents and business owners. The group has turned to Michigan foundations for assistance.

With this sticky lawsuit behind them, Lanier-Gallagher is hoping project donations will pick up.

"We think it harmed our fundraising abilities," she said. "It scared people away. But it didn't deter us, we have a stable, hardworking board of directors."

The goal is for the center to open during the summer of 2007.

To donate to the project, make checks payable to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation with Beaver Island Community Center specified in the memo line P.O. Box 718 East Jordan, MI 49727.

Local groups unite to fight global warming

Charlevoix environmentalists plan to establish a committee to discuss renewable resources.

Bruce MacArthur of Charlevoix attended the Oct. 16 Charlevoix City Council meeting to shed light on the impacts of global warming.

MacArthur applauded the city's efforts as a Tree City, the recycling program and the proposal for an idle free zone as cars wait for the bridge to close.

But he hopes more will be done by establishing a committee of county, township and city officials as well as environmental group representatives to present a renewable resource audit.

The committee met Monday, Oct. 23, after the viewing of "An Inconvenient Truth," a documentary on global warming, at Charlevoix City Hall.

"The efforts to stop global warming is heating up in Michigan," MacArthur said. "We're saying it's time to do something about global warming."

The council responded with support by signing a letter to U.S. Rep. Bart Stupak, D-Menominee, to encourage more research funding for renewable resources.

MacArthur said northern Michigan could play an important role in the global warming issue. A study by the Michigan Public Power Agency in 2000 analyzed eight communities between Lansing and Harbor Springs for the feasibility of wind power and reliable renewable resources for power. The Charlevoix area was rated the number one place for the feasibility for wind power. The study included a recommendation for St Marys Cement plant.

Dale Glass, Charlevoix Township supervisor, is part of the committee.

"People share a concern for the environment and worry about the rapid consumption of natural fuels," Glass said. "It's a matter of interest to just about everybody and me personally."

Bill Henne, president of WATCH — Water and Air Team Charlevoix — is supportive of the initiative.

leaders should do more to deal with global warming," Henne said.

Mike Powers, a member of Michigan Interfaith and Light, is working with area churches and environmental groups to inform the masses about global warming. Powers, who may assist the committee, is spearheading a letter writing campaign to Stupak, who serves on the House Energy and Commerce committee.

Powers said there is scientific evidence of global warming — the average snowfall is decreasing, area bays are not freezing for the winter and lake levels are decreasing. He believes the higher temperatures are linked to the lower lake levels.

Powers shared the importance of looking to the future.

"In 20 years, kids will look to us and say when you heard global warming was happening, what did you do?" Powers said. "We need to think about the benefits in this and what legacy we leave our children."

The new committee includes Courtney Schmidt of St Marys Cement, Bill Henne of WATCH, Ingrid Nedwick of the Charlevoix Garden Club, Roger Knutson, a past Charlevoix Shade Tree commissioner, Susan Vrondran of Boyne City Public Schools, Nancy Ferguson of Charlevoix Go Recycle, Dale Glass, Michael Buttigieg, of the Charlevoix Planning Commission and other representatives from the community. Public Notice?

Without it in your newspaper, you're left guessing what the government's doing in your community.

Public notice is the people's right to know the issues that affect them directly, and people know the place to find public and legal notices is in the newspaper. What you're holding right now is a historical document, printed and published with a date on every page. Public notices have been posted here since the days of colonial America. In our democratic society your newspaper fulfills an essential role in serving your right to know. After all, it shouldn't be your responsibility to know how to look, where to look, or when to look, let alone to know what you're looking for to be informed. Why guess? That is why you have, and read, your newspaper... where your right to know is already being served.

Time runs out on preservation referendum

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Bob Taylor

Bob Taylor's plan to put the Charlevoix County Farmland and Open Space Preservation Ordinance to a vote of the people was thwarted — by the Friday, Oct. 20 deadline and an apparent self-imposed technicality.

Taylor said the Charlevoix County Clerk's office gave him the wrong petition, a move he claims slowed his progress.

"What the county tried to give me was a referendum form whereby I would have had to get signatures on separate documents in the different townships and cities," he said. "After I went to the election bureau I found out there was another form they (county) were unaware of. And by the time I got that form, my time was already eaten up."

Charlevoix County Deputy Clerk, Cherie Browe, said the pe-tion form Taylor received from the county would have worked just fine.

"It would have caused more leg-work, but I don't know any reason why it wouldn't have worked," she said. "The only difference between the form he got from (the county) and the one the state sent him is the form from the state was county-wide."

She added, "We didn't give him a countywide one (form) because we didn't have one. It wasn't anything we even knew existed."

Taylor said a month wouldn't have been enough time regardless.

"I had to try, but there's no way you can get that amount of signatures the way the system is set up," he said.

Taylor said the timeline for petitioning people for a recall referendum is 180 days.

"If you do a referendum on an issue like an ordinance, you have to get the letter of intent in within seven days from when the ordinance was published in the newspaper," he said. "Then you have your 30 days to get signatures."

Taylor needed signatures by 15 percent of the voters who participated in the last gubernatorial election.

Referendum fails, Farmland Preservation Ordinance stands TIME

During the public comment session of the Wednesday, Oct. 11 Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners' meeting, Taylor asked the board to rescind the ordinance and redo it properly.

The board did not respond to Taylor's request.

However, Charlevoix County Planner, Larry Sullivan, said there is nothing to redo.

"As far as I know, no language changes are being proposed at this point," Sullivan said. "A lot of time and effort went into it including input from the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Michigan Farm Bureau. We're comfortable with it as it stands — a strictly voluntary program."

Sullivan said there are still several steps which need to be taken before the county can accept applications from farmers.

"It will be a little ways down the road before this will be an actual viable program," Sullivan said. "Townships will have to get their zoning ordinances in order. In most cases they will have to make some amendments to their zoning ordinances to meet the requirements set forth by the Department of Agriculture."

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney, John Jarema, is comfortable with the ordinance as it is written.

AAA reminder 'Don't veer for deer'

October and November are two of the most dangerous months in Michigan, especially for the state's 1.75 million white-tailed deer and the motorists who crash into them.

According to AAA Michigan, car-deer crashes in Michigan cause at least $130 million in damage annually, with an average of $2,000 per vehicle. Recognizing this fact, Gov. Jennifer M. Granholm has proclaimed October as "Michigan Car-Deer Crash Safety Awareness Month."

The Michigan Deer Crash Coalition (MDCC), which this year celebrates its 10th anniversary, asks motorists to be extra alert when driving this fall. The coalition, a broad affiliation of groups representing law enforcement, traffic safety, insurance, natural resources, higher education and strategic regional planning in the public and private sectors, seek to increase awareness of the problem among the driving public and reduce the number of deaths and injuries occurring each year on state roads. The safety message for motorists is "Don't Veer for Deer."

"Statistics show that most motorist deaths and injuries occur when drivers swerve to avoid hitting the deer and strike a fixed object, such as a tree or another vehicle," said coalition chairman, Jack Peet of AAA Michigan. "No one wants to see a deer destroyed, but striking the animal is often the safest action."

In 2005, Michigan experienced a reduction in the number of total car-deer crashes, which are at their lowest level since 1995. According to the Michigan State Police Criminal Justice Information Center, there were 58,741 deer-vehicle crashes in 2005, down from the 62,707 crashes reported in 2004. However, officials note that many crashes also go unreported, so actual crash numbers are much higher.

In 2005, Kent County once again topped the state's counties in the number of vehicle-deer crashes with 2,169 crashes. The remaining top 10 were Jackson (2,111); Calhoun (2,018); Oakland (1,704); Montcalm (1,576); Eaton (1,450); Ingham (1,439); Kalamazoo (1,303); Lapeer (1,238); and Clinton (1,229).

More than 17 percent of all crashes in Michigan involve deer. Last year, nine motorists were killed and 1,700 were injured as the result of a car-deer crash, compared to three killed and 1,647 injured the previous year.

Nearly half of all collisions with deer crashes occur in the October-to-December mating season when deer are very active, and crashes spike again in spring when the season's first grass appears along highway rights-of-way.

"Deer are often seen calmly feeding near highways, but when they panic, they may appear in front of your windshield in no time at all," said Penney Melchior, Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Division Field Coordinator. "Drivers must be prepared — look for other deer following the first in a line and keep an eye for deer doubling back once they have moved out of a traffic lane."

IF A CRASH WITH A DEER IS UNAVOIDABLE, THE MICHIGAN DEER CRASH COALITION RECOMMENDS DRIVERS:

- Don't swerve.
- Brake firmly.
- Hold onto the steering wheel with both hands.
- Come to a controlled stop.
- Steer your vehicle well off the roadway.

City employees fight for better benefits

BY KRISTINA HUGHES
PETOSKEY NEWS-REVIEW
STAFF WRITER

Some Charlevoix employees agree that MERS Premier Health is not exactly what the doctor ordered.

Employees, who are paying more out of pocket costs and traveling farther for medical problems, shared their frustrations during at the Charlevoix City Council meeting on Oct. 16.

"There are no allergists signed up. We have to travel to Gaylord or Traverse City," said city employee, Judy Przybylski. "There are no anesthesiologists (in the area). If I have surgery, don't put me under."

Some family doctors that have been used for years can no longer be used without paying out-of-network costs. Some employees are being charged more than their insurance handouts said the co-pays would be.

"The plan would be a good plan if we had the doctors around here who accepted it," Przybylski said.

The city switched to the MERS Premier Health, an established health care pool for municipal employees, in September. The city was formerly a Blue Cross Blue Shield carrier.

The Municipal Employees'

Retirement System of Michigan (MERS) is a statewide public employee retirement plan that offers benefit plans, contribution plans and MERS Group Health Solutions. MERS serves governmental entities such as counties, cities, townships, villages, road commissions, hospitals, medical care facilities, libraries, community mental health boards and transportation authorities.

Several city employees attended Monday's meeting sharing a laundry list of problems from health care to the lengthy arbitration. A city contract with the Communication Workers of America — representing the clerical, wastewater, electric and street department workers — expired in March.

City manager Mike Wiesner said the city is negotiating a contract to create parity among the city employees, with the goal that the communication workers would have the same health care benefits as other employees. The council went into closed session to discuss these items.

The group was vocal about the MERS package. The decision to switch to MERS was made by a committee with representatives from fire and police, union and non-union employees, the Communication Workers and management, including city treasurer Rick Brandi, who also serves on the MERS board.

The insurance change is creating some growing pains.

"Obviously you have to look at the big picture and most people are happy," Brandi said. "MERS provides better benefit packages with less out of pocket costs for the employees with an improved dental and vision program."

Before the switch, employees had the opportunity to send a letter requesting their health care providers join the MERS network. Brandi said when the city first reviewed the program not enough health providers or pharmacies were on board, but now there are more providers in the network.

Charlevoix Area Hospital, the largest health care facility in Charlevoix, is MERS friendly.

"We are a participating hospital with MERS so it shouldn't be an issue with city employees to utilize our services," Charlevoix Area Hospital chief executive officer, Bill Jackson, said.

But not everyone's signed up for MERS — mostly specialists and some family doctors' offices.

Brandi said he pays out-of-network costs for his son to see his allergy specialist.

Jackson said issues with specialists not participating in health networks is an industry issue — not just a MERS issue — and the results are frustrating for consumers.

Phil Allen, a pharmacist at Rite Aid in Charlevoix said the change is not impacting business.

"Sometimes when you switch plans there is a big headache, but there hasn't been any problems," Allen said.

Allen said some card holders are not pleased.

"I've had a lot of people come through who are not happy with the co-pay," Allen said.

But in the rising health care programs, Brandi said more Michigan municipalities may consider MERS. The city was looking at 14.4 percent increase for Blue Cross/Blue Shield. The MERS increase was in the single digits, Brandi said.

The city budgeted $430,000 for health care in 2005-2006 compared to $200,147 a decade ago. Brandi said the change should reduce the rising costs.

Charlevoix Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said the city provides a competitive health care system far exceeding what most employees provide.

But some council members shared concerns about the MERS program.

"It seems like we have insurance, but no insurance," councilman Gabe Campbell said.

The group of employees also have a beef with the high premiums new employees are paying for benefits.

Scott Blanchard said the system should be more equitable.

According to the new hire clause of insurance caps, implemented three years ago, a person hired after 2004 will receive a cap for family health insurance at the average of the family and the two person rate. This is 11 to 20 percent of the health care premium.

"New employees are paying for insurance and not much more," Blanchard said.

Przybylski worries that the costs will encourage turnover among young families.

"It's hitting the new employees with families the hardest, who are essentially working to pay for health insurance. Some employees are paying close to $180 for insurance caps during each pay period," Przybylski said.

Rayder Marching Band takes first division rating at Oct. 18 competition

The Rayder Marching Band attended their first competition of the 2006-2007 school year on Oct. 18 in Ewart.

That day, they sat through the last three hands in the cold rain awaiting the results. Everyone stood as the drum majors from each band lined up in front of the bleachers. The weather no longer mattered when they announced Charlevoix's rating.

The band cheered as they heard the announcer tell them they earned a first division rating — the highest mark. Band director, Jayne Bennett, told the band members that the judges gave them rave reviews and all A's for the music.

The Charlevoix Rayder Marching Band, made up of about 13.5 percent of the high school population and nine eighth graders, comes together to create a band of nearly 70 students.

"The size of the band has doubled since 2002, which is very exciting. Our goal is to hit 100. No matter the size, I'm very proud of their progress," Bennett said.

Gracious harvest hosts

Northwest Academy hosted a Harvest Dinner on Oct. 21 at the Masonic Lodge. School hosts decorated tables and served dinner to a group of guests they invited. The 75 guests that attended then made donations to the school. The event featured entertainment by the Pine River Jazz Band. Courier editor, Julie Witthoef, was the table judge for the evening. She selected the Stutzman table, decorated by Deb Stutzman, the wife of Northwest Academy co-administrator, Gary Stutzman. It featured harvest decor including colorful fall leaf napkin rings and china. Pictured above are the winners and their guests (from left to right) Rose Bechtold, Gail Seidel, Amanda Seidel, Joe Seidel, Joni Olach, Deb Stutzman, Gary Stutzman, Josephine Stutzman, Doug Houseworth, Susan Houseworth and Bud Bechtold.

Have a Safe & Happy Halloween!

Charlevoix Trick or Treat Hours: Tuesday, October 31 • 6PM-8PM

Let's all be aware of children on Halloween night! We want them to be safe and happy and have a great Halloween!

- Costumes should be nonflammable and should not restrict movement. Masks shouldn't block vision. Use makeup instead.
- Give your children a meal or snack before they go out, and emphasize that no treats should be eaten before they get home.
- Carry a flashlight so you can see & be seen easily.
- Discard commercially produced candy if the wrapper is loose or the seal has been broken.
- Drivers watch out! Children become careless from excitement and may run into the road.
- Choose a costume that is easy to walk in, easy to see out of and can be seen by drivers.
- Remind your children to look both ways and cross streets only at corners.
- Use a reflective tape on your costume so people driving cars can see you.
- Do not eat unwrapped candy!
- Leave your porch light on, so kids know it's OK to visit.

Boys and ghouls prepare for Halloween madness

Haunted houses, costumes, trick-or-treating, safety and more

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

Boys and ghouls of all ages will be out, begging for treats and terrifying the general Charlevoix public from 6 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

But before you go trick-or-treating, you might want to check out two haunted houses which will be put on by Charlevoix students.

"I think these guys will do a great job," said school board member, Dean Spencley of the haunted house hosted by the Charlevoix High School performing arts class. "It's going to be quite a production."

Spencley donated the props, costumes and other equipment needed to offer a quality house of fright.

"I think Halloween is my favorite holiday," he said. "I've always been one of those people that like their heart to beat a little faster and at times I like to scare people."

He added, "You can't do much is $2. Kids 5 and younger enter for free.

Gift bags will be given to the first 100 kindergarten through fourth-graders.

Spencley said this fundraiser for the performing arts class could spawn a tradition which could help the school retain the class in the face of budget cuts.

Spencley gave the haunted house equipment and costumes to the class because he no longer has the time to put it up every Oct. 31.

"I've scared a lot of people in my day, but it takes a ton of work," he said. "Last year we had 400 and some people come through the house."

Spencley looks forward to seeing the haunted house in a controlled environment with a quality sound system.

"It's just been sitting there doing nothing, and I have a great deal of money and time invested in doing it," he said. "With the Coast Guard ship gone now, I Remember when...

This photo and an article were discovered by Charlevoix resident, Sharon Knutson, and submitted by Dave Miles, co-director of the Harsha House Museum. Both reveal a sneak peak into life in Charlevoix 70 years ago. A close read of the Charlevoix Courier article from May 13, 1936 reflects the saying, "The more things change, the more they stay the same." According to Miles, the project as described in the article, "Municipal playgrounds started will develop property on Round Lake," didn't quite turn out as written. The plan included construction of concrete tennis and shuffle board courts and installation of playground equipment in the East park area, as well as parking on the east side of Bridge Street between Clinton and Mason streets. This project also brought about the introduction of the seawall along the waterfront, straightening out the waterfront line and providing a fill behind the sheet piling to extend the south property line into Round Lake about 20-feet. At that time, action by city council in establishing a playground on Round Lake was considered by many as one of the most progressive moves taken here in many years. For more information about the current overhaul of this same piece of property, reference the marina story on page 1 of this week's Courier.

Preparedness Award for 2006 given to CCE

The 2006 Award for Preparedness was presented to the Charlevoix-Cheboygan-Emmet Office of Emergency Management during the Summit Conference Oct. 8-11 at Grand Traverse Resort.

At the Summit, emergency managers from across the state participated in workshops, lectures, and general sessions to expand their knowledge base in emergency management.

A conference highlight is the Awards Banquet which honors outstanding achievement in emergency management.

This year, the 2006 Award for Preparedness was presented to the Charlevoix-Cheboygan-Emmet Office of Emergency Management. Chosen from the nominations from across the state, the letter of nomination cited "The tremendous efforts of the first responders, emergency providers and local officials for all three counties in preparing for and conducting a tri-county, full-scale emergency exercise known as Operation Black Forest."

In his report to the Charlevoix-Cheboygan-Emmet Board of Directors, county coordinator Jack Messer credited the tremendous efforts of staff, volunteers and emergency response professionals in preparing our counties for an actual disaster.

In the words of Cheryl Boyer, assistant county coordinator, the emphasis is, and has always been, on team work.

"Team CCE says it all," she said.

Charlevoix resident publishes kitchen design book

Award-winning kitchen designer and Charlevoix resident, Liz Firebaugh, a Certified Kitchen Designer, announced the release of her first book, "Design with Taste."

In a career that has put its imprint on over 1,000 kitchens, Firebaugh has enjoyed a steady and increasingly visible position in a crowded field. Her kitchen designs appear regularly in national magazines like Better Homes & Gardens and Woman's Day, and she has accumulated numerous awards for her work.

In 2005, the National Kitchen & Bath Association put Firebaugh and her Petoskey studio, Signature Kitchens, in the pantheon of top national kitchen and bath designers with the "Pinnacle of Design" award, the nation's top kitchen design award. To celebrate, Firebaugh created a book — not just any book, but a combination of high-end kitchens coupled with generous input from the clients who call these kitchens home. The result is a combination kitchen design and cookbook, perfect on the kitchen counter or the coffee table.

"I wanted to showcase my designs, and give a big thanks to all those who helped me along the way," Firebaugh said.

Family photos, client quotes and favored recipes fill the cookbook section and illustrate a major point in the kitchen design industry — these rooms really work.

At 200 pages, "Design with Taste" rivals any kitchen design book currently on the shelves of major bookstores.

"Liz's award-winning kitchens, coupled with enthusiastic client participation, gives the book its uniqueness," explains Michele Nickel-Frasz of Nickel Design, the Boyne City publisher. "Liz's open, easy manner — not to mention a true passion for design — turns many clients into friends. As a result, there was no shortage of people eager to support book."

"Design with Taste" takes the pristine showroom kitchen and connects it firmly to the real world. The true American kitchen gets used, it gets messy, it's a center for entertaining, homework and quiet moments. It is the nerve center of the home.

Of course the stars of the book are the kitchens themselves. Some are small, some are bigger than a decent-sized apartment, but all are distinguished by fine design and materials. Design with Taste is the perfect primer for those who are planning a kitchen or for those who only dream.

The book, published by Nickel Design Inc. of Boyne City, is available at the Bridge Street Book Shop in Charlevoix. It retails for $46.

Firebaugh's showroom is located in the Northview Design Centre on U.S. 31 in Petoskey.

City lands financial break in $11 million marina project removal of the 17 existing piers, which at the furthest point extend 75 feet into Round Lake, installation of new sheet pile running the length of park, 850 feet, and other miscellaneous work. Schlak said work is expected to start before Dec. 1 and the targeted completion date for Phase 1 is near the end of April 2007.

MARINA

Only two bidders tried for the floating dock system contract — Flotation Docking Systems Inc. of Cedarville and Great Lakes Docks and Materials LLC of Muskegon. Flotation Docking of Cedarville was the low bidder by a narrow margin. Their bid was $1,328,989 while the Muskegon provider came in at $1,463,204.

Installation of the new docks is referred to as Phase 2. It includes installation of a 67-slip floating dock system that extends 220 feet into Round Lake at the furthest point. Schlak said the docks will be fabricated this winter and will be installed once ice conditions allow in the spring. Utilities are expected to be hooked up and operational near the end of June 2007.

Construction of Phases 1 and 2 is expected to take about four-and-a-half months. The ultimate goal is to have the water side of the project complete by Memorial Day 2007.

Schlak said he has worked with both low bidders on previous projects. Most recently, United Design partnered with Molon on Traverse City's Clinch Park Marina overhaul; and with Flotation Docking Systems on numerous dock jobs including those in St. Ignace, Presque Isle, Rogers City and Marquette.

"They're well-known on the lakes for their floating pier systems," Schlak said.

The grand scope of the $11 million project, which includes major changes to East Park like construction of a new performance venue and a new harbor master's building, will extend through the 2007 tourist season.

East Park will likely only be open from Clinton Street to Mason Street next summer — meaning art and craft shows will have to be relocated for one year. Demolition of the bandshell and existing Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce building is expected to take place on Dec. 10.

File photo

This aerial shot of the Charlevoix Municipal Marina and East Park shows the project area that will be covered in the $11 million renovation project. The first two construction phases, which were bid out last week, will include replacement of the seawall, which runs 850 feet along the marina, and of the existing 17 piers with a 67-slip floating dock system.

The county's $74,000 man

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners may have found their $74,500 man.

Less than eight hours after commissioners finished interviewing D. Wayne O'Neal of Eastpointe and Gail Fox of Wilson Township, O'Neal was chosen for salary and other contract negotiations.

"My interest in the position up here in Charlevoix?" O'Neal said during the interview. "My wife and I spent our honeymoon on Deer Lake in a chalet, and I used to come up here in my teens and camp on the Jordan River. We love it up here...it's beautiful."

He added, "And, I've always been interested in county government as well as municipal government."

O'Neal, a former city manager with 30 years experience, said he has worked as a personnel officer, lead negotiator and a budget writer.

Deputy Police Chief, Scott Hankins, that at around 4:30 a.m. on Aug. 27, his father admitted he committed a robbery and asked Daniel to help him leave town.

According to Daniel's testimony, his father then showed him the black gun he used in the robbery and he watched as he burned checks. Late last week, a nine person dive team made up of area law enforcement agents searched for the gun in Lake Charlevoix, near the Belvedere Club Casino.

A search warrant executed Oct. 24 at a home on Antrim Street in Charlevoix uncovered a barbecue with burned paper fragments and clothing items matching the description given by the Family Video clerk on duty the night of the incident.

Son of armed robbery suspect tips off police

The incident took place shortly after the video rental store closed at midnight on Sunday, Aug. 27. Danny Russell is now charged as the ski mask wearing, gun-wielding man who took the store's night deposit bag, containing $800, and the purse of a female employee of Family Video and then locked her in the trunk of her car for 10 to 15 minutes.

Danny Russell had been released from Charlevoix County Jail on Aug. 13 following his April 4 conviction on charges including misdemeanor larceny by conversion $1,000 to $20,000 and performing an occupation without a license. Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema, explained the circumstances associated included Danny agreeing to roof a home, accepting money for the service and never doing the work.

Danny Russell's other prior convictions include operating while intoxicated in 2001, a misdemeanor for resisting and obstructing a police officer in 2003 and a domestic violence charge from 1995.

Danny Russell is scheduled to undergo a preliminary examination at 3:45 p.m. on Nov. 7 in Charlevoix County District Court.

Jarema said he will push to have charges including using a firearm in the commission of a felony, which carries a two-year prison sentence and unlawful imprisonment, a felony punishable by up to 15 years in prison, added to the existing armed robbery charge which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

He may be charged as a habitual offender which would increase his sentence.

OPINIONS yours & ours

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Stop supporting parties that don't support you

THE CRYING TOWEL

Benjamin Gohs

I'm throwing my vote away this Nov. 7. At least that's what all the so-called knowledgeable sources tell me.

There was a time when I thought only two parties mattered. In 2000, I voted for George W. Bush even though his party doesn't represent me. Like too many people, I voted against, not for, someone because I couldn't stomach a shred of the Clinton administration or Al Gore to remain in the White House.

By 2004, I was so discouraged with developments in our government, I didn't vote at all.

I know, I know, "Vote or die," says the rapper. "Rock the vote," says MTV. Pick the lesser of two evils said my high school government teacher.

Is that really where we're at? Do we eat off whatever platter is placed before us, regardless of how pungent the victuals?

The political analysts, armchair politicians and AM gabbers say my chad should swing with a powerful party. And until now, I thought the rhetoric.

But Repub's don't vote Dem when their candidate lags, and picking someone who doesn't represent me never helped my country or my conscience.

Determined to support my beliefs, I looked for alternatives. That was when an old friend turned me on to the Libertarian party.

I was shocked. Libertarians stand for less control over businesses, smaller government, fewer taxes, personal responsibility and self-control of our bodies.

From the Libertarian Web site, www.LP.org, the Libertarian party intends to, "Repeal all laws that presume government knows better than the individual how to run that person's life." I can get down with that philosophy.

They would return property seized via eminent domain and outlaw the practice in the future. They would work to repeal all gun control laws.

Libertarians, "Oppose government actions that either compel or prohibit abortion, sterilization or any other form of birth control." I find the former a grim practice, but after all, freedom can be a dirty, deadly thing.

The government has no right to, "Define or license personal relationships. Sexuality or gender should have no impact on the rights of individuals." I think you already know where I stand on this one.

Libertarians would turn big spenders in our government from debt-incurring to budget-balance-ing. Oh, the right-wingers claim to favor smaller government and fiscal responsibility, and the president did cut taxes, he just forgot to cut spending.

Libertarians will make room in prison for murderers and child molesters by decriminalizing outlawed behaviors such as recreational drug use and prostitution.

The Democrats jaw all day long about civil liberties, but only seem to focus on fighting for the right to kill an unborn baby. As if smoking a joint or visiting a hooker is equally or more reprehensible than gutting a pregnant woman with a surgical vacuum cleaner and a scalpel.

I don't expect all ills in this country to be healed if and when the Libertarians liberate us. Neither do they make that promise. But, they certainly have a better grip on the idea of Constitutional freedom than our current masters.

I have fallen for the fear tactics of the mainstream parties for the last time. God knows ignoring my beliefs to vote for them has produced only self-betrayal.

From now on I vote based on my conscience and not the million dollar propaganda espoused by mainstream jackasses — or elephants.

If it is true more registered voters abstain from participating than not, we could make a real difference this month.

Some Michigan Libertarian candidates are, Bill Hall for Attorney General, Greg Creswell and Scotty Boman, running for Governor and Lt. Governor respectively.

I don't expect the right or left to join me next Tuesday, I just hope my fellow freedom lovers will stop supporting parties which don't support them.

Mementos from the past are gifts for the present

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

Mementos of the past are gifts for the present.

Cleaning and recycling is like confession for the soul. While in this process my endorphins kick in and all is well with the world.

That familiar feeling returned after cleaning, sorting and disposing many items while moving my dad into an assisted living facility. Through his tears and our quiet talks his focus was on the loss of mementos that had played such an important part of his life. I looked around and most of what I could see were items purchased during his 50 years of marriage and many things that I thought should be discarded. I didn't understand at the time what he meant when he said he was losing his treasures and his whole life was being thrown away. I soon learned what he meant.

While stacking what I thought were small note books and debating whether to toss I am grateful to have given them a second look. Each little notebook was a one-year diary dating back to 1940. I felt reading them would be daunting and intruding. We siblings queried shortly as to toss or keep and as a second thought I said, "Keep."

On my return visit, curiosity got the best of me. I flipped open one of the notebooks. The page I landed on was dated Dec. 8, 1941. At the top of the paragraph was one word, "WAR," printed by my father in large, capital letters.

I read with disbelief the description of where he was and what was taking place the day after Pearl Harbor had been bombed. I then began to treat each new diary with renewed respect. I felt ashamed that we even considered letting this piece of history be lost.

Another page revealed when dad proposed and mom accepted. The diaries became a story of my parents' lives with information about dances, football games and places they traveled to. It also included hardships when money wasn't coming in and how they made it through those lean years. All this information was there for us to see and written in dad's own hand.

Our current lives move at such a fast clip so how wonderful it is that someone takes note of their day. When we reach a new chapter in our lives it often involves a move.

We all collect things — books, stamps, coins, music, rocks and in my case, cookware. What seems so important to us will seem irrelevant to someone else. If nothing else I have learned that living each day is truly a gift and recording it for the next generation is educational, inspiring and heartwarming.

Albeit even though I am not a fan of old record albums, stamps and coins, someone out there is. Finding the right match to connect with these items is exhilarating especially when you want to clean house and know your items will find a new home rather than grace a landfill.

So even in my middle-aged years I've learned something new. I need to clean the clutter from our house and find matches for my collections. Our children may not give a second look to the items we treasure. This has inspired me to return to my journaling so a small portion of personal history will be available for the next generation. But I think I'll mark that box, "Do not discard — this is your family history."

LETTERS to the editor

LIBRARY IS A PERFECT FIT

Editor:

Now, in the center of our unique village heats a strong, enduring heart, its vibrations trembling and invigorating the vitals of Charlevoix. Kudos to Valerie Meyerson, the architectural team, the library board, Friends of the Library, the donors and all the satellite groups responsible for delivering to our community a library building that stands as not just a big building to hold books but by the measure of functional design is one of the finest concepts realized among the hundreds of libraries I've visited throughout the continent.

Some unique design elements include the ability to use a community room without having the whole library open, nearly everything accessible on one floor, the main entrance leading directly to the circulation desk and from the desk, the ability to monitor key elements of the whole floor.

Further, the mating of function with design aesthetics the lights, room arrangements, landscaping and milieu invite us to use its repository of knowledge in print, audio, visual and community sharing to ennoble us as individuals and in our relations with others. And it is not a selfish structure designed just for this generation. On the contrary, it exceeds the relatively modest demands we or even our children will make of it, promising instead to encompass possibilities for future generations we cannot even imagine nor are able to anticipate.

Further, unlike other public use building locations that encircle our city limits like distant moons, the new post office, the new high school, the new pool and who knows what next, our library is in our town.

Congratulations. John R. Alberts Charlevoix

VOTE FOR TRIPP

Editor: Shirlene Tripp has over 25 years experience in government service and understands the workings of local government and its various committees. Her approach is to learn the facts, understand the issues, communicate with all parties and then make a decision. She will insist on open, respectful dialogue between the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and citizens. She will work hard as a county commissioner and will be honest about giving or taking credit.

Her opponent has been less than honest in taking credit for negotiating a contract for the Charlevoix Senior Center to receive reimbursement from the senior millage. She never attempted to learn the facts about how senior programs and services are regulated and how expenses are accounted. She does not acknowledge that the senior center would be receiving these additional monies, without her involvement, because they finally agreed to participate in the millage-funded nutrition program.

In the course of helping, she frightened some seniors by telling them that the Commission on Aging opposed a contract and that the senior center would have to close its doors — both are totally untrue. She also delayed the ultimate contract by telling the senior center to bypass the Commission on Aging for revision and recommendation to the County Board — a two-month delay. To this day, as a commissioner, she does not understand how senior millage funds are regulated, allocated or accounted and continues to mislead people about the facts.

As a mediator whose interest should be getting all parties to resolution, she should have learned the history and facts and understood that resolution was on track. It appears she was only looking for a talking point or paragraph in her campaign material.

VOTE FOR GRANHOLM

Editor:

Republican Dick DeVos has argued, in televised debates and elsewhere, that the problems currently facing Michigan are the result of Gov. Jennifer Granholm's failed policies. This assertion defies logic and history.

Republicans have controlled the state Senate for 22 years straight. Republicans have controlled the state House of Representatives for seven years straight. Granholm's Republican predecessor, John Engler, reigned for 12 years in the governor's office, and the last three of those years he worked alongside friendly Republican majorities in both houses of the state capitol.

Many of Granholm's challenges — economic difficulties and an under-funded public education system, for example — have been spawned by years of Republican dominance. For further study, revisit the state budget crisis upon Engler's departure in 2003 or investigate ways in which Proposal A has been "tweaked" over the last decade at the expense of local school districts.

Considering recent developments in Michigan, Washington and around the world, it's understandable that Republicans would want to distance themselves from their own track record. But it's irresponsible to place the blame elsewhere, and voters know it.

LIBRARY CONSTRUCTION?

Editor:

When I looked at the new library, and it is spectacular, I did not see any insulation during construction. Can that be true? Also, why doesn't the black fence all match. I've asked several workers, and they said they

by the Michigan Department of Treasury of incorrect and late filings, and failure to follow the state's mandated procedures. Problems with the state could result in the withholding of state revenue sharing payments to the township, revocation of its surety bond and other costly actions. Jason frequently failed to timely remit school and county taxes collected by the township. These local taxing authorities had to contact the township and demand their tax share.

Jason failed to remit approximately $270,000 to Charlevoix Public Schools, due Sept. 20, 2004 but paid June 30, 2005 upon demand by Charlevoix Public Schools.

Jason overpaid the county $295,530 which the county discovered and issued a refund check which she "doesn't remember receiving," requiring a second check by the county. The tax fund should be close to zero after summer and winter tax collections and their nearly immediate disbursement periods, but the township board discovered in May 2006 approximately $271,772 in this fund. It was owed to the general and/or road fund.

Jason has failed the township. Assistance in her elected position is available from the state, county and accountants, including myself. She failed to avail herself of this help. Her best interest, and the township's, is to resign now and avoid potential recall, plus considerable financial expense to all.

have been asked that many times and they did not know.

Also, why aren't the bars in the windows in the glass. It'll be a major job to do window cleaning.

LIBRARY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Editor:

The new library is very well insulated. All walls have new insulation and the roof has at least twice as much insulation as required by code. The new windows are of the highest standard to keep the heat in the building in the winter and out in the summer.

The fence around the children's garden is two different fence types because we wanted to stress the curving line versus the straight lines in the look of the fence. The landscape committee, the library board, and I all like the look of two different fence types.

When the library board was in the site selection process, the community felt very strongly about historically preserving the old school. The library board of trustees selected a window that would not only preserve heat in the winter and cooling in the summer, but they chose a window that would best replicate the original 1927 windows. We have examined the cost of window cleaning and have found a service that does not squeeze the windows, but has a distilled water process to clean, thus keeping the costs somewhat reasonable.

Please direct any other questions about the library to me.

DEBRA JASON SHOULD RESIGN

Editor:

I am a resident of Eveline Township, Charlevoix County and a retired Certified Public Accountant with considerable experience in township accounting and reporting.

After Debra Jason was elected Eveline Township treasurer it became apparent at township monthly meetings that she had no background for this position. During the next four years I gave her notes volunteering to help her gain necessary knowledge to do the treasurer's work. She did not call for assistance. Her failures are numerous.

'The Christmas Tree Ship' author presents local program, Nov. 10

The Charlevoix Historical Society and Friske Orchards present the story of "The Christmas Tree Ship."

Join author Rochelle Pennington at 7 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 10 for a program at the Charlevoix Depot detailing one of the most well-known shipwrecks of the Great Lakes.

The true story behind "The Christmas Tree Ship" is one of the most loved legends of the Great Lakes. The legend has been the subject of paintings, poems, stories and songs for the past century. "The Christmas Tree Ship" is a coffee table gift book.

Pennington's research was featured on the Weather Channel's Storm Stories. The television program airs nationally each Christmas as a holiday special. Pennington is interviewed during the program.

Recently, the legend was made into a stage musical production (The Christmas Schooner) and is performed during the holiday season around the nation.

The ship was lost in "The Great Storm of 1912" and rests on the bottom of Lake Michigan. The ship is still filled with Christmas trees today and the shipwreck site is one of the more popular dive sites on Lake Michigan for deeper dives. The trees from the original Christmas Tree Ship were always cut in Michigan and were always destined for the Chicago, Ill. market.

A "new" Christmas Tree Ship began sailing six years ago in memory of the original ship. The ship is loaded with Christmas trees in Michigan near the city of Cheboygan on Lake Huron and then sailed to Chicago, Ill. There, the trees are given to needy families. This year, the ship will sail down Lake Michigan during the first weekend of December.

For more information, call the Charlevoix Historical Society's Harsha House Museum from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday at (231) 547-0373.

Guests will once again be treated to free valet parking as they arrive, entering to the sounds of Tom Kaufman and will be encouraged to participate in the silent auction during cocktails. Guests will receive a special full color photograph to commemorate the evening.

After the cocktail reception, guests will enjoy the wonderful sounds of the Petoskey High School Madrigal Singers as they move to the King's Grand Ballroom for dinner and the live auction.

The live auction will have items that focus on once in a lifetime experiences and other "enchanting" items for the holiday season. Participants will also have a chance to purchase special items for patients of the hospital.

PARENTING expert help

During the school year, the Charlevoix Courier publishes a Parenting page that runs the first Wednesday of the month. Headlining the section is a column written by area health practitioners and other kid experts. Also included are book picks for all ages and a child-focused event detailing low-cost ways to wipe the boredom away. Featured event submissions must include time, date and place, as well as an associated name and contact number. Send events and column ideas to news@charlevoixcourier.com or mail then to Charlevoix Courier, P.O. Box 117 Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Tackling the 2006 holiday gift season

Spending trends and tips and gift ideas

KIDS CORNER

Julie Witthoef

In my experience the sound of the cash bells is a little quieter if I start early. So, the November edition of Parenting is dedicated to holiday shopping.

This column offers budgeting tips from local investment advisor, Derek Chown of Charlevoix's Edward Jones Investments as well as gift ideas from local retailers on what the hot toys are this season.

Derek Chown

results did show some interesting trends.

Of those surveyed, he broke the group into three household income categories — $25,000 to $50,000; $60,000 to $100,000; and $110,000 to $310,000.

In the $25,000 to $50,000 income bracket, the families he spoke with tended to take a "Christmas is for the kids" approach, spending an average of $174 total on their two children and a total of $49 on spouse gifts.

Just one income bracket higher, the Christmas purchases more than doubled for the kids, jumping to $460 and skyrocketed to $300 for spouses.

Parents have learned that the jingling sound many attribute to Santa's sleigh bells during the holiday season is actually cash flowing out of pockets, wallets and purses.

This can be an emotional decision, parents commonly want to do everything for their kids, which means charge it now, sweat it out later. But Chown's advice is to stay rational and do what you can.

Those with the means to pay off the credit card balance could benefit from holiday shopping with plastic by finding cards with rewards points programs like those linked to an airline.

Everyone's best bet is to budget by setting an amount you can afford to spend and sticking to it. Make a list of gift recipients, assign each a dollar amount that can be spent and start shopping.

Two downtown Charlevoix retailers, The Rocking Horse Toy Company and Up North Kids, gave us an inside look at what's flying off the shelves this holiday season. And the best part is both offer the chance for toys to go from the shelf to a spot under the tree, with free gift wrapping.

The Rocking Horse is carrying a new line of toys from Brainy Baby that have babies ages six months and up, smiling. The full line of Brainy products range in price from $5 to $25.

Toddlers will keep busy after opening a popular Bruder truck aimed at kids ages three and up. The line of trucks are $25 and up. Other toddlers who can't get enough of Groovy Girls dolls and accessories will enjoy the full line of offerings available for between $11 and $12. The Groovy Girls product line is geared to children ages four and up.

Cold, snowy winter days leading up to Christmas can be spiced up with this Christmas "Kid Kit" from the popular brand Usborne. It is available at Up North Kids in Charlevoix.

For the family gift, the Rocking Horse has Tumbling Dice from Nash Games. A game that will bring laughs and math skills learning. The sturdy, all wood board retails for $69.95.

Just a block down from the Rocking Horse is newcomer on the kids commodity scene, Up North Kids. A family tradition can be started or continued here.

While looking for unique gifts, pick up a new Christmas book ranging in price from $5 to $20. The store carries the popular Usborne and Barefoot books as well as others.

Melissa and Doug art supplies, like the stage stepping, adjustable easel (ages three to seven, $50) or the huge line of puppets (ages three and up, $14.99 each) are favorites this holiday season.

Armed with these budget and gift ideas, the final detail to remember is to enjoy it. Don't let the hustle and bustle be a bummer. Enjoy the excitement and magic of the holidays.

'Must reads' from library director

Valerie Meyerson

The following is a list of age specific books selected by Charlevoix Public Library director Valerie Meyerson for November reading.

ISABELLA HATKOFF, "OWEN AND MZEE." AGES 4-8

The true story of Owen, the baby hippo rescued after the tsunami, and Mzee, the giant tortoise who befriended him at the Haller Park wildlife refuge in Kenya. Wonderful photos accompany this story of daring rescue, a very odd but gentle friendship, and the people who care for these very different but special creatures.

KELLY CUNNANE, "FOR YOU ARE A KENYAN CHILD" AGES 3-7

If you are a Kenyan child, mother may send you out to watch grandfather's cows. But, like any child the world over, distractions abound. Greeting the tea shop owner, chasing a monkey, visiting neighbors and playing soccer make the time fly before the child remembers the cows. And where have they gone? Hopefully, grandfather has been keeping a closer eye on them. Beautiful, colorful, wide-eyed illustrations playfully extend this gentle story.

GARY PAULSEN, "THE AMAZING LIFE OF BIRDS" GRADES 6-9

Duane Homer "Doo Doo" Leech is having a hard time navigating puberty. He's literally tripping over his own feet. Be cool? Isn't happening. Ask a girl out? Forget about it. Between falling in the cafeteria line, trashing the library and starting an infectious disease scare — none of which are his fault — Duane is just trying to get through the day.

VOTE 'NO' ON CITY PROPOSALS 5 AND 6

Editor:

I would like to thank the citizens for their trust in me the past two years and would like to share my feelings on the upcoming election.

As I see it there are some issues being brought up by the candidates that need some clarification as well as some perspective of the proposal amendments.

(To learn the mayor's perspective on moving the Venetian Festival carnival and discussions of firing city manager, Mike Wiesner, see the related article entitled, "City Council candidates sound off on four issues" on page 15 of this week's Courier.)

I would like to explain all of the city proposed charter amendments that will be on the ballot. City Proposals 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 all address "house cleaning" items. These are items that needed clarification and updating because of past changes and state election law changes.

City Proposals 5 and 6 are the issues I feel warrant some consideration. Proposal 5 addresses the issue of the city manager's term of employment. This issue would not effect the current city manager. What it would do is limit a new city manager to a term of three years. They would then be re-appointed by a majority vote of city council. This does two things in my perspective. First, it limits any type of job security and would therefore limit the quality of candidates applying for the job. I believe it would be hard to ask someone to relocate their family for what may be a three-year job. You would find that the city manager would be more worried about pleasing council members to retain their job instead of addressing the issues of the city as they should. I believe that the current wording of the city charter is satisfactory. When we hire any other employees of the city we do not do so on a temporary basis. In a city manager based government, which we do have, does it make sense to do so to the person council hires to run the city? I also ask you to consider, would you have taken your job knowing that in three years you may be looking for new employment?

Proposal 6 is the issue of limiting severance packages to three times the average salary or wages for the three months prior to termination. I believe that the people vote council people into the position to make decisions such as these. A severance package is only there to reward someone for their service to the city in case of a termination without just cause. If an employee of the city had a severance package and was terminated for cause such as conviction of a felony or willful or intentional misconduct, then they would not receive the package. It's basically there for compensation if they were released for no good reason. A severance package could be offered by council to an employee as a reward for their good service to their community.

Thank you for your time and I hope you consider the information above when voting on Nov. 7. Please feel free to contact me about any questions about the city's welfare.

VOTE FOR EVANS

Editor:

Election day is fast approaching and as we review the candidates, let us keep in mind the results of the August primary. Joel Evans successfully won the Republican Charlevoix County Commissioners race in District Four. Joel again needs your support and vote to win in the Nov. 7 election.

Joel Evans has a lifetime of experience in public service. Involved in local government as a township supervisor and in the community serving on a local school board, Joel's ability reflects as caring concern and dedication. Being a business owner, he knows what it takes to be financially responsible. Being retired, he has the time to devote to you. Take the time to vote for him.

County approves $12 million budget

Prosecutor's office wins plea for higher pay

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

A 4-2 vote and an approval of the over $12 million 2007 budget by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners on Oct. 25 came with a victory for an office which has pleaded for substantial pay increases for nearly four years.

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney, John Jarema's pay increase from approximately $76,000 to $84,000 and assistant prosecutor, Mark Muniak's bump from $44,860 to $48,000 were last minute additions to the budget. Chief assistant prosecutor, Shaynee Fanara's nearly $10,000 raise was approved by a majority vote of the board after Fanara took her case to the commissioners for the second time that day.

"It's nice to see that the commissioners realize and appreciate the work that we are doing," Fanara said. "We're getting a lot of high felony convictions."

Ever since the previous prosecutor, Mary Beth Kur, slashed the prosecutor's budget on her way out of office in 2003, Jarema has struggled to bring his pay up to what he deems is an appropriate level.

"I was grateful and thankful the commissioners appreciate the job we're doing," Jarema said. "But those pay increases for my staff are still thousands less than the budget for 2004."

Jarema's office operates with fewer staff members than the former prosecutor.

"I submitted for my salary to be what (Kur's) was. If you take her salary ($84,700) and do a two percent increase it would be $90,000 today," he said. "I told the commissioners I didn't want a dime more than the prior prosecutor made."

Chairman of the board, Victor Patriek and District Five Commissioner, Denny Jason, were the two "No" votes on Fanara's increase.

"My highest thing on that was, all county employees got two Administrator, finance department new to county budget percent," Patrick said. "I don't think it's fair Shaynee got about a 17 percent raise."

Shaynee Fanara

He added, "And I don't know how anybody can work on the premise that you can get paid more for bringing in money from fines — that's like paying a (police-man) extra for giving out more tickets."

Jason could not be reached for comment by press time but had spoken on the subject at the 1 p.m. meeting the same day.

"The other departments are doing a good job too. We have to look at the overall picture and not individual sections of the county," he said.

Fanara repeatedly cited the thousands of dollars worth of forfeitures she had brought into the county's coffers as one of the reasons she should receive an increase.

"I feel if we can't count on (similar) amounts of forfeitures coming in, we can't have someone's pay on having forfeitures coming in every year," Jason said. "Whether this is an anomaly or not, I just don't want to see the county get in a position where we're not being fair to everybody."

Fanara said the commissioners need to pay. "Good money to get good employees."

"You are getting that and it's still going to be less for your chief assistant than Emmet's (County)," she said. "And as far as, 'Can I guarantee bringing in that money?', I'll tell you right now I've got Traverse City China One. That's going to be close to $21,000."

She added, "What on earth gives me an incentive to keep bringing this money into this county?"

District Six Commissioner, Shirley Roloff responded, "We're paying you to do so."

Fanara said she could, "Actually have it court ordered so that it goes to the Traverse City PD, but that's not the right thing to do."

In the days following the meeting, District One Charlevoix County Commissioner, Connie

Saltonstall, said she voted to increase Fanara's pay because Fanara has proved herself.

"I think over the last year they've aggressively and successfully prosecuted cases," she said. "I think you have to pay fair salaries to get quality people."

When asked if she was concerned employees from other departments may feel entitled to increases in their pay, Saltonstall said, "I don't think the other departments were cut."

The funds used to cover the financial increases for the prosecutor's office were diverted from the county's contingency fund.

New items in the budget include $74,500 set aside for the new county administrator and a transfer of funds from the clerk's office to the recently created finance department which will remove three individuals from the clerk's office.

The Charlevoix County Finance Department will consist of a payroll clerk, an accounts payable clerk and an accounting clerk.

"This (involves) no additional funds whatsoever," said Jane Brannon, Charlevoix County Clerk.

Brannon may hire someone to help, but it is still unknown whether that individual will be full or part-time.

The 2007 budget increased by 4.29 percent, up from $11,641,600 in 2006.

SHERM CHAMBERLAIN

EXPERIENCED TO MEET CHARLEVOIX'S CHALLENGES.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY: As a father of three children and co-owner of local business, I understand and have practiced good financial planning. With increasing costs and stagnate revenues, council must be prudent in its spending. Every dollar budgeted must have the highest cost benefit to the taxpayer.

LOCAL CONTROL: I want to help prepare the city's electric department for deregulation in 2007 so that we can ensure local control of electric rates, service and maintenance.

COOPERATION: We must begin working with surrounding townships to help support the community's two recreational treasures... Mount McSaubia and the "Muni" golf course. Additionally, we can control the cost of fire protection by working with Charlevoix Township to form and area fire protection authority.

My grandson is the sixth generation to live in the Charlevoix area. I am concerned about the economic health and well being of our community. I want everyone to have the same opportunities that I had when I first came here in 1969. Whether you are an older member of the first generation Charlevoix resident or a younger member of the sixth, Charlevoix is a great place to live, work and raise a family.

City Council candidates sound off on four issues

ELECTION 2006

BY JULIE WITTHOEF
EDITOR

The race for Charlevoix City Council seats is heating up. Of the four open seats, all three ward incumbents are contested. The mayor is running unopposed in the Nov. 7 general election.

Since each candidate filed to run, four major issues have become hot discussion topics. They are whether or not city manager Mike Wiesner should be fired; whether the Venetian Festival carnival should be relocated from its Mason Street home; whether the Coast Guard's live fire plan for Lake Michigan makes sense for Charlevoix; and whether or not government can play a role in strengthening the local economy.

Below, a brief background on each candidate is provided as well as their stance on the four aforementioned issues.

MAYOR

Norman Carlson Jr.

Current mayor, Norman Carlson Jr., will run unopposed. Carlson is finishing his first term as mayor and was a city councilman for four years prior to being elected mayor in 2004.

The 40-year-old father of two, who owns and operates the local building company Carlson's Home Improvements, said he spends between 15 and 20 hours a week fulfilling his mayoral duties. His time is spent attending meetings of nine different city committees on which he holds a seat, as well as going to city council meetings.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Carlson: I would be disappointed that council would return to that issue. There's been no issues that would justify firing him. We have a multi-million dollar project in the works, we have ongoing infrastructure projects and we are in the middle of union negotiations. It would be irresponsible to the city taxpayers to remove him in the middle of all this when there's no justification to do so.

Courier: Where do you stand on moving the Venetian Festival carnival?

Carlson: After going down and talking to business owners in the downtown area and a fairly good cross section of citizens with and without children I would be adamantly opposed to moving the carnival. It's Charlevoix's homecoming and the homecoming should be downtown. Certainly it's an inconvenience to some business owners but most don't want it moved. It's a minor inconvenience for a greater gain.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Carlson: I don't feel comfortable enough to make a decision until I review all the information from both sides.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Carlson: There's not any one thing, it's a combination of many things council has started doing. It's not just council it's the DDA (Downtown Development Authority). The marina plan and park renovations will help. I believe the DDA is looking into hiring a downtown coordinator to help. Infrastructure, getting into Cool Cities program. We are heading in the right direction to try and strengthen the downtown.

FIRST WARD

Bill Haggard

Incumbent Bill Haggard, 70, is a Charlevoix native who with his brother, John Haggard, owns and operates Haggard's Plumbing and Heating. He is married to Laurie Gilbert, has one daughter, Diane, and two grandchildren.

He has served six years on council during this most recent stint and served six years on council in the 1980s.

He said if elected, this will be his last term.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Haggard: My position hasn't changed. You have to remove someone for not doing their job. Mike is a very capable man. He can be hard to get along with in the public eye. But overall, I would give him a B+ to A rating.

carnival?

Haggard: Business people have come to me and said, 'That's one of our best weeks we have here.' It pays three months rent for some of these people. They work their butts off but that helps them in the winter. I would say leave it the way it is. It will be rough in the coming year with the marina project, but we can work around it.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Haggard: If they have to have it I don't see why it has to be in the path of the Beaver Islander. There's a lot of water out there, to do something like that.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Haggard: There's not a lot council can do except making more customer friendly parking. I think if the Chamber of Commerce gets on the ball and talks to people about what they really need that will help.

Haggard will face former City of Charlevoix Fire Station shift commander and EMT specialist of 25 years, Lyle Gennett.

Gennett, 55, retired from the city fire department in June 2005 after 25 years of service. He is married to former Charlevoix Elementary School counselor, Gayle Gennett and has two daughters.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Gennett: As I said before, change can be good. I would vote to remove him. We need someone who is more open to listening to the needs of the people. I wish he would listen to council more. It's a situation where he takes action and tells council about it rather than them doing the telling.

Courier: Where do you stand on moving the Venetian Festival carnival?

Gennett: I want the carnival out of where it is now (Mason Street). I came back from a structure fire, the tanks were empty and needed water. There was an ambulance run in meantime, the EMS had no place to park because a semi unloading teddy bears was blocking the back entrance to city hall.

A lot of people think it's not critical but to me it's a matter of life or death if an ambulance or fire truck can't roll when they need to roll.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Gennett: I would have to object to that. I don't see a need to use live ammunition to do their training.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Gennett: Personally, I feel that it's something city council, the chamber and the DDA need to get together on instead of pointing fingers. People have to try. Somebody's got to fix it.

SECOND WARD

Gabe Campbell

If incumbent Gabe Campbell, 73, is re-elected to serve the two-year term, this will be his last go around on city council.

Campbell has spent 10 years as a councilman and two as mayor.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Campbell: I would have to do that because the airport is a mess. There doesn't seem to be any direction.

Courier: Where do you stand on moving the Venetian Festival carnival?

Campbell: I think this coming summer we don't have a choice, the park and marina will be torn up. We should have a meeting with the Venetian board and decide what the location would be.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Campbell: I think it's a mistake. We don't need to put more lead in the water. And I don't know how we would know for sure someone sailing would be safe. Those (bullet) carry a long way.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Campbell: One thing that would make it worse would be raising taxes — right now most people who rent don't stay long. I think we are maxed out on taxes. We need to control spending before we ask people for more money.

Campbell's neighbor, Greg Stevens, 50, is running against him this term.

Greg Stevens

Stevens, who moved into the City of Charlevoix, from Charlevoix Township, two years ago, has attended most council meetings since then to stay informed.

Stevens has served on the City of Charlevoix Housing Commission, since being appointed in June 2005 and is a planning commissioner. His past political experience also includes five years of service as president of the Northwest Academy Board of Education.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Stevens: I would vote against removing him. He's added an awful lot to this city. Mike has made some mistakes but we've all made mistakes. I think what he does for the city greatly outweighs letting him go. Plus to let him go right now without someone in place with the marina and park project in place would drain the blood right out of Charlevoix for the summer.

Courier: Where do you stand on moving the Venetian Festival carnival?

Stevens: Keep it downtown. I think there's an awful lot of families who come find a place to park, spend the day listening to music, let the kids go to carnival and stick around for fireworks.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Stevens: Go for it. They're our security right here. To tie their hands and not let them continue to practice what they are trained to do, is wrong. The last thing we want to do is tie the hands of people that protect us.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Stevens: By having more handicapped parking available on Bridge Street. The planning commission has been working to allow residences above downtown storefronts to help reduce some of the rent. Hopefully, council would support that kind of action. And by continuing to support the Incumbent Sherm Chamberlain, 56, will run against Charlevoix native, Tonia Wells, for his third ward seat.

Chamberlain has been a third ward councilman since 2000. He was a city planning commission member from 1996-2000 and served on the Marion Township Planning and Zoning Board from 1986-1994.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Chamberlain: We have such a major project coming up — I would definitely keep Mike as city manager. That's a multi million dollar project. To get a new city manager brought up to speed would be a very difficult task. If we don't have a city manager overseeing the project that is knowledgeable of the project, the public will be short changed.

Courier: Where do you stand on moving the Venetian Festival carnival?

Chamberlain: I would keep it downtown (Mason Street location). It's an inconvenience but a pleasant inconvenience.

Courier: What is your position on the Coast Guard's Great Lakes live fire plan?

Campbell: I would like to know the environmental impact of that. Looking at the headlines, a lot of lead gets dumped into the lake. I appreciate the Coast Guard's position of practicing with live fire.

Courier: How do you think council can work to strengthen the local economy?

Chamberlain: One key issue is the tax abatements to industries that will add jobs to the community. There's no sense in talking about affordable housing unless you have somewhere for young people to work. The trick is to make sure that we promote people bringing money into our community. The business community is going to have to start promoting the city of Charlevoix through the chamber. The time has come to quit building and start promoting.

Wells, 50, held a custodial position with the city for 10 years, prior to becoming a juvenile transporter for Charlevoix County Probate Court.

Courier: How would you react to a motion to remove city manager Mike Wiesner?

Wells: I'm out for the people in the third ward. My decision

City voters to decide 11 amendment proposals

ELECTION 2006

BY JULIE WITTHOFT
EDITOR

City of Charlevoix voters will have a thicker ballot than most at the Nov. 7 general election.

"People should know there will be lines due to the number of proposals on the ballot and to not expect to vote in four or five minutes," Charlevoix city clerk, Carol Ochs, said. "We are putting up extra booths to expedite the process. But please be patient with the workers."

Aside from the harrage of state proposals and officials voters must decide, they will also be asked to elect local officials and determine the fate of 11 city charter amendments.

"The city charter is the equivalent of the state constitution for cities — a basic set of rules and regulations. Council can't change it; it can only be changed by a vote of the people," Ochs explained.

While nine of the charter amendments are "housekeeping" measures aimed at updating the local charter and in some cases bringing it in line with state law, Proposals 5 and 6 were requested by city council members and are directed at city management.

Proposal 5, if approved, would eliminate the current provision for the city manager to be appointed to an indefinite term. The new wording would require appointment for up to a three-year term.

Current city manager, Mike Wiesner, would not be required to abide by this charter amendment if it passes as he is working under an existing employment contract.

In spite of the fact that the amendment would have no bearing on his job, Wiesner does not support Proposal 5.

"Future councils will be strapped — your choices for a new city manager will be poor. No one is going to move up here for a few years," Wiesner told council at a meeting in July.

Second ward councilman, Gabe Campbell, disagreed and said the manager's salary will attract a healthy crop of applicants. Wiesner's current salary is $102,461 a year.

"With the astronomical amount we pay for a city of 3,000 people, we'll get someone good," Campbell said.

Mayor Norman Carlson Jr. said it's not about the money — council has the power to fire the city manager under the charter as it exists.

"The city manager is supposed to be the glue running the city and it's not like they have a life lease on the job anyway," Carlson said.

Proposal 5 made the ballot by a narrow margin. The city council vote was 4-2 with third ward councilman Sherm Chamberlain and first ward councilman Bill Haggard voting against it.

Proposal 6 was another hot topic that Chamberlain and Haggard did not support as a charter amendment. It deals with severance packages and specifically limits them to no more than three months pay.

"Again, you're strapping yourself as to who you are going to hire," Haggard said.

This was proposed by some council members, including first ward councilman Bob Timms who has vocally opposed what he calls Wiesner's "golden parachute."

Timms feels Wiesner's one-year, full pay, full benefits severance deal is over the top.

Wiesner said in his line of work, the severance package provides some cushion.

"It's not fun living on the edge," he said.

The updates to the charter are Proposals 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Proposal 1, if approved, would change the city's 60-day scheduling requirement for a special election for the filing of three or more vacancies on city council to read "this election be scheduled as authorized by law."

According to Ochs, the change would make the charter wording consistent with state law.

Proposal 2, if approved, would change the time of the city council organizational meeting following the November general election to 7 p.m. Currently, this organizational meeting takes place at 8 p.m. the first Monday in January.

Proposal 3, if approved, would allow the deputy mayor to vote while acting as the city's mayor during the temporary absence of the mayor. The charter currently does not address this.

Proposal 4, if approved, would remove the requirement from the charter that the city manager be a city resident. Ochs explained that this brings the charter in line with state law which allows a municipality to stipulate that a city employee live within 20 miles of the city.

Proposal 7, if approved, would remove the requirement from the charter that the city clerk maintain a handwritten poll book with names and addresses of electors. This information is now maintained in a Secretary of State database.

Proposal 8, if approved, would impose the same Feb. 15 deadline for the city manager to submit both the capital and operating budgets. Currently, the deadline for the annual capital budget is Sept. 1 and Feb. 15 for the operating budget.

Proposal 9, if approved, would remove wording that requires the city assessor to attend all Board of Review meetings. Under the amended scenario, the assessor, who is under contract with the Charlevoix County Equalization Department, would attend meetings upon request.

Proposal 10, if approved, would remove wording requiring the Board of Review to meet for no less than three days for its first meeting. The change would require the board to meet until its work is done.

Proposal 11, if approved, would require the deputy mayor to be elected by city council at its November organizational meeting instead of at the first meeting in January. Under the amendment, any vacancy in the position would be filled at the next scheduled council meeting following the announcement of the vacancy.

Voters that require absentee ballots can receive them until 4 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 6 at Charlevoix City Hall, located at 210 State St. Ochs will hold special office hours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Nov. 4 to accommodate last minute ballot requests.

Inside look at the ballot before the Nov. 7 election

ELECTION 2006

BY BENJAMIN GOHS
STAFF WRITER

From local to state level, political races abound this Nov. 7.

Here is a listing of the county and state level candidates vying for your vote next week.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY COMMISSION

Candidates without a specified opponent could still face candidates running on write-in campaigns.

District One: Unaffiliated incumbent, Connie Saltonstall vs. Republican challenger, Shirlene Tripp

"They should vote for me because this is a complicated job that takes a lot of time and effort and I believe I have shown I am willing to spend the time and do the work and bring up the issues that need to be brought up," Saltonstall said. "I think I represent the views of the majority of people that I represent."

She added, "People should vote for me because I have run a multi million dollar business. I know how to be fiscally responsible."

Tripp could not be reached by press time.

District Two: Republican nominee Chris Christensen

Christensen said people should vote for him because, "I'm excited about the change. I think we've got a great opportunity ahead of us."

District Three: Republican incumbent Ron Reinhardt

"I do my best to represent the people from my district at the county (level)," he said.

District Four: Republican nominee, Joel Evans vs. write-in candidate, Victor Patrick

Patrick said he has the experience to continue serving Charlevoix citizens.

"We've gone through numerous projects since I've been in there (commission) — Grandview, the fairground, the jail, the humane society. I've been on all of those boards," he said. "At the present time the park at Thumb Lake is being redone."

He added, "I've got 44 years in dealing with governmental projects (and) 10 years administering grants."

Evans said, "I've been encouraged for a couple of years by many county residents to run for this office because evidently the majority of them have seen things they don't like."

He added, "I think I can make a difference. If people want a change, then vote for me."

District Five: Republican nominee, Bob Dreherstedt

Dreherstedt said people should vote for him, "Because I will be listening to the voter, and yes, I do have plans for holding the cost of government spending to where it is and go to work on lowering the cost. An example of (cost cutting) would be to work with the county administrator on job descriptions and pay scales (of county employees)."

He added, "And you betcha I have plans for the health coverage of county employees."

District Six: Shirley Roloff

"Vote for Roloff," she said, "Because I think I really have the county at heart. I have no private agendas and I believe in giving back to my community."

Roloff said, in her 10 years, she has learned exactly how things work in the county.

"I think I have a lot to offer the county and appreciate everybody's support for the next two years," she said. "I will do my best for them and I will do my best for the county."

She added, "I know we have new people on there (board of commissioners) and I think I'm qualified to help them along the way."

James Vanek, Bay Township Clerk

Ronald Chapman, Eveline Township Trustee

Ethel Knepp, Hayes Township Supervisor

Marlene Golovich, Hayes Township Clerk

GUBERNATORIAL RACE

County administrator field narrowed to one

O'NEAL

Frykberg asked the questions during the interview process.

"I've put together probably 30 municipal budgets," he said. "I can't say I know everything, but I have touched on all these things many, many times."

With a master's degree in public administration and certification as a municipal clerk, O'Neal said he does his best to stay on the cutting edge.

Frykberg: How would you approach the new county administrator position?

O'Neal: I would reach out to the elected department heads individually and collectively. I would meet with the board members and ask that each one of the board members and department heads list their 10 most important concerns and I would use that as a road map. I have a participative management style anyhow.

Frykberg: What characteristics do you feel make a successful county administrator?

O'Neal: You have to be a preacher. You have to have thick skin. You have to be all things to all people. You have to make sure you have empathy for employees and more importantly for the public. The general public just doesn't know how this works. They don't understand city government or county government. It is important that the county administrator be an ombudsman and ambassador so they can get the information they need to get through the process.

Frykberg: What was your most challenging management problem?

O'Neal: If my employees don't succeed, I don't succeed. So, the challenge is employees.

Frykberg: What was your most creative solution to a management issue?

O'Neal: We put about $1.2 million into redoing the streetscape. (A downtown area hadn't received improvement in many years. O'Neal garnered the funding necessary to make those improvements.) We went from building facade to building facade. We (he and his staff) were extremely proud of that.

Frykberg: Give an example of where your mediation skills solved an issue involving employees and/or employers.

O'Neal: I had an issue, it was a pretty ugly issue, relative to a city attorney and an employee involving a sexual harassment case. I walked into it head on with gloves off and was able to rectify a possible really had situation in a matter of about 15 seconds.

I had a difficult time with some council members and I literally jumped over my desk. I don't know what I'd done if they'd have (come at me) because they were two big men, but I rose above it. You have to take control and you have to be decisive.

Frykberg: What plan, if any, do you have for self improvement in the next couple years?

O'Neal: You've got to attend different conferences...you learn a lot. There's always something coming down the pike from the state or federal level.

Frykberg: Why do you want to work for Charlevoix County?

O'Neal: I know that I'm going to have to drag my wife away tomorrow morning screaming when it's time to go back because she loves it here.

While no salary offer has been publicized, $74,500 has been set aside in Charlevoix County's 2007 budget for a county administrator.
